DOOMED?

Whether this towering poplar tree, said to be in the way of a Fairfax townhouse development, will come down was to be the singular topic of an unusual session of the city council this evening. The tree is located at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Olema Road, site of the development under construction by Gentry Development Co. Charging unnecessary destruction of natural assets, the city council halted the project earlier this month, at the same time naming a committee to work with Gentry officials. When the committee and Gentry representatives couldn't agree on whether the single poplar had to come down, the council set a special meeting for 5 p.m. today in the Women's Club to decide the issue. Heath Wins Round In Entering Market

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Edward Heath won an overwhelming victory in Parliament last night in the first round of his fight to take Britain into the booming European Common Market but an even tougher parliamentary battle is ahead.

Heath's Conservative government hopes Britain will be able to enter the Common Market by Jan. 1, 1973, but before it does Heath must persuade the House of Commons to pass enabling legislation and some of that is a difficult pill for the British to swallow.

Commons gave approval despite public opinion polls showing half the nation opposed entry into the European Economic Community (EEC) as the Common Market is formally called. The opposition remained despite a highpowered government propaganda campaign during the past year.

There were many objections by the man in the street—the fear of higher prices and a haunting fear of entering a new

FAIRE FILM

Dixie District Storm Brewing

Showing of a Renaissance Faire movie to seventh graders at Miller Creek School today involved Dixie School District in the controversy over relocation of the "faire" in Lucas Valley.

At the same time, fair opponents objected to the time schedule of pro-and-con discussions of the issue at Terra Linda High School.

The film, "Call of the Faire," produced by Ron and Phyllis Patterson, Renaissance Faire operators, was shown to 150 Miller Creek seventh graders in a science class yesterday.

Supt. W. Clifford Campbell, who learned of the showing today, said the teacher, Robert Lawrence of Petaluma, claimed he did not know about the controversy over relocation of the "faire" and had requested the film from Mrs. Patterson to show pupils some of the arts and sciences of the Renaissance period.

Campbell said he had forbidden further showing of the film in any Dixie District school at least until "after the current controversy is over." He said he would view the film himself to see if it is a commercial promotion which would violate the district's rules against commercial exploitation in the schools.

Mrs. Patterson spoke yesterday to a senior "Government and Social Issues" class taught by Don Boden at Terra Linda High, presenting the case for locating the Renaissance Faire and Center on the Grady ranch in Lucas Valley.

Opponents of the project promptly cried "foul." But Principal Frank Stocking said the teacher had arranged for speakers on both sides of the issue, with Philip W. Hoffmire, an opponent, to speak next week.

Representatives of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association and the Unfaire Committee of Lucas Valley complained that this would be after the issue is heard on Monday by the Marin CountyPlanning Commission. Stocking said that, in response to this, he tried to reschedule a "con" speaker for today's class, but was unable to get one in time.

Freeze Panel Wants Price-Holding Ideas

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The general public was urged today to send suggestions to Washington for keeping prices from soaring after the economic freeze ends.

The request for ideas came from the Price Commission, one of two panels created by President Nixon to make decisions on how much wages and prices will be allowed to move upward after the freeze, scheduled to end Nov. 13.

The chairman of the seven-member Price Commission, C. Jackson Grayson Jr., said in a statement:

"If we are to be effective in our efforts to stabilize prices in this country, we must remain in tune with the people intimately affected by the erosion that has taken place in their pocketbook and bank balances because of inflation.

"To establish that relationship, the price commission wants to hear in writing from as many people as possible who can contribute ideas as to how price increases can be most effectively controlled."

The address is: Price Commission, 1717 H Street, N.W., 8th floor, Washington, D.C. 20416.

In other economic developments, the government reported the first foreign trade surplus in September in six months, but another report showed that the number of major urban areas with substan-

Sonomans Demand A Vote On Financing Of Aqueduct

I-J Special Report

GEYSERVILLE — In a prelude to court action, a group of more than 200 water users today demanded that Sonoma County officials give the public the right to vote on financing the multimillion-dollar project to pipe Russian River water to Marin County.

In a formal demand to the board of supervisors and the Sonoma County Water Agency, an entity which the supervisors also hold as directors, the Russian River Water Rights Protective Association said the public bodies violated the state constitution when they approved $115 million in revenue bonds to finance Sonoma's part of the project.

The association, in a document signed by its president, Clement F. Vanoni of Geyserville, said that although water

Rowboat Team Makes A Stop

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — British adventurer John Fairfax has put into port at Washington Island in the Christmas Islands south of Hawaii, the Coast Guard reported today.

Fairfax and his girlfriend, Sylvia Cook, left San Francisco April 26 on a planned rowboat trip to Australia.

The Coast Guard said Ivan Sharpe, a representative of Fairfax, said the sailor had docked at Washington Island early in October to repair his boat and radio.

A Final Push To Halt Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) Conservationists decided today to make a last-ditch legal attempt to halt the underground nuclear test on Alaska's Amchitka Island that they claim will cause harm to the environment.

David L. Sive, attorney for the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, said he would ask a federal judge immediately to act on his motion for a preliminary injunction to halt the blast, reportedly set for next Thursday.

Sive decided to act moments after the government announced it would not appeal a U.S. Court of Appeals ruling that it must hand over for judicial scrutiny documents conservationists claim will prove their fears of environmental damage.

The Justice Department advised the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here that it would not appeal to the Supreme Court the ruling of Thursday. That meant the documents would be given to U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart for secret examination to determine if they then should be made available to seven conservationist groups attempting to prevent the blast.

A government spokesman said the documents would be checked to remove any material considered in the national security and therefore not relevant for such inspection.

A spokesman for the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, one of the groups protesting the blast, said Thursday that if the government chose not to appeal, "we will be in Judge Hart's courtroom asking him for an immediate ruling."

China Readies U.N. Team; Arrival Soon

Seating Of Delegation May Come By Thursday

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Acting Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei told U.N. Secretary General Thant today that Peking would send a delegation to the current session of the General Assembly.

A U.N. spokesman said the cable received today from Peking did not set a date for arrival of the Chinese delegation but said it would arrive "in the near future." Diplomats have predicted the Chinese would arrive by Thursday.

The cable also did not specify the makeup of the mission but there has been speculation that Chi would head the delegation.

There had been earlier speculation that Premier Chou En-lai might even attend.

The Chi cable was the first direct communication from the Communist Chinese government to the United Nations since 1950 when Peking sent a representative to New York to discuss the Korean War.

The General Assembly voted overwhelmingly Monday night to expel Nationalist China from the organization and to seat the Peoples Republic of China, giving it a seat on the Security Council and veto power as one of the five permanent representatives.

Thant sent a cable to Peking immediately informing the Communist Chinese of the U.N. action and asking them to name a delegation. There was no

Blount Turns In His Resignation To Nixon: May Run For Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Postmaster General Winton M. Blount personally informed President Nixon today that he was resigning immediately. It was the first step in Blount's plan to run for the U.S. Senate.

Blount, 50, who presided over the reorganization of the nation's mail service, declined at a White House news conference, however, to say flatly if he would attempt to unseat Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., who is 71.

Blount said he would announce his future political plans around New Year's. Other sources said Blount already has decided to seek the Republican nomination for the Senate.

Asked why he resigned now, Blount replied, "It was time for me to leave the post office and to go back to Alabama to make up my mind." Under the postal reorganization, Blount formally submits his resignation to the Postal Service Board of Governors.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon "expressed his appreciation to the postmaster general for undertaking and accomplishing what many thought was an impossible job."

Sparkman told UPI Thursday: "I have said all along that I am running. It is my plan at the proper time to announce my candidacy."

Sparkman indicated the proper time for him would be around Jan. 20 when Alabama Democrats meet to set guidelines for the state's next primary.

He declined to comment on Blount as an opponent.

The Postal reorganization machinery took Blount out of the Cabinet and he was elected to his old-title, new-post as postmaster general by the service's 12-man board of directors. He was a construction millionaire and president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce when Nixon took him into the Cabinet in 1969.

HOMES RAZED FOR GAS STATION

One of two homes — both estimated to be at least 70 years old — lies in rubble at Mission and Lincoln avenues in San Rafael, where Mobil Oil Co. plans to erect a mission-style service station. Demolition work, by Bay Cities Excavators of El Cerrito, began today. Area residents worried about the changing character of their neighborhood and proponents of maintaining older homes for low-cost rental objected to the service station last year, but the city council and planning commission approved Mobil's plans. As the homes came down today, salvagers foraged through the ruins, collecting plumbing fixtures and even ripping out hardwood floors. (Independent-Journal photo)

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

New Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., has raised a new issue in his campaign to deny President Nixon a second term. He has accused Nixon of failing miserably as commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

McCloskey, a decorated hero of the Korean War, charged Thursday that Nixon's policy of gradually withdrawing American troops was taking a terrible toll on the U.S. military.

"The President's policies have nearly destroyed our armed services — their pride, their discipline, their morale, and now their combat performance," he said.

McCloskey cited recently publicized instances of disobedience on the battlefield, slayings of officers by enlisted men and widespread reports of drug addiction among GIs.

More Trouble

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The trouble began with about 60 women screaming abuse and throwing stones at an eight-man British army patrol in the city's Roman Catholic Ardoyne area, an army spokesman said.

It ended with one sniper dead and a second gunman wounded. In addition, the army said one woman was hit —the fifth woman felled by security forces' bullets in the past week.

The sniping incidents last night came as controversy grew over a border incident earlier in the day in which troops of the Irish Republic had their first armed confrontation in 50 years with British soldiers.

Premier Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic said in a statement that the British policy of blowing up minor border roads, which touched off the confrontation, was a "breach of normal good relations."

Health Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Catholic Conference came out today for a federally operated health insurance program to cover all Americans.

The organization, made up of Roman Catholic bishops, supported a health insurance plan that fit most of the framework of a bill being pushed by organized labor.

In testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee, Msgr. Harrold A. Murray said "the foundation of the financing mechanisms for health care should be a social insurance system."

He said the level of income to be taxed "should be sufficiently high to assure that a disproportionate tax burden does not rest on those in the lower economic brackets."

Support Pledged

NEW DELHI (UPI)—External Affairs Minister Sardar Swaran Singh told members of Parliament yesterday that the Soviet Union has pledged its full support to India in case of a war with Pakistan, government sources said today.

The sources, who attended a consultative committee meeting of the parliament on foreign affairs, said Singh told the group that India would not face a loss of military supplies — as it did in the 1965 Indo-Pakistan war, when the United States and Britain cut off military aid — because of Russian support.

Before she left for London this morning, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi indicated to newsmen in Vienna that India was not going to buy a consignment of arms from the Soviets, as some have speculated.

Unscheduled Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Breshnev and French President Georges Pompidou held an unscheduled private meeting today and French officials said they were discussing China and Vietnam.

Brezhnev, on the next to last day of his first visit to a Western nation, canceled an excursion to a Pablo Picasso exhibition to confer with Pompidou. The meeting, not included in Brezhnev's original schedule, was set without explanation Thursday night when he returned from a one-day side-trip to Marseille.

Just before the two leaders met with only their interpreters present, their foreign ministers held another unscheduled meeting at the Foreign Ministry.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told journalists after his hour-long talks with Maurice Schumann of France, "It was a very friendly conversation. There were several main points."

Trade Treaty

ROME (UPI) — Italy and Communist China signed a three-year trade treaty today, the first of its kind between Peking and a member of the European Common Market.

The treaty, which will provide a basis for China entering western markets on a large scale, was signed by Italy's Foreign Trade Minister Mario Zagari and his Chinese counterpart, Pao Hsiang-kuo, who flew to Rome from Peking for the signing.

The accord, which Italy had to get permission to make from its Common Market partners, contains nine articles and two lists — one of the Chinese goods to be exported to Italy and the other of Italian goods to be exported to China.

Tito Toasts U.N. At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite sharp criticism of the United Nations in the United States, President Tito of Yugoslavia made a strong call for strengthening the world organization during a state dinner toast Thursday night at the White House.

Only one day after President Nixon denounced the "undisguised glee" of some delegates following the U.N. vote to expel Taiwan and seat Communist China, Tito praised the United Nations as "the best way of solving the world's burning problems."

Tito's toast, tantamount to a major address, saluted the U.N. decision to recognize Peking. The leader of the unaligned Communist nation predicted that seating Communist China was "conducive to peace and stability in the world,"

The administration and members of Congress have been critical of the historic vote ousting a member for the first time. But U.N. Ambassador George Bush gave the first indication of a thaw when he said that he was "tremendously upset" by the performance of some delegates but insisted that the United States should not reduce its contributions.

"We don't believe in linking these payments to the vote. We don't want retribution," Bush said after the dinner.

Tito's remarks did not diminish the warmth displayed between Nixon and Tito since the Yugoslav's arrival Thursday morning to begin a six-day visit.

Talking to reporters after escorting the 79-year-old Yugoslav and his strikingly beautiful wife Jovanka to the north portico, Nixon was glowing in his praise:

"We hit if off very well ... he has a marvelous memory and is an excellent judge of people. He's a real human being. He's one of those leaders on the world scene who has color."

"He also has a wonderful sense of humor," Pat Nixon added.

(UPI Telephoto)

During his toast, Tito said Nixon's contributions to the "era of negotiations" and, particularly, the Berlin agreement have eased tensions in Europe.

Tito mentioned the great gaps between developed and underdeveloped, rich and poor nations, and problems caused by "vestiges of colonialism," then declared:

"The strengthening of the United Nations is, in our opinion, the best way to settle the major problems. That is why we consider we all should jointly exert efforts in order to insure that the world organization should become the actual expression of the interests and will of the entire international community."

The Wrong Place

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Augusto G. Coutinno was arrested and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon after he allegedly threatened to kill a tavern owner. Two of the customers at the time of the incident were a local attorney and a circuit court judge.

LBJ Sniffed A 'Trap' To Hanoi's Peace Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Lyndon B. Johnson says he was suspicious of "a trap" in Hanoi's agreement to open peace talks with the United States in 1968.

The former President relates in his new book about his years in the White House that he repeatedly offered to negotiate "anywhere, anytime" with the North Vietnamese provided certain stiplulations, such as a reduction in military actions, would be met.

When Hanoi in early April, 1968, made its first tentative acceptance of the Johnson offer and countered with proposed meeting sites, the President was cautioks, according to excerpts from the book, "Vantage Point," published today in the Washington Post.

"I wondered out loud whether Hanoi's move might not be a trap, another Tet truce, another effort to persuade us to drop our guard," Johnson wrote.

After the two sides ultimately settled on Paris as the site for the talks, Johnson said procedural matters were resolved fairly soon so that the talks proper could begin. But he said any optimism growing out of the procedural settlement "diminished considerably" after the early meetings.

Johnson said he had felt from the outset that he was "perhaps the most skeptical person" among high U.S. officials about prospects for the talks and indicated he felt his doubts were confirmed by subsequent lack of progress.

As the Communist negotiators repeated "meeting after meeting, week after week" standard charges of U.S. imperialism and repeated old demands, Johnson related, "our hopes for a fair compromise and an early settlement grew dimmer."

Local Alcoholism Clinic Bill Gains

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill authorizing counties to provide treatment for alcoholics under the state mental health program has been passed by the Senate.

It was returned to the Assembly Wednesday for concurrence in amendments after clearing the Senate on a 24-1 vote.

The measure by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, allows counties to include treatment of chronic alcoholics in applying for funds under the Lanterman-Petris-Short Mental Health Act.

THE BEST SEAT IN THE HOUSE

Isn't that the chair he really deserves? A stretch-out chair to cave into after the long commute. A lie-back chair to watch the football games in on Sunday. A sturdy chair to rough-house the kids in after dinner. A generous chair . . . noble in size, and scaled to HIS proportions. And, if that chair also conceals a built-in thermo massage unit to warm and vibrate away his aches and cares, it's going to be the chair he'll never part with, the gift he'll never forget. We've got lots of "unforgettable" recliner chairs for the man in your life. About 50 different styles, over a hundred colors and fabrics to choose from. Some that rock and swivel, too.

And just in case you're jealous, we also have a huge collection of recliners, rockers and swivel rockers designed with gentler proportions, for YOUR gentler proportions. And, because we firmly believe that you rate as great a chair as he does, we'll give you $10 off the one you buy for YOU when you buy one for HIM.

Third Try To Arraign Six Inmates

By C. P. McCARTHY

A third attempt to arraign six San Quentin inmates, charged in connection with the August violence at the prison, was made today as attorneys and inmates protested that prison authorities had made impossible a joint conference on Wednesday.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court began appointing attorneys to represent the six inmates when they appeared in court today still without legal counsel.

The inmates protested the appointments, saying the point of Wednesday's scheduled conference was to discuss possible representation and that it had been made impossible by prison officials.

McGuire had issued an order Oct. 21 directing prison officials to allow the six inmates to meet in a joint conference with attorneys G. Douglas Vaughn of San Rafael, John Thorne of San Jose, Charles R. Garry of San Francisco, Elaine Wender of San Francisco, Richard Silver of Carmel and Len W. Holt of Berkeley.

The attorneys filed a declaration today stating the visiting facility to which they were escorted Wednesday was inadequate and that conversation in the room could be overheard by guards stationed outside.

William Stein of the state Attorney General's office, representing the prison, replied by filing affidavits by two San Quentin guards, giving their side of Wednesday's aborted conference.

The guards, R. H. West and Walter J. Del Rose, said attorney Vaughn phoned Judge McGuire from the prison Wednesday and returned to tell the other attorneys that McGuire considered the visiting facilities adequate.

According to the guards, Garry said, "Then let Judge McGuire defend these people," and the attorneys left 13 minutes after the scheduled two-hour conference began.

McGuire gave the attorneys, none of whom have been retained to represent any of the inmates, and the attorney general's office until 2 p.m. today to file additional documents and said he would decide then if another conference should be ordered.

During the morning session today the judge appointed the Marin County Public Defender's Office to represent David Johnson, attorney Robert B. McCreadie of Novato to represent Hugo A. Pinell, and San Rafael attorney Howard K. Morehouse to represent Willie Tate.

Each of the inmates objected to the appointments and said they refused to accept them.

The three, as well as inmates John Larry Spain, Louis N. Talamantez and Fleeta Drumgo, are charged — along with missing East Bay attorney Stephen M. Bingham — with murder, conspiracy and assault in connection with the Aug. 21 uprising at the prison in which three inmates and three guards were killed.

Medical Facility Needs Reaffirmed

Petaluma Hospital District directors last night reaffirmed its plan to go ahead with additional medical facilities and set a meeting for Wednesday to discuss financing.

Hillcrest Hospital Administrator Joseph M. Horner said the board will meet with representatives of financial consultants Stone and Youngberg at noon Wednesday for a report on how a new hospital can best be financed.

Last week the board received assurance from the medical staff that plans for a new hospital — whether in east or west Petaluma — would receive support.

Horner said the board approved filing an application for federal and state hospital funds. He said no specific amount was requested, but that the hospital district wanted to be on the application list should funds become available.

The Petaluma Hospital District board also:

UNIONS — Met with representatives of the AFL-CIO Labor Council on problems of verifying medical insurance for union members.

VOLUNTEERS — Received a gift of $1,800 from the hospital volunteer auxiliary to purchase a fetal heart tone monitor and an EKG machine.

COMPUTERS — Heard Horner report that new computer equipment for business office functions should be completely operable in late January.

districts may incur bonded indebtedness exceeding a year's income without a two-thirds vote of the public, Sonoma's case is different because the water agency and the supervisors are made up of the same officials.

The association's demand said the county had incurred, without a public vote, an indebtedness of $25 million, plus interest, over a 40-year period as a result of approval of the revenue bonds. Annual repayment, through sale of water, would exceed $1 million a year.

Marinites, meanwhile, will go to the polls next Tuesday to decide participation by the Marin Municipal Water District in the pipeline project, known as the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct. Costs to that district have been estimated as high as $119 million.

In related development today, the Sonoma County Coalition, an amalgamation of groups opposed to the water project, took the first step toward petitioning for a public vote on the issue.

Public notice of the intent to circulate petitions appeared today in the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat, and coalition spokesmen said an affidavit of the public notice would be presented to county officials Monday. Once that is done, the group must wait 21 days before it can begin to sign up petitioners.

The coalition needs 7,786 signatures to put the project to a public vote. It said it is aiming for the June primary ballot.

New Roads In Plan Knocked

Members of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night agreed that three new roads in the proposed Marin countywide master plan "pose a threat" to the quiet, rural setting of Sleepy Hollow.

Beau W. Chapman, vice president who presided over the meeting, said the group thought the amount of traffic generated by the new roads would change the environment in the area.

The proposed roads are one from White's Hill to Lucas Valley, an extension of Butterfield Road to intersect the first road and a realignment and extension of Fawn Drive to Terra Linda.

As for the rest of the county plan, Chapman said the approximately 60 members present voted to commend the concept of preserving open space but not endorse the plan because of lack of knowledge of specifics.

San Francisco Blaze Whips Into Homes; 1 Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— One youth died and seven persons were injured Thursday when a wind-whipped fire, believed set, roared through a residential neighborhood damaging 11 houses.

Paul Thompson, 18, was trapped on the second floor of his parents' frame home and burned to death when flames gutted the building.

Fire Department officials said the blaze began in the Thompson home and unusually high winds blew glowing embers as far as a block away. A neighboring house was severely damaged and at least nine other homes had scorched roofs and burned walls and doors.

About 100 men fought the fire which Clarence Rosenstock, deputy fire chief, said appeared to be arson.

Police Inspector Cecil Pharris, who was passing the area, dashed into the home of Leona Scott and rescued a small child. He then collapsed of smoke inhalation.

Perfect Rating For The House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Thomas H. Rees, D-Calif., who says he spends most of his campaign time every two years explaining his zero rating from the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action and his 100 per cent rating from the liberal Americans for Democratic action, offered a new rating today —and all House members scored 100 per cent.

Rees' Americans for Good Habits (AGH) showed no member voted against wishing Harry S. Truman happy birthday; controlling animal disease; giving needy children free lunches; protecting firemen; helping small businessmen; helping the blind; aiding nurses; treating GI drug addicts or siding with U.S. war prisoners.

The other organizations, Rees said, just pick the wrong issues on which to judge the lawmakers.

CHINA

reply and Thant sent another cable Thursday asking again.

Thant asked that Peking act as soon as possible, especially in appointing a representative to the Security Council since, he said, the Council must be able to function continuously and all of its members must "be represented at all times at the seat of the organization."

Under Council rules a new representative must convey his credentials to the Secretary General no less than 24 hours before he takes his seat in the Council.

Diplomats noted that if the Chinese representative arrived by tomorrow he could assume the chairmanship of the Security Council for the month of November. The chairmanship is rotated monthly and the Peoples Republic would be eligible following Nicaragua this month.

The cable from Chi gave no indication of the makeup of the delegation but said the names would be sent to the Secretary general "later on," thus apparently ruling out any possibility China would take over the chairmanship for November.

Cotati Duplexes Get Planner Nod

The Cotati Planning Commission last night approved plans for a five-unit duplex development.

Dewayne Stawther requested architectural approval for duplexes planned for five lots, to be known as Casa Bonita, at the corner of Sierra and Valparaiso avenues.

City clerk Carol Bonfigli said the commission required more parking for two units and approved the design plans.

The commission approved a new zoning ordinance specifying permitted uses in various zones, then forwarded the document to the city council.

BRITAIN

era which means Britain will change its centuries-old political isolation from Europe to, perhaps, a political union with Europe in the distant future.

The Conservative government was hammering away at the advantages —an eventual trading bloc of 200 million persons which can rival the United States and the Soviet Union in economic strength and political weight if not superpower military potential.

British entry into EEC may mean profound changes for Europe too but today messages of welcome and congratulation poured in from the six members — Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, West Germany, Italy and France— which kept Britain out so long.

The Market was formed March 25, 1957, but Britain chose at the time to remain out because it had always been oriented toward the Atlantic and not the European continent.

The House of Commons vote was 356 to 244 —an unexpectedly large majority. Pre-vote predictions had indicated a 50 to 60 vote majority. In the House of Lords, the result was 451 to 58.

But 39 antimarket Conservatives voted against the government and three abstained.

This meant that Heath, a Conservative, would have been defeated without the support of Labor party pro-marketeers.

Heath grinned broadly. William Whitelaw, leader of the House, fished out a one pound bill — worth about $2.50 — and handed it to a fellow Conservative behind him in payment of a bet.

Young Winston Churchill, grandson of Britain's World War II leader Sir Winston Churchill, gave a V for victory sign.

In Brussels, Franco-Maria Malfatti, president of the Common Market's executive commission, said "the historic decision marks the success of the building of Europe and above all provides it with the necessary dimensions and status."

On the white cliffs of Dover, cheering pro-marketeers lighted a giant bonfire. Among them was former Prime Minister Harold MacMillan, whose Conservative party government made Britain's first entry bid in 1961.

Heath's problem now was how to get Parliament to pass the enabling legislation needed to get Britain into the market.

The government planned to introduce this early next year. It will consist of a short bill ratifying the treaty making Britain a Common Market member and a longer bill designed to align British legislation with that of the European economic community.

Wilson served notice last night that in the future Heath could not expect help from Labor's pro-marketeers.

"From now on Mr. Heath has got to stand on his own two feet to get the legislation through — and this will be a very different matter," Wilson said in a televised interview. The obvious implication was that, while he had tolerated a revolt by 70 Labor pro-marketeers Thursday, he would not do so in future. Whether Wilson could deliver a straight party vote next time as he promised was the question.

Coronary Equipment Will Be Purchased

Marin Hospital District directors voted 3-0 today to buy $29,405 in special equipment for coronary care units.

The action came at an adjourned meeting set by the board to review data on the equipment, to be supplied by Dollons Instruments Corp. of El Segundo.

OBITUARIES

Petaluma's Dr. Clarke Dead At 62

Dr. Howard Clarke, retired Petaluma veterinarian, died yesterday after collapsing in his camper on a hunting expedition at Burney, near Redding.

Dr. Clarke, 62, was born in Stickney, S.D., and came to Petaluma in 1935 as a tuberculosis inspector for the state. He operated his own veterinary practice for many years and was later employed by the state racing association at various racetracks. He had been semiretired for a year.

Dr. Clarke was a charter member of the Sonoma County Trailblazers, Petaluma Masonic Lodge No. 180 and AAHMES.

He is survived by a son, Robert Clarke of Cotati; a daughter, Patty Reinholder of Hayward; two sisters, Beatrice More of Petaluma and Myrtle Mathern of Texas; a brother, Tad Clarke of South Dakota; and three grandchildren.

Funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, followed by burial at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

F. N. PARKE

Funeral arrangements for former advertising executive Frederick N. Parke of Tiburon were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

Parke, 52, was found dead in bed at his home Wednesday by his son, Timothy M. Parke of Larkspur, who had been unable to reach him by telephone. Cause of death will be determined by an autopsy, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

A native of New York, Parke had lived in California and Marin County for 26 years, residing at 45A Red Hill Circle. He was a former vice-president of the Johnson and Lewis advertising agency and a former advertising manager for the First Western Bank and Trust Co. in San Francisco. At the time of his death he had been working as a free lance writer.

Parke also is survived by two brothers, David Parke of Houston, Tex., and Robert Parke of New York.

S. A. COMPAGNO

Requiem Mass for Salvatore A. Compagno of Martinez, father of Anthony (Tony) Compagno of Larkspur, will be offered Saturday, at 9:30 a.m. at St. Catherine's Church in Martinez.

Compagno, born in Italy, died Wednesday. He was 72 years old.

Other survivors include his wife, Catherine, two brothers, Antonio and Nicholas Compagno; two daughters Marie and Johanna Compagno, all of Martinez, and four grandchildren in Larkspur.

ECONOMY

tial unemployment was at its highest point in 10 years.

The Labor Department said three major areas were added to the list of cities with 6 per cent or more unemployment. Joblessness dropped below that level in two other cities but the net gain on one brought the total major areas to 65, the largest number since October, 1961, when there were 68.

Added to the high unemployment list were three Ohio communities — Canton, Lorain-Elyria, and Youngstown-Warren. Dropped were the Indiana cities of South Bend and Terre Haute.

Eight smaller areas also were added to the list, while three were dropped, bringing the total of smaller areas to 785.

The eight smaller areas added were McRae, Ga.; Farmington and Batten, Main; North-Humberland-Stratford, N.H.; Silver City, N.M.; Sulphur, Okla; and Morgan and Vernal, Utah. Smaller areas removed from the list were Texarkana, Tex., and Cheyenne and Pawnee, Okla.

The unemployment report was based on preliminary data collected in August and September, Labor Department officials said.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the United States during September posed a $265.4 million trade surplus. The upsurge ended a string of monthly deficits starting in April that totaled nearly $1.4 billion from April through August.

Deterioration of the American trade position played an important role in leading President Nixon to announce his new economic program Aug. 15. Included in the program were a 10 per cent surcharge on imports and de facto devaluation of the dollar overseas.

'Copters In Sweep For Thieu

SAIGON (UPI) — American "Firefly" helicopters equippped with bright spotlights swept low over swamps east of Saigon Thursday night to pinpoint Viet Cong troops believed intent on disrupting Sunday's inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The appearance of the choppers over the swamps, favorite firing bases for Communist rocket crews, was the first known American participation in the huge security plan to protect Thieu's investiture.

The "Fireflys" normally seek out suspected Communist positions, switch on the glaring spotlights and try to draw enemy fire. Heavily armed helicopters hovering above the "Firefly" teams then sweep in and attack the Vieg Cong. There was no word whether the choppers were fired upon.

While government functionaries held an injuguration rehearsal at the heavily guarded platform in downtown Saigon, South Vietnamese Army (ARVN) artillery teams stationed near the capital pounded suspected Communist positions around the city with hundreds of "harassment and interdiction" bombs.

ARVN, American and police troops cordoned off an area two blocks around the stand where Thieu will take his second oath of office Sunday in an effort to keep would-be terrorists away from the rehearsal.

The U.S. command in Saigon said intelligence reports indicated firebombings, shellings and terrorist attacks could be expected in South Vietnam during the weekend. Most of the attacks was expected to come from antigovernment elements rather than Communists, however, it said.

To combat the terrorism, the command put the 200,000 GIs left in the country on "grey alert" from 5 p.m. today to 5 p.m. Monday. The alert will prohibit nearly all of them from going into cities, towns and villages except on official business.

The Saigon government said Thursday that it plans to release 2,938 Viet Cong prisoners of war, most of them after a period of indoctrination in connection with Thieu's investiture.

Cuban Sugar Delegates Are Held In Detention

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— Twenty-two Cuban sugar cane delegates accused of entering the country illegally three days ago were held today at a military base "under detention." State Department officials were deciding what to do with them.

The Cubans have refused to leave the United States voluntarily, insisting they be allowed to attend an international sugar meeting.

They were hustled out of the plush hotel where they had been confined to their rooms and taken Thursday evening to the New Orleans Naval Air Station, 30 miles outside town.

"We were getting a bit tired of the circus the Cubans were trying to make down there" at the hotel," a State Department spokesman in Washington said. He added "the base provides a greater measure of control over the group."

Security around the military base immediately was tightened. Guards were stationed around the bachelor officers' quarters where the Cubans were billeted.

At the international sugar cane congress there was a growing feeling among the 700 delegates from 53 sugar-producing nations that the Cubans should be allowed to attend.

But the government did not change its position.

"I think people have forgotten that the Cuban government applied for visas for these people in early September and were denied visas Sept. 24— they have illegally entered," the State Department spokesman said.

The State Department asked the Cuban government through the Swiss Embassy to request the sugar cane delegation to return to Havana, but did not receive a reply.

The Cubans laughed and joked with newsmen Thursday before they were transferred to the military base. Asked about the progress of the sugar cane meeting one said:

"All we know is what we read in the papers."

They said they would not leave until the convention ends Nov. 5.

Five Dead In Japan Coal Mine Blast

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI)—An explosion ripped through a coal mine today, killing five workmen.

The mine had been closed two days ago because of low production, and workers were sealing the pit entrance when the explosion occurred.

Stiff Term For Candy Sadists

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)— Hallowe'en sadists who hand out candy and apples containing pins and razor blades face a heavy prison sentence under a bill sent to Gov. William G. Milliken Thursday.

The bill, which passed the House in April, was approved on a 29-0 vote in the Senate.

Milliken's aides said they expected the bill to be printed before noon Friday — in time for Halloween weekend.

The bill would make it a felony punishable by a fine of up to $10,000 or a prison term of 10 years in prison, or both, to purposely dispense harmful objects in food.

Operation Of FBI Is Attacked

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—Two Yale University law professors charged today that the way the FBI operates violates the constitutional rights of individuals.

The professors, Thomas Emerson and Frank J. Donner, made their remarks in reports prepared for delivery at today's opening session of a two-day conference on the Federal Bureau of Investigation and its role in society.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who declined an invitation to send a representative to the conference, instead drafted a 3,400-word "defense" of the bureau to be read to 55 journalists, scholars and former Justice Department members meeting on the Princeton University campus.

The conference is sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School of Public Affairs at Princeton, and the Committee of Public Justice.

Emerson, in a 52-page report contended "there can be little doubt that the operations of the FBI in their present form infringe upon rights guaranteed by the First Amendment."

Donner, who also submitted a 52-page report, attacked the FBI's use of informers. He said the informers more frequently are used for political intelligence than for criminal cases.

In an Oct. 7 letter rejecting the invitation, Hoover had said "we were aware of the plans for the conference, having read the announcements in the press, and some related remarks, critical of the FBI, attributed to persons who apparently will be among the 'judges' hearing the case."

The 76-year-old FBI director said he recalled "the story of the frontier judge who said he would first give the defendant a fair trial and then hang him."

In his current letter Hoover said he would try to explain briefly some of the facts of the FBI "defense hoping they will be considered material during the deliberations of your group..."

Among the "facts" cited by Hoover were:

The FBI long has had a rule that an FBIofficer can shoot only in self-defense or to defend others.

The FBI is not free to make its own choices of its investigative duties.

We have innovated our own rules to better protect the constitutional rights of the accused.

Emerson said that "the maintenance by the government of a dossier containing the political beliefs, opinions, associations and activities of a citizen is bound to cause concern, anxiety and fear in him and his associates.

"The content of such a file can be held against him in future investigations or prosecutions; it can affect his employment and his whole career, if disclosed; it can subject him to social pressure, economic discrimination and political reprisals; it may be the basis of blackmail; it may be inaccurate or used out of context."

Donner contended that only a small number of political undercover FBI agents check activities of "violence-prone groups."

Among those scheduled to speak at the conference are I. F. Stone, the free-lance Washington journalist; Aryoh Neier, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union; James Ahern, former New Haven, Conn., police commissioner; and former New York City police commissioner Vincent Broderick.

In the House Thursday, Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the House Internal Security Committee, attacked the objectivity of the conference.

"The result will be predictable," Ichord said, "frightening allegations that the FBI threatens the very foundations of our freedom."

Both Donner and playwright Lillian Hellman, whom Ichord said was a founder of the Committee for Public Justice, had refused to answer questions by investigators two decades ago about their connection to the Communist party, Ichord said.

Other committee members include such "beautiful people" as cartoonist Jules Feiffer, actress Shirley MacLaine and director Mike Nichols, "and their thirst for public justice at least is equalled by their desire for personal publicity and public attention," Ichord said.

A Million Will Get Sterilized

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The president of Planned Parenthood-World Population said Thursday that a million Americans would undergo voluntary sterilization this year.

Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, 72, called the figure "extraordinary."

He made the comment at the final luncheon of his organization's annual conference.

Guttmacher said 750,000 men would undergo vasectomies—the male sterilization operation—and 250,000 women would have their tubes tied to eliminate the possibility of pregnancy.

Property Values Checked In Marin

State appraisers began checking property values in Marin yesterday to determine the proper share of state school funds given to Marin schools.

Announcement of the study was made by William M. Bennett of Kentfield, a member of the state Board of Equalization. The work is expected to take two to three months during which time about 250 sample properties will be studied.

A PRETTY FACE

If you look hard enough, you can find a pretty face peering through a row of wicked wickets on the grounds of the Financial Plaza building going up in the heart of downtown Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The ironwork which Candy Hoisington is inspecting is part of the base of a 28-story bank building that is to be completed early next year.

Prop. A Wins GOP Support

The Marin County Republican Central Committee has endorsed Proposition A — the Marin Community College District's $16.7 million bond measure on Tuesday's ballot.

According to committee chairman Rodger C. Broomhead, the endorsement came Tuesday during the group's monthly meeting.

On other matters, the committee was told its registration booth at the Marin County Fair registered 149 persons this year and that a new group, the Republican Rent Raisers, had donated $300 to the central committee.

A LITTER SURPRISE FOR OWNERS OF LOST CAT

I-J Special Report

EVANSTON, Ill. — When Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Alprin get home from their trip to Seattle, they're in for a surprise — maybe more than one.

The Siamese cat they undoubtedly thought they lost along the way was home waiting for them, returned by air by a Seattle motel owner who found it wandering nearby and traced it by the identification collar.

But the big surprise which may turn into multiple ones: The well-traveled feline is pregnant.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Fallon Man Picked For Farm Program

Alfred L. Poncia, Fallon dairyman, has been named one of 30 young Californians to participate in a three-year agricultural leadership program sponsored by the Agricultural Education Foundation and the Council of California Growers.

Poncia, past president of the Marin County Farm Bureau, will be exposed to farming methods and leadership skills on an international basis. After studying in California one year, Poncia will travel to other states and to Washington, D.C., then abroad for his final year of training.

Tossed Fire Hits Novato Boy, 14

A 14-year-old Novato boy has suffered third-degree burns on his hands from a jar of burning rubber cement thrown at him from a passing car.

Police said the frightening assault on John C. Jones of 38 San Ramon Way took place Tuesday when the youth was sitting on the curb in front of a friend's house at 252 San Felipe Way.

An occupant of a blue car threw the jar at young Jones and two companions, police said. The other boys, Douglas E. Shilling, 15, and Thomas W. Harm, 14, both of Novato, escaped injury but the burning cement hit Jones's pants and he suffered the burns trying to put out flames.

Police said they later found a burnt paper fuse used to light the cement as well as glass.

Jones was hospitalized overnight at Novato General Hospital.

Interviews Are Scheduled

Youths in North Marin who want to apply for a post on the Marin County Youth Commission will be interviewed next Thursday afternoon at the Civic Center.

The interviews will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. in room 332 by the youth commission.

Chairman Paul M. Cohen said the commission is particularly interested in getting a youth from Novato High School, which is not yet represented on the commission.

Only one vacancy exists on the 12-member commission, and that slot is in supervisorial district 5, Novato and Ignacio.

Flames Destroy Old Cairo Opera House

CAIRO (UPI)—Cairo's 102-year-old opera house, built to mark the pening of the Suez Canal and the impetus for Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Aida," was destroyed by fire today, an Egyptian official said.

The director of rescues for the Cairo governorate, Ismail Tawfik, said that damage was so extensive to both building and contents that the building would be pulled down. There were no reports of casualties.

Consultant For Tot Lot Asked

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission has proposed that the town hire a San Francisco firm to draw a master plan for a tiny tot area in the town park.

Commission Secretary Betty S. Behel said the recommendation to the town council came after Royston, Hanamoto, Beck and Wednesday estimated the cost at $800.

The Friends of Corte Madera Recreation raised more than $1,000 last year to build the play area, Mrs. Behel said.

The commission also changed its regular meeting date to the third Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at town hall, she said. Meetings have been on the fourth Wednesday.

Dispute Brews Over Nuclear Plant

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Resources Secretary Norman B. Livermore denies he agreed to oppose construction of the Point Arena nuclear power plant and says "the thing has been blown up all out of context."

Livermore said Thursday he "absolutely" will oppose the plant if evidence indicates it would harm the environment.

"Our options still are open," he told a newsman.

Livermore responded to a published report (by the Associated Press) that he agreed three years ago with Pacific Gas & Electric Co. not to oppose the utility company's proposed plant on the Mendocino County coast.

Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday also said "there is no such agreement."

There was an "agreement of understanding" signed by Livermore and PG&E in 1968 under which the Resources Agency agreed "that with respect to matters covered by this agreement" it would not oppose the project in public hearings. But the agency reserved the right to oppose the project on points not covered under the agreement or if new information was discovered.

The agreement was similar to 10 others signed by the Resources Agency dating back to early 1964—five of them under the Brown administration and six under Reagan's regime.

Specifically excluded from the Point Arena agreement were such key state bodies as the Water Quality Control Board, the Air Resources Board and the Lands Commission. These bodies, plus the state Public Utilities Commission, Federal Atomic Energy Commission and a regional Quality Control Board, must approve the project.

PG&E under the agreement was required to finance a $250,000 ecological study by the state Fish and Game Department.

"If evidence comes to us there are weaknesses in the agreement we will reopen negotiations and amend it," Livermore told a newsman.

Asked if he would oppose the project if differences were not resolved, Livermore replied: "Sure, absolutely."

The agreement now forbids dumping of spoil material in nearby waters without state authorization, controls erosion, and requires "esthetic compatibility with the surroundings," public recreation, a geological study and water quality and radiological surveillance.

Livermore noted the 1970 legislature enacted a law declaring it "the policy of the state to encourage the use of nuclear energy and to encourage planning by the state's electric utilities toward" construction of thermal power plants.

He said it was his agency's aim to resolve ecological differences with utility companies during a project's planning stage.

Asserting that California is "the leader among the states" in requiring that environmental factors be considered in thermal power projects, Livermore said the Reagan administration next year will seek legislation mandating the agreements during planning of all such projects. He said the legislation also would put "legal teeth" in the agreements.

Meanwhile, Sierra Club Executive Director Michael McCloskey charged that "such agreements—and this one in particular—constitute a grave threat to the public interest."

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., called it "another outrageous example of government by executive fiat."

4,000 Remain Out Of School

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—About 4,000 of San Francisco's 46,000 elementary school children still are boycotting the citywide integration by busing program that began in September.

About 3,000 of these children attend "freedom schools," set up by parents in 71 locations. Some of these have as few as a dozen children and about half are in Chinatown, the focal point of opposition.

Howard Clay, supervisor of attendance for the San Francisco Unified School District, said Thursday the estimated 4,000 represented about 9 per cent of the students expected to enroll for the fall term.

Clay said he cannot explain the missing 1,000 pupils, but one possibility was that the number of children in the city decreased more than anticipated during the summer.

Bar To Interview Tribunal Nominees

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Judiciary Committee of the American Bar Association will meet this weekend to interview and discuss the qualifications of Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, President Nixon's two Supreme Court nominees.

An ABA source indicated the committee probably would vote on the two men Monday and then transmit its report directly to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which will begin hearings on the nominees next week.

A Call For Closed Areas Along Coast For Study

A group of about 18 college science instructors agreed yesterday that certain points along California's scenic coastline should be designated for educational research and closed to the public.

The position came during a four-hour meeting yesterday at the College of Marin and will become part of a report to be submitted to the state by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education.

Yesterday's session, dealing with the coastline from Monterey north to Humboldt County, was highlighted by a recommendation that the state prohibit collection of marine life except by permit.

The prohibition, however, would not affect sport or commercial fishing.

The group is one of six in the state and was attended by representatives from the University of California and private, state and community colleges from Northern California. Dr. Gordon Chan, a biology instructor, represented the College of Marin.

The group, like the others, will draft a report prior to Dec. 30 dealing with the need and problems of setting aside portions of the cost for High Education.

All six reports will then be consolidated into one for inclusion into the Comprehensive Ocean Area Plan being drafted by the State Interagency Council on Ocean Research.

The ocean area plan will attempt to balance educational, recreational and economic proposals for the seashore.

"We in higher education are going to have to move rapidly if we are to acquire anything," Dr. Martin R. Brittan of Sacramento State College warned the gathering.

Brittan, who is coordinating the colleges' state-wide plan, said other groups, such as those supporting more parks and recreation facilities, already have fairly cohesive reports.

In designating seashore areas of value to education, the group yesterday delegated members to write supporting arguments for the report.

"Some areas, by their very nature, should be used only by graduate (science) students," Brittan said, adding that public access would spoil their research value.

"We must identify these areas and say what must be done to protect them," he added.

Among Marin County areas which the group felt deserve such protection are portions of Point Reyes National Seashore, Tomales Bay, Drake's Estero and Bolinas Point.

"The damage done (through collection) by us over the years," Brittan said, "is nothing compared to what others (nonprofessionals) can do in a couple of days."

Nixon's Plane Gets A New Paint Job

RENTON, Wash. (UPI)—The presidential jet, Air Force 1, is getting a two-day paint job at the Renton Municipal Airport.

The specially-built Boeing 707, which will carry President Nixon to Peking next year, was under heavy guard during the refinishing.

Five Viet GIs Swept To Sea

SAIGON (UPI)—Five American soldiers are believed to have drowned after being caught in a strong undertow off the beach at the Chu Lai combat base, military spokesmen said today.

The U.S. command said soldiers of the 23rd (Americal) Infantry Division were playing football on the beach and one of the men was swept out to sea by undertow.

Several other soldiers tried to rescue him and eight of them also were washed into deep water by the undercurrent whipped up by the recent typhoon in the area.

Four men were rescued by two helicopters which rushed to the area. The other five men are missing, the command said.

77 Marin Law Enforcement Officers Will Get Diplomas

Seventy-seven Marin law enforcement officers will end a 10-week basic training program with a commencement luncheon at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

Final examinations were taken today.

The training program — required of officers with less than 18 months experience — was the first time the course had been offered in Marin County.

Students included 52 sheriff's deputies; two coroner's investigators; an investigator each from the state department of fish and game and department of motor vehicles, and officers from police departments in San Rafael, Corte Madera, Sausalito, Larkspur, Ross, San Anselmo and Belvedere.

The 200-hour program, called the Basic Law Enforcement Academy, was put on by the Marin Police Community Relations Project and Santa Rosa Junior College.

(The basic program differs from police science courses offered at the College of Marin, which are more detailed courses in specific areas of police work. The basic program is broad based and touches all areas of police work from writing reports to using a weapon.)

Because of the number of men needing the course, it was held in Marin this year, and its sponsors propose continuing offering it here in the future, once or twice a year, depending on need.

Donald P. Manion, police community relations project consultant who worked on organizing the Marin program, said it would be "realistic" to continue the program in the county with the cooperation of Santa Rosa Junior College and using "as much local talent and input as possible."

When officers took the course at Santa Rosa, they boarded at Santa Rosa and were lost to the police departments for seven weeks.

By offering the program this year in two four-hour classes a day at the Marin Hall of Justice, police departments were able either to have their officers work four hours and attend class for four hours or, as the sheriff's office did, have the men work their regular eight-hour shifts and attend the class during off-duty hours.

One class met from 8 a.m. to noon and the other from 6 to 10 p.m. each weekday, allowing officers who worked either days or nights to attend.

Subject matter covered all phases of police work. Classes included criminal law, investigations, injury and death cases, rules of evidence, race and ethnic group relations, press relations, crowd control, disaster training, first aid, courtroom demeanor and testifying, field note taking, citations, juvenile law, how to use and the legal aspects of using weapons, as well as instruction on how to handle various crimes, such as burglaries, narcotics violations, auto thefts, assaults, sex crimes and drunk cases.

Faculty consisted of about 30 persons, some from the Santa Rosa Junior College staff, others from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, California Highway Patrol and local police officers qualified to instruct.

Lectures were also given by Marin professionals, such as the director of the Marin Community Health Center speaking on mental illness cases, and the city editor of the Independent-Journal discussing police-press relations.

Graduates at tomorrow's luncheon will receive a certificate of completion from Santa Rosa Junior College, class photos and grades.

Sheriff's Sgt. George Reuss, academy coordinator, will serve as master of ceremonies, and speakers will be Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos; Stan Anderson, police science coordinator at Santa Rosa Junior College; a representative of the state Police Officers Standard Training Commission, which accredits the program, and the two class presidents elected by the morning and evening classes, sheriff's deputies Roger D. Wardall and Robert F. Richmond.

Graduates, by department, are:

Robber Given Year In Jail

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Michael B. Miles. 23. of 630 G Street, Petaluma, has been sentenced to a year in the Sonoma County Jail in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Miles had pleaded guilty to first degree robbery stemming from the Aug. 5 robbery of the South City Market, Petaluma. Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr. suspended a prison term Wednesday and ordered Miles to the county jail and placed him on probation for three years.

Miles's wife, Theresa, 18, has pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property and her case was set for sentencing on Nov. 2.

Driver Receives Minor Injuries

One driver received minor injuries in a three-car accident at 4:20 p.m. yesterday on South Novato Boulevard at Yukon Way, Novato, police reported. Elizabeth Jean Stratford, 42, of 1536 Buchanan, Novato, was to see her own doctor for neck pain, according to police.

Her car was stopped behind another in the northbound lane, and another car, driven by Jerry Paul Livingstone, 30, of 901 Simmons Lane, Novato, was stopped behind her, police reported. A third car, driven by Marian Jane Baccaglio, 17, of 1526 South Novato Boulevard, Novato, hit the Livingstone car knocking it into the Stratford car, police reported.

Sniper Kills A Policeman During Nightclub Fracas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)— A sniper using a high-powered rifle with a telescopic sight killed a white policeman and wounded another early today a few minutes after the officers began investigating a bi-racial nightclub shooting.

The sniper hit the officers with a single shot and then eluded a night-long search in the southeast section of the city.

The incidents came a day after three Negro organizations protested police brutality and prices of merchandise at white-owned stores in black areas. But, police said they doubted that the shotting stemmed from the black unrest.

"We haven't got things all checked out yet but at this time I'd have to say no," said homicide Sgt. J. R. Brizenbine.

Patrolman E. M. Belcher, 24, died instantly when the sniper's bullet from the foreign-made rifle exploded his skull.

Bits of bullet and bone fragments hit Patrolman Ronald G. Turner, 28, who was standing next to Belcher. Turner was treated and released.

Ten minutes before the officers were hit, Kenneth Wayne Harris, 23, and Debra Brooks, 19, both black, were shot inside the Electric Circus Club. Harris was in critical condition but Miss Brooks was not hurt seriously.

W. E. Van Hook, an ambulance driver, described the situation as tense after Harris and Miss Brooks were shot. He took Harris to a hospital.

"A lot of blacks were standing around and they hassled the ambulance drivers pretty badly," Van Hook said. "It was pretty tense."

At the hospital, Van Hook received a radio call to return because the officers had been shot. He said Patrolman Belcher was lying dead in a parking lot.

The sniper at first was believed to have fired from a hamburger stand 200 to 250 yards away. Brizenbine said investigators later pinpointed a different location but withheld further information other than they were seeking a green car in which the sniper was believed to have fled.

A witness said he was standing in the doorway of the Electric Circus when he heard a rifle crack.

"I turned around and the two policemen were on the ground," he said.

Police later found the rifle, covered with mud, in a field behind the hamburger stand. It had a telescopic sight. A policeman said it was of foreign make and appeared to be the equivalent of .30-06 caliber. It had a leather shoulder strap.

Harris was shot inside the club when he stepped in front of a black security guard a customer was shooting at. Harris was shot in the head but was in fair condition.

After Harris was shot, perhaps 14 additional shots were fired inside the club. A small caliber bullet went under the skin of Miss Brook's forehead.

The injuries she suffered when she fell and was trampled by a fleeing crowd were worse than the bullet wound.

Police were called and the sniper fired shortly after they arrived.

Scout Dinner Is Scheduled

Boy Scouts and leaders in the Sonoma-Mendocino scout Council will be honored at a recognition banquet Nov. 6 at 6:15 p.m. at the Flamingo Hotel, Santa Rosa.

Special awards will include veteran awards, wood badge awards, training badges and the presentation of the Silver Bear award to three scouts. Scout executive Harold J. Alexander reported a woman scout will receive the Silver Fawn award for outstanding service to youth.

Scouts who attended the 13th world jamboree in Japan last summer will present a portion of the program. Reservations for the dinner may be made at the Petaluma Scout Service Center, 840 Western Avenue, Petaluma.

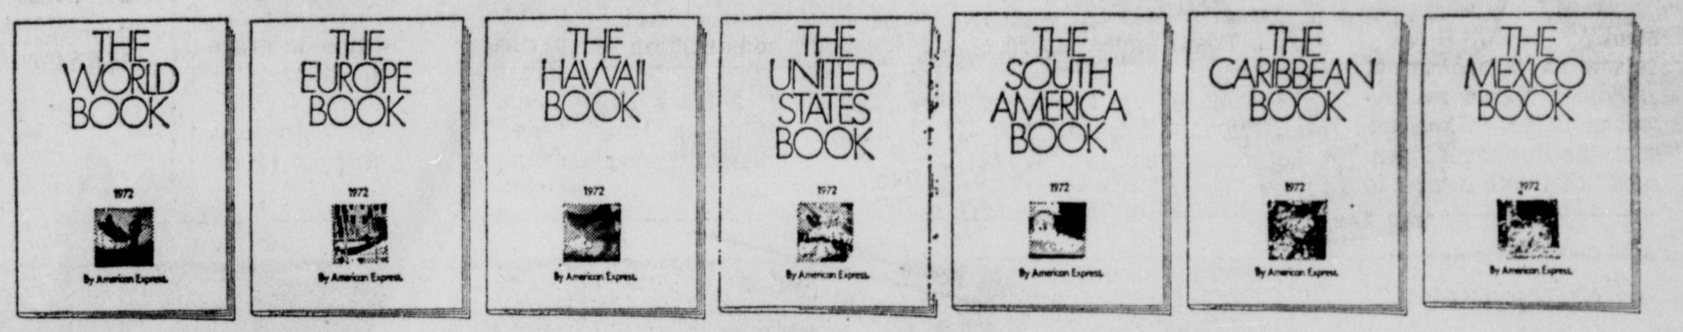
The Art of Travel 1972



New from the Travel Planners of American Express.
The 1972 edition of The Books that give you every detail of hundreds of artfully planned tours to almost anywhere. Absolutely free.

Meticulous planning. The secret of relaxed travel.

With these Books you can go through each American Express tour in detail, mile by mile and day by day. A year and more in advance, expert travel planners have been solving all the problems for you. You are told what you will see and when and how you will see it. Your class of hotels, entertainment and meals are described—and often illustrated with color pictures. There is a map of each route and a list of the dates when each tour departs. The price of each tour is listed. In American Express Books the fine print is large and clear, in plain English.

How to cope calmly with curious local customs.

Know about them in advance. The Books contain hundreds of useful travel tips: store hours in different countries, what to wear where, customs regulations, tipping, and what spells "Ladies Room." There are sections that will teach you such things as the international language of roulette (rien ne va plus—no more bets, here we go). You'll learn about the subway in Paris with rubber wheels and the subway in Moscow with crystal chandeliers. You'll learn the ritual way to drink tequila in Mexico, to "skol" in Copenhagen, to order lemonade in Madrid.

You'll discover that in Japan, bathing with friends is considered sociable, and that on most American Express tours a private bath is guaranteed.

Should you travel alone? Should you travel with a group?

These Books will help you discover which kind of traveler you are. There are clear explanations of the Swinger and Grand Free-Lance tours, where your time is your own for exploration and adventure.

Or, if you like to sit back and let someone else do all the work, there are fully escorted tours in all price ranges for trips to just about anywhere in the world. There's an American Express tour style to suit your pocket and personality.

What the world's largest travel company can add to your trip.

The American Express name means security, comfort and value for travelers. American Express Company and its subsidiaries and representatives have over 800 offices in the United States and throughout the world. So there's someone you can turn to for assistance along the way. You'll discover that because American Express is big, it can get you rates. from hotels and airlines you could never arrange as an individual. Most tips are included in all American Express tours, so you get courteous attentive service wherever you go without having to fumble among the kroner and zlotys.

Transatlantic air fares will be very competitive during 1972. American Express pledges that you will pay the lowest applicable jet air fare on scheduled airlines for the tour you select. If the airline fare for your tour is reduced between the time you book and the time you leave, American Express will refund the savings to you. Hotels in many parts of the world are overcrowded during desirable seasons. American Express guarantees you a reserved room at a rate you couldn't arrange on your own. And the prices in The Books include many meals, ground transportation, entertainment, lots of extras.

Send for The Books that spell out the information about the areas you'd like to visit this year. Then comparison shop among tours if you like. You may find a cheaper way to go where you want to go. But if you check the details, we are sure you will agree American Express offers excellent value.

You can get your Books and buy your tour from your American Express Travel Office or any travel agency. Or send in this coupon today. *"American Express, for people who travel."*SM

A PRINCESS'S VISIT

Dog Saved By An Alert Firefighter

A small gray poodle — trapped in a burning house yesterday, was revived through the determined efforts of a Petaluma firefighter.

Fire Chief Roscoe A. Benton said the dog was rescued from the burning home at 14 Kent Street at 2:30 p.m.

"When we brought him out on the lawn he was limp, completely lifeless," Benton said.

Everyone assumed the dog was dead from smoke inhalation, except firefighter Robert Glockner who administered artificial respiration for 10 minutes. "We all thought it was a lost cause until the dog suddenly stirred and started looking around," Benton said.

A cat was the only other occupant of the Enos Korb home when the fire broke out. It was unharmed.

The fire caused heavy damage to a rear bedroom and moderate smoke damage to other rooms.

Lot Of Complaints

DETROIT (UPI) —A record 3,080 complaints were filed with the Michigan Civil Rights Commission during the fiscal year 1970-1971. The complaints alleged illegal discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin or age.

Ex-U.S. Gangster Charged In Italy

ROME (UPI)—Frank "Three Fingers" Coppola, a reputed crime syndicate boss deported from the United States 23 years ago as an undesirable, was charged Friday with dealing in drugs, criminal conspiracy and cigarette smuggling—a multimillion dollar racket in Italy.

Coppola and nine other men were arrested Thursday in a raid on his farm outside Rome. Similar raids were conducted throughout the country.

Coppola, 72, a close associate of U.S. gangland figures such as Salvatore (Lucky) Luciano and Santo Trafficante, was active in alleged syndicate operations in New York and Detroit before moving to Kansas City.

Coppola once told Italian newsmen he was instrumental in the rise of Harry S Truman to the presidency through his influence in Kansas City.

Coppola, who was born near Palermo in 1899, came to the United States in the 1920s. He was deported in 1948. The FBI described him as a major figure in U.S. smuggling, illegal gambling and racketeering. Coppola said he is a businessman and farmer in Italy.

Coppola was acquitted after a trial in Palermo in 1968 on charges of smuggling drugs into the United States. Sixteen other men, including reputed New York racketeer Joseph "Joe Bananas" Bonanno were also charged.

Coppola and the other nine men arrested Thursday were being held in Palermo. Police said the arrests followed two years of investigations.

Three Sicilian businessmen were also arrested in Rome on charges of using their commercial activities to mask narcotics smuggling operations.

Senate Approves Aid To Greece

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted today in favor of continuing foreign aid to Greece.

Senators rejected, 49 to 31, a House-approved amendment to the $3.2 billion foreign aid bill that would have ended economic and military assistance to the military regime that has governed Greece for four years unless the President decreed it necessary in the interest of national security.

The vote came as the Senate moved toward vote later today on another move to cut U.S. contributions to the U.N., and a final vote tonight on the overall bill. An effort to drastically slash U.N. payments was rejected decisively.

Deadly Weapon Assault Charged In Bar Fight

A Mendocino County man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on a warrant charging he hit a San Rafael man over the head with a bar stool and took $810 from him.

Dale Adrien Hein, 32, of Ukiah, was booked by San Anselmo Police and arraigned yesterday in municipal court on charges of assault with a deadly weapon — the bar stool — and grand theft.

Hein was held in lieu of $2,500 bail and was to plead to the charges today.

According to an affidavit attached to the warrant for his arrest, Hein "viciously attacked" James Wallace of 851 Rosal Way, San Rafael, Oct. 14 at MacArthur's Tavern in San Anselmo.

Wallace said Hein, the uncle of Wallace's wife, hit him over the head with a bar stool, jumped on his chest and punched him in the face when Wallace refused to lend him money.

Hein took the $810 from Wallace's pocket, the affidavit said, and he has since returned only $350 of it.

Medical Society Opposed To 'B'

The Marin Medical Society board of directors last night adopted unanimously a resolution opposing Measure B, the Marin Municipal Water District finance measure which goes before voters next Tuesday.

The directors concurred in a resolution of the society's environmental health committee, which called the water district's Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct plan a "premature plan."

It said the proposal: "1) provides excessive water which would encourage undesirable and unplanned growth and development; (2) relies on an outmoded system for delivering the water; (3) ignores potential deleterious effects on the environment, and (4) deludes the public into thinking we are in imminent danger of a water shortage."

Sewer Line Paves Way For Homes

A $75,000 sewer outfall extension completed earlier this week has paved the way for 102 new homes in the Peacock Gap area of San Rafael.

The extension completed Wednesday off China Camp solves problems which led the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board to ban new sewer hookups in the Peacock area, according to Norris M. Rawles, district administrator of the San Rafael Sanitation District.

Rawles said the improvement paid for by the developers, S.D. Land Company and Sixty Trust, will allow hookups on their lots, but not elsewhere.

The outfall now drops treated waste 2,000 feet offshore in deep water where the current is strong, thereby meeting a requirement of more dilution of waste before more hookups, Rawles said.

The homesites are the first of their kind on the market in seven years in Peacock Gap.

We improve with age.

We like to think of ourselves as the Chateau Lafite-Rothschild of the automotive world.
We keep getting better every year.
Since 1949, we've improved our little car over 2,200 times.
Last year we gave it a more powerful engine and nearly twice the luggage space it had before.
This year we added 29 more improvements.
We found a way to keep engine noise down.
We found a way to make it run better in cold weather.
And we found a way to make it run even smoother in cold, hot or whatever weather you have in mind.
So it goes on.
Since '49, we've made over a thousand body and chassis improvements.
Since '49, we've made over a thousand engine and transmission improvements.
And the reason for all this progress?
Since '49, we've spent absolutely no time making silly styling changes.
What you see, once again, is what you get.

GIVING THE GEESE A GANDER

The folks in Waupon, Wis., like to watch flocks of Canada geese as they feed and fly around a nearby game refuge. More than 200,000 geese pause at the refuge before continuing on their southern migration. Half of the birds will be gone by Dec. 1. (UPI Telephoto)

School Chiefs Hear Bad Support News

School districts will have to learn to live with statewide distribution of funds on an equal per-pupil basis, two speakers told Marin County school trustees at a dinner meeting yesterday sponsored by Tamalpais High School District.

Prof. John Coons of University of California's Boalt Hall law school and Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, both told the dinner meeting at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael that unconstitutionality of the present school support method found by the California Supreme Court in Serrano vs. Priest will necessitate such a system.

Cory said this might be called socialism, but "a school district is pure socialism, a totally socialistic enterprise."

The assemblyman said, however, that he expects the present Legislature to do nothing about changing the laws on school support. "Sacramento is not even close to the problem, let alone the solution," he declared.

Coons, in analyzing the Serrano vs. Priest decision, compared property tax school support with the poll tax, long ago found unconstitutional.

During a question period, Cory responded to a question by trustee Nancy Cook of Reed School District by calling "pure hogwash" the contention that districts are handicapped by being tied to single salary schedules for all teachers. "A school board should pay the teachers what it thinks they are worth," he asserted.

Pneumatic Hammer Taken In Novato

A pneumatic hammer valued at $300 was taken between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 6 a.m., yesterday from the back of a pickup truck parked in his driveway at 60 Gustafson Court, Novato, Ronald G. Gaither reported to Novato police.

Artist Offers Eight Lessons

Ricksecker, also a Petaluma fireman, teaches several classes in basic line drawing at Cherry Valley and Bernard Eldredge schools, Petaluma.

The eight-lesson course is designed for children in second, third and fourth grades, and begins with lessons on straight and squiggly lines and ends with youngsters doing full seascape drawings. Teachers interested in the course can contact Ricksecker at 509 Keller Street, Petaluma.

Irate Taxpayers Knock County Plan

Werner von Gundell, Marin County planning director, ran into what he termed the "first active opposition" to the proposed countywide general plan at a meeting last night sponsored by the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

Many members of the audience of over 50 persons wanted to know "who is going to pay for all the public land" shown for future acquisition in the plan, according to Winifred S. Frederick, publicity chairman.

She said when von Gundell responded that the taxpayers are, opposition was expressed to placing further tax burdens on homeowners.

She said members of the audience also expressed dissatisfaction with taking so much land off tax rolls and leaving so little for commercial and clean industrial development.

They voiced the opinion that commercial and clean industrial growth should also be encouraged in order to provide more jobs for Marin residents who now must commute outside the county, according to Mrs. Frederick.

There was also no opposition to using Sir Francis Drake Boulevard as the main access for increased tourist traffic to West Marin, she said.

Von Gundell told the gathering that the county plan, if adopted, will not scrap master plans already adopted in various areas but they will be amended to reflect changes in the county plan.

Mrs. Frederick said von Gundell emphasized the county plan can only be enforced within cities if the cities cooperate.

In other business, the Irate Taxpayers adopted a resolution opposing the use and purchase of the controversial book, "The Movement Toward a New America, a Handbook for Revolution," proposed for use at San Rafael High School.

Taxpayers who support public schools should not be expected to finance instructional materials which advocate the overthrow of the American government, the resolution said.

At the Nov. 18 meeting of the group members will choose between Philip Maley and Sarah Nome for president.

Sausalito Wreck —Two Are Hurt

Two persons received minor injuries, but declined hospital treatment, in a three-car collision at 2 p.m. yesterday on the Sausalito Lateral, east of Highway 101, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said a car driven by Richard A. Hoffman, 24, of Foster City, had stopped in an eastbound lane to allow another auto to make a left turn. The patrol reported that a car operated by Chester E. Zaneski, 40, of 19 Vasco Drive, Mill Valley, was stopped behind the Hoffman auto when it was struck from behind by an auto driven by John Mailliard III, 57, of San Francisco and pushed into the Hoffman vehicle.

Alan F. Frank, 45, of Salt Lake City, a passenger in the Zaneski car, complained of back pain following the accident. Another passenger in the auto, Maury H. Kazt, of Orinda, received a scraped knee and bruise over one eye in the crash.

Right Leg Broken

Patrik Linington, Gate 5, Waldo Point, was admitted to Marin General Hospital last night with a broken right leg suffered in a Sausalito auto accident. Valeri Gold, 25, involved in the same accident was in satisfactory condition today.

THE CALIFORNIA LOOK

BUSINESS MYTHS EXPOSED

Executive Says Women Work Well As Bosses

NEW YORK (UPI)—A manager, male, takes a look at ability of employe, female, and exposes many of the "myths" about women in business.

No, he isn't campaigning for the women's liberationists. Yes, he is speaking from his executive suite in a company that has more than 20,000 employes, 80 per cent of them women.

"PERHAPS THE single most significant error committed by men and management is that they tend to assume that all women are the same, that women are not individuals," says Ray A. Killian. "They yield to the temptation of making decisions based on averages rather than on the merits of each woman." That's sort of like "a doctor averaging the information on the charts ... in the hospital and prescribing cures based on the averages."

This approach, "penalizes both the company and the women," says Killian.

Killian sees women as "an important but under-utilized human resource (but) properly employed, trained, supervised, compensated, promoted and judged represent the best bargain available to the company."

Killian is vice-president and director of personnel operations for Belk Store Services, Inc., an 18-state chain of over 400 department stores. He also has conducted training programs and seminars for management personnel in all faces of leadership.

IN 20 YEARS in the business, he has interviewed and hired "countless women, placed them, trained them, supervised the, counseled them — and fired (some of) them."

Now, in a provocative book called "The Working Woman" (American Management Association, New York), he tells it like he sees it from his own observations and a survey of both sexes at managerial, supervisory and lesser ranks of job level.

One question, for instance, was "What advantages do women have over men as employes?" Some of the answers: "Better equipped temperamentally to handle certain types of detail-oriented jobs"; "capable women have the same advantages as capable men"; "none".

ADVANTAGES OF women over men as supervisors? Some answers: "In most cases, none"; "greater sensitivity, better equipped to deal with problems of female employes"; "more subtly persuasive, wider range of acting roles to use in accomplishing goals."

To the question, "What advantages do men have over women as employes?", the answers ranged from "None, other than brawn" to "accept change better" to "less rivalry, more comradeship".

Advantages men have over women as supervisors included these replies: "Generally, they can cope with personnel problems better on an unemotional basis"; "no prejudice to overcome"; "less skeptical"; "When a man is decisive, he evokes a father image; a woman is simply considered aggressive.-

ANOTHER QUESTION was, "Are there business areas still barred to women because of their sex?", 64 per cent of the respondents said "yes", 36 per cent said "no." Some listed the "barred" areas as the high executive levels in large corporations, others as "hard physical labor for which she is not physically equipped."

When it came to factors in business making it difficult for women to advance, answers ranged from "She can't go and play golf or have a drink with men" to the "age-old prejudices that women are not intellectually or emotionally suited for executive capacities."

What changes would improve women's opportunities for advancement? Answers included, "Women must keep bitterness out of their attitude; men must evaluate women by ability, not sex," and "grown-up behavior by women in business."

KILLIAN ASKED his group to comment on several of the cliches ordinarily heard about women workers. For instance — that "women are too emotional", answers included: "No more than men, they just show it in a different way" or "I've seen male managers blow their tops, allow themselves to be manipulated, get away with incompetence that wouldn't be tolerated in a woman."

ON THE AGENDA

Marin Ballet Aquacade To Present Check From Last June's Proceeds

Marin Ballet Aquacade will hold a general meeting at 10 a.m. Monday at St. John's Church Parish Hall in Ross. The group will present a check for proceeds from the ballet aquacade last June to Marindale School. Receiving the proceeds will be Barbara Tarasoff, Marindale principal, and Dr. Virgil Hollis, county superintendent of schools.

New officers will also be introduced.

MARIN COUNTRY Club Garden Club members will go on a special tour Monday to the East Bay holiday show in Oakland.

Members will meet at the Country Club in Novato at 9 a.m. and leave by chartered bus. At noon they will have lunch at Jack London Square and then return to the show.

Mmes. Robert Bliss and Roy Ricksham are program chairmen.

"INTERESTING PEOPLE I Have Met" will be the program of Dr. Paul W. Yinger, pastor of the Piedmont Community Church, at the San Rafael Improvement Club meeting Tuesday. The program will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the clubhouse. Tea will follow the program. Committee members are Mmes. Norris Rawles and Harold Elliot. Pouring tea will be Miss Wylma Cunningham and Mrs. Ruth Dwight Bruner.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS of Bethel 48 of San Rafael will hold its annual fashion show at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Masonic Building in San Rafael.

"Sew Many Fashions" is the theme of the show with many of the girls sewing and modeling their own clothes. They are Lori Jerome, Beverly Eklund, Sandy Koenig, Joanne Koenig, Brenda Evenson, Elaine Deen, Diane Campbell, Janet Alwes, Laurie Petrie, Mary Ailman, Cindy Morrill, Karin Morrill, Patty Phillips, Michelle Pitcher, Carol Newman, Krissy Adamson, Louise Pagone and Tia Kant.

Modeling clothes from a local store will be Pam Holman, Debbie Daunt, Krissy Adamson, Cheryl Cazneaux, Carol Newman, Jean Banfield, Mrs. Alyce Daunt and Mrs. Dianne Vouster.

Serving on the committees are Teri Jerome, Leslie Straw, Debbie Smith, Sandy Smith, Lynn Burton, Susan Anderson, Cynthia Dolto, Jill Ziegler, Gail Ziegler, Kristy Baker, Collen Heany, Susan Haenggi and Verlyn Watts.

THE COMMUNITY Service Workshop of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley will meet Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the clubhouse. Those attending will bring paperback books for military personnel at Travis Air Force Base, coupons for the kidney machine for Marin General Hospital and old nylons, jewelry and other materials to be used in making things for the Christmas parties at rest homes.

THE ASSISTANCE Guild of Marin will have a panel of speakers on drug programs in Marin County at its meeting Monday at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. The panel members will be Lloyd Churgin, county chairman of the drug abuse and alcohol program; Charles Stout of Center Point and Mrs. Thomas Keating of Open House.

The general meeting and panel will be held at 11 a.m. prior to a luncheon.

A PANEL discussion on the Needlework Guild of America, which distributes garments members have made or bought to organizations serving the needy will be held by the Mill Valley Community Church Club at noon Wednesday at the church parish hall.

The panel, which will follow the club's luncheon, is titled "Second Tuesday," which is the name of the Triple C's own sewing section, an affiliate of the Ross Valley Branch of the Needlework Guild.

Panel members will be Mrs. Elsie Hall, Marin County social worker with the elderly; George Cagwin, Mill Valley disaster survey officer for the American Red Cross; and Sister Stella Mari of St. Vincent's School for Boys.

Luncheon reservations chairmen are Mmes. W. H. Yoakum and Charlotte Williford. Mrs. Gearhart Von Bonin is program chairman.

FOOTBALL WIDOWS' SCHOOL

Women Learn About What Menfolk See On Weekends

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Detroit Lions, the National Football League and a private concern are sponsoring classes for "football widows" who have concluded they might just as well join their husbands in the stands or in front of the TV, since they're not going to tear hubbie away. United Press International's Carol Marvel attended the first class. Here is her personal report:

By CAROL MARVEL

DETROIT (UPI)—At least now I know that a football field is 53 1-3 yards wide.

The odds are that most men —including football players— don't know that. That's what they told me at the first session of my football lessons.

The course is produced by Sport-a-Know-How, Inc. with the cooperation of the Detroit lions and the National Football League.

I WAS a natural candidate for the course after fouling up a couple of "football Saturdays," as they're known in the news business. While my colleagues (male, of course) quickly took notes by phone from colleges all over Michigan and wrote up stories about the games, I struggled along with one game.

At least I broke the tension with my query: "What's a Yellow Jacket pass?" How was I to know that was the nickname of a team?

Other women whether their husbands or boyfriends or sons desert them for the stadium or sit in front of the TV, were motivated, too.

"My son said he could tell me absolutely everything about football in two hours," one woman said before the class started.

But a classmate told her, "My husband has tried telling me everything about football in 12 hours and it hasn't worked."

So after five or 10 minutes of getting acquainted, discovering why our neighbors signed up for the course and explaining about how many other football non-experts there were, we settled down to learn.

OUR TEACHERS included Vince Banonis, a former University of Detroit All-America Center and former All-Pro Center with the Detroit Lions and Chicago Cardinals; Roy "Friday" Macklem, Lions equipment manager for 36 seasons; and Wayne Walker, linebacker for the Lions.

Besides learning the dimensions of the field, we learned that the shape of the goal posts was charged from an H-shape to a Y-shape to take it out of the playing field, the duties of the various players, and the number system for players.

We also learned that Walker has saved the Lions about $14 in his 14 seasons with the Detroit football club by making his own knee pads. The reason, he said, is that he's very conscious of the weight of his uniform and likes them extra-light.

Another interesting fact turned up when we discussed timeouts. It seems that when a man in a red hat stands up at one end of the playihg field, a timeout is called so the television networks can air their commercials. "It pays for the bread," said Banonis.

All in all, the slickness of the presentation—from the slides to the football equipment to the celebrities in the audience—the humor, and the repetition were quite effective in teaching the facts of football.

I'm actually looking forward to next week and offensive formations, the following session with defensive formations, and the final class with minor officials and penalties.

As another classmate said:

"With football and boxing and hockey, I might as well face it, this is my life."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Yes Indeed, There's Something Weird About Wife's Long Johns

DEAR HELEN:

My wife has never adjusted to our Minnesota weather. She gets terribly cold at night in spite of an electric blanket and two thermals besides.

I can adjust —we have a king-sized bed, so I throw off what I can't take. But, alas, she recently came upon a box of my old long johns, left over from the military. She tried wearing a pair to bed and said she'd never had a better night's sleep.

She's worn nothing else for a week and says, when they wear out, she'll buy some more.

Frankly, my problem is that, although I love her, those long johns turn me off. Is there something weird about a man who can't make love to his wife when she's wearing his army underwear? — PAUL

DEAR PAUL:

I'd say there's something weird about a wife who runs around the bedroom in GI long johns. Buy her a brushed knit peignoir set and turn up the heat.

... And hide your Army boots! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If that gal who is engaged to a mama's boy is still concerned about what her marriage would be like, I can tell her: I married one!

He is 29 years old. His mother washed his hair, laid out his clothes, ran his bath water, turned down his bed at night, even pared his toenails and went on trips with him.

We've been married three years, and Mama still expects him at her house from six to nine each evening. If he ever devoted a weekend to me, I'd feel like a queen . . . just before I fainted from shock.

When Mama wants something fixed, he's there in a second, but our apartment can fall apart and he doesn't notice.

She expects gifts, and gets them, so there's nothing left when our anniversary comes around. If he misses seeing her one night after work, she pouts.

Yes, she has a husband, but he's as put-down as I am.

Tell these wondering girls-in-love, Helen, that a sweet, lovable spoiled boy who adores his mother makes a selfish, wishy-washy husband who runs home to her.

Beware! — ABOUT TO BE SINGLE AGAIN

DEAR ATBSA:

I tell 'em and tell 'em, but women in love have delayed hearing. They get the message about six months after the wedding. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said you couldn't make a judgment until you heard both sides of the "neighbor" hassle. Well, here's an answer to those elders who think their young neighbors are the world's worst:

Dear People Next Door: You aren't exactly perfect. Your kids, who are old enough to know better, hit golf balls at our car, throw mud on our house, and knock down our fence. Their noisy motorbikes ruin our sleep.

Your dear husband gets drunk and shoots B-B's at our dog. Also he leers at me when I wear shorts.

As for you, my dear, you don't know I'm aware that you let your dog out early every morning to use our yard. And how about the way you peek from behind your curtains, then gossip about everyone on the block. Because I won't listen, you've started a campaign against me. Listen, you don't own the world, just because you're over 30! — UNDER 30

DEAR UNDER:

You two families live 1,000 miles apart, but thanks for filling the equal time slot, anyway. — H.

Colored Hosiery Is Now A Fact

These includes the vegetable dyes, red onion and purple parsnip; the berry flavors, crabapple and flameberry; the herb greens, wintergreen, green thumb and emeral grass; the hothouse blooms, marigold and cornflower royal; the spice blends, cinnamon rose brown bitters and ginger jelly.

Subdued Look In Boyswear For Spring

It's part of a developing trend which Mrs. Beryl Tucker, fashion consultant to the Boys' and Young Men's Apparel Manufacturers Association believes will be around for some time.

Colors will be quieter; patterns, less obvious; styling, simpler..

—Living in Linen, the look of the classic fabric, both in flax-content materials and in simulations.

"Experience tells us that these four looks will appear in many interpretations, and that there will be other looks as well," the BAMA reported.

"The ones we have chosen are significant because they go right across the board. They are represented in every boyswear category: clothing, outerwear, pants, shirts and knits."

The restrained air extends to pants, whatever the length — short to long.

ON BEING BLACK

Benjamin Banneker—Outstanding Early Day Inventor-Scientist

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

Next to a dictionary, and sometimes a sexy novel, some of the most revealing and fascinating reading can be found within the pages of an almanac. Ben Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanac" is now a classic, but few people know of the almanac written by an American black man, Benjamin Banneker, and heralded throughout Europe as a work of genius.

Nov. 9, 1731, marks the birthdate of this outstanding inventor-scientist. Reared on his family's farm in Maryland, Banneker quested for learning early in his life. He was a vociferous reader and had a remarkable memory.

Using a small pocket watch as a scale, one of Banneker's notable accomplishments was the building of a mammoth-size wooden chime clock — the first built in the colonies and probably the first clock built by an American.

Along with repeated episodes of unfairness and inequities encountered in the selling of his crops, Benjamin's life was further saddened by the death of Anola, a young slave woman whom he loved and wanted to purchase from her slave owner and marry. Told she was not for sale, Anola was killed as they attempted to run away together.

AFTER THIS event, a deeply scarred young man led a fairly secluded life. He spent long hours teaching himself Latin advanced math and astronomy.

With the death of his father, Benjamin took over the management of the family farm and raised bees, horses, cows and cultivated the fruit orchards

His mathematical and mechanical genius became well-known and settlers throughout the colonies came to him with their problems.

During the Revolution Banneker employed his expertise in the building of cannons and muskets that were used in the war. He disliked war and killing but had hoped (in vain) the winning of the war would mean independence for all men in the colonies.

AFTER THE war, he returned to Maryland where he carefully kept a "daybook" — full of his thoughts and observations. It was at this time his friend, George Ellicott, encouraged him to write his almanac. Better weather forecasts and tide tables were needed, insisted Ellicott.

Finding a publisher for a black man's work was no easy task, but Banneker's almanac was published and became an outstanding piece of work.

It is also little known that Banneker served on the new government's commission to define the boundaries of the capital city, Washington, D.C. He was one of the surveyors who worked closely with Pierre L'Enfant, the chief engineer. Over a money skirmish, L'Enfant reportedly took the capital blueprints and returned to France. In lieu of starting over from scratch, Banneker resketched from memory the plans of the capital city in a few days and construction began.

Benjamin Banneker, who died in 1806 was a black man who made outstanding contributions to his country.

Preschool Findings To Affect Schools?

A prominent child development authority has predicted that advances made in experimental innovative nursery school programs will force changes in elementary schools, which he charges "abuse children with their obsession with discipline. . ."

Dr. Ronald K. Parker, director of Child Development and Day Care Resources Project of the U.S. Office of Child Development, said, "We'll discover that if we have good preschool programs for 3 and 4-year-olds, most of today's elementary schools will be redundant."

Writing in the current issue of Ladies Home Journal, Dr. Parker said, "children can easily master the current objectives of the early school years at ages 3, 4 and 5."

According to Dr. Parker, innovative nursery school programs "will force a change in teaching style, removing the autocratic teacher and freeing the learning environment for more exploration and guided discovery.

"The current elementary schools fail," he charged, "to promote exploration and a love for learning because of their obsession with discipline and control. I can't understand why Americans tolerate this abuse of their children," Dr. Parker wrote.

Dr. Parker asserted that "children in most nursery schools today are being cheated" educationally. He said parents expect so little in a nursery school that "they're perfectly happy with almost anything ... It's a disaster to waste a child's early years — when he is most amenable to environmental influences — by placing him in the average, poor pre-school with no organized program," Dr. Parker stated.

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster of Novato announce the engagement of their daughter Laurie to Grant Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones of Modesto.

Laurie is the sister of Mrs. Jim Landis of Napa and Rodger Foster of Pleasanton. A graduate of Novato High School, she is a senior at Fresno State College.

Grant's sisters are Mmes. Jim Bates of Sonora and Brian Heath of Bakersfield. He was graduated from Grace M. Davis High School in Modesto and Fresno State, where he is now a graduate student.

The couple plan to be married in June.

FASHION SCENE

London To Open Doors Tomorrow

With Florence and Paris fashion previews just finished, London ready-to-wear designers are making last minute adjustments prior to their openings starting tomorrow.

The London designs will be previewed tomorrow through Tuesday in three locations, reports Women's Wear Daily.

The blazer continues the classic trend but with color added in stripes, large checks and plaids in the primary colors. They are teamed with pleated skirts.

The Oriental influence, showing in collections from, Paris, America and Canada, also will be apparent in the London collection in dark ground prints and bat-wing sleeved evening dresses and in the knitwear.

The '50s look continues, with emphasis shifting from the tart to the bobby soxer-pedal pushers, off-the-shoulder blouses and dresses, and dolman-sleeved sweaters.

In a romantic vein, the ankle length dress for day and evening has bustle effects and full sleeve treatment. Dress lengths are to the knee for day and to the ankle for evening.

Some 5,000 store buyers are expected at the openings, many Americans among them despite the surcharge added this year to all they may order for the American market. Some 80 manufacturers will show their clothing wares.

But many designers such as Mary Quant, Jean Muir, Thea Porter and Zandra Rhodes are not expected to show their new collections until the middle of the month.

Year's Officers Are Elected

The Huffs 'n' Puffs square dance club has elected new officers for the year.

John Ray of Novato is the new president. Ray and his wife, Ann, have been members of the club since it was formed three years ago. He is an equipment engineer with American Telephone Co.

Other officers are Fred Zimmerman of Tiburon, vice-president; Nancy Zaharin of Marinwood, treasurer; Joe Tallariti of Terra Linda, sheriff; Clyde and Nancy Tynes of Petaluma, delegates. Keith Gylfe, Novato, is club caller.

ROYAL COUPLE'S WISH?

'Time,' Says Star's Spouse

By RENA M. PEDERSON

DALLAS (UPI) — When Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace of Monaco were visiting Texas recently, one Dallas woman surprised them by asking what more they would want if they could have anything in the world.

Her Serene Highness for once was flustered and looked to her husband for help. He looked thoughtful. Princess Grace put on her immaculate porcelain smile and said, "Well, I can't think of anything material I ever wish for ... what I want the most is for my children to be healthy and happy."

The princess again turned to Rainier, 48, who sat silent. Finally he looked up and said one word softly: "Time."

Princess Grace, looking more like a starlet than a 42-year-old mother of three, nodded agreement that more time was one thing they could not rule.

THE COUPLE had spent a week in Texas as honor guests at the Neiman-Marcus "Fete des Fleurs" gala.

"I'd like so many things for my children," the former Grace Kelly said. "I'm very proud of my American heritage and I'd like them to share it. I would be pleased to see them continue their educations in the United States, perhaps in college.

"I think it's very important for my children to have character. It's a very difficult thing to try to give them. I think every parent tries in a different way."

The princess said her oldest daughter, Caroline, 14, is studying four languages and the other children, Albert, 13, and Stephanie, 7, are competent bilingually.

The Academy Award winner for "The Country Girl" in 1955, smilingly responded to questions of whether she wants her daughter, Princess Caroline, also to marry royalty.

"I'D JUST like her to marry a man she loves, admires and respects," she said.

As for her own fairy-tale life, she said, "I've been very lucky in my life and very fortunate to be married to the man I am."

The man she married is the last virtually absolute monarch in Europe and heir to 24 other titles. They met briefly in 1955 while she was making "To Catch A Thief" with Cary Grant in Cannes. They met again in 1956 when both were Christmas dinner guests at a friend's home in New Jersey. Ten days later they announced their engagement. The rest is movie magazine history.

"We're not in the news as much these days, thank goodness," the princess said. "I'm sure that people all over the world got tired of reading about us. I know I did."

The prince usually skips family history talk to discuss earnestly the problems of his tiny Mediterranean principality.

HE SAID the problems of pollution, overcrowding and drug use are just now filtering into Monaco. He said very strict laws against drug peddlers are attacking the problem, but he added international cooperation would be needed to protect the beautiful beaches of the Mediterranean.

"Increased pollution along the rivers has led to more cases of viral hepatitis this year than during the past five years," he said.

The prince, whose own country is less in size than New York's Central Park, said he was "very impressed" by his first visit to Texas and especially to the King Ranch near Corpus Christi.

While in Texas, the royal couple was presented with two bobcat cubs, "N" and "M" by Stanley Marcus for the Monaco zoo. Rainier said he loves animals and spends much of his time taming them.

The princess spends much of her time in charity work and is an outspoken advocate of breast-feeding.

Series To Explore Childhood's Long Shadow Over Marriages

Authorities in the field of mental health will lead the 10-part series, Creative Marriage, sponsored by the Marin Jewish Community Center. Sessions will be held on Wednesdays at 8 p.m. at Park School in Mill Valley, beginning next week.

"Most marriage experts agree that when marriages end it is because of unresolved childhood problems and lack of fulfillment because of childhood deprivations," says Bernice Rollins, adult program coordinator for the Marin Jewish Community Center. "Often what passes for parental love is nothing more than manipulation and use of the child for the parent's own lack of fulfillment."

Because a happy and fulfilled citizenry is vital to the quality of life in Marin and throughout the United States, the center is sponsoring the series, she says.

The series is open to couples or individuals, who need not be members of the Marin Jewish Community Center, and enrollment can be made for the entire series or for single sessions.

Planned sessions are Nov. 3, "The Expectations and Realities of Marriage," Tom Trent, professor of psychology at the College of Alameda; Nov. 10, "Keeping Lines of Honest Communication Open," Hal Gurish, department of psychiatry at Kaiser Hospital; Nov. 17, "Father's Role in the Family," Dr. Philip S. Hicks, consultant for the Family Service Agency.

Dec. 1, "Changes in the Family Structure," Martin Kirchenbaum and Shirley Luthmna, directors of the Family Therapy Institute in San Rafael; Dec. 8, "The Influence of Early Family Background and Emotional Factors on a Marriage," Al Wasserman, director of the Intensive Therapy Institute in San Rafael; Dec. 15, "Your Emotional Needs and How They are Met in Marriage," Karla Clark, social worker for the Marin Community Mental Health Center.

Continuing into 1972 the series will include, Jan. 12, "Maintaining Your Own Identity in Marriage," Dr. Hicks; Jan. 19, "How to Fight Fairly and Solve Problems," Tom Trent; Jan. 26, "The Effect of Children on a Marriage," Mrs. Eva Mass, department of psychiatry at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco; Feb. 9, "How to Deal with Crisis Situations," Philip Mass, associate director of theJewish Family Service Agency.

MOMS Chapter Of Sonoma Is Headed By Petaluman

Reelected president of the Mothers of Multiple Siblings Club of Sonoma County is Mrs. Richard Gambonini of Petaluma. The Gamboninis are the parents of identical 6-year-old twins, Pamela and Peggy, and Debra, 8 and Sharon, 7.

Marilyn Gambonini has been a member five years and served previously as membership chairman, vice president and president. All mothers of twins or triplets are welcome to join.

Ultimate purpose of the MOMS club is to participate in research in the medical and teaching fields regarding multiple births. To make available information about twins which helps to increase the public's awareness of each twin's individuality is another goal.

The club is assisting a research team at Harvard Medical School by completing questionnaires on diabetes and twins. The club is also participating with the University of Illinois regarding data on female twins ages 16 to 20 years of age and their mothers.

Activities planned for the coming year are the Christmas cheer program to assist a needy family; an Easter egg hunt; Motherfs Day luncheon and a family picnic in July. A dessert booth for the Old Adobe Days celebration in August is also planned.

A native Petaluman the young mother is a graduate of St. Vincent's de Paul Grammar and High School. She is a graduate of St. Joseph's School of Nursing in San Francisco and works three days a week at Petaluma's Hillcrest Hospital. Her home and children's school activities are her other interests.

Officers assisting the president are Mmes. Carl Nordstrom, vice president; Robert Allan, secretary; Fred Owens, treasurer; and Dennis Dodd, editor.

Better Watch Where You Eat

Good food and good service do not suffice to make a restaurant tops on a favorite eating place list. Protect your health by checking its sanitary standards.

If washrooms are clean and soap and supplies are provided, it's a good sign. But don't stop there. Also check linens, dishes and silverware. Check, too, the appearances of waitresses and busboys.

Topic Announced For College Series

Education and women will be the topic of the program at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the continuing College of Marin series "Women: Past, Present, Future." The program will be held at Olney Hall at the college in Kentfield.

Speakers will be Mary Greer, instructor in education from Merritt College in Oakland, and Dr. Margaret Greene.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

West's Failure To Make A Signal Lets South Sneak In

I'm almost ashamed to show today's hand because I don't like the idea of deceiving a trusting soul "for his own good." People have done it to me all my life, ever since my mother urged me to eat my porridge because it would make my hair curly. If they've been doing it to you too, maybe you should study today's hand to see how this foul philosophy has infiltrated the pure domain of bridge.

Opening lead — ♣ 8

WHICH ONE?

West opened the eight of clubs, and East took dummy's jack with the king. Then what? Had West led a singleton or a doubleton?

In the hope of finding out, East led the ace of spades. West played the discouraging trey, expecting his partner to switch back to clubs. West couldn't tell that East's opening bid had been based on more than five clubs.

WEST SHOUTS

"Camel! Species of protoplasm!" West shouted. (The hand was played in Paris, where the terms of endearment used by partners vary from those of North America.) And West explained that East should have deceived him for his own good by taking the first trick with the ace rather than the king of clubs.

MIGHT NOT WORK

This would lead West to believe that his partner lacked the king of clubs. When East then led the ace of spades, West would signal discouragingly only if he had opened a singleton club. East would therefore know whether or not to switch back to clubs.

In the actual hand, West said, West would signal at the second trick with the ten of spades.

DIAMOND SHIFT

West would win the spade continuation with the king and would then, for lack of anything better, shift to diamonds. East's ruff would defeat the contract.

Nobody pointed out that West might lead a third spade rather than a diamond. After all, if you deceive a partner, you can't complain if he is thoroughly deceived.

Student Complaint

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Students at the University of Texas complained to the campus security office that some nuts had stolen ticket books and were putting parking violation stickers on cars. The "nuts," however, turned out to be four new female police officers. The policewomen were issued uniforms shortly afterwards.

Phone Service At Hotels Eyed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California's Public Utilities Commission has launched an investigation into whether hotels have levied illegal charges on customers for telephone service.

J.P. Vukasin, PUC chairman, said Wednesday, that "in a number of instances hotels have misled the public by falsely indicating that the charge is authorized by the commission."

He said the commission is investigating assertions that some hotels charge an extra 50 cents a night for "telephone service" or add call charges when no call has been made.

ISRAELI SECT — Two members of the Druse religious sect dating from the 11th Century pose for the camera of Clay Francisco. Francisco's latest travel film, "Israel," which includes the pair, will be shown in Marin Nov. 15.

Second Explorama Scheduled Nov. 15

The second in a series of seven Explorama productions is scheduled for 8:15 p.m., Nov. 15, at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

The film, "Israel," will be narrated in person by its maker, Clay Francisco.

The veteran travelogue producer focused on the everyday lives of the Israelis during four months of filming in the Middle Eastern country.

The film offers views of all segments of Israeli life from the strictly orthodox Jews to nomadic Bedouins and modern children.

Tickets are available at Redwood Travel Advisors in San Rafael, all Macy stores and the auditorium box office.

Bach Choir Sets Concert

A twilight concert of the San Francisco Bach Choir is scheduled for Nov. 7 at the Community Congregational Church, 145 Rock Hill Drive, Tiburon.

The concert beginning at 5 p.m. will include portions of "Israel in Egypt" by Georg F. Handel, the church announced.

The group under the direction of Waldemar Jacobsen will be accompanied by a string ensemble.

$26,400 Pact For Study of Novato Creek

A $26,400 contract to study Novato Creek has been awarded to Royston, Hanamoto, Beck and Abey of San Francisco by the Marin County Flood Control District.

Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, told the Novato Flood Control Zone Advisory board Wednesday night that the study will start immediately and take three to four months to complete.

Zone one, the Novato watershed, has two full-time employees working for it, Murphy said. This is more than any other zone in the county, he reported.

The board asked Murphy to report on several items at its Nov. 24 meeting: plan checking fees for the City of Novato, annexation of Marin Country Club Estates and the area north of Novato to the Sonoma County line into the zone, report on the Novato Industrial Park subzone and the defunct Zone 2 at the Gnoss Field area.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The Council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Assn. Magazines and Parent's Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Living Desert" — The struggle for survival of the animals and flowers on the American desert remarkably photographed.

"On Any Sunday" — The variety of motorcycle competitions across 100,000 miles of track around the world is presented in a documentary style with frequent touches of humor. Superb color photography.

"Peter Rabbit and Tales of Beatrix Potter" — Familiar children's stories come to life in a charming ballet fantasy performed by Britain's Royal Ballet. The costumes are perfect and the imaginative sets add dimension to this enchanting musical.

"Vanishing Prairie" — The miracle of life on the prairie, the animal world and nature's wonders.

"Zeppelin" — World War I double agent spy story with fascinating detailed information about the German's newest weapon, the airship. Usual violence of war.

ADULTS AND TEEN-AGERS

"Gone with the Wind" — A classic, a pictorial history of the Civil War and of a civilization "gone with the wind".

Murphy's War" — Adventure set toward end of World War II in the Venezuelan jungle. British merchant seaman is obsessed with getting revenge against the submarine responsible for the loss of his shipmates. Well done.

"One More Train to Rob" — A train robber after his release from prison returns to his old trade. Criminal is made to be quite a likeable character, who later becomes respectable. Shooting is almost non-stop and very violent.

"Skin Game" — A black man and a white man as con-men pull a clever skin game which outwits the slave traders. A slick girl thief moves in and outsmarts everyone. Good cast and plot make this an entertaining farce. Foul language and sex scenes make it unsuitable for younger children.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bonnie and Clyde" — A chapter in the gangster history of the 1930's brought to vivid life. No attempt made to glamorize its characters. Brutally frank and violent.

"Bullit" — Set in San Francisco this story shows the security measures to safeguard a witness for a crime hearing. Fast moving and brutally violent, a dizzying car chase and the final shoot out have an electrifying effect.

"Death in Venice" — Set in 1911, a composer on the verge of a physical and mental collapse goes to Venice to regain his health and becomes obsessed with a beautiful young boy and is tormented by the passion that is unleashed. Very slow moving.

"Panic In Needle Park" — Overly long but compassionate exploration of the tragic nightmarish world of drugs. Despite sex, nudity and obscene language, teen-agers should see this if only to shatter any romantic delusions about the drug scene.

"Vanishing Point" — An ex-race driver feels compelled to "do his thing" which is to drive from Denver to San Francisco in 15 hours. A pointless tale with a good deal of sex, nudity, violence and cursing and it is incomprehensible how the MPAA rated this "GP".

ADULTS ONLY

"The Baby Maker" — Since the wife is sterile a happily married couple hire a beautiful hippie to bear the husband's baby for them. A candid treatment of an unconventional pregnancy. Contemporary social comedy refrains from making moral judgment.

"Carnal Knowledge" — The sex lives of two men from college days to middle age done in a two dimensional cynical, satirical style does become tiresome. Fine performances from cast, language and sex are explicit.

"Husbands" — Three New York suburban husbands go on a bender after the funeral of one of their pals. Their pent up frustrations with their dreary, empty existences lead them to make one last bid for freedom. Sex and cursing.

"Little Murders" — A black comedy about how people have become brutalized by the horrors of contemporary life, they deny all feeling. How five people react to a series of murders make up the story. Savage, witty, horribly violent parable of our times.

"Marriage of a Young Stockbroker" — An attempt to make a comedy out of a desperate situation is sad. A film about a voyeur, a pathetic character, who cops out rather than find a solution to his problem.

"Owl and the Pussy Cat" — A racy adult comedy based on a Broadway hit about a prostitute who tries to improve her mind and a shy would-be author and their unlikely relationship. Low comedy bits and profanity from Barbra Streisand.

"Some of My Best Friends Are" — Plenty of material here for a dozen soap opera stories. Boys in a bar on Christmas Eve explain why they became homosexuals. Language is tasteless and sensibility is truly offended.

Mailliard Hits Move To Halt Funds For U.N.

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, says he will oppose any congressional attempt to reduce U.S. financial support of the United Nations as a form of retaliation for the expulsion this week of Nationalist China from the U.N.

Mailliard, who was a delegate to the U.N. in 1963, said he would oppose a "punitive, reactionary move."

He said he favored the readmission of Taiwan as the representative of a nation of 14 million people, but doubted this would be possible because "both Peking and Taiwan continue to claim to represent all of China, including Taiwan."

School Committee Selection Due

Three new members of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization will be selected Thursday by a group of trustees representing each school district in Marin.

To be elected at the meeting at 8 p.m. at the county Schools Office in Corte Madera are one representative from Supervisorial District 1 and two from District 2.

Robert E. Spain, assistant secretary of the committee, said Donal A. McEnill of San Rafael is the only nominee from the first district. Competitors in the second district are Pieter Toal of San Anselmo and incumbents, Mrs. Watson Conner of Greenbrae and Mrs. J. W. Rakow of San Anselmo, Spain said.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marinite Home From Europe —Fluent In Three Languages

There is more French being spoken around Le Chalet Basque these days, a little more Spanish and more of the language of the Euzkadi (Basque country).

I have two spellings on this — Eskuadi seems to be closer phonetically to the way the Basques pronounce it.

Anyway it all results from the recent return of little Johnny Coscarat from several months in that Basque region on both sides of the border between France and Spain, where the three idioms are often used interchangeably. Johnny's first choice seems to be French — even in preference to English. If he ever becomes a restaurateur like his parents he'll be a natural in the language of fine food.

Raymond and Eugenie Coscarat would do well to ship him back to Europe about every two years to keep his talent alive.

The French, like most Europeans, make great use of veal in their meals. Veal lends itself to a variety of recipes and rare indeed is the person who does not enjoy it in some form.

The Chalet Basque chef Pierre Joris, is skilled in its many preparations. There usually is a traditional recipe to cover any effect desired — but if there isn't, he'll come forth with one of his own. This is not unusual among French chefs, for veal adaptations are limited only by the imagination.

Some of the traditional veal recipes appear infrequently on a standard menu. If you are seeking a new food experience it's not unwise to place yourself in the hands of the chef. I do it frequently.

Pierre has one selection you should like — Veal Grand Duke. But don't look for it on Le Chalet Basque menu. You'll have to ask for it.

THE ALVARADO INN at Ignacio will be celebrating its first anniversary Friday through Sunday, Nov. 5 - 7. During this past year, owner Dave Kahler has succeeded in making this place increasingly popular for family style dining, dancing, banquets and receptions.

Now, new executive chef Wally Price, formerly of Bernard's Executive Lounge, and the Seven Seas, has added a number of seafood items to the menu which still includes the previous selections. Bouillabaisse is the Thursday night special and is usually a sellout. On Friday nights, look for his Boston clam chowder and baked steamed clams and his Captain's Platter, which has just about everything you could ask for — fried prawns, scallops, filet of sole and eastern oysters.

But you can order anything else from a hamburger or grilled crab and cheese sandwich to a seven course dinner.

While waiting for a table, browse through the collection of historical photographs — more than 100 of them were reproduced by the late Roy Graves.

To get back to Alvarado Inn's anniversary — there will be dancing and entertainment with KSAY's Terry Ryan on Friday night and the sounds of Wayne Colyer on Saturday. To end the three-day observance, the Jimmy Diamond Dixieland All-Stars will present a special concert on Sunday starting at 4 p.m. There will be drawings and prizes all three days.

THE HI FI DRIVE INN at 1000 Mirabella Avenue, Novato has been sold by John and Eva Hoekman, who will be moving to Vacaville to take it easy.

New owner Julian Hawawini of Santa Rosa will continue operating under the same name, on the same hourly schedule of 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week and with the same menu.

WORK HAS BEEN moving along on Kamyar Samii's new restaurant at 1235 Fourth Street, San Rafael, but it is still touch and go as to whether this will meet its hoped-for Monday opening. It may take a few days more.

Now to be known as Brat Haus, it will be open seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Featured will be roast beef, pastrami, corned beef, turkey, smoked ham, knockwurst, Polish sausage and brothwurst — both as hot plates served with mashed potatoes, vegetables and gravy and as sandwiches, which will also include Swiss cheese and American cheese. And you can look for combination plates, combination sandwiches, salads and pastries.

WHAT USED TO BE FOR MANY YEARS Jean's Bit o' Bohemia at 609 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo should see a reopening almost any day under a new name and new ownership.

Jerry Beebe of Olema will call it Jerry's Bit o' Bohemia and for the time being will go along on a beer license, specializing in a wide assortment of beers. This place is more bar than restaurant, but it's likely some food will be served. Silent movies will be shown and the walls will have art displays by college students.

Hours will be from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. seven days a week.

NO IMMEDIATE OPENING of the Howard Johnson restaurant in southern Marin appears to be in sight.

Since my last report there seems to have been no activity here. And the parking area, said to be holding up an opening, is still unpaved.

IT OFTEN PAYS to check out the house specialties before you order. Here are some at a few Marin restuarents:

Romulus, San Rafael: Prime rib dinner at $4.25, veal scallopini at $3.95 and roast chicken at $3.25 — complete dinners served Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

McKee's, San Rafael: The $1.95 specials — Tuesday, roast leg of pork; Wednesday, short ribs; Thursday, veal cutlets; Friday, shrimp newburg; and Saturday, baked ham and yams.

Kublai Khan, Strawberry Town and Country Village: The filet mignon or New York steak dinners for two at $6.95.

The Hick'ry Pit, Strawberry Town and Country Village: The golden fried chicken at $1.65 and the salisbury steak at $1.85 (served Mondays through Thursdays, 4 to 8 p.m. only).

Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael — His hamburgers — what else? They are the only thing you can get him to talk about.

DOUG KERSHAW AND SHANTI are the entertainers performing at the Lion's Share in San Anselmo tonight and tomorrow night. Doug is also scheduled for Sunday, with a second act not yet announced.

Alternative Will Investigate Faire

The Marin Alternative, after almost voting to oppose the proposed Renaissance Center in Lucas Valley, has decided to investigate the past of the annual Pleasure Faire.

The group voted Tuesday to look into past financial dealings of the corporation which runs the faire, accoridng to Nancy Zakin of the organization.

Marin Alternative, which requires a 70 per cent vote to take a stand, failed to obtain the necessary percentage, Mrs. Zakin said. Twenty-nine of 45 members present voted to oppose the faire while 12 abstained and four favored it, she said.

Another vote is planned for the next meeting Nov. 24, she said. Tuesday's vote followed a debate between Ronald and Phyllis Patterson, operators of the Pleasure Faire, and members from Lucas Valley, Mrs. Zakin said.

Auto Emission Lab Dedicated

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)— The first federal laboratory designed specifically to control pollution from auto emissions was dedicated Wednesday.

The Environmental Protection Agency's National Auto Air Pollution Control Facility was termed by Donald Mosiman a major milestone in government efforts to assure production of a nonpolluting car by 1975. Mosiman, EPA's assistant administrator for air and water programs, spoke at the dedication.

The $10 million laboratory is the only federal facility designed to measure auto emissions on a continuous basis and conduct research of alternatives to the internal combustion engine. Every type of automobile offered for sale in the United States will have to be tested at the laboratory.

Alcohol Abuse Presentations Set

A committee of the Marin Institute Volunteer Bureau is now offering presentations on alcohol abuse to interested organizations, the institute has announced.

Interested organizations should contact the bureau located at 725 A Street in San Rafael.

San Rafael Resident Faces Cards Charge

Jerry Ray Wade, 21, of 12 Ross Street, San Rafael was booked into Marin County Jail Wednesday on suspicion of possessing stolen credit cards.

A subsequent search of Wade's car to look for other stolen property turned up small quantities of marijuana and heroin, police said. Wade posted $2,500 bond and was to appear in court Monday.

One evening in 1964, Mr. Smith said to Mrs. Smith, "Honey, let's go to Dominic's for dinner tonight." Neither of them had ever been to Dominic's, so it was simply a question of finding it. The other day, they arrived. Dominic's is not easy to find, but as the Smith's will attest, it's really worth it when you get there. You might just meet Mr. and Mrs. Smith should you drop in, since they're still with us. They have forgotten where they live.

Gasoline Sales Tax To Governor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California consumers would pay a 5 per cent sales tax on gasoline to raise almost $150 million for mass transit under legislation which has been given final passage by the Senate and sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill by Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, would raise a total of $177.4 million, with most of the money earmarked for mass transit, including some $1.5 million a year for transit in Marin County. The Senate voted 27-4 Thursday to concur in Assembly amendments.

Presently, Californians pay a five per cent sales tax on almost everything except gasoline and food. The state keeps four per cent and returns one per cent to local government.

Three San Francisco Bay Area counties, San Francisco, Contra Costa and Alameda, now pay a 5 1-2 per cent sales tax. The additional 1-2 cent helps finance the Bay Area Rapid Transit system. The three counties would extend the 5 1-2 per cent sales tax to gasoline.

The Mills bill would cut the state's share of the sales tax by 1-4 cent and authorize counties to increase their share of the tax by the same amount and use the money for mass transit.

Technically, the counties would not be required to raise their sales tax by the 1-4 cent. But all sales taxes are collected by the state and returned to local government and if the counties do not raise their taxes by 1-4 cent, the state would not have to collect any sales tax for the counties.

The only exception to the requirement that the additional money be used for mass transit would be in counties with less than 500,000 population.

The smaller counties could spend the new revenue for public transportation, right-of-way acquisition and construction of local streets or other transportation-related services.

Mills told the Senate his bill was supported by over 100 local government agencies and every major newspaper in the state.

But Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, asserted the bill was AA1 $170 million tax increase.

"This state is overburdened with taxes as it is," Richardson declared.

The Mills bill would not affect the total state sales tax revenue. The increased money from extending the tax to gasoline would offset the percentage cut in the state sales tax.

New Agency For Area Is Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate has voted to create a development and conservation planning agency for eight San Francisco Bay Area counties.

The much-debated measure by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, was approved Thursday 21-11 and returned to the Assembly for concurrence in major Senate amendments.

One of the most important amendments written into the bill by senators requires voters in the eight counties to approve creation of the agency before it can legally be formed.

However, before passing the measure the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, to include Sonoma County in the agency's planning jurisdiction.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, who represents Sonoma, told the Senate that county considers itself a part of the North Coast rather than the Bay Area and, thus, should be excluded.

The bill collects the eight counties under the agency governed by 77 trustees, half of them locally elected officials and the remainder elected from special districts.

It would draft plans for development of transportation, open space, environmental quality control and parks on an eight-county basis.

It would have the power to veto actions by local governments or private developers considered not in the best interest of the area. This section raised the most criticism.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, the measure's most ardent foe, protested that the bill "gives regional government the power to pre-empt" city and county ordinances. Bradley said this was contrary to the concept of local control.

"This is not physical planning," he said. "This is social planning."

The eight counties included in the measure are San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa and Marin.

Two Groups Support Proposition A

The Marin Central Labor Council and Building Trades Council of Marin have urged their members to support Proposition A, the Nov. 2, College of Marin bond measure.

Citing the benefits labor will receive from the construction of new campus facilities, the councils said the issue offers a tax savings to the average Marin homeowner of from $17 to $25 yearly, compared to the present method of override tax financing.

Boat Storage Ruling Withheld

The Marin County Fill Committee yesterday withheld approval of an application by David N. Plant of San Francisco to install a prefabricated boat storage building over an existing wharf at the Berry-Wood boat works on the west shore of Tomales Bay near Inverness Yacht Club. It is located across the street from Aberdeen Way.

Committee members wanted more information on whether the septic system needs expansion, how much of open water area would be covered, what use will be made of the new building, and what happens to sand used in sandblasting operations at the boat works.

$10 Million In Stolen Paintings Found In London

LONDON (UPI)—Police said today that four stolen paintings discovered by detectives Thursday in a London railway station were worth almost $10 million.

A man and a woman were due to appear in court to face charges of "dishonestly handling four stolen paintings," a Scotland Yard spokesman said.

He said church authorities in Italy confirmed the value of the four paintings, part of a haul of six stolen from a church at Catanzaro, south of Naples, nearly two years ago. All were works by late 16th and 17th Century artists.

The spokesman said the four works, which were damaged, were rolled up in blankets when members of Scotland Yard's art squad found them Thursday in the baggage checking office of Euston Station in north London.

Soon after, detectives went to an apartment not far away and arrested the couple, later identified as Gian Carlo Lolo, 28, a bartender, and Miss Facna Bakaeva, 24, an interpreter.

The Simple Truth ...about MEASURE "B"

This is not a bond issue. It is a request for voter authorization to execute a contract with Sonoma County for a new supply of water from the Russian River via the proposed Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct.

WHY IS IT ON THE BALLOT?

BECAUSE WE NEED ADDITIONAL WATER! The present usage exceeds the safe yield of District supplies. To avoid a shortage and provide for future increases, additional supplies must be obtained.

WILL IT INCREASE MY TAXES?

NO! (Your water district has never levied a tax and the Board of Directors has adopted a policy that this new project should not be financed by taxes.)

WHAT WILL IT COST?

The Water District's share of this project is estimated at $35 million - repayable over a 50 year period.

HOW WILL THE COST BE REPAID?

Through revenue from the sale of water - probably a 1½% rate increase per year for 7-10 years — and increased connection fees for new users.

DOES THIS AFFECT WEST MARIN?

NO! West Marin is not served by the M.M.W.D.

CAN THIS PROJECT BE DELAYED?

NO! In order to be a partner with Sonoma Co. your Water District must make committments by January, 1972.

ARE THERE OTHER SOLUTIONS?

NO! NOT AT THE PRESENT TIME. Recycling of sewage water is still not suitable as a water supply (it may or may not be in the future). All watershed lands have been fully developed. Local flood water would cost ten times as much even if there was enough to make it worth while.

WILL THIS HARM THE RUSSIAN RIVER?

NO. This project will not harm or depleat the flow in the river in any way, since the supply will actually come from flood control dams located away from the main river.

WHAT IS THE QUALITY OF THE WATER?

EXCELLENT! This water is equal to or possibly better than the present supply, based upon reports by the State Health Department.

DOES THIS AFFECT THE EEL RIVER?

NO! This project does not affect the Eel River.

WHAT HAPPENS IF MEASURE "B" FAILS? Simple — We Will Have a Water Shortage!

WE STRONGLY RECOMMEND A___

BLENDS INTO BEACH SETTING

Second Autopsy On Haley Complete; Lab Report Due

A second autopsy on the body of Judge Harold J. Haley, authorized by a court order over the objections of the judge's widow, has been completed.

The judge's remains were removed from a crypt at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael Tuesday evening and returned late Wednesday.

A pathology team assembled by an attorney for San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee — charged with murdering the judge — worked 15 hours during two days at San Francisco General Hospital.

The team was composed of Dr. Leopold Breitenecker, chairman of the Institute of Legal Medicine at the University of Vienna; his son, Dr. Rudiger Breitenecker of Baltimore; Dr. Robert Hirshfeld, a radiologist from Baltimore, and Andrew Gero a Los Angeles medical photographer.

Magee's court-appointed attorney, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, said he paid for travel expenses and accommodations for the team. Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court had authorized paying the men for their services, but refused to approve travel expenses from county funds.

They were accompanied by a matching team hired by the state attorney general's office, which is prosecuting the case against Magee and Angela Davis, both charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy in connection with the Aug. 7, 1970, shooting at the Hall of Justice.

Graves declined yesterday to discuss preliminary results of the autopsy, but said Dr. Breitenecker, the team chairman, would deliver a report to him following completion of laboratory and other tests.

Graves's request for the second autopsy was granted by Judge Richard E. Arnason of Contra Costa County, who is presiding over Magee's and Miss Davis's cases in Marin Superior Court.

Graves is attempting to prove that a shotgun blast allegedly fired by Magee in the back of an escape van did not kill the judge.

The original autopsy indicated wounds from a shotgun blast and a bullet and concluded that either could have killed the judge, but did not specify which actually did.

Graves hopes the new autopsy will prove the bullet wound occurred first and Haley was already dead when the shotgun was fired.

Sewer Consolidation —A Wait-See Stance

The Sausalito City Council last night decided that sewage collection should remain in city hands, but adopted a wait-and-see attitude on consolidation of treatment and disposal facilities in Southern Marin.

The informal consensus was reached after 2½ hours of discussion with directors of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District. The district now treats and disposes of sewage collected by the city.

Cyril G. Hansen, chairman of the board, told the council that collection of sewage should stay in local hands but said the argument for consolidation of other services is inconclusive.

While acknowledging that a consolidation appears inevitable, he said bigness would not necessarily mean increased efficiency and lower cost.

The improvement district is studying a solution to the sewage treatment difficulties of communities surrounding Richardson Bay. The most commonly mentioned solution is a treatment plant at Tennessee Cove that would dump treated waste into the ocean.

Hansen and Carney said they would oppose that solution. "To require us to put in an entirely new set of pipes and reverse our flow would cost in excess of $1 million," Hansen said.

Instead, he suggested that the district's plant at Fort Baker be expanded to treat all of Southern Marin's sewage.

The joint meeting was held to answer a request by County Admin. John F. Barrows for comments on his proposal to place all sewage handling in the hands of one agency.

Two Halloween-Masked Robbers Hit Hub Home

Two armed robbers wearing Halloween masks and gloves invaded a San Anselmo home at 2 a.m. today, robbed five persons of $128 cash and a guitar and fled, San Anselmo police reported.

The robbers burst through the front door of the home at 349 Redwood Road. They tied up occupants Frank Boerger, Daniel D. Clausen and Christine Cone with clothesline and looted their wallets, police reported.

Another occupant, Michael Baddams, was asleep in a bedroom. When he awoke and tried to escape he was hit on the head with a gun and forced to join the other victims lying on the living room floor.

A friend, George Krauss arrived and also was struck with a gun.

Krauss freed the others and attempted to chase the bandits in his car, but found no trace of them, he told officers.

New Secretary Hired For Bolinas District

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, after meeting in special closed session Wednesday night, voted to hire Helen McKay as district secretary at a salary of $657 a month. Mrs. McKay has been assistant secretary for the district since May 1970.

She will succeed Jane Boyer who held the post for three years. Mrs. Boyer has resigned, as of Nov. 15.

Little Celebration

A little pregame celebration by a "large group" of Terra Linda High School students took place at rival San Rafael High School early this morning. Signs, proclaiming tonight's game at San Rafael at 8 o'clock and colored toilet paper decorated the campus, police reported.

Groups In Opposition To Aqueduct

The Leagues of Women Voters of Central and Southern Marin have announced their opposition to the Marin-Sonoma Aqueduct, Measure B in Tuesday's election, according to Mrs. Charles McGranaghan, league publicity director.

She said the leagues do not support the measure because they are not convinced the aqueduct has been proven to be "the best or most feasible means of supplying water" to Marin.

Three water agencies have done almost all the planning for the project, the league noted. Mrs. McGranaghan said the groups believed other agencies, such as those dealing with land use planning, sewage disposal, conservation and preservation of the environment, should be involved in the planning.

How the aqueduct will fit into Sonoma and Marin's general plans for development has still not been determined, the leagues believe.

The two groups also expressed concern about the quality of the Russian River water which would be piped to Marin, noting that serious pollution problems, caused by human wastes and pesticides, now exist in that river.

In addition, the leagues contend the need for the additional water has been based on speculation about possible growth, although actual growth has fallen below previous projections made for the two counties.

The groups urged a complete reassessment of plans for the project.

Ali Akbar College Offering Classes

The Ali Akbar College of Music has announced two beginning classes in Indian folk dance, and Indian dance for children starting next week.

Classes, to be taught by Chitresh Das, will begin Tuesday at 4 o'clock for children and Thursday at 7 p.m. for adults and will run six weeks. The college is located on the grounds of the old San Rafael Military Academy.

ANGELINA J. SOLDAVINI
Retiring as treasurer

San Rafael Treasurer Will Retire

Angelina J. Soldavini, San Rafael treasurer, tax and license collector, has announced plans to retire Jan. 31 after 44 years of employment by the city of San Rafael.

Miss Soldavini, 60, submitted her resignation in a letter to the city council, which will take up the matter at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the city hall.

Miss Soldavini said she decided "on the spur of the moment" to retire when she found out that her retirement income will probably be more than her current take-home pay. Her present salary is $1,050 a month, and she will retire at 88 per cent of that amount.

"I love to travel, I love my home and my garden and I love to cook and entertain," she said, when asked about retirement plans.

She said she also intends to continue as secretary of the California Municipal Treasurers and as an officer of the Italian Catholic Federation.

When she retires, Miss Soldavini will have completed exactly 44 years with the city. She went to work Feb. 1, 1928 as a clerk in the office she now heads.

She became treasurer herself on June 18, 1957, when City Treasurer C. C. Webb stepped down to deputy, making Miss Soldavini, his former deputy, the treasurer.

She has been reelected at four year intervals since then, most recently in April of this year.

Miss Soldavini, who has never had any employer other than the city, went to work when she was 17 after graduating from Healds Business College in San Francisco.

She was born in San Rafael, the daughter of the late Nathan F. Soldavini, a part owner of the West End Market.

Yule Basket Plea For Novato Poor

A plea for Christmas baskets for the poor in Novato was made last night by the Economic Opportunity Council advisory board in Novato.

The board will send out letters to churches and other organizations asking for donations of Christmas baskets, said Rev. Eugene Quinones, board member. Last year, more than 300 baskets were distributed through the local center, he said.

The board voted to ask Marin Open House to train some personnel to set up a temporary drug center in Novato sometime in the future, he said.

The Novato center is low on food and needs more food to give to the needy, said Mary Brooks, board chairman.

Housing Budgets Approved

Two 1972 budgets totaling $972,267, one for lowcost housing and the other for leased housing, have been approved by the Marin County Housing Authority, Keith Kelly, deputy executive director, reported.

The board, at a special budget meeting Wednesday, approved a $411,097 spending program for the authority's 492 units of low-rent housing and a $516,170 budget for the 241-unit leased-housing program.

Kelly said the leased-housing budget includes a $78,620 cost of administration (including $62,220 in salaries); $400,000 for rents paid out in the program, $18,550 for operation and maintenance and $13,950 for utilities.

According to the deputy director, $145,775 of the budget will come from rents paid by tenants in the federally subsidized housing. He said the authority will seek the additional $370,395 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Kelly said the authority believes the federal government will soon approve 200 more units of leased housing for Marin.

The low-rent housing budget includes $92,654 for administration ($77,654 of that in salaries); $79,500 for utilities for the projects; $140,428 for maintenance and operation and $49,000 for employee benefits. Expenditures for capital equipment purchase, including landscaping equipment and appliances, will total $11,515, Kelly said.

Of the total low-rent housing budget, an estimated $327,668 will come from rents from project tenants with the remaining $83,429 to be requested from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Plans For Development Advanced

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night approved a master plan and supporting documents for the 137-unit Canon Village and Tennis Club development.

Approval of the plans culminated months of haggling between city officials and the developers, Edna Getz and the Denkmann Co. of San Rafael.

According to Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, the plans will be forwarded to the city council with three conditions:

That approal of the master plan does not include density figures for development of Phase 3 (the upper portion); a field trip to the property be made by the commission to review building and site layout plans; and signing for the development be subject to review.

The proposal calls for the development to be build on about 100 acres on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Meadowland.

Application for the development was first made in February and were submitted by developer John Farrar Jr. of Janic Development Corp. of San Rafael which pulled out in June.

In related matters, two of the three parcels of property on which Canon Village will be built were rezoned last night rom single family residential zoning to planned unit development.

Rule On 'Illegal' Aqueduct Pamphleteering Is Delayed

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday postponed decision until after Tuesday's election on whether the Marin Municipal Water District violated a court order in connection with the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct campaign.

At issue is distribution of a brochure advocating passage of Measure B on Tuesday's ballot. Judge Joseph G. Wilson had earlier ruled that the water district could not distribute brochures except on request.

Huey D. Johnson, western regional director of Nature Conservancy, filed papers in Marin Superior Court accusing the district of distributing the literature in defiance of Judge Wilson's Oct. 8 injunction.

Yesterday in court Wilson listened to arguments from attorneys on whether handing out copies of the material at a meeting of the board of supervisors Tuesday constituted a violation of the court order.

William R. Seeger, district general manager and chief engineer, told the court he did not bring the brochures to the meeting and he did not know how they got there, according to Wilson.

Also discussed was whether giving literature to the Independent-Journal at the newspaper's request was a violation of the order.

The judge set Nov. 19 for hearing further legal arguments.

It is a pleasure to offer a fine architect-designed home with an overwhelmingly beautiful view of the Ross Valley and Mt. Tamalpais. Located in Del Mesa Heights on over one-half acre at the end of a quiet cul-de-sac. (Very private.) Interior includes two or three bedrooms, two and one-half baths, family den, and a very large two-way fireplace. The mood is quiet and understated. Design features a striking use of natural stone, woods, and view oriented glass walls. Every major room has a large deck. High beamed ceilings. Shown only by appointment. EXCLUSIVE. $119,500.

How important is a bicycle to a home? Often, it's a nuisance, but what if we told you that you could cycle into the village, or to the Sausalito Ferry, or even to the breakers? It is a fact that you can — from Park Terrace. (We'll go you one better — you can walk from Park Terrace to commuting and to shopping.) If you are one of those estute buyers who recognizes convenience of location as a prime factor in a home, then you must see Park Terrace. In Mill Valley. RIGHT in Mill Valley, just off Miller Ave., before La Goma St. as you approach the village.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Considerable Misinformation About Glucose Tolerance Test

S. A. S. writes: "I've been told diabetes can be detected via a three- or four- hour blood sugar test. It is my understanding that five or six hours of testing are needed to determine low blood sugar. If these assumptions are true, how can you be sure the diabetics you find aren't, in fact, victims of low blood sugar? I'm confused."

There is considerable misinformation about the glucose tolerance test. This four-hour test is useful in diagnosing diabetes and hypoglycemia. Some background information is necessary to understand and interpret the results. Everyone has sugar (glucose) in the bloodstream. After a meal, foods containing sugars and starches (carbohydrates) are converted into glucose and get into the bloodstream. Some protein and fat is also converted into glucose.

GLUCOSE IS used for energy. The unused portion is stored in the liver or fat cells. The amount varies from hour to hour. It is lowest before breakfast and rises sharply after eating, especially carbohydrates. Within minutes after eating, the glucose in the blood stimulates the pancreas to produce insulin which is used to transfer sugar to muscle tissue for energy or to the liver for storage.

All of this is demonstrated via the glucose tolerance test. In the normal individual, the amount in the blood is low in the "before" test. One hour after eating, it is high. Two hours later, it is on its way down to normal where it remains for the next two hours. Diabetics lack insulin and, as a result, the sugar is not removed from the blood and remains high after the second, third and fourth hours.

A PERSON with hypoglycemia may have too much insulin and has a high reading after the first hour, a normal reading after the second hour, and an abnormally low reading after the third and fourth hours. The diagnosis is clinched if his symptoms develop at this time.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

LATE SYPHILIS

A reader writes: Is there any hope of arresting or relieving the ravages of late syphilis? If so, what type of treatment is given?

REPLY

The results of treatment are not as good as they are when the condition is treated in the early stages. If there is premanent damage to the heart or brain, the outlook is even less encouraging. Antibiotics are used in the treatment of late syphilis. In many instances, the blood test results do not become negative when the disease is treated in its late stages. However, the victims no longer are infected nor does the disease continue to progress.

STONES DIFFER

T. R. writes: Are kidney stones gallstones that moved from the gallbladder to the kidneys?

REPLY

No — each to its own organ. Stones form also in the salivary glands, the prostate and the lungs.

RESTRICTED DIET

Mr. T. V. writes: If a man of 66 is underweight and has low blood pressure, is it all right for him to eat butter and animal fats?

REPLY

Yes, and the same applies if the weight and blood pressure are normal. There is no need to use less butter and animal fats unless your blood cholesterol is high and the physician wants the level lowered.

'FROZEN' SHOULDER

C. B. B. writes: Can a frozen shoulder be unfrozen?

REPLY

Yes, via physical therapy, employing heat, massage and exercise. In some instances, manipulation while the individual is anesthetized is needed. Injections of procaine or hydrocortisone also are used.

CANDY AND NERVES

Miss D. writes: Whenever I get nervous or worried, I eat candy. Is this a mental problem?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Eating consoles some people when they are emotionally upset. This spares the nerves, but does not help the figure. There are better ways to overcome the jitters.

ALLERGIC TO BEE STINGS?

V. J. writes: Can a person be tested to see if he is allergic to bee stings?

REPLY

Yes; extracts are available for this purpose.

FIRE CALLS

NOTICE OF HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on October 14, 1971, the within resolution was adopted by the Board of Directors of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE BEL MARIN KEYS COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT
RESOLUTION NO. 25

WHEREAS, one of the purposes for which this District was formed is to provide public recreation by means of parks, including but not limited to aquatic parks and recreational harbors, playgrounds, golf course, swimming pools and recreation buildings, and

WHEREAS, this District has the prime responsibility for maintaining the Bel Marin Keys Lagoons, river and channel to the Petaluma River for the aforesaid recreational purpose, and

WHEREAS, feasibilities conducted under the auspices of this District indicate that the best solution to the siltation problems of the Lagoons and connected waterways would be the construction of a lock at the entrance to the Lagoons

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board hereby finds that it is necessary to construct the lock at the entrance to the Lagoon so as to maintain a constant navigable water level in said Lagoons, 24 hours a day for all persons in the community;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a bonded indebtedness for the construction of the aforesaid lock is the only feasible method which will be beneficial to the residents and taxpayers of the District insofar as the tax currently established by this District is incapable of producing enough revenue to construct the lock;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the purpose for which the indebtedness is to be incurred is to construct a lock to maintain a constant navigable water level within the Lagoons for a 24 hour a day basis. The amount of the proposed debt for the construction of the lock and interest on the indebtedness and incidental costs will be $700,000 for 25 years;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board hereby determines that November 12, 1971, at Bel Marin Keys Community Center, 4 Montego Key, Novato, California, at 8:30 P.M. shall be the time and place for hearing on whether the aforesaid indebtedness will benefit the whole or a portion of the District by the construction of the aforesaid lock;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of this District be, and is hereby, instructed to give notice of said hearing as required by law;

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District, held on the 14th day of October, 1971, by the following vote:

AYES: 4
NOES: 0
ABSENT: 1

/s/ ANTHONY M. SARGANIS
Chairman of the Board of Directors
ATTEST:
/s/ BETTY J. ZOELLER
Secretary

The hearing referred to in the Resolution will be had at the time and place specified in the Resolution and at that time and place any person interested, including all persons owning property in the District, will be heard upon the questions stated in the Resolution.

Ringside Seat With A Star

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's not often you get a chance to see a great movie with one of the stars of the film sitting right next to you. But it can happen, and it did.

The film was, "On Any Sunday," by Bruce Brown who did that award-winning film of surfing, "Endless Summer." The star next to me was Mert Lawwill of Tiburon. He's not an actor. He's a motorcycle racer, one of the best in the country.

William C. "Craig" Murray, president of Sears Point International Raceway which is due to open early next year, had invited a group to see the film now playing at Cinema 1 in Corte Madera. Mert and his pretty wife, June, were among the group.

IT WAS A motorcycle flick, an excellent one, bringing out the danger of the sport, the thrills, the disappointments, the pleasure, and yes, the beauty.

It started by showing a 5-foot-6, 143-pound young man walking down a crowded San Francisco Street, the man looking every bit like any young businessman. The man was Mert Lawwill, a gentle man in a violent world. If you had a look at him and then heard his quiet voice, the last guess you would make to his occupation would be motorcycle racer.

The film was shot during the 1970 season, with Lawwill defending his national racing championship. It was a frustrating season for Lawwill, who lost out because of mechanical failure almost every time he turned around.

THIS SEASON wasn't any better. Racing at Daytona Beach, Fla., in March, Lawwill's bike blew a tire, sending him rolling 100 feet down the track. He suffered a severe broken left arm and only a few days ago had his cast removed.

"Here's where it was," he whispered to me as the film was showing the 1970 Daytona race. "Coming out of this straightaway the tire blew." The crash ended the season for Lawwill who won't get back to competition until the first 1972 race, January in Houston.

Although it was the 31-year-old Lawwill's sixth viewing of the movie, the shots of the moto-cross cyclists sloshing through the mud still brought out some good belly laughs from him. And it WAS funny, watching those poor drivers trying to pull out hopelessly stuck motorcycles.

He doesn't go in for any of that stuff. His game is all track racing, on either asphalt or dirt. He's been racing since 1958 and until that unlucky 1970 season was in motorcycle racing's top 10 for six straight years.

THE FILM HIT every phase of motorcycle racing, through mud, ice, desert, salt flats, and even a log filled creek. "That's just some of it," said Lawwill. "They shot 160 hours of film for this."

The concluding scene had Lawwill, Smith and McQueen "cow trailing" through water, and then the sands of Baja, California, and Camp Pendleton, in Oceanside County. It really looked like fun. "It was," said Lawwill. "It was really fun shooting this part." Although the actual "show time" for that sequence was about five or six minutes, it took three days of filming to capture.

That's when I had this burning desire to go out and get on a motorcycle and head for the hills. Magnificent.

Bulldogs On Spot Tonight

Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools, two powerful football teams attempting to catch the Marin County Athletic League pennant leader Novato High, battle tonight at 8 o'clock.

In addition to the title chase influence, the beloved Victory Bell is on the line when the two arch rivals collide on San Rafael terrain. Terra Linda has won the San Rafael School Board-donated prize the last seven years. The Trojans have secured eight out of nine tries, surrendering it only in 1963. The match tonight represents the 10th renewal of a war which began in 1962.

The loser of this battle will be all but eliminated from the championship race, thus both Bulldog Coach Bob Muster and his Terra Linda colleague Don Lucas view this game as pivotal.

The tilt boils down to the San Rafael running versus quarterback Kevin Donohoe's lightning fast aerial assault. Both offenses are dangerous from nearly any spot on the field, thus a wide-open game is anticipated.

If the Donohoe passing pyroantics click, chances are endhalfback Mike Sabel and flankerback John Buckly will claim most of the catches. Each is

GAME SUNDAY

Jim Plunkett To Face Niners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Paul Wiggin, defensive line coach of the San Francisco 49ers, figures New England quarterback Jim Plunkett will be in for a rough afternoon Sunday.

"Plunkett does a lot of rolling out," said Wiggin. "It's going to be mighty interesting to see him try to outrun Hart and Hardman."

Wiggin pointed to the fact that Tommy Hart and Cedrick Hardman, the defensive ends of San Francisco, are as fast as some of the running backs in the NFC.

Hart and Hardman anchor a 49er defense which has sacked quarterbacks 25 times for 199 lost yards. Last year, the San Francisco defense collared the quarterback 30 times during the entire season.

Meanwhile, strong safety Mel Phillips, who missed the St. Louis game with an ankle injury last week, will be ready for the Patriots.

Linebacker Ed Weisacosky of the New England Patriots is psyching himself for a "very physical" afternoon against the San Francisco Forty-Niners.

"This may be a very busy afternoon, Sunday," the former Forty-Niner said. "I know this one Sunday is going to be very physical."

Weisacosky, who recorded four individual tackles and four assists last weekend against the Dallas Cowboys in his first start, said the Forty-Niners like to "come at you."

However, he says if the club can overcome "breakdowns" which have plagued them, things might be a bit different.

On hand to greet the Pats will be Bruce Taylor, the former Boston University great who was named the NFC Rookie of the Year last year.

The 6-foot, 180-pound cornerback and punt return specialist says his team will be looking to get at Plunkett.

"We'll test him pretty good," he said in citing Forty-Niners' four. "The best pass defense is a good pass rush and we've got it."

Warriors Entertain Houston In San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The Golden State Warriors are playing a "home" game against the Chicago Bulls tonight but Bay Area fans must travel more than 500 miles to see it.

It's one of six so-called home games that the Oakland-based NBA team will play in San Diego. And it's the start of a north-south shuttle service which sees the Warriors flying back to Oakland for a game against Cincinnati Saturday night and then flying down to Los Angeles for an encounter with the Lakers Sunday.

Tonight's game and the one Sunday with the Lakers will be televised back to the Bay Area (KTVU, Channel 2).

Golden State is 3-3 in the Pacific Division of the NBA after losing by two points to the Buffalo Braves Tuesday night. Chicago, meanwhile, has won five in a row after opening the season with a loss to Philadelphia.

Bob Love is averaging 315 points for the Bulls who beat the Warriors four times in six meetings last season.

Novato Visits Tam Tomorrow

Front-running Novato High School hopes to move a step closer to the coveted Marin County Athletic League football title tomorrow at 1 p.m. when facing host Tamalpais High in Mill Valley.

If comparative records are any indication, the Hornets (5-1) should have little difficulty with the Mill Valley team (0-6). Since past records do not necessarily influence the outcome, coach Mike Davlin's Tam Indians approach this game with optimism. The Red and Blue have been in every contest but the San Rafael game, a 55-7 drubbing. "We've had so many darn penalties," Davlin said.

Despite the setbacks, the home team is confident of staying with Novato, providing the "breaks" even out.

Unbeaten Harriers San Rafael, Redwood Prepare For Showdown

Undefeated Redwood High disposed of Novato 20-42 yesterday to set the stage for next Thursday's Marin County Athletic League cross-country showdown with another unbeaten, San Rafael.

In other action yesterday, San Rafael downed San Marin, 20-37, and previously winless Drake surprised Terra Linda, 23-32.

Novato's unbeaten Dan Hutton was the individual winner against Redwood, but the Giants took places two through seven to win the meet. Their fine junior duo of Jan-Eric Moller and Mike Killeen almost upset Hutton, but a spurt in the last 100 yards by Dan gave him a five-second victory.

Hutton's time was 18:31 over

Dickson Fires 68 At Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Bob Dickson, an Oklahoma boy, won the U.S. and British Amateurs in 1967, turned pro and won the Haig Open and then flattened out to practically nothing as a golfer.

He had his best round of golf Thursday in a long, long time, shooting a 33-35—68 on the par 36-36—72 Paradise Valley Country Club course in the first round of the 72 hole $135,000 Sahara Invitational.

He had six birdies and two bogeys on his card.

The golf course was something else. The temperature never got higher than 47. It rained in bursts. It snowed a bit. The wind gusted to 30 miles an hour, churning up desert sand when it wasn't raining.

Lee Trevino, who learned to play in the winds of Texas, shot 37-32—69.

The merry Mexican admitted he doesn't like cold weather but said the wind didn't bother him.

"It's just like playing at home in El Paso," he explained.

There were two at 70—Bob Goalby 33-37; and Dale Douglass 34-34.

And six at 71—Don January 37-34; Jim Jamieson 35-36; Deane Beman 34-37; Bert Yancey 38-33; Fred Marti 35-36; and Paul Moran 35-36.

"I've played in worse weather—but not often," he said.

Doug Sanders shot 39-41—80.

Dickson was unable to explain his fine round of 68 except to say that he played a lot in the wind in Oklahoma.

HARRY DALTON

New Angel Aide Off Fast

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Harry Dalton plunged into the job of rebuilding the California Angels today as the newly appointed vice president and general manager and the first task was settling the Tony Conigliaro case.

Conigliaro, obtained from the Boston Red Sox, left the team late in June because of an eye problem. The onetime slugging star has filed a grievance against the Angels seeking $30,000 in retroactive pay.

Dalton disclosed he would discuss the case with Boston general manager Dick O'Connell on the Angels' belief Conigliaro's eyesight was damaged when he was traded to the California club.

The Angels traded infielder Doug Griffin and relief pitcher Ken Tatum to the Red Sox for Conigliaro and Jerry Moses. And the club would be delighted to get either back or perhaps another man if Boston agrees it traded an injured player.

Dalton said Thursday that he was not ready to name a new field manager for the Angels to replace Harold "Lefty" Phillips whose contract was not renewed. He said it might be three or four weeks before he picks the new manager.

Seals Upend Boston Bruins 2-0

Meloche Dazzling In Nets

BOSTON (UPI)—It was probably the finest night in the history of the California Golden Seals and ended with a kiss by the coach on his goaltender's mask.

Excited coach Vic Stasiuk leaped onto the ice in his street shoes and skidded up to rookie goalie Gilles Meloche shortly after the Seals blanked the Boston Bruins 2-0 Thursday night before 14,995 disappointed fans in Boston Garden.

They hadn't seen the Bruins shut out on home ice in nearly a year. It also was Boston's first loss to the Seals at the Garden since last Nov. 15 when a 2-1 Seals victory resulted in owner Charles O. Finley buying new $200 suits for every Seal player.

Finley and his generosity weren't in evidence Thursday night as Meloche, 23, turned aside all 34 Bruin shots, including a barrage of 15 in the first period. The win was the third in a row for the Seals.

Norm Ferguson scored the first Seals goal with 4 1-2 minutes remaining in the opening period after taking passes from Tom Williams and Wayne Carleton, two former Bruins. Dick Redmond intercepted a Boston pass, circled in front of defenseman Rick Smith and scored on a 10-foot backhander at 6:26 of the third period for the other California tally.

TWO-FOOT PUTT — It would have been an easy tap-in for a Boston goal last night, but the Seals' Dick Redmond (right) prevented the Bruins' Ken Hodge (center) from taking advantage of the situation. Seals Goalie Gilles Meloche (left) moved back into position, stayed there the rest of the night, and shut out the Bruins 2-0 in Boston.

(UPI Telephoto)

Boston, losing for the second night in a row, had several fine scoring chances, including six bids by wing John Bucyk but Meloche stopped everything.

Meloche's performance reaffirmed the prediction of Seals general manager Garry Young that he could become one of the best goalies in the NHL. Young had been scouting Meloche for the past five years.

FACES HICKS

Foster Defends Crown

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI)—Bob Foster, the most active modern fighting champ, and Tommy Hicks, a teacher specializing in retarded children, passed their physicals with flying colors for Saturday night's light heavyweight title bout.

Two doctors from the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission examined the men Thursday and termed them in "excellent and superb physical condition" for 15 rounds or less.

State commission rules will be in effect for the fight, sponsored by Friends of Boxing, Inc. The sponsors are predicting a gate that will surpass the one when Foster kayoed Hal Carroll here in the fourth round.

The odds appear to favor a knockout rather than a verdict before the two judges and a referee.

Foster has recorded 36 knockouts in 49 professional fights and Hicks has KO's in more than half of his 24 bouts.

Foster, of Albuquerque, N.M., says he didn't come to this northeastern Pennsylvania city to go a full 15 rounds, and Hicks, of Ithaca, N.Y., is equally confident he'll take home the crown.

Dave Grayson Sets $350,000 Suit In Motion

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Former Oakland Raiders defensive back Dave Grayson has filed a $350,000 libel suit against the Copley Newspapers in connection with a story which said he had passed tips on football defenses to an old teammate.

While filing the suit Thursday, Grayson denied a report published in the Sept. 27 San Diego Union that he had given Oakland Raider receiver Fred Biletnikoff some hints about the defensive alignments of the San Diego Chargers. The story alleged Grayson and Biletnikoff had talked on the telephone prior to the Sept. 26 game that Oakland won 34-0.

Broncos, Saints Swap Leaders

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

NEW YORK — The Denver Broncos and the New Orleans Saints led a record year for trades among National Football League clubs as it was announced yesterday that 187 players changed uniforms in 124 swaps for 1971.

The Broncos and the Saints each completed 20 trades while Washington, under the league's most renowned "wheeler-dealer," coach George Allen, was right behind with 19 transactions.

A total of 112 offensive players and 75 defensive players were involved in the trades, including 14 quarterbacks.

MILWAUKEE — The Green Bay Packers announced yesterday that a cardiac intensive care unit, staffed by a doctor, registered nurse and specialists, will be at County Stadium for the team's game Monday night against the Detroit Lions.

The Packers said the move was prompted by the death last week of Chuck Hughes, who died of a heart attack during a game between the Lions and the Chicago Bears.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The National Collegiate Athletic Association council yesterday reprimanded and censured Montana State University for violating principles governing financial aid to student--athletes.

Specifically, the NCAA said in a statement, during September, 1970, the University's head football coach presented a $10 cash award to a student-athlete for outstanding performance in a football game Sept. 26, 1970.

DOVER, Del. — A Delaware State College athlete who was kicked off the football team along with 12 other players after a drug abuse investigation earlier this month has been arrested in a campus drug raid.

Willie Paul, 20, Newark, N.J., was charged with possession of heroin and cocaine with intent to sell after Delaware state police raided Medger Evers Hall yesterday.

It was the same story at San Marin, as San Rafael's depth overcame a strong individual performance by San Marin's Gary Lathrop. Lathrop's 14:21 clocking gave him first place by a 30-second margin, but San Rafael grabbed places two through six to win the meet.

Doug Green was second at 14:51, Jerry Lansing third at 15:04, Dan Johnson fourth at 15:10, Jack Kruusmagi fifth at 15:15, and Fletcher Lesley sixth at 15:18.

Drake's Grant Missiner was the individual champion with 13:24 as the Pirates downed Terra Linda. The losing Trojans captured second and third, with Pat Thornton recording 13:37 and Augie Venezie 13:53, but Drake captured fourth through sixth.

Redwood and San Rafael now stand alone at the top with 5-0 league records, and meet Thursday at Phoenix Lake to decide the title.

The freshman-sophomore team title will also be on the line at that meet. San Rafael drubbed San Mateo 15-45 yesterday behind Ray Green's 16:01 triumph.

Varsity Standings

San Rafael 5-0, Redwood 5-0, Novato 3-2, Tamalpais 2-3, San Marin 1-4, Drake 1-4, Terra Linda 1-5.

FIGHTER PROTECTION

Reagan Signs Pension Bill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed a bill its author says will provide some financial protection for professional boxers "who are through."

"I've always wanted to do something for the boxer who is all through," Thomas, who coached the sport at Santa Clara from 1930 to 1934, said of his bill.

The measure would create a trust fund under the jurisdiction of the state Athletic Commission. Fighters wishing to join it would contribute a portion of their purses. The retirement benefits would come from the fund after the fighter left the ring.

Thomas' bill also establishes a special disability insurance program for professional boxers whose cost would be shared equitably among boxers and fight promoters.

His plan would give the boxer a minimum $100-a-month pension if he was in the ring for at least five years. Smaller amounts would go to those who boxed less than five years and thus made less than maximum contributions to the pension plan.

Hungry Cougars Enjoy The Honey

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Don't blame the Washington State Cougars if they want the entire beehive after getting their first taste of Pacific-8 Conference honey since 1968.

The Cougars upset Stanford 24-23 last week for their first Pac-8 win in three years behind the running of tailback Bernard Jackson and quarterback Ty Paine. Ken Grandberry, another stellar Cougar running back, missed the game with a leg injury but will be back to face Oregon at Spokane this weekend.

Oregon is 2-1 in the conference and WSU 1-1. All the Cougars need to do to get a trip to the Rose Bowl is to beat Oregon, USC, Oregon State and Washington on successive Saturdays.

The game features the top two running backs in the Pac-8 —Oregon's Bobby Moore and Jackson. Moore, averaging 125.3 yards rushing, and Jackson, with 112.1, are the only backs in the conference over 100 yards each game.

In addition, Paine and Duck quarterback Dan Fouts are deadlocked behind Stanford's Don Bunce and Washington's Sonny Sixkiller in total offense. Fouts and Paine have been averaging more than 167 yards a game.

Oregon's defense has a big hole with the loss for the rest of the season of linebacker Tom Graham who has a broken right ankle.

Stanford will try to improve on its conference-leading 3-1 record at Oregon State (1-1); USC (0-2) looks for its first Pac-8 win at home against California which has a 3-0 non-counting conference record, and Sixkiller and the Huskies (1-2) are favored to down UCLA (1-1) by six.

There also are key games in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association and Far Western Conference to determine a clear-cut leader as football 1971 heads into the stretch.

San Diego State and Fresno State, both 2-0 in the PCAA, meet at Fresno Saturday night. UC Davis (2-0), unbeaten in six games, entertains Chico State (2-1) Saturday night in the FWC. Hayward State, also still in the running for the FWC title with a 2-0-1 mark, hosts Humboldt State (1-1).

In another PCAA struggle, University of Pacific (0-3) travels to San Jose State (1-1) Saturday night. In non-conference games, UC Santa Barbara (1-5) is at Hawaii (4-1), Los Angeles State (1-5) visits Cal State Fullerton and Long Beach State (4-3) plays at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

Stanford and Oregon State both are coming off losses. The Beavers secondary has yielded 10 touchdown passes, most in the league, and Indian signal-caller Bunce undoubtedly has taken note of that fact. Coach Dee (The Great Pumpkin) Andros has guided the Beavers to several notable upsets in the past and with Halloween only one night away, the Beavers could very well rise out of the pumpkin patch to smack down the Indians.

California has pulled three straight victories off the griddle in the closing seconds with the aid of passes from Jay Cruze to flanker Steve Sweeney. The Trojans plan to overload the zone on the side where Sweeney operates in hopes of cutting down his effectiveness, especially in the final few minutes if the game is close.

In Los Angeles, it will be the passing of Sixkiller against the running of Marv Kendricks, who must carry even more of the UCLA's offensive load with Kermit Johnson out for the season.

NFL ROUNDUP

Oakland, Kansas City Renew Heated Grid Rivalry

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With the National Football League season reaching its midway point this week, the jockeying for position in the various division races takes on increasing importance.

Despite excellent starts by a handful of teams, none of the six divisions has produced a runaway and there isn't a single leader boasting anything more comfortable than a one-game lead. Thus, a number of games will have a direct bearing on the standings, although two stand out in particular on Sunday.

In these, the Kansas City Chiefs and Oakland Raiders, fierce old rivals with identical 5-1 records, clash in California while the Miami Dolphins, developing into a power team for the first time in their history, invade Los Angeles for their first meeting ever with the Rams.

The Chief-Raider game, with first place in the Western Division of the American Football Conference at stake, is rated pick 'em and Los Angeles, the Western Division leader in the National Football Conference, is picked by four points over the Dolphins, who head the Eastern Division of the AFC.

In other games Sunday, the Cleveland Browns are picked by six points over the Atlanta Falcons, the St. Louis Cardinals are nine over the Buffalo Bills, the Denver Broncos are 6 1-2 over the Philadelphia Eagles, the Minnesota Vikings are 13 1-2 over the New York Giants, the Washington Redskins are 13 1-2 over the New Orleans Saints, the Dallas Cowboys are 6 1-2 over the Chicago Bears, the San Francisco Forty-Niners are 20 over the New England Patriots and the San Diego Chargers are 10 over the New York Jets. There is no line on the Baltimore-Pittsburgh and Cincinnati-Houston games.

Daryle Lamonica, the Oakland quarterback, suffered a jammed thumb injury to his throwing arm last Sunday, but shrugged it off today and said he would be ready for the Chiefs.

"My arm went numb when I got that sprain last Sunday," he said, "but there was no swelling on my hand so it's all right."

The leading rusher for the Raiders has been Merv Hubbard, with an average of 5.4 yards for 87 carries. He received a starting chance following injuries to Hewritt Dixon and Charley Smith, and he's more than anxious for another shot at Kansas City. Following last December's game between the teams when Oakland wrapped up the Western crown, 285 lb. Hubbard gaining 93 yards and a touchdown, he said, "I'm at my best against these guys (Kansas City). I love to beat them more than anything else."

The Chiefs feel they have the answer for Hubbard and his teammates this year. In their last five games they have allowed their opponents less than 100 yards rushing, a total of only 412 rushing yards over that span.

A ground battle is expected at Los Angeles since the Rams and the Dolphins are the No. 1 rushing teams in their respective conferences. Miami, in fact, is the overall offensive leader in the AFC while Los Angeles ranks fifth in the NFC.

Larry Csonka is Miami's leading rusher with 496 yards and four touchdowns on 91 carries and his sidekick, Jim Kiick, has compiled 436 yards and one touchdown on 86 carries. In addition, Kiick has caught 13 passes for 130 yards.

Pires Bout Vs. Foreman Set Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) —After George Foreman fights Luis Pires in Madison Square Garden tonight, fans will ask the No. 2 heavyweight contender "Who's next?"

Will there be more of the no-name fighters that have buckled under the savagery of Foreman's mighty fists? More Charlie Bostons, more Stamford Harrises, more Ollie Wilsons?

Or will this fight have been the last of the preparation matches designed to get Foreman ready to come face-to-face with his ultimate goal — the heavyweight title of the world?

Foreman's manager, Dick Sadler, was noncommittal as to where George is going from here. He realizes the people would like to see his fighter go against the No. 1 contender, Muhammad Ali, and then the champion, Joe Frazier.

"It means nothing to me fighting Ali," said Sadler. "I want to fight the champion, that's all. Right now Ali ain't nothing. Frazier beat him fair and square last time. Knocked him on his damn behind. We don't want no ex-champ. We want the-e-e-e champ. It would be a break for Ali to fight me. I've got 28 knockouts in 31 fights."

It's true that Foreman has been unbeatable in the ring as a professional since he won the Olympic gold medal in Mexico City back in 1968. But the knock against the 23-year-old native of Hayward, Calif., has been the quality of his opponents. Sadler has brought Foreman along slowly, wisely. He's gotten better with each fight. He's more confident in the ring. His punches land with more crispness. His footwork has improved. He's developed ring sense.

But is he ready to fight Frazier or Ali?

Laver Reaches Net Semi-Finals

Laver, the veteran Australian pro, remained the only seeded player left in the Wills Embassy Tennis Tournament Thursday when he advanced to today's semi-final with a 3-6, 64, 6-2 victory over Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

Laver, who won the $48,000 tournament last year, will meet Bob Hewitt of South Africa in semi-final play and Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., takes on Romania's Ille Nastase in the other match.

Laver had trouble in the early going against Drysdale before settling down to defeat the South African. He changed his tactics in the second set, using a varied attack to offset Drysdale's two-hand backhand.

Nastase pulled off another of the many upsets in the tourney when he knocked off top seed John Newcombe 9-7, 6-2. Newcombe reinjured his right knee early in the first set and went through the motions in losing to Nastase.

Gorman, who specialized in upsets during the Wimbledon tournament, where he made it to the semi-finals after entering unseeded, rebounded from a slow start to beat South Africa's Frew McMillan 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Newcombe admitted that he wasn't taking any chances after reinjuring his knee. "I felt the knee go and after that I was not prepared to take any risks," he said. "I'm not sure whether I'll go to Stockholm next week. I'll have to see if the leg acts up before making a final decision."

In women's action, Billie Jean King, the defending title holder from Long Beach, Calif., advanced to a semi-final meeting with San Francisco's Rosemary Casals by stopping Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 6-0. France's Francoise Durr moved into the other semi-final match against Wimbledon champion Evonne Goolagong of Australia by topping Betty Stove of The Netherlands 6-1, 6-4.

Import Car Show Set Nov. 9-14 In San Francisco

The annual Import Car Show will be held Nov. 9-14 at the Civic Auditorium and Brooks Hall in San Francisco.

Car makers from six foreign countries, comprising almost every major manufacturer now retailing vehicles in the United States, will have exhibits.

Production cars, futuristic prototypes, race cars and antique autos will be displayed in the two main buildings, while race films will be shown in nearby Larkin Hall.

Swimmers Run Record To 4-0

Marin Catholic High School's girls swimming team ran its Marin County Athletic League record to 4-0 yesterday with a close 61-56 victory over Tamalpais' girls team (1-3) in the Tamalpais pool.

Marin Catholic Wins In 'C' Cage

Marin Catholic walloped Terra Linda, 64-16, to win its ninth straight game of the year and 25th in a row in Marin County Athletic League Class "C" basketball yesterday.

Four Marin Catholic players scored in double figures — Ron Reher, 14, Mike Nivens, 13, Ed Rossi, 12, and Steve Webb, 10.

NHL ROUNDUP

Surprising Minnesota Dumps Pittsburgh 2-0

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The surprising Minnesota North Stars seem to enjoy their new found success.

They seemingly substantiated this promise by dumping the Pittsburgh Penguins 2-0, while the Philadelphia Flyers edged the Vancouver Cannucks 3-2 in National Hockey League action Thursday.

Cesare Maniago turned aside 35 Pittsburgh shots in registering his second shutout of the season and Bill Goldsworthy and J. P. Parise scored the goals for Minnesota, which now has won seven and tied one of nine starts to close within a single point of first-place Chicago in the West Division.

"It was a good game to win but lady luck was with me on a couple of those shots," Maniago admitted later. "One shot bounced off my stick when I was down and another went into my pads. I didn't even see it."

Simon Nolet scored his second goal of the night at 10:25 of the third period to give Philadelphia its margin of victory over Vancouver. Larry Mickey had the other Flyer goal.

NBA ROUNDUP

New York Wins Despite Hurt Reed

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Everybody is aware the New York Knicks aren't playing up to their potential and the reason can be traced to Willis Reed's inability to get around any more.

Reed underwent surgery during the offseason to correct knee damage but wound up with a bad case of tendonitis in the limb. He played 30 minutes in Thursday night's 112-94 victory over Houston.

"Everybody senses that Reed has a problem" Walt Frazier said after the game. "The fans realize it and the players know it. Each guy has to play that much harder. We can't depend on Willis like we used to do."

Reed scored only three points. He asked Coach Red Holzman for permission to play and then asked to be taken out of the game when the pain became unbearable.

"I don't know how long this problem is going to last," Reed said as he sat dejectedly in the locker room. "All I know is that the pain is there and it's slowing me down."

Fortunately, the Knicks, now 5-4 in league play, have an awakening giant in Dave DeBusschere. DeBusschere not only does his thing in rebounding, he has been one of the club's hottest marksmen.

He scored 26 points against Houston, matching Dick Barnett's output, and gathered 18 rebounds. Jerry Lucas finally has materialized into the player New York expected when it acquired him from Golden State for Cazzie Russell. Lucas tallied 14 points Thursday and grabbed eight-rebounds.

Frazier wasn't too enthused over the Rocket victory, however. He thinks the team still has a long way to go to match the type of play that brought New York the NBA title in 1970.

"Winning the game felt good after last night's loss in Atlanta," Frazier said. "Still, I can't get too worked up over it. Everybody else has been beating Houston, so we can't really feel too proud."

The loss was Houston's eighth in nine starts this season and provided additional ammunition for rookie Coach Tex Winter's campaign to change the club's image.

"We have more young people than any other team," Winter said, "and you can blame that on my inexperience. It was my notion to go with the youth movement, but I see now I've put myself on the spot. We might have to go back to using some veterans, or we might have to come up with a trade to strengthen the club.

Winter wasn't referring to Calvin Murphy, who scored 21 points, or Elvin Hayes, with 19, when he talked about trades. He is pleased with their work. He also praised Rudy Tomjanovich, a Michigan University star who rode the Rockets' bench most of last season. Tomjanovich has averaged 18 points a game through Houston's first eight contests.

Barry Clemens came off the bench to score 14 of his 26 points in the second quarter and lead the Sonics over Buffalo. Clemens hit four straight field goal and six-of-six foul shots. Spencer Haywood added 25 points for Seattle while Bob Kauffman led the Braves with 27.

FISH AND GAME

Looking Forward To Chuker Hunt

By AL GIDDINGS

HONEY LAKE, Lassen County — With the deer season over in Northeastern California, my wife, Mary, and I are "hanging on" for a few more days to get in a chuker hunt when the season opens tomorrow.

In all of our deer, rabbit and duck hunts, not once have we seen or heard a chuker. Last year, while here deer hunting, we saw chukers in various areas but those same places have been void this year. It seems to be the same with pheasants at Honey Lake, and even the cottontails have been mightyscarce everywhere this year. All the Fish and Game management men in this area say that last winter was real tough for the birds. Many didn't survive. So if you have plans for a chuker hunt, or expect to take home some cottontails, you may be in for a disappointment.

DUCK SHOOTING at Honey Lake (Fleming Area) was good last Saturday, fair Sunday, but dropped to 1.4 birds per hunter on the Monday holiday. If it's windy, of course, things will pick up. Check the weather conditions; the rougher the weather, the better the shoot. Three geese were taken, but most aren't here yet.

I spent a day over at Bieber, Lassen County, down on the Pit River. No birds, but I spent a few hours with Floyd Dowell, one of the Lassen County Wardens. He had a stack of deer tags which he had validated. Two of them were from bucks (4 pointers) taken by the Ongaro's of San Anselmo. Now you can't beat that!

If you noticed — we are now camped at Honey Lake. It got so cold on that mountain near Ravendale, that when the temperature hit 16 degrees one morning, and Bruno, our dog, crawled right into our sleeping bags at 6 a.m., I said, "We are going down the mountain today." So here we are. Oh, we're doing fine! Right now, Mary is cooking liver and onions, and we have a quarter of Mary's buck hanging right alongside three mallards. It's a banquet every nite. It's the only way to go!

I RECEIVED a press release from the Department of Fish and Game which states that 100,000 rainbow trout fingerlings were planted in Nicasio. I can't check this now, but it is unusual! Some 50,000 fingerlings were also planted in Kent Dam.

I also read where a sturgeon was caught last Feb. 14. Here's the story:

BACK ON Oct. 6, 1954, Dick Pycha was a young junior aquatic biologist barely three months on the job with the Department of Fish and Game.

Assigned to Inland Fisheries, which then had the responsibility for striped bass and sturgeon studies, the 28-year-old Pycha tagged a white sturgeon and released it in San Pablo Bay.

Actually, Pycha tagged the fish twice, placing one tag in the middle of the back and another near the tail. The DFG at the time was attempting to determine the best location in which to tag fish and the best type of tag to use.

Pycha left the department the following May. Years passed. Pycha advanced into his 30s. He became 40. More years passed. In 1969 the Anadromous Fisheries Branch was organized and assumed control of striped bass and sturgeon studies.

AND THE years continued to pass. Pycha, who had since moved to Michigan, was working in the Great Lakes area.

Then on Feb. 14 of this year — 16½ years from the time Pycha tagged and released the fish — Mrs. Roy J. Christensen of Reno landed a white sturgeon from the waters of San Pablo Bay.

Examination of the tag on the fish — a disc dangler attached to the back — revealed that the sturgeon was the one Pycha had tagged many years before. Long since lost was the disc tag attached near the tail.

Trojans, San Rafael Set Offensive Show

gifted with excellent hands and fine moves.

Both have also shown game-breaking talents; in fact, Sabel will probably shuttle in and out of a running back slot to lend additional diversity to the Trojan attack.

San Rafael, on the other hand, features the awesome threesome of runners Scott Duncan, Mark Farrar and Dave Urquhart. Each is quick and hard-hitting, but Duncan is clearly the ace. He leads the MCAL in rushing, thanks to several long-distance runs. When Duncan rests, the opposing defense doesn't; because alternate Jim Grigg, a 10.1 sprinter, is also a tremendous threat.

This group is complemented extremely well by the wizardry of quarterback Dirk Gansloser. This nifty signal caller mixes up the defenses with unexpected scurries around end.

If he tries this against Terra Linda, he will likely be running into the hard-nosed Sabel or tackle Larry Madden.

Craig Marshall, Alvin Price and Don Parker.

However, inexperience and fouls have repeatedly ruined Tam's victory intentions.

Conversely, Novato makes few errors. The rock-ribbed Hornet defense gives up little yardage in the air and less on the ground. Interior linemen Pat Karinen, Rick Reis and Russ Weklych have blunted many a sharp running attack this season. Additionally, the Rennier brothers, Mike and John, are equally stingy against the pass.

When the defense isn't shining, it can be blamed on the vaunted Novato offense. In recent outings, the attackers, led by quarterback Marty Moroski and tailback Leo Magers, have exhibited quick-striking firepower.

If Novato continues its productive ways, Tam may be in for a long afternoon.

The lineups:

CAN AM CHALLENGE

Revson Favored To Win Riverside Grand Prix

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Peter Revson, 32-year-old transplanted New Yorker who has taken the play away from McLaren teammate Denis Hulme this year, seeks to become the first American to win the Can-Am title Sunday.

Off his record in the previous nine Can-Am races in 1971, Revson figures to be the man to beat in the $75,000 Times Grand Prix, the final event of the series over Riverside's 3.3-mile, nine-turn road course.

Revson, from Redondo Beach, Calif., has five victories and 127 points to two triumphs and 112 points for Hulme, winner of the past two Times races.

Even if Hulme takes the Times Grand Prix for the third straight year, Revson can take the series title with only a sixth place or better. "I have the advantage," admitted the Can-Am point leader.

"I'm conscious of the fact that I don't have to win and I will drive accordingly. If I can win the race, fine. But the main objective is to win the championship."

The Gulf McLarens driven by Revson and Hulme should receive a strong challenge from the L&M Lola and Jackie Stewart of Scotland. Stewart has two victories in the series and ranks third in the point race with 76.

If Hulme, who won the Can-Am crown in 1970 and 1968, is bothered about losing his series title to Revson, he doesn't show it.

"I'm glad Jackie Stewart can't win," the balding New Zealander remarked. "Our team's the best out. Stewart didn't win it all this year. We proved the McLaren team is difficult to beat."

Since the Group 7 series was started in 1966, the other champions were John Surtees (1966) and the late Bruce McLaren (1969 and 1967). Surtees is from England and McLaren was from New Zealand.

A 12-year racing veteran, Revson scored his victories, in order, at Atlanta, Watkins Glen, N.Y.; Elkhart Lake, Wis.; Brainerd, Minn., and Monterey, Calif.

His first Can-Am triumph—at Road Atlanta—came in the third race of the series.

Revson was so happy he sprayed everyone near him with his victory champagne. He followed the script after his four other wins, earning him the nickname of "Champagne Peter."

Asked about Revson's ability behind the wheel, McLaren team manager Teddy Mayer said:

"Peter has a sensible approach to racing. He has been around racing long enough to know that it takes more than bravery to be a race driver."

Hulme played down the competition angle with Revson.

"Fortunately, Peter and I are both sensible drivers," he said. "Otherwise, we would be liable to pound these cars into the ground. We are both bright enough not to."

The No. 4 scorer in the series, Switzerland's Jo Siffert, was killed in a Formula I crash at Brands Hatch, England, last weekend.

Qualifying was set today and Saturday.

Prep Quarterback Takes Own Life Under Cloud Of Mystery

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The spunky quarterback of a high school football team was found dead in a park near his home two days before a game his coach had been confident would be the first win of the season.

Multnomah County medical investigators said apparently Jeff Austin, 16, a junior at David Douglas High School, took his own life Thursday. A .38 caliber weapon was found near the body after some grade school students sighted Austin's school satchel by a path nearby.

County officials gave no theory on the reason for the death, and principal Robert A. Miller said he had been unable to come up with any answer to what he termed a "frustrating and hellish" question.

"I assume whatever was bothering him it came up quick," said football coach Wyman Gernhart. "I'd be the first one he would come to otherwise if something had been bothering him.

"He was close to me."

Gernhart said young Austin had left school early Thursday, missing his physical education class and the football practice that followed.

"He was the kind of boy you would want a quarterback to be," said Gernhart, with his voice breaking. "He would get knocked down on a play or two, and come right back on the next play and it would be the big opener."

The coach said that young Austin played freshman football and then sat out the sport in his sophomore year while he concentrated on basketball and baseball. However, he said the youth began coming out for football again during the late training period this summer and began lifting weights to strengthen his 5 foot 9, 160-pound frame.

Two NFL Players In Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) —At least two National Football League players and a physician will testify next Monday before a House subcommittee investigating artificial turf, the NFL Players' Association reported Thursday.

Ed Garvey, president of the Association, said Bernie Wright of the Cincinnati Bengals, who is a vice president of the Players' Association, and Gus Holloman of the New York Jets will give testimony before California Congressman John Moss and members of his subcommittee on commerce. The hearing is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. EST.

Dr. James Garrick of Seattle, Wash., who has conducted studies on synthetc surfaces at the University of Washington, will release some of his findings to the subcommittee, according to Garvey.

Wildcats Go For Win No. 6

The red-hot Marin Catholic High School footballers will attempt to notch a sixth consecutive victory when the Kentfield team hosts St. Patrick's of Vallejo tomorrow at 2 p.m.

After dropping the first two games, the Wildcats, under the inspired guidance of rookie coach Bruno Banducci, reeled off victories against all comers, due largely to the running of tailback Pat Parnow.

However, Banducci's top back is out a couple of weeks with an injury, giving way to Mark Ferrua last week. The results were the same, a 28-8 win over host Tamalpais.

Once again, Banducci is calling on Fernua, quarterbacks Steve Schaumleffel and Steve Sherry, and runners Lane Cozza and Rick Cervisi to move the football. If they succeed in this, St. Patrick's may not enjoy the festivities.

The lineups:

Santa Anita Jockey Denied Reinstatement

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jockey L.J. Durousseau, suspended a week ago for allegedly having an electrical device in his possession during a race at Santa Anita, Thursday lost a court battle for immediate reinstatement.

The Oak Tree at Santa Anita stewards ordered the suspension and referred his case to the California Horse Racing Board with the recommendation that his license as a rider should be revoked.

Durousseau took his case to court in an effort to gain reinstatement prior to Saturday's close of the Oak Tree meeting on grounds he was being denied the right to earn a living.

Marin Gridders To Face DeAnza

There will be no surprises, but plenty of problems, when the College of Marin Tars face the DeAnza Dons tonight at 7:30 at Foothill College, Los Altos.

College of Marin's game plan calls for a lot of passing by quarterback Bob Daniele, who completed nine of 13 last week in addition to running a kickoff back 93 yards. Daniele will mix up rollouts, sprint-outs and dropback passing in an effort to blunt the powerful Don rush.

Read is unhappy about his offensive backfield, which fumbled nine times in recent Camino Norte Conference losses to West Valley (16-9) and Solano (30-23). Larry Walker and Leon Delisle will start at halfback, Bob Sutherland at fullback, and Mike Locati at flanker.

On offense, the Dons "are just like Solano — they'll come right at you," said Reed. DeAnza runs about three plays out of every four, and their infrequent air attempts are generally deep play-action passes. The Dons' throwing has suffered since quarterback Jay Cruze went on to bigger things at the University of California.

"It's the mental aspect I'm worried about most," said Read. "We have to be ready to play mentally. We have to do everything."

Marin's record is 0-6. DeAnza lost last week to league leader Santa Rosa, 12-0.

Merger Responsible For Sales Increase

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Please give me a rundown on Eastern Air Devices. What or who is responsible for the large increase in the company's fiscal 1971 sales? — O.C.

A. Acquisition in August 1970 of All Channel Products Corp. added substantially to Eastern's sales base. For the year ended August 1970, All Channel had sales of $5 million and earnings of $134,000. The merged companies reported a $6.6 million increase in sales for fiscal 1971, pushing that figure to $25 million. Net income more than doubled and was equal to 60 cents a share, fully diluted, compared with 36 cents the previous year.

Products manufactured include protective systems, electro-mechanical assemblies, electric connectors, terminals and switches, fishing tackle, loudspeakers and TV and FM antennas. Prior to the merger, 23 per cent of sales went to foreign markets. As of January 30, 1971, backlog was down from $4.7 million to $4.3 million. Shares, which are traded on the American Exchange, are 80 per cent closely held.

Q. My portfolio consists of 20M U.S. Leasing 9¼s of 1974, 200 shares of U.S. Leasing and a substantial amount of North American Mortgage Investors. I am 71, need income and wonder if I should sell U.S. Leasing common, which is now about triple my cost price? — M.M.

A. Prospects for continued price appreciation in this issue appear to be above average. After a sharp run-up shares have met resistance at the mid-30 level. However, once this barrier is penetrated, further gains could be scored. If income requirements are pressing, shares should be sold for investment in a high interest bond, otherwise retention is advised.

North American Mortgage Investors has reported higher earnings in each of the last five quarters. Since the company policy is to pay out 100 per cent of earnings in dividends, yield has been generous. Thus this issue, as well as your bond holding, meets your investment goal.

NIGHT VISION BINOCULARS

Sharper than an owl's eye, this young lady looks at objects in the sky with new electronic night vision binoculars. Her lightweight device uses special wafer-type tubes developed for the U.S. Army by International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. The binoculars can pick out all details of a scene illuminated only by the dimmest starlight.

Holding Company's Earnings Increase

ORINDA (BW) — First Builders Bancorp. Bay Area-based housing industry holding company, has reported that earnings per share after taxes for the nine months ended Sept. 30 amounted to 56 cents, compared to 29 cents for the year-earlier period.

Net sales for the first nine months of 1971 were $7,420,543 vs. 1970's $2,869,468. Pre-tax income was $628,836 vs $220,161. Income after attribution for taxes amounted to $305,706 as against $120,510.

Fiscal Change

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Republic Corp. has changed its fiscal year from Oct. 31 to July 31.

A Special Card For Auto Purchases

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The Bank of America has developed a special card for automobile purchases which it is initially offering to 200,000 customers.

Called the preferred auto rate card, it will allow the bearer to finance a new car purchase at a preferred rate.

Market Is Firm During Early Hours

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market was firm after almost two hours of trading Friday. Trading was moderate.

Shortly before 12 noon advances topped declines by almost 150 issues —596 to 452 — of the 1,389 issues on the tape.

Lawrence Watchtel, analyst for Bache & Co., said Friday's mild followup was restrained "by the advent of the weekend, when traders and investors hesitate to commit themselves." He noted, however, that the market drew some encouragement from a Wall Street Journal story that the Stock Exchange planned to seek a reduction in margin requirements.

"News like this is always a plus for the market," he said.

"If the market holds at this level, I feel it will be in good shape," he observed, adding that all major indicators reflect a "well oversold stock market."

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in moderately active trading, with advances ahead of declines, 339, to 249.

Most active issues included Yates Industries up 1-8 to 7 on 38,900 shares, and Imperial Oil up 1-8 to 28 3-4 on 11,200 shares.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Fairchild Has Less Red Ink In Quarter

A third quarter loss of $3 million, or 70 cents per common share, has been reported by Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp., parent company of Fairchild Semiconductor, on sales of $46.3 million.

For the comparable period a year ago the company posted a loss of $10 million or $2.50 per share on sales of $51.4 million.

Results for the first nine months of 1971 were a loss of $5.9 million, or $1.35 per share, on sales of $144.5 million, as compared to a $13.9 million loss or $3.19 per share on sales of $173.5 million in 1970.

Third quarter results were below expectations and a profit for 1971 is considered unlikely.

LUCKY STORES INC. has agreed in principle to an exchange of 205,000 shares of its common stock for all the outstanding stock of Dorman, Inc. of San Diego, a tire retreading center for that area. It will also exchange 170,000 shares for Kragen Auto Supply Co. of San Jose.

FOREMOST-MCKESSON, INC. has reported a 30-per cent increase in earnings and a 10-per cent increase in sales for the second fiscal quarter ended Sept. 30. Net income was $7.8 million or 52 cents per share, compared with $6.2 million or 40 cents per share last year. Net sales were $470.1 million compared to $428.8 million a year ago.

DE GIORGIO CORP. operating earnings after tax increased 50 per cent to $5.1 million for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30. Last year's earnings were $3.4 million. Per share operating earnings rose 23 per cent to 91 cents from last year's 74 cents. Third quarter earnings increased 54 per cent to $1.8 million or 31 cents per share from last year.

GREYHOUND CORP. third quarter profits increased 20 per cent to 67 cents per share compared with 56 cents per share last year. Net earnings were $26.8 million, up from $22.3 million in 1970. Earnings for the first nine months were $1.32 per share, compared with $1 per share last year.

EXCHANGE BANK of Santa Rosa has reported $488,846 in net earnings, for the first nine months of 1971, equivalent to 17 cents per share. This represented an increase of almost 34 per cent from last year's $326,043 or $3.14 per share.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF CALIFORNIA net earnings for the third quarter rose 15 per cent to a record $134.9 million or $1.39 per share from last year's $116.8 million or $1.38 per share. Nine month earnings for 1971 were $381.8 million compared to $327.9 million a year ago.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. posted a 12 per cent gain in sales volume and an 11 per cent increase in net income in the first quarter of the current fiscal year. Sales totaled $432.2 million, compared with $385.6 million last year. After tax net income was $16.8 million, up from $15.1 million a year ago. After allowing for dividends on preferred shares, earnings were 63 cents per share compared to 57 cents one year ago. The company has decided not to make its usual increase in the annual dividend which it has been doing for 13 years.

CALIFORNIA FINANCIAL CORP., parent company of Security Savings and Loan Association and Marin Guaranty Title Co., reported third quarter earnings before a carry-forward tax benefit of $690,864 or 20 cents per share. This compared with $378,129 or 10 cents per share for the same quarter last year. Net earnings for the nine months of 1971 amounted to $1,790,744 or 51 cents per share.

U A L, INC., parent company of United Airlines and Western International Hotels, reported third quarter consolidated net earnings of $24 million or 97 cents per share. Last year's earnings for the same period were $10 million, equal to 48 cents per share.

Solid Waste In U.S. Will Skyrocket

SUNNYVALE (BW) — By the turn of the century, American households will be producing 800 billion pounds of solid waste a year — an average of 12 pounds per person per day — with no place left to put it.

Ian Allison, president of Sira International Corp. of Sunnyvale, said a national study recently completed by his company disclosed that "not counting commercial refuse, at least six pounds of waste are now being produced each day by every man, woman and child in the country."

"That per capita figure more than doubled between 1920 and 1970. With our present rates of consumption and population growth, it will at least double again between now and the year 2000," Allison predicted.

At the same time, Allison said, "our landfills are overflowing or being legislated out of existence, and our oceans are pockmarked with floating islands of waste towed in barges from our cities."

His company estimates that the total combined tonnage of household and commercial waste produced each day in the U.S. now runs as high as three billion tons "and there is every reason, based on projections, to expect it to rise to more than six billion tons in the next 30 years."

Allison said that total refuse generated by the nation's 100 largest metropolitan areas alone "now exceeds 500 million tons a year. This includes 200 billion cans and bottles, six million tons of plastic, 74 million tons of paper and related products, nearly two million abandoned automobiles and a quarter of a billion tires, and uncountable millions of junked refrigerators, stoves, television sets, and pieces of personal clothing and accessories ranging from shoes to false teeth."

Profits Are Reported Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. of California has reported a 16 per cent increase in profits for the first three quarters of 1971.

The company said it earned $381.9 million for the period, compared with $237.9 million for the same period a year earlier.

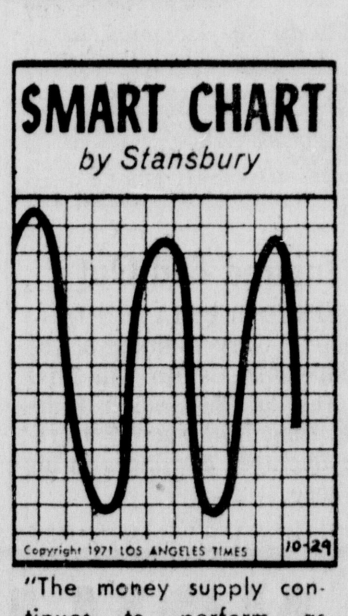
For the third quarter net income was $134.9 million, compared with $116.9 million in the third quarter of 1970.

Gross production of crude oil and natural gas was at an alltime high during the past three months, the company said.

Danish Insurance Gross $473 Million

COPENHAGEN (UPI) —The 323 Danish insurance companies had gross earnings of 3,547,000,000 (b) kroner ($473 million) in 1969, a report recently released by the Insurance Association shows.

The 80 foreign insurance companies here had a gross income in the same year of 122 million kroner ($16 million).



"The money supply continues to perform as usual."

Sonoma State Plans A 'Keyboard Concert'

Sonoma State College will present its first fall musical program with a "Keyboard Concert" Nov. 9 and 10 at 8:30 p.m. in Ives Hall.

The Sonoma State College Concert Jazz Ensemble directed by Walter Oster will perform as well as faculty members Arthur Hills, organist, and Dr. Hobart (Red) Thomas. Thomas, provost of the school of expressive arts, will be at the piano accompanied by five string players including faculty members Dr. Ellen Amsterdam and David Sloss of San Rafael. Sloss's wife, Judy, will also perform.

The Carl Andrews Trio, made up of youths ranging in age from 14 to 16, will perform and provide the rhythm section for the first large work written by 16-year-old Carl Andrews and performed by the concert jazz ensemble.

Performing Nov. 9 only will be Mark Wetch who plays "honky-tonk" style piano and currently plays at the Cattlemens Restaurant, Petaluma.

Fund Raiser For Diabetes Association

A benefit performance of "The Fantasticks" by the Novato Community Players raised about $1,300 for the local diabetes association, according to a fund raiser.

Mrs. Walter Strauss of the Marin Chapter of the Northern California Diabetes Association said the players donated the net receipts from Wednesday's performance. About 700 persons attended, she said.

Proceeds from the event at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building are to be used to buy free diabetes test kits and educational literature, to support free public lectures about diabetes and to establish a permanent headquarters for the group.

Ideas On Sewage Supported In Part

The Corte Madera Sanitary Commission has endorsed consolidating the transportation and treatment of sewage by Marin sanitation districts, but decided collection should remain a local responsibility.

City Engineer Arthur N. Morrison said the commission told him Tuesday to convey that opinion to County Administrator John F. Barrows. Barrows had asked for an opinion on the consolidation of sewer service into one agency, Morrison said.

Halloween Parade For San Marin

The Halloween parade sponsored by the San Marin Improvement Association, will start at 1 p.m. Sunday with entries open to the public.

The parade will assemble on San Marin Drive at San Andreas Drive, go south on San Andreas to San Carlos Drive and then east on San Carlos to the San Ramon Elementary School, said publicity chairman Mary Musante.

A trophy will be awarded for the best entry to the parade and another for the best scout entry. Ribbons will be given to the first four place winners in different categories. These are preschool to kindergarten, first to third grades, fourth to sixth, junior and senior high school and adults.

The association expects about 500 entries including 25 floats and bands and marching units, she said. The San Marin High School Band, Prince Charles Pipe Band's juvenile division, Merle Dahl's Rural Band have already entered, Mrs. Musante said.

The Air Force Reserve Officer Drill Team from Novato High School, the Cadet Squadron Color Guard of the Marin County Civil Air Patrol and several majorettes have entered, she said.

Opposums are the only pouched animals in North America, the females having a fur-lined pouch on the belly for carrying young.

$1.9 Million In Road Funds At Petaluma

Two Southern Sonoma road projects totaling $1.9 million have been budgeted for the 1972-73 year by the State Division of Highways.

A total of $10,725,000 was scheduled for all projects in Sonoma County, according to county information officer Richard McGlinchey.

Largest of the Petaluma projects is $1.3 million to widen the two-lane overcrossing of Highway 101 at East Washington Street to four lanes. The work will also include lengthening entrance and exit ramps on the east side of the freeway.

Also included is $600,000 to construct a new four-lane overcrossing of Highway 101 at Caulfield Lane, Petaluma. Work on connector streets for the new overpass is expected to be completed early next year.

Largest of the Sonoma County projects was $8.7 million to widen Highway 101 to four lanes from State Route 128 near Geyserville to 3.5 miles north of Geyserville.

Typewriter Stolen

A $567 red electric typewriter was stolen either late Tuesday or early Wednesday from the accounting office of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, 1006 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, by a thief with keys, police reported yesterday.

Oakland Port Sets Expansion

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Port of Oakland broke ground Wednesday for an expansion to its container cargo terminals.

The expansion will cost $30 million and will increase the facilities of the port, which already has the largest container cargo system on the Pacific Coast.

Ben E. Nutter, the port's executive director, said his facilities handled 3.6 million tons of container cargo last year, or 40 per cent of that on the coast.

Governor Reagan, Meet Senator Moscone

State Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, teed off last week against Gov. Ronald Reagan for closed-door meetings with small groups of legislators to make major decisions.

Moscone, addressing the annual conference of the California Association of County Supervisors in Monterey, called newly enacted welfare and Medi-Cal legislation, the state budget and tax reform talks examples of "the closed-door syndrome in Sacramento."

He admitted being a "reluctant participant" in the tax talks between the governor and a selected group of legislators, but declared: "Such sessions obviously violate the democratic process."

We agree with Senator Moscone, but . . .

JUST OVER A MONTH ago, Governor Reagan charged Democrats in the legislature with dealing in secret on reapportionment. His prime targets were Democrats in the elections and reapportionment committees in the two houses.

"A great deal of secret activity on reapportionment must be going on among the Democrats," declared the governor. "This should be done in public instead."

We agree with Governor Reagan.

NOW, IT HAPPENS that Senator Moscone is a member of the Senate Elections and Reapportionment Committee. He didn't say anything in his speech to the county supervisors about its secret sessions to decide how voters in the various parts of California should be represented (or misrepresented) in a reapportioned state Senate. You see, he was in on those sessions.

Governor Reagan, when he blasted Democrat legislators for carving up the state in secret, didn't say anything about the closed-door meetings he had been holding with legislators regarding welfare, Medi-Cal, and tax reform. You see, he was in on those sessions.

Governor Reagan, meet Senator Moscone!

WE ARE FORCED, reluctantly, to the conclusion that neither the senator nor the governor is troubled primarily by the fact that decisions of vital concern to the public are reached behind closed doors by people elected to represent the public interest. We regret that we cannot escape the impression that each objects to such undemocratic dealings only when he is himself left out of them.

The senator and the governor are both right in what they said, and both wrong in what they do.

It might be argued (it has been before, in such instances) that closed-door sessions on pending legislation are necessary because the matter is too complicated for the public to understand. This might be argued — but we wouldn't believe it.

We suspect the reason more likely is that those who want to close the doors are afraid the public might learn, and understand, a bit too much.

More And More In Danger

Today, the International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources lists 835 endangered species.

The bald eagle, the tule elk, the California condor, a few kinds of whales, the giant sea turtle and the Bengal tiger are among the endangered species.

The reader might fairly ask, so what? Probably he has seldom seen any of the 835 endangered ones anyway. Why get excited then?

The answer is, that aside from the simple wish to preserve these unique creatures for their different kinds of beauty, there is a need to stop this trend before it snowballs into a avalanche. If we persist in poisoning their food and destroying their homes, might not man himself become the ultimate victim?

This year, 835. A decade hence, how many?

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Taxpayers Finance Lobbies Against Their Own Interests

By FRED W. KLINE

SACRAMENTO (Capitol) — California taxpayers are in the position of paying out large sums of tax money to support projects which are actually directed against their own self-interest.

There are more than 50 legislative advocates for such groups as the League of California Cities, County Board of Supervisors Association and the California School Boards Association which spend tax funds to influence the California legislature — and the influence often is to the betterment of the elected official over the taxpayer.

Many government officials become quite indignant when questioned as to their right to maintain a tax-supported lobbyist in Sacramento. They quickly explain the lobbyist is there to obtain better funding for local projects or to protect against legislation which might have an adverse local reaction.

The same officials neglect to mention how many times the tax-paid lobbyist will work against legislation which would protect the taxpayers' rights by placing new checks and balances on elected and appointed officials.

THE LEAGUE of California Cities, for example, was the major protester (with the aid of individual jurisdictional lobbyists) when the Hayes amendments to the Brown Act were proposed. The County Board of Supervisors Association is constantly demanding legislation which will make its members look better in the eyes of the voters — even though the legislation may not be in the public interest.

Members of the legislature are elected from local districts in order that the voices of the local district can be heard.

If this is true, one possible reason for the expenditure of tax funds for a lobbyist is that somebody has reason to believe the local member of the legislature doesn't care about his people and ought to be removed at the next election. Another possibility is that the local member of the legislature sees problems for the local community in the proposed legislation and the lobbyist has been hired to find those members of the legislature who will cooperate in spite of the view of the local assemblyman or senator.

NOW WITH belt tightening on all levels of government, perhaps a real examination should be made of funds for lobbyists and organizations which provide lobbyists to seek legislation without the consent of the taxpayers.

It might be advisable for some peoples' lobby to demand Congress refrain from requiring membership in regional governmental bodies as a prerequisite to obtaining federal funds. These bodies are responsible for some of the most dangerous legislation.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Puppeteer Family Backs Proposed Center

As homeowners and tax-paying residents of Marin County we would like to express our support of the proposed Renaissance Pleasure Center in Lucas Valley.

We have greatly enjoyed the annual faire since its inception in the county, and anticipate that a permanent center devoted to the study and practice of Renaissance arts, crafts, and culture would be a valuable cultural asset to Marin County. We feel that such a center would be a wonderful outlet for the arts and crafts. Our children have been greatly stimulated by the cultural atmosphere and spirit of the faire, and we would hope to be able to participate in the center when it starts.

In closing, we would like to urge the residents of Marin County to give their highest consideration to the valuable cultural contact that the proposed center would bring to the county.

Renaissance Village Expensive, Difficult

On Oct. 18, Harvey Bragdon granted a use permit to the Renaissance Faire people despite solid opposition from homeowners in Lucas Valley. The democratic process has been violated by one man's dictatorial action.

But at this point I want to go into the project itself and examine the concept of a 15th Century Renaissance Faire and a permanent Old English Village. As of this time the Pattersons have not submitted any solid construction plans. They talk romantically about it but cannot answer 20th Century questions, which must be answered to the satisfaction of the people in this valley...

The expense of building such a village would necessarily be very high and any compromise would reduce the concept to that of an ugly hybrid of 15th and 20th Century sham architecture.

This is not what the Pattersons want, and this is most certainly not what the people of our valley want...

Tax Saving Combined With Helping College

Marin County voters will have an opportunity to improve their tax situation and also help their community college, by voting for Measure A on Nov. 2. If every person who has benefited in some way because of this college, would vote for the measure, we would be assured of continued good education, at the best method of financing which is available to us.

Faire, Townhouses Violate Planning

Please devote space in the I-J concerning past violations of community plans and possible violation associated with the proposed townhouses on Sequeira ranch and the proposed Renaissance Faire in Lucas Valley.

There are many reasons why the original planned population density of Marinwood should prevail now and in the future.

The Faire traffic in Lucas Valley can cause delays of emergency vehicles, ambulances and fire trucks especially, and result in many deaths.

Measure B Population Projections Doubted

Why is the Marin Municipal Water District attempting to gain voter approval (Measure B on Nov. 2) for the massive Russian River water project which is based on inflated population projections?

Even the Association of Bay Area Governments has criticised the MMWD for ignoring current population trends.

Just a week ago Ben Wattenberg, a top expert in census interpretation, author of "This USA," a study of the 1960 census, stated in a speech in San Francisco that the United States is "within a fraction of achieving zero population growth" and will probably dip below zero population growth within three years!

Wake up, water district!

Reclaimed Water Use Too Expensive

You must be kidding! To use reclaimed water each householder in these rabbit-warrens must install separate lines of plumbing, and at today's costs!

The only place using reclaimed water is in the Golden Gate Park in the city to the south, and in some of McLaren Park.

The distances to travel the same in Marin County would be way out of proportion unless fire lines only be used for reclaimed H20. Then some volunteer member might sue the county for infected members! Your cost of disconnecting the fire lines and hooking into sewer plants would also be fabulous.

Do try to spring a better leak!

Coverage Helps Toward Civic Duty

My family and I want to thank you for the excellent coverage you gave the meeting on Oct. 18, when the use permit for the Faire was issued to Ron and Phyllis Patterson. Your reportage awakened us to do our civic bit. Your article enumerating the many presentations why this faire should not be allowed and then the disregard by an appointed public official really set us off. Hopefully, an aroused citizenry will be able to have its elected and appointed officials consider their welfare rather than that of two outsiders.

We look forward to your coverage of the hearings on Nov. 1 at the Civic Center.

Age Of Insensitivity Comes For Officials

It appears the age of Aquarius is passing and among politicians the age of insensitivity is here: Witness Mr. Nixon. The populace says "Get out of Viet Nam" and yet he persists in doing it (maybe) slowly.

But closer to home the same insensitivity to the wishes of the residents of Lucas Valley is apparent regarding the Pattersons' purchase and conversion of the Grady ranch into an unwanted Faire grounds. I have always felt the people were the government. It appears the elected representatives and their appointees are the government and we are merely pawns.

Guess we'll have to "turn the rascals out" if they persist in disregarding the wishes of the citizens. Why don't you take a strong stand on this insensitivity approach?

Will The Real Jaber Please Stand Up?

Nayef S. Jaber declared in a Sept. 22 article that "I am not a Jordanian. My mother always said, 'You're a Palestinian.'" It is quite apparent from the title of this feature article, "Israeli Arab Views Middle East," that his real nationality and his true allegiance is quite elusive.

In a follow-up article the I-J title declares Nayef S. Jaber as a "Palestinian Arab Student Reflect(ing) on Israeli Rule."

Will the real Nayef S. Jaber please stand up?

I would not be surprised if next week the I-J runs an article with the caption reading something like this: "Arabian Jew Reflects on Making the Best of Two Possible Worlds."

FCC And Congress Should Look Into Charges Of TV News Bias

WASHINGTON — The findings of Edith Efron's study, "The News Twisters," that the TV network news has practiced serious political bias should not be allowed to become a fading one-day headline.

The evidence of one-sidedness in the ABC, CBS and NBC nightly reporting during the Nixon-Humphrey presidential campaign is sufficiently substantial so that it cannot be lightly dismissed by the networks.

Fortunately it is not being dismissed. They are defending themselves with counterevidence whichthey contend shows that it is Miss Efron who is biased, not they, and suggest that her research is not trustworthy.

Either Miss Efron's charge that the networks have practiced serious bias is substantially valid and reform is imperative, or the networks can show persuasive proof that she is wrong and they have not practiced serious bias.

THE NUB OF MISS EFRON'S research is that during the seven-week climactic period of the 1968 campaign, the networks clogged the airwaves with anit-Nixon "news" and slanted their opinion coverage of U.S. policy and Vietnam and 10 other major political issues.

Unless the networks can disprove this documented indictment, it stands as a grievous offense against the minds of the American people, denying voters balanced information on the crucial matter of choosing a President.

Since good information is the foremost ingredient of good judgment, any pervasive one-sidedness in presentation of information by the networks, on which so many millions of listeners rely, is a perilous thing.

How, then, are we to find out who is nearer the truth — Miss Efron's findings that the networks are guilty or the findings of the networks that they're innocent? Or is this gravely important matter to become a meandering debate in which the principals talk past each other and in the end the whole thing becomes blurred?

The public is the most vitally concerned of all and the public needs to have the conflicting evidence and the conflicting arguments fairly ajudicated.

THERE ARE TWO WAYS to begin and perhaps they could be undertaken simultaneously:

1—The Federal Communications Commission has, it seems to me, a duty to the public to determine whether its "fairness doctrine" has been severely violated and, if so, what must be done.

2—Appropriate Senate and House committees could well hold early hearings to determine whether new legislation is needed to equip the FCC with both the power and the staff to enable it to enforce the "fairness doctrine" which itself stems from an act of Congress.

Both the FCC and the congressional committees would have to evaluate the relative accuracy of the Efron findings and the relative validity of the networks' replies.

SO FAR THE NETWORKS' statements fault Miss Efron at three points. They say she omitted some pertinent issues which should have been included, that she failed to assess daytime TV news, and that she was either careless or biased in judging content.

This reply should be faithfully examined but it is not on its surface conclusive. If the networks were biased on 13 issues in the presidential campaign, it doesn't disprove that bias to assert that there was no bias on some other issues. Again, absence of bias in daytime news would hardly compensate for bias on big night shows which have the largest audiences.

But the networks and Miss Efron meet head-on in the matter of professional and objective competence of her research. Each accuses the other of bias. I do not see how either the FCC or Congress can be satisfied without trying to find out where the greater truth lies.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

All's Well For Nixon — Except For Those Allies

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The prestidigitator in the White House, now wearing his old-Nixon hat and now the latest mod creation designed especially for traveling in the Orient, has so confused next year's presidential campaign prospects that the only analysts who could make sense out of it would be Abbott and Costello, with their rusty "Who's on First?" routine.

On one day we have the President making his best showing since January in a Gallup Poll measuring the public impression of how he is handling his job. Simultaneously, White House political tacticians are granting hush-hush interviews to pass the word that, believe it or not, Mr. Nixon's re-election will be a yawn.

Maybe so. But anyone who purports to see that clearly through the groundswells, cloudbursts, grass fires and other acts of God that have ultimately cursed and blessed us in the recent past has an extra supply of moxie — or perhaps just a great deal at personal stake.

ONE OF ONLY AVERAGE clairvoyance, who also is not on Mr. Nixon's payroll, looks out the window across the Treasury and can barely see the White House at all through the downpour. But he can hear the President being cheered, tentatively, by the liberals — for selecting a Virginia country club conservative and an Arizona wiretapping advocate for the Supreme Court.

Strange as that sounds, it fits in with other good omens for the President, like the fact that the "holiday" week end's planned antiwar demonstrations were washed out so thoroughly that the only casualties were a few cases of exposure and near drowning. Thus the country was not treated, as it might have been, to the televised evidence that Mr. Nixon must have been doing something right — or, more exactly, correct. That would have been the antiwar demonstration on one reel and the right-wing Dr. Carl McIntyre on the next, demonstrating against the President's affair with Godless Red China.

Everything was going swimmingly for Mr. Nixon, his centrist image was glowing through the murk, until the announcer broke into the Colts-Vikings showdown with the news about that other showdown in New York. Wholesale defections by allies once bound to the United States' position by trade and military priorities allowed China into the United Nations and forced Taiwan out.

Surprisingly, I have not heard so far the inevitable deduction from the Eastern seaboard that this affront to American prestige resulted from Mr. Nixon's determination to carry Texas in 1972. In that determination, he chose John Connally to head the Treasury, and Connally went out and talked tough to our most faithful friends abroad, putting them in just the mood to give Uncle Sam his long overdue comeuppance. And to the United Nations, to talk them and all the Third World countries out of it, the President had assigned George Bush, largely on the basis that he was handsome and had just lost a Senate campaign — and was from Texas. You see what happened.

NOW, THEN, TO REVIEW the situation, we have the left-wing and right-wing demonstrators and the (arch) conservatives plotting impeachment because Richard M. Nixon, of all people, has let the Communists into Chiang Kai-shek's seat at the United Nations.

A handy way to put all of this in ironic perspective is to take an hour-and-a-half to see a collection of old news film clips pasted together into a feature currently popular here, entitled "Millhouse." It covers his career in politics from the time he announced against Jerry Voorhis, back in Whittier right after the war. It is overcute, high-schoolish and at times unfair. But it brings back in direct quotes, in the medium the newly enfranchised comprehend, the extent to which Mr. Nixon based his early successes on anticommunism — specifically, on blaming various Democrats and diplomats for their alleged contributions to China's fall to communism.

Pragmatism is the explanation we get from his associates for the way he executes such total turnabouts from stands taken earlier on the simulation of pgh-minded conviction. Prgamatism is what works, and what works is good for the country, and what's good for the country is, merely coincidentally, good for next year's campaign.

It sounds simple, and the polls and the White House insiders said it was effective — until the vote at the United Nations. Now, when Mr. Nixon goes calling in Peking and Moscow, he will arrive as the first American leader in 21 years who could not hold his allies together on that crucial issue of prestige.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 29, 1961

A delegation of Marin "women for peace" prepared a petition to present to county supervisors opposing the building of bomb fallout shelters.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 29, 1951

The Marin County Board of Supervisors filed without comment demands by the Marin Associated Chambers of Commerce that the county's master road plan be made public and that Leland Murphy and Matt A. Graham be dismissed from the Golden Gate Bridge District board.

The state highway budget included $200,000 for constructing a Highway 101 underpass connecting North San Pedro Road with a road south of the highway to be built by Marin County.

Maybe Reorganization Only Hope For Sausalito Schools

Officials of Sausalito School District finally have begun to talk about reorganizing the district through annexation, formation of a new district or some other method.

However, it may be too late, at least as far as the 1972-73 school year is concerned. Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg admitted Tuesday night at an informational meeting on the district's future that the school board would have to act on a plan by Dec. 31 to make any large changes in the district by next September.

IT HAS BEEN obvious for some time that the district is in serious trouble. A liberal school board tried to solve its many problems and failed, and the current conservative board has had no better luck.

Since 1964 enrollment has declined by almost 50 per cent, from 931 to 501, and cost of educating each pupil has risen to between $2,000 and $2,300 per year, as compared to the average cost of $916 per youngster in all Marin elementary school districts.

Now the district is facing a tax election next year, which may drop its general purpose tax rate from the current $2.40 (approved by voters in the last election) to 90 cents. Both the superintendent and trustee Jerry L. Whitcomb have said it would be difficult, if not impossible, to run the district on the $600,000 to $700,000 a 90-cent rate would yield.

BUT STRANGELY ENOUGH, though reorganization seems inevitable, the district has done almost nothing along those lines. Lindberg said he has made no real overtures to other Southern Marin districts which would have to be involved.

Instead, the superintendent talks happily of how well things are going in the schools this year and says again and again that the district's new reading program is accomplishing wonderful things.

One receives from the administration the distinct impression that everything is much better and it will only be a matter of time until the district solves its desperate problems.

It may be that Lindberg is convinced he can pull Sausalito's chestnuts out of the fire at this late date. But can he really think that all the parents who have removed their children from Sausalito schools will eventually come back to allow their children into its new reading program?

Too many divisive and unhappy things have happened in the district in the past few years. There is simply too much disillusionment, distrust and bitterness.

A FORMER TRUSTEE appeared to hit the nail on the head when he said most residents have lost all faith in the Sausalito School District, that it is a dying district.

Rather than working for what may be a lost cause, perhaps the board and superintendent should direct their efforts toward a reorganization plan.

Impassioned U.N. China Debate Stirs Memories Of 25 Years Ago

After listening to the 12 o'clock news while I had lunch on Monday, I started tuning, in search of some FM music. Suddenly the quality of an impassioned voice caused me to stop and listen. I had tuned in on a live broadcast from the United Nations Assembly. Needless to say I spent the afternoon listening and later in the evening watching the TV presentations.

The whole thing stirred memories starting 25 years ago. You see, Billie, as a junior college trustee, had the good fortune of being able to attend meetings in San Francisco, where the United Nations was brought into being. Later, while on a trip east, she went up to Lake Placid where the organization met until the United Nations Building was built in New York City.

At the 10th anniversary meeting, held in San Francisco, she was also able to attend. We would stay up most of the night after each meeting while she would explain to me the things that I had seen on television. Billie would have been deeply saddened by what happened there on Monday.

LAST NOVEMBER I wrote: "I would like to talk with you about the College of Marin. . .Although I have purposely refrained from commenting on school matters in this column, there is a compulsion to break that rule now. I believe she would want me to."

I went on to say that I had discussed the two propositions then being presented to the voters by the trustees of the College of Marin with an informed man on such matters — a man not connected with school affairs, but who, because of his great interest in education is, in my opinion, an authority.

We agreed that both measures should be passed. However, as you know, one did pass and the other, although it received a good majority, did not get the two-thirds needed.

That one is being presented again, now. I hope you will give it the necessary votes this time, for as I said last November.

"MARIN WILL NEED the facilities proposed to be funded. It will cost much, much more at a later date. If we love this country, and most of us do, then we must prepare for the future now."

Community colleges will become more and more necessary. There is no mistake about that. By voting yes, this should ease the tax burden now and most certainly will in time to come.

Meeting Set On Bolinas, Stinson's Future

The future of Bolinas and Stinson Beach will be discussed at a special evening meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission on Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

The planning commission will discuss the 1961 Bolinas-Stinson Beach General Plan and decide whether it should be repealed, amended, or retained as is.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell said the Bolinas-Stinson Beach General Plan needs updating because many provisions conflict with the proposed preliminary countywide plan.

For example, the 1961 plan called for harbor and commercial use of Bolinas Lagoon and major shopping centers and resort areas along the San Andreas fault zone, whereas the new countywide plan would leave Bolinas Lagoon untouched, and avoid concentrated development along the fault zone.

Birchers Hit Nixon On U.N.

BELMONT, Mass. (UPI)— President Nixon was accused Wednesday by the John Birch Society of creating the atmosphere which led to the "trecherous act" of admitting mainland China to the United Nations.

"Administration after administration has sent our young men to war and taxed the people almost beyond their endurance, ostensibly to oppose Communism, but now the Nixon administration's groundwork has led to this incredible betrayal of anti-Communists throughout the world," Rex T. Westerfield, national director of public relations for the right wing group, said Wednesday.

The group said it would intensify its campaign to urge the withdrawal of the United States from the world body because of the expulsion of Nationalist China and the seating of mainland China.

Pieces Of Glass May Hold Answer To Earth History

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

HONOLULU (UPI) —Small glassy rocks, valued as religious objects, money and jewelry among ancient cultures, may help modern scientists spotlight some dramatic events in the history of the earth.

Dr. David W. Muenow, a University of Hawaii chemist, is trying to track down the origin of tektites, small bodies of silicate glass "that may be as old as the solar system."

Tektites baffle scientists. Muenow said about 60 per cent of the geophysicists who study them believe they came from somewhere in space and the rest think they were formed on Earth, but no one has been able to present sufficient data to prove their origin.

Muenow, who is convinced that tektites are of extraterrestrial origin, said determining how they came to Earth "would be an important development in understanding the history of our planet."

"No one has ever witnessed tektites falling to Earth," Muenow said, "so there are no recorded falls, such as there are with meteorites."

Muenow is particularly interested in comparing lunar rocks brought back by the Apollo astronauts with tektites to determine if they could have come from the moon.

"Tektites are extremely old," Muenow said. "They go back 100 million years and some may have been formed 4.5 billion years ago, at the same time as the solar system."

Muenow, who had been studying moon rocks at Rice University in Houston before joining the University of Hawaii faculty, said that the oldest moon rocks also dated back to "about the time when the Earth and all the planets were formed." He plans to do the comparative work with tektites using samples brought back from Apollo 12.

Since there is "rather convincing theoretical evidence suggesting that tektites are produced during a high-temperature fusion event caused by asteroid impact," Muenow said it will be interesting to compare samples from the moon "where impact of foreign bodies is quite possible."

"If an asteroid or a meteor hit the moon at high velocity, it could kick off other small particles, and if these were the right velocity they could escape the moon's gravity and become entrapped in Earth's gravitational field," Muenow said.

Other theories Muenow plans to explore are whether tektites came from asteroid showers or comets, but he said considering their properties, "they must have been formed somewhere in outer space and become trapped in Earth's atmosphere."

Tektites, from the Greek word "tektos" meaning melted, are spherical to ellipsoidal in shape and weigh from two to 10 grams. "They are harder than any other natural glass found on Earth," Muenow said. "They have a lower water content and their shape indicates extreme melting, probably indicating their path of entry into Earth's atmosphere."

Tiburon Peninsula Hosts Net Tomorrow

Play starts tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. in the first open men's and women's doubles championship at the Tiburon Peninsula Tennis Club.

Biggest names in the men's lineup are Arn Tjensvold, former University of California star, and Howard Blethen, ex-Stanford letter winner.

Play continues through Sunday.

Center Plan Hearing Set Monday

The proposed Renaissance Center, regarded by many residents as the most earthshaking event to hit Lucas Valley since the 1906 quake, will get another public hearing Monday afternoon before the Marin County Planning Commission.

The hearing is set for 3:30 p.m., the last item in the day-long session of the planning commission.

Ronald and Phyllis Patterson, operators of the Renaissance Center, want to establish a cultural, educational and recreational center featuring the Medieval-Renaissance period on the 1,100-acre Grady Ranch on the north side of Lucas Valley Road just east of Big Rock.

Residents of Lucas Valley and Marinwood complain that the Renaissance Center is a commercial enterprise masquerading as a cultural undertaking, which will choke the valley with cars and people and destroy the environment.

The all-day meeting of the planning commission will start at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Marin Civic Center. Other items on the day's agenda include:

AGRICULTURAL PRESERVE — A public hearing to consider the rezoning of the agricultural preserve areas of Northwest Marin (Tomales, Marshall and parts of Chileno Valley) to low densities of 20 acres or more per home.

SEA-PORT — A master plan and development plan by Sea-Port Development Co. for the first 217 units of apartments on the ridge south of Strawberry Shopping Center, between Belvedere Drive and West Strawberry Drive. Eventually, the company plans 330 units on the 24 acres.

Does Food Reflect A Change In Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The daily menu for the White House staff has some new additions, which may or may not reflect recent policy developments.

The new items on the daily mess include won ton soup, egg foo yung and Cantonese chow mein.

Navy Bodyguard With A Purpose — Porpoises

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Now the Navy is trying to recruit porpoises as bodyguards for its divers and others who may find themselves threatened by sharks.

Porpoises, or dolphins, have about the highest I.Q.'s among marine mammals. The Navy has a vast respect for their intelligence.

Porpoises have always been able to protect themselves in fair fights with sharks. If a shark comes messing around with hostile intent, the porpoises gang up and butt him to death.

But porpoises have never been known to go out of their way to pick fights with sharks. They are peaceable beasts if let alone.

So to enlist the help of porpoises in undersea warfare between man and sharks, it was necessary to teach these normally amiable animals to get tough on occasion.

This, the Navy reported recently, has been accomplished. Under an Office of Naval Research contract, scientists at the Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota, Fla., have trained a porpoise "to move aggressively toward a shark on command and drive him away."

This was good news because the Navy had been unable previously to devise effective protection for personnel caught swimming, diving, engaged in salvage or rescue work, or just trying to survive after misfortunes at sea in shark-infested waters.

In a specially constructed pool at the Mote Laboratory, trainers taught a 450-pound bottlenose dolphin named Simo to respond to underwater acoustic signals by charging and forcing into retreat a seven-foot brown shark placed in the pool to test Simo's acquired pugnacity.

"Because of their intelligence and adaptability," the Navy said, "porpoises have previously been employed experimentally to perform a variety of useful tasks such as carrying tools and messages, turning valves, or locating lost equipment and divers."

Italian Pension In Curious Twist

ROME (UPI) — It took the National Social Security Institute (INPS) 103 days to approve Luigi Longo's application for a pension.

And that, said Labor Minister Carlo Donat Cattin, was so much faster than normal that he formally and officially censured the government agency.

There was a lot more to the case than the uncharacteristic speed it took to start Longo's pension payments.

For one thing, the 71-year-old Longo is leader of the 1.4 million member Italian Communitst party. For another, the size of his pension dwarfed pensions paid most Italians.

Donat Cattin became involved in the affair when a fellow member of the Chamber of Deputies asked him to look into the Longo case.

He said 'there was nothing wrong with the size of the pension — $406.56 a month.

But he decided to censure the Social Security Institute publicly because its handling of the Longo application differed from the usual method.

"Generally," Donat Cattin said, "People must wait monthes, even years . . ."

What rankled many Italians was the fact that 80 per cent of them are entitled to a monthly maximum pension of $40.

Many also challenged the fact the Social Security agency credited Longo with extra benefits as a victim of political repression.

Donat Cattin said Longo was receiving no more than he was entitled to get under laws approved in 1955, 1961, 1965, and 1968 covering persons persecuted, exiled or jailed under fascism.

Longo was arrested several times after helping found the Italian Communist party in 1921. He also fought with the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War and later was arrested in France.

He also fought with Italian partisans in World War II and was awarded a U.S. Bronze Star for his role with the underground.

Longo has been a member of parliament since 1946.

All this, Donat Cattin said, added up to more than 50 years pension credit. Hence, the higher sum granted him.

Pleas Are Entered On 20-Year-Olds

Gregory Crawford Gocher, 20, of San Rafael and Gerald Arthur Beaudoin, 20, of Novato, have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges stemming from their arrests Sunday.

A pretrial conference was set for Wednesday.

Both are charged with two counts of battery and one of misdemeanor grand theft, and Gocher is charged with an additional count of disturbing the peace.

They are arrested on suspicion of robbery and assault with a deadly weapon Sunday after they allegedly stole 50 cents from a 15-year-old boy outside a San Rafael market and attacked the boy and a passerby who went to the boy's aid.

Following report of the incident to police, Gocher was found to be already in Marin County Jail where he had been booked for disturbing the peace after allegedly urinating outside Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

Beaudoin was arrested at the jail where he was attempting to bail Gocher.

DOOMED?

Whether this towering poplar tree, said to be in the way of a Fairfax townhouse development, will come down was to be the singular topic of an unusual session of the city council this evening. The tree is located at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Olema Road, site of the development under construction by Gentry Development Co. Charging unnecessary destruction of natural assets, the city council halted the project earlier this month, at the same time naming a committee to work with Gentry officials. When the committee and Gentry representatives couldn't agree on whether the single poplar had to come down, the council set a special meeting for 5 p.m. today in the Women's Club to decide the issue. Heath Wins Round In Entering Market

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Edward Heath won an overwhelming victory in Parliament last night in the first round of his fight to take Britain into the booming European Common Market but an even tougher parliamentary battle is ahead.

Heath's Conservative government hopes Britain will be able to enter the Common Market by Jan. 1, 1973, but before it does Heath must persuade the House of Commons to pass enabling legislation and some of that is a difficult pill for the British to swallow.

Commons gave approval despite public opinion polls showing half the nation opposed entry into the European Economic Community (EEC) as the Common Market is formally called. The opposition remained despite a highpowered government propaganda campaign during the past year.

There were many objections by the man in the street—the fear of higher prices and a haunting fear of entering a new

FAIRE FILM

Dixie District Storm Brewing

Showing of a Renaissance Faire movie to seventh graders at Miller Creek School today involved Dixie School District in the controversy over relocation of the "faire" in Lucas Valley.

At the same time, fair opponents objected to the time schedule of pro-and-con discussions of the issue at Terra Linda High School.

The film, "Call of the Faire," produced by Ron and Phyllis Patterson, Renaissance Faire operators, was shown to 150 Miller Creek seventh graders in a science class yesterday.

Supt. W. Clifford Campbell, who learned of the showing today, said the teacher, Robert Lawrence of Petaluma, claimed he did not know about the controversy over relocation of the "faire" and had requested the film from Mrs. Patterson to show pupils some of the arts and sciences of the Renaissance period.

Campbell said he had forbidden further showing of the film in any Dixie District school at least until "after the current controversy is over." He said he would view the film himself to see if it is a commercial promotion which would violate the district's rules against commercial exploitation in the schools.

Mrs. Patterson spoke yesterday to a senior "Government and Social Issues" class taught by Don Boden at Terra Linda High, presenting the case for locating the Renaissance Faire and Center on the Grady ranch in Lucas Valley.

Opponents of the project promptly cried "foul." But Principal Frank Stocking said the teacher had arranged for speakers on both sides of the issue, with Philip W. Hoffmire, an opponent, to speak next week.

Representatives of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association and the Unfaire Committee of Lucas Valley complained that this would be after the issue is heard on Monday by the Marin County Planning Commission. Stocking said that, in response to this, he tried to reschedule a "con" speaker for today's class, but was unable to get one in time.

Freeze Panel Wants Price-Holding Ideas

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The general public was urged today to send suggestions to Washington for keeping prices from soaring after the economic freeze ends.

The request for ideas came from the Price Commission, one of two panels created by President Nixon to make decisions on how much wages and prices will be allowed to move upward after the freeze, scheduled to end Nov. 13.

The chairman of the seven-member Price Commission, C. Jackson Grayson Jr., said in a statement:

"If we are to be effective in our efforts to stabilize prices in this country, we must remain in tune with the people intimately affected by the erosion that has taken place in their pocketbook and bank balances because of inflation.

"To establish that relationship, the price commission wants to hear in writing from as many people as possible who can contribute ideas as to how price increases can be most effectively controlled."

The address is: Price Commission, 1717 H Street, N.W., 8th floor, Washington, D.C. 20416.

In other economic developments, the government reported the first foreign trade surplus in September in six months, but another report showed that the number of major urban areas with substan-

Sonomans Demand A Vote On Financing Of Aqueduct

I-J Special Report

GEYSERVILLE — In a prelude to court action, a group of more than 200 water users today demanded that Sonoma County officials give the public the right to vote on financing the multimillion-dollar project to pipe Russian River water to Marin County.

In a formal demand to the board of supervisors and the Sonoma County Water Agency, an entity which the supervisors also hold as directors, the Russian River Water Rights Protective Association said the public bodies violated the state constitution when they approved $115 million in revenue bonds to finance Sonoma's part of the project.

The association, in a document signed by its president, Clement F. Vanoni of Geyserville, said that although water

Rowboat Team Makes A Stop

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — British adventurer John Fairfax has put into port at Washington Island in the Christmas Islands south of Hawaii, the Coast Guard reported today.

Fairfax and his girlfriend, Sylvia Cook, left San Francisco April 26 on a planned rowboat trip to Australia.

The Coast Guard said Ivan Sharpe, a representative of Fairfax, said the sailor had docked at Washington Island early in October to repair his boat and radio.

A Final Push To Halt Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) Conservationists decided today to make a last-ditch legal attempt to halt the underground nuclear test on Alaska's Amchitka Island that they claim will cause harm to the environment.

David L. Sive, attorney for the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, said he would ask a federal judge immediately to act on his motion for a preliminary injunction to halt the blast, reportedly set for next Thursday.

Sive decided to act moments after the government announced it would not appeal a U.S. Court of Appeals ruling that it must hand over for judicial scrutiny documents conservationists claim will prove their fears of environmental damage.

The Justice Department advised the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here that it would not appeal to the Supreme Court the ruling of Thursday. That meant the documents would be given to U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart for secret examination to determine if they then should be made available to seven conservationist groups attempting to prevent the blast.

A government spokesman said the documents would be checked to remove any material considered in the national security and therefore not relevant for such inspection.

A spokesman for the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, one of the groups protesting the blast, said Thursday that if the government chose not to appeal, "we will be in Judge Hart's courtroom asking him for an immediate ruling."

China Readies U.N. Team; Arrival Soon

Seating Of Delegation May Come By Thursday

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Acting Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei told U.N. Secretary General Thant today that Peking would send a delegation to the current session of the General Assembly.

A U.N. spokesman said the cable received today from Peking did not set a date for arrival of the Chinese delegation but said it would arrive "in the near future." Diplomats have predicted the Chinese would arrive by Thursday.

The cable also did not specify the makeup of the mission but there has been speculation that Chi would head the delegation.

There had been earlier speculation that Premier Chou En-lai might even attend.

The Chi cable was the first direct communication from the Communist Chinese government to the United Nations since 1950 when Peking sent a representative to New York to discuss the Korean War.

The General Assembly voted overwhelmingly Monday night to expel Nationalist China from the organization and to seat the Peoples Republic of China, giving it a seat on the Security Council and veto power as one of the five permanent representatives.

Thant sent a cable to Peking immediately informing the Communist Chinese of the U.N. action and asking them to name a delegation. There was no

Blount Turns In His Resignation To Nixon: May Run For Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Postmaster General Winton M. Blount personally informed President Nixon today that he was resigning immediately. It was the first step in Blount's plan to run for the U.S. Senate.

Blount, 50, who presided over the reorganization of the nation's mail service, declined at a White House news conference, however, to say flatly if he would attempt to unseat Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., who is 71.

Blount said he would announce his future political plans around New Year's. Other sources said Blount already has decided to seek the Republican nomination for the Senate.

Asked why he resigned now, Blount replied, "It was time for me to leave the post office and to go back to Alabama to make up my mind." Under the postal reorganization, Blount formally submits his resignation to the Postal Service Board of Governors.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon "expressed his appreciation to the postmaster general for undertaking and accomplishing what many thought was an impossible job."

Sparkman told UPI Thursday: "I have said all along that I am running. It is my plan at the proper time to announce my candidacy."

Sparkman indicated the proper time for him would be around Jan. 20 when Alabama Democrats meet to set guidelines for the state's next primary.

He declined to comment on Blount as an opponent.

The Postal reorganization machinery took Blount out of the Cabinet and he was elected to his old-title, new-post as postmaster general by the service's 12-man board of directors. He was a construction millionaire and president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce when Nixon took him into the Cabinet in 1969.

HOMES RAZED FOR GAS STATION

One of two homes — both estimated to be at least 70 years old — lies in rubble at Mission and Lincoln avenues in San Rafael, where Mobil Oil Co. plans to erect a mission-style service station. Demolition work, by Bay Cities Excavators of El Cerrito, began today. Area residents worried about the changing character of their neighborhood and proponents of maintaining older homes for low-cost rental objected to the service station last year, but the city council and planning commission approved Mobil's plans. As the homes came down today, salvagers foraged through the ruins, collecting plumbing fixtures and even ripping out hardwood floors. (Independent-Journal photo

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

New Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., has raised a new issue in his campaign to deny President Nixon a second term. He has accused Nixon of failing miserably as commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

McCloskey, a decorated hero of the Korean War, charged Thursday that Nixon's policy of gradually withdrawing American troops was taking a terrible toll on the U.S. military.

"The President's policies have nearly destroyed our armed services — their pride, their discipline, their morale, and now their combat performance," he said.

McCloskey cited recently publicized instances of disobedience on the battlefield, slayings of officers by enlisted men and widespread reports of drug addiction among GIs.

More Trouble

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The trouble began with about 60 women screaming abuse and throwing stones at an eight-man British army patrol in the city's Roman Catholic Ardoyne area, an army spokesman said.

It ended with one sniper dead and a second gunman wounded. In addition, the army said one woman was hit —the fifth woman felled by security forces' bullets in the past week.

The sniping incidents last night came as controversy grew over a border incident earlier in the day in which troops of the Irish Republic had their first armed confrontation in 50 years with British soldiers.

Premier Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic said in a statement that the British policy of blowing up minor border roads, which touched off the confrontation, was a "breach of normal good relations."

Health Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Catholic Conference came out today for a federally operated health insurance program to cover all Americans.

The organization, made up of Roman Catholic bishops, supported a health insurance plan that fit most of the framework of a bill being pushed by organized labor.

In testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee, Msgr. Harrold A. Murray said "the foundation of the financing mechanisms for health care should be a social insurance system."

He said the level of income to be taxed "should be sufficiently high to assure that a disproportionate tax burden does not rest on those in the lower economic brackets."

Support Pledged

NEW DELHI (UPI)—External Affairs Minister Sardar Swaran Singh told members of Parliament yesterday that the Soviet Union has pledged its full support to India in case of a war with Pakistan, government sources said today.

The sources, who attended a consultative committee meeting of the parliament on foreign affairs, said Singh told the group that India would not face a loss of military supplies — as it did in the 1965 Indo-Pakistan war, when the United States and Britain cut off military aid — because of Russian support.

Before she left for London this morning, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi indicated to newsmen in Vienna that India was not going to buy a consignment of arms from the Soviets, as some have speculated.

Unscheduled Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Breshnev and French President Georges Pompidou held an unscheduled private meeting today and French officials said they were discussing China and Vietnam.

Brezhnev, on the next to last day of his first visit to a Western nation, canceled an excursion to a Pablo Picasso exhibition to confer with Pompidou. The meeting, not included in Brezhnev's original schedule, was set without explanation Thursday night when he returned from a one-day side-trip to Marseille.

Just before the two leaders met with only their interpreters present, their foreign ministers held another unscheduled meeting at the Foreign Ministry.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told journalists after his hour-long talks with Maurice Schumann of France, "It was a very friendly conversation. There were several main points."

Trade Treaty

ROME (UPI) — Italy and Communist China signed a three-year trade treaty today, the first of its kind between Peking and a member of the European Common Market.

The treaty, which will provide a basis for China entering western markets on a large scale, was signed by Italy's Foreign Trade Minister Mario Zagari and his Chinese counterpart, Pao Hsiang-kuo, who flew to Rome from Peking for the signing.

The accord, which Italy had to get permission to make from its Common Market partners, contains nine articles and two lists — one of the Chinese goods to be exported to Italy and the other of Italian goods to be exported to China.

Tito Toasts U.N. At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite sharp criticism of the United Nations in the United States, President Tito of Yugoslavia made a strong call for strengthening the world organization during a state dinner toast Thursday night at the White House.

Only one day after President Nixon denounced the "undisguised glee" of some delegates following the U.N. vote to expel Taiwan and seat Communist China, Tito praised the United Nations as "the best way of solving the world's burning problems."

Tito's toast, tantamount to a major address, saluted the U.N. decision to recognize Peking. The leader of the unaligned Communist nation predicted that seating Communist China was "conducive to peace and stability in the world,"

The administration and members of Congress have been critical of the historic vote ousting a member for the first time. But U.N. Ambassador George Bush gave the first indication of a thaw when he said that he was "tremendously upset" by the performance of some delegates but insisted that the United States should not reduce its contributions.

"We don't believe in linking these payments to the vote. We don't want retribution," Bush said after the dinner.

Tito's remarks did not diminish the warmth displayed between Nixon and Tito since the Yugoslav's arrival Thursday morning to begin a six-day visit.

Talking to reporters after escorting the 79-year-old Yugoslav and his strikingly beautiful wife Jovanka to the north portico, Nixon was glowing in his praise:

"We hit if off very well ... he has a marvelous memory and is an excellent judge of people. He's a real human being. He's one of those leaders on the world scene who has color."

"He also has a wonderful sense of humor," Pat Nixon added.

THE ESCORT — President Nixon escorts Yugoslav President Tito and his wife into the White House upon their Thursday arrival at the North Portice.

During his toast, Tito said Nixon's contributions to the "era of negotiations" and, particularly, the Berlin agreement have eased tensions in Europe.

Tito mentioned the great gaps between developed and underdeveloped, rich and poor nations, and problems caused by "vestiges of colonialism," then declared:

"The strengthening of the United Nations is, in our opinion, the best way to settle the major problems. That is why we consider we all should jointly exert efforts in order to insure that the world organization should become the actual expression of the interests and will of the entire international community."

The Wrong Place

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Augusto G. Coutinno was arrested and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon after he allegedly threatened to kill a tavern owner. Two of the customers at the time of the incident were a local attorney and a circuit court judge.

LBJ Sniffed A 'Trap' To Hanoi's Peace Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Lyndon B. Johnson says he was suspicious of "a trap" in Hanoi's agreement to open peace talks with the United States in 1968.

The former President relates in his new book about his years in the White House that he repeatedly offered to negotiate "anywhere, anytime" with the North Vietnamese provided certain stiplulations, such as a reduction in military actions, would be met.

When Hanoi in early April, 1968, made its first tentative acceptance of the Johnson offer and countered with proposed meeting sites, the President was cautioks, according to excerpts from the book, "Vantage Point," published today in the Washington Post.

"I wondered out loud whether Hanoi's move might not be a trap, another Tet truce, another effort to persuade us to drop our guard," Johnson wrote.

After the two sides ultimately settled on Paris as the site for the talks, Johnson said procedural matters were resolved fairly soon so that the talks proper could begin. But he said any optimism growing out of the procedural settlement "diminished considerably" after the early meetings.

Johnson said he had felt from the outset that he was "perhaps the most skeptical person" among high U.S. officials about prospects for the talks and indicated he felt his doubts were confirmed by subsequent lack of progress.

As the Communist negotiators repeated "meeting after meeting, week after week" standard charges of U.S. imperialism and repeated old demands, Johnson related, "our hopes for a fair compromise and an early settlement grew dimmer."

Local Alcoholism Clinic Bill Gains

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill authorizing counties to provide treatment for alcoholics under the state mental health program has been passed by the Senate.

It was returned to the Assembly Wednesday for concurrence in amendments after clearing the Senate on a 24-1 vote.

The measure by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, allows counties to include treatment of chronic alcoholics in applying for funds under the Lanterman-Petris-Short Mental Health Act.

THE BEST SEAT IN THE HOUSE

Isn't that the chair he really deserves? A stretch-out chair to cave into after the long commute. A lie-back chair to watch the football games in on Sunday. A sturdy chair to rough-house the kids in after dinner. A generous chair . . . noble in size, and scaled to HIS proportions. And, if that chair also conceals a built-in thermo massage unit to warm and vibrate away his aches and cares, it's going to be the chair he'll never part with, the gift he'll never forget. We've got lots of "unforgettable" recliner chairs for the man in your life. About 50 different styles, over a hundred colors and fabrics to choose from. Some that rock and swivel, too.

And just in case you're jealous, we also have a huge collection of recliners, rockers and swivel rockers designed with gentler proportions, for YOUR gentler proportions. And, because we firmly believe that you rate as great a chair as he does, we'll give you $10 off the one you buy for YOU when you buy one for HIM.

Third Try To Arraign Six Inmates

By C. P. McCARTHY

A third attempt to arraign six San Quentin inmates, charged in connection with the August violence at the prison, was made today as attorneys and inmates protested that prison authorities had made impossible a joint conference on Wednesday.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court began appointing attorneys to represent the six inmates when they appeared in court today still without legal counsel.

The inmates protested the appointments, saying the point of Wednesday's scheduled conference was to discuss possible representation and that it had been made impossible by prison officials.

McGuire had issued an order Oct. 21 directing prison officials to allow the six inmates to meet in a joint conference with attorneys G. Douglas Vaughn of San Rafael, John Thorne of San Jose, Charles R. Garry of San Francisco, Elaine Wender of San Francisco, Richard Silver of Carmel and Len W. Holt of Berkeley.

The attorneys filed a declaration today stating the visiting facility to which they were escorted Wednesday was inadequate and that conversation in the room could be overheard by guards stationed outside.

William Stein of the state Attorney General's office, representing the prison, replied by filing affidavits by two San Quentin guards, giving their side of Wednesday's aborted conference.

The guards, R. H. West and Walter J. Del Rose, said attorney Vaughn phoned Judge McGuire from the prison Wednesday and returned to tell the other attorneys that McGuire considered the visiting facilities adequate.

According to the guards, Garry said, "Then let Judge McGuire defend these people," and the attorneys left 13 minutes after the scheduled two-hour conference began.

McGuire gave the attorneys, none of whom have been retained to represent any of the inmates, and the attorney general's office until 2 p.m. today to file additional documents and said he would decide then if another conference should be ordered.

During the morning session today the judge appointed the Marin County Public Defender's Office to represent David Johnson, attorney Robert B. McCreadie of Novato to represent Hugo A. Pinell, and San Rafael attorney Howard K. Morehouse to represent Willie Tate.

Each of the inmates objected to the appointments and said they refused to accept them.

The three, as well as inmates John Larry Spain, Louis N. Talamantez and Fleeta Drumgo, are charged — along with missing East Bay attorney Stephen M. Bingham — with murder, conspiracy and assault in connection with the Aug. 21 uprising at the prison in which three inmates and three guards were killed.

Medical Facility Needs Reaffirmed

Petaluma Hospital District directors last night reaffirmed its plan to go ahead with additional medical facilities and set a meeting for Wednesday to discuss financing.

Hillcrest Hospital Administrator Joseph M. Horner said the board will meet with representatives of financial consultants Stone and Youngberg at noon Wednesday for a report on how a new hospital can best be financed.

Last week the board received assurance from the medical staff that plans for a new hospital — whether in east or west Petaluma — would receive support.

Horner said the board approved filing an application for federal and state hospital funds. He said no specific amount was requested, but that the hospital district wanted to be on the application list should funds become available.

The Petaluma Hospital District board also:

UNIONS — Met with representatives of the AFL-CIO Labor Council on problems of verifying medical insurance for union members.

VOLUNTEERS — Received a gift of $1,800 from the hospital volunteer auxiliary to purchase a fetal heart tone monitor and an EKG machine.

COMPUTERS — Heard Horner report that new computer equipment for business office functions should be completely operable in late January.

districts may incur bonded indebtedness exceeding a year's income without a two-thirds vote of the public, Sonoma's case is different because the water agency and the supervisors are made up of the same officials.

The association's demand said the county had incurred, without a public vote, an indebtedness of $25 million, plus interest, over a 40-year period as a result of approval of the revenue bonds. Annual repayment, through sale of water, would exceed $1 million a year.

Marinites, meanwhile, will go to the polls next Tuesday to decide participation by the Marin Municipal Water District in the pipeline project, known as the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct. Costs to that district have been estimated as high as $119 million.

In related development today, the Sonoma County Coalition, an amalgamation of groups opposed to the water project, took the first step toward petitioning for a public vote on the issue.

Public notice of the intent to circulate petitions appeared today in the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat, and coalition spokesmen said an affidavit of the public notice would be presented to county officials Monday. Once that is done, the group must wait 21 days before it can begin to sign up petitioners.

The coalition needs 7,786 signatures to put the project to a public vote. It said it is aiming for the June primary ballot.

reply and Thant sent another cable Thursday asking again.

Thant asked that Peking act as soon as possible, especially in appointing a representative to the Security Council since, he said, the Council must be able to function continuously and all of its members must "be represented at all times at the seat of the organization."

Under Council rules a new representative must convey his credentials to the Secretary General no less than 24 hours before he takes his seat in the Council.

Diplomats noted that if the Chinese representative arrived by tomorrow he could assume the chairmanship of the Security Council for the month of November. The chairmanship is rotated monthly and the Peoples Republic would be eligible following Nicaragua this month.

The cable from Chi gave no indication of the makeup of the delegation but said the names would be sent to the Secretary general "later on," thus apparently ruling out any possibility China would take over the chairmanship for November.

San Francisco Blaze Whips Into Homes; 1 Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— One youth died and seven persons were injured Thursday when a wind-whipped fire, believed set, roared through a residential neighborhood damaging 11 houses.

Paul Thompson, 18, was trapped on the second floor of his parents' frame home and burned to death when flames gutted the building.

Fire Department officials said the blaze began in the Thompson home and unusually high winds blew glowing embers as far as a block away. A neighboring house was severely damaged and at least nine other homes had scorched roofs and burned walls and doors.

About 100 men fought the fire which Clarence Rosenstock, deputy fire chief, said appeared to be arson.

Police Inspector Cecil Pharris, who was passing the area, dashed into the home of Leona Scott and rescued a small child. He then collapsed of smoke inhalation.

Cotati Duplexes Get Planner Nod

The Cotati Planning Commission last night approved plans for a five-unit duplex development.

Dewayne Stawther requested architectural approval for duplexes planned for five lots, to be known as Casa Bonita, at the corner of Sierra and Valparaiso avenues.

City clerk Carol Bonfigli said the commission required more parking for two units and approved the design plans.

The commission approved a new zoning ordinance specifying permitted uses in various zones, then forwarded the document to the city council.

New Roads In Plan Knocked

Members of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night agreed that three new roads in the proposed Marin countywide master plan "pose a threat" to the quiet, rural setting of Sleepy Hollow.

Beau W. Chapman, vice president who presided over the meeting, said the group thought the amount of traffic generated by the new roads would change the environment in the area.

The proposed roads are one from White's Hill to Lucas Valley, an extension of Butterfield Road to intersect the first road and a realignment and extension of Fawn Drive to Terra Linda.

As for the rest of the county plan, Chapman said the approximately 60 members present voted to commend the concept of preserving open space but not endorse the plan because of lack of knowledge of specifics.

Perfect Rating For The House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Thomas H. Rees, D-Calif., who says he spends most of his campaign time every two years explaining his zero rating from the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action and his 100 per cent rating from the liberal Americans for Democratic action, offered a new rating today —and all House members scored 100 per cent.

The other organizations, Rees said, just pick the wrong issues on which to judge the lawmakers.

era which means Britain will change its centuries-old political isolation from Europe to, perhaps, a political union with Europe in the distant future.

The Conservative government was hammering away at the advantages —an eventual trading bloc of 200 million persons which can rival the United States and the Soviet Union in economic strength and political weight if not superpower military potential.

British entry into EEC may mean profound changes for Europe too but today messages of welcome and congratulation poured in from the six members — Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, West Germany, Italy and France— which kept Britain out so long.

The Market was formed March 25, 1957, but Britain chose at the time to remain out because it had always been oriented toward the Atlantic and not the European continent.

The House of Commons vote was 356 to 244 —an unexpectedly large majority. Pre-vote predictions had indicated a 50 to 60 vote majority. In the House of Lords, the result was 451 to 58.

But 39 antimarket Conservatives voted against the government and three abstained.

This meant that Heath, a Conservative, would have been defeated without the support of Labor party pro-marketeers.

Heath grinned broadly. William Whitelaw, leader of the House, fished out a one pound bill — worth about $2.50 — and handed it to a fellow Conservative behind him in payment of a bet.

Young Winston Churchill, grandson of Britain's World War II leader Sir Winston Churchill, gave a V for victory sign.

In Brussels, Franco-Maria Malfatti, president of the Common Market's executive commission, said "the historic decision marks the success of the building of Europe and above all provides it with the necessary dimensions and status."

On the white cliffs of Dover, cheering pro-marketeers lighted a giant bonfire. Among them was former Prime Minister Harold MacMillan, whose Conservative party government made Britain's first entry bid in 1961.

Heath's problem now was how to get Parliament to pass the enabling legislation needed to get Britain into the market.

The government planned to introduce this early next year. It will consist of a short bill ratifying the treaty making Britain a Common Market member and a longer bill designed to align British legislation with that of the European economic community.

Wilson served notice last night that in the future Heath could not expect help from Labor's pro-marketeers.

"From now on Mr. Heath has got to stand on his own two feet to get the legislation through — and this will be a very different matter," Wilson said in a televised interview. The obvious implication was that, while he had tolerated a revolt by 70 Labor pro-marketeers Thursday, he would not do so in future. Whether Wilson could deliver a straight party vote next time as he promised was the question.

Coronary Equipment Will Be Purchased

Marin Hospital District directors voted 3-0 today to buy $29,405 in special equipment for coronary care units.

The action came at an adjourned meeting set by the board to review data on the equipment, to be supplied by Dollons Instruments Corp. of El Segundo.

OBITUARIES

Petaluma's Dr. Clarke Dead At 62

Dr. Howard Clarke, retired Petaluma veterinarian, died yesterday after collapsing in his camper on a hunting expedition at Burney, near Redding.

Dr. Clarke, 62, was born in Stickney, S.D., and came to Petaluma in 1935 as a tuberculosis inspector for the state. He operated his own veterinary practice for many years and was later employed by the state racing association at various racetracks. He had been semi-retired for a year.

Dr. Clarke was a charter member of the Sonoma County Trailblazers, Petaluma Masonic Lodge No. 180 and AAHMES.

He is survived by a son, Robert Clarke of Cotati; a daughter, Patty Reinholder of Hayward; two sisters, Beatrice More of Petaluma and Myrtle Mathern of Texas; a brother, Tad Clarke of South Dakota; and three grandchildren.

Funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, followed by burial at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

F. N. PARKE

Funeral arrangements for former advertising executive Frederick N. Parke of Tiburon were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

Parke, 52, was found dead in bed at his home Wednesday by his son, Timothy M. Parke of Larkspur, who had been unable to reach him by telephone. Cause of death will be determined by an autopsy, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

A native of New York, Parke had lived in California and Marin County for 26 years, residing at 45A Red Hill Circle. He was a former vice-president of the Johnson and Lewis advertising agency and a former advertising manager for the First Western Bank and Trust Co. in San Francisco. At the time of his death he had been working as a free lance writer.

Parke also is survived by two brothers, David Parke of Houston, Tex., and Robert Parke of New York.

S. A. COMPAGNO

Requiem Mass for Salvatore A. Compagno of Martinez, father of Anthony (Tony) Compagno of Larkspur, will be offered Saturday, at 9:30 a.m. at St. Catherine's Church in Martinez.

Compagno, born in Italy, died Wednesday. He was 72 years old.

Other survivors include his wife, Catherine, two brothers, Antonio and Nicholas Compagno; two daughters Marie and Johanna Compagno, all of Martinez, and four grandchildren in Larkspur.

ECONOMY

tial unemployment was at its highest point in 10 years.

The Labor Department said three major areas were added to the list of cities with 6 per cent or more unemployment. Joblessness dropped below that level in two other cities but the net gain on one brought the total major areas to 65, the largest number since October, 1961, when there were 68.

Added to the high unemployment list were three Ohio communities — Canton, Lorain-Elyria, and Youngstown-Warren. Dropped were the Indiana cities of South Bend and Terre Haute.

Eight smaller areas also were added to the list, while three were dropped, bringing the total of smaller areas to 785.

The eight smaller areas added were McRae, Ga.; Farmington and Batten, Main; North-Humberland-Stratford, N.H.; Silver City, N.M.; Sulphur, Okla; and Morgan and Vernal, Utah. Smaller areas removed from the list were Texarkana, Tex., and Cheyenne and Pawnee, Okla.

The unemployment report was based on preliminary data collected in August and September, Labor Department officials said.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the United States during September posed a $265.4 million trade surplus. The upsurge ended a string of monthly deficits starting in April that totaled nearly $1.4 billion from April through August.

Deterioration of the American trade position played an important role in leading President Nixon to announce his new economic program Aug. 15. Included in the program were a 10 per cent surcharge on imports and de facto devaluation of the dollar overseas.

Cuban Sugar Delegates Are Held In Detention

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— Twenty-two Cuban sugar cane delegates accused of entering the country illegally three days ago were held today at a military base "under detention." State Department officials were deciding what to do with them.

The Cubans have refused to leave the United States voluntarily, insisting they be allowed to attend an international sugar meeting.

They were hustled out of the plush hotel where they had been confined to their rooms and taken Thursday evening to the New Orleans Naval Air Station, 30 miles outside town.

"We were getting a bit tired of the circus the Cubans were trying to make down there" at the hotel," a State Department spokesman in Washington said. He added "the base provides a greater measure of control over the group."

Security around the military base immediately was tightened. Guards were stationed around the bachelor officers' quarters where the Cubans were billeted.

At the international sugar cane congress there was a growing feeling among the 700 delegates from 53 sugar-producing nations that the Cubans should be allowed to attend.

But the government did not change its position.

"I think people have forgotten that the Cuban government applied for visas for these people in early September and were denied visas Sept. 24— they have illegally entered," the State Department spokesman said.

The State Department asked the Cuban government through the Swiss Embassy to request the sugar cane delegation to return to Havana, but did not receive a reply.

The Cubans laughed and joked with newsmen Thursday before they were transferred to the military base. Asked about the progress of the sugar cane meeting one said:

"All we know is what we read in the papers."

They said they would not leave until the convention ends Nov. 5.

Five Dead In Japan Coal Mine Blast

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI)—An explosion ripped through a coal mine today, killing five workmen.

The mine had been closed two days ago because of low production, and workers were sealing the pit entrance when the explosion occurred.

'Copters In Sweep For Thieu

SAIGON (UPI) — American "Firefly" helicopters equippped with bright spotlights swept low over swamps east of Saigon Thursday night to pinpoint Viet Cong troops believed intent on disrupting Sunday's inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The appearance of the choppers over the swamps, favorite firing bases for Communist rocket crews, was the first known American participation in the huge security plan to protect Thieu's investiture.

The "Fireflys" normally seek out suspected Communist positions, switch on the glaring spotlights and try to draw enemy fire. Heavily armed helicopters hovering above the "Firefly" teams then sweep in and attack the Vieg Cong. There was no word whether the choppers were fired upon.

While government functionaries held an injuguration rehearsal at the heavily guarded platform in downtown Saigon, South Vietnamese Army (ARVN) artillery teams stationed near the capital pounded suspected Communist positions around the city with hundreds of "harassment and interdiction" bombs.

ARVN, American and police troops cordoned off an area two blocks around the stand where Thieu will take his second oath of office Sunday in an effort to keep would-be terrorists away from the rehearsal.

The U.S. command in Saigon said intelligence reports indicated firebombings, shellings and terrorist attacks could be expected in South Vietnam during the weekend. Most of the attacks was expected to come from antigovernment elements rather than Communists, however, it said.

To combat the terrorism, the command put the 200,000 GIs left in the country on "grey alert" from 5 p.m. today to 5 p.m. Monday. The alert will prohibit nearly all of them from going into cities, towns and villages except on official business.

The Saigon government said Thursday that it plans to release 2,938 Viet Cong prisoners of war, most of them after a period of indoctrination in connection with Thieu's investiture.

Stiff Term For Candy Sadists

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)— Halloween sadists who hand out candy and apples containing pins and razor blades face a heavy prison sentence under a bill sent to Gov. William G. Milliken Thursday.

The bill, which passed the House in April, was approved on a 29-0 vote in the Senate.

Milliken's aides said they expected the bill to be printed before noon Friday — in time for Halloween weekend.

The bill would make it a felony punishable by a fine of up to $10,000 or a prison term of 10 years in prison, or both, to purposely dispense harmful objects in food.

Operation Of FBI Is Attacked

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—Two Yale University law professors charged today that the way the FBI operates violates the constitutional rights of individuals.

The professors, Thomas Emerson and Frank J. Donner, made their remarks in reports prepared for delivery at today's opening session of a two-day conference on the Federal Bureau of Investigation and its role in society.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who declined an invitation to send a representative to the conference, instead drafted a 3,400-word "defense" of the bureau to be read to 55 journalists, scholars and former Justice Department members meeting on the Princeton University campus.

The conference is sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School of Public Affairs at Princeton, and the Committee of Public Justice.

Emerson, in a 52-page report contended "there can be little doubt that the operations of the FBI in their present form infringe upon rights guaranteed by the First Amendment."

Donner, who also submitted a 52-page report, attacked the FBI's use of informers. He said the informers more frequently are used for political intelligence than for criminal cases.

In an Oct. 7 letter rejecting the invitation, Hoover had said "we were aware of the plans for the conference, having read the announcements in the press, and some related remarks, critical of the FBI, attributed to persons who apparently will be among the 'judges' hearing the case."

The 76-year-old FBI director said he recalled "the story of the frontier judge who said he would first give the defendant a fair trial and then hang him."

In his current letter Hoover said he would try to explain briefly some of the facts of the FBI "defense hoping they will be considered material during the deliberations of your group..."

Among the "facts" cited by Hoover were:

The FBI long has had a rule that an FBIofficer can shoot only in self-defense or to defend others.

The FBI is not free to make its own choices of its investigative duties.

We have innovated our own rules to better protect the constitutional rights of the accused.

Emerson said that "the maintenance by the government of a dossier containing the political beliefs, opinions, associations and activities of a citizen is bound to cause concern, anxiety and fear in him and his associates.

"The content of such a file can be held against him in future investigations or prosecutions; it can affect his employment and his whole career, if disclosed; it can subject him to social pressure, economic discrimination and political reprisals; it may be the basis of blackmail; it may be inaccurate or used out of context."

Donner contended that only a small number of political undercover FBI agents check activities of "violence-prone groups."

Among those scheduled to speak at the conference are I. F. Stone, the free-lance Washington journalist; Aryoh Neier, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union; James Ahern, former New Haven, Conn., police commissioner; and former New York City police commissioner Vincent Broderick.

In the House Thursday, Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the House Internal Security Committee, attacked the objectivity of the conference.

"The result will be predictable," Ichord said, "frightening allegations that the FBI threatens the very foundations of our freedom."

Both Donner and playwright Lillian Hellman, whom Ichord said was a founder of the Committee for Public Justice, had refused to answer questions by investigators two decades ago about their connection to the Communist party, Ichord said.

Other committee members include such "beautiful people" as cartoonist Jules Feiffer, actress Shirley MacLaine and director Mike Nichols, "and their thirst for public justice at least is equalled by their desire for personal publicity and public attention," Ichord said.

A Million Will Get Sterilized

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The president of Planned Parenthood-World Population said Thursday that a million Americans would undergo voluntary sterilization this year.

Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, 72, called the figure "extraordinary."

He made the comment at the final luncheon of his organization's annual conference.

Guttmacher said 750,000 men would undergo vasectomies—the male sterilization operation—and 250,000 women would have their tubes tied to eliminate the possibility of pregnancy.

Property Values Checked In Marin

State appraisers began checking property values in Marin yesterday to determine the proper share of state school funds given to Marin schools.

Announcement of the study was made by William M. Bennett of Kentfield, a member of the state Board of Equalization. The work is expected to take two to three months during which time about 250 sample properties will be studied.

Prop. A Wins GOP Support

The Marin County Republican Central Committee has endorsed Proposition A — the Marin Community College District's $16.7 million bond measure on Tuesday's ballot.

According to committee chairman Rodger C. Broomhead, the endorsement came Tuesday during the group's monthly meeting.

On other matters, the committee was told its registration booth at the Marin County Fair registered 149 persons this year and that a new group, the Republican Rent Raisers, had donated $300 to the central committee.

Boy Hurts Back

Joseph C. Schoeningh, 11, of 7 Cader Court, Petaluma, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a back injury suffered at 6:20 p.m. yesterday during practice for Pop Warner League Football at McNear Park, Petaluma.

A LITTER SURPRISE FOR OWNERS OF LOST CAT

I-J Special Report

EVANSTON, Ill. — When Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Alprin get home from their trip to Seattle, they're in for a surprise — maybe more than one.

The Siamese cat they undoubtedly thought they lost along the way was home waiting for them, returned by air by a Seattle motel owner who found it wandering nearby and traced it by the identification collar.

But the big surprise which may turn into multiple ones: The well-traveled feline is pregnant.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Fallon Man Picked For Farm Program

Alfred L. Poncia, Fallon dairyman, has been named one of 30 young Californians to participate in a three-year agricultural leadership program sponsored by the Agricultural Education Foundation and the Council of California Growers.

Poncia, past president of the Marin County Farm Bureau, will be exposed to farming methods and leadership skills on an international basis. After studying in California one year, Poncia will travel to other states and to Washington, D.C., then abroad for his final year of training.

Tossed Fire Hits Novato Boy, 14

A 14-year-old Novato boy has suffered third-degree burns on his hands from a jar of burning rubber cement thrown at him from a passing car.

Police said the frightening assault on John C. Jones of 38 San Ramon Way took place Tuesday when the youth was sitting on the curb in front of a friend's house at 252 San Felipe Way.

An occupant of a blue car threw the jar at young Jones and two companions, police said. The other boys, Douglas E. Shilling, 15, and Thomas W. Harm, 14, both of Novato, escaped injury but the burning cement hit Jones's pants and he suffered the burns trying to put out flames.

Police said they later found a burnt paper fuse used to light the cement as well as glass.

Jones was hospitalized overnight at Novato General Hospital.

Interviews Are Scheduled

Youths in North Marin who want to apply for a post on the Marin County Youth Commission will be interviewed next Thursday afternoon at the Civic Center.

The interviews will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. in room 332 by the youth commission.

Chairman Paul M. Cohen said the commission is particularly interested in getting a youth from Novato High School, which is not yet represented on the commission.

Only one vacancy exists on the 12-member commission, and that slot is in supervisorial district 5, Novato and Ignacio.

Flames Destroy Old Cairo Opera House

CAIRO (UPI)—Cairo's 102-year-old opera house, built to mark the pening of the Suez Canal and the impetus for Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Aida," was destroyed by fire today, an Egyptian official said.

The director of rescues for the Cairo governorate, Ismail Tawfik, said that damage was so extensive to both building and contents that the building would be pulled down. There were no reports of casualties.

Consultant For Tot Lot Asked

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission has proposed that the town hire a San Francisco firm to draw a master plan for a tiny tot area in the town park.

Commission Secretary Betty S. Behel said the recommendation to the town council came after Royston, Hanamoto, Beck and Wednesday estimated the cost at $800.

The Friends of Corte Madera Recreation raised more than $1,000 last year to build the play area, Mrs. Behel said.

The commission also changed its regular meeting date to the third Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at town hall, she said. Meetings have been on the fourth Wednesday.

Dispute Brews Over Nuclear Plant

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Resources Secretary Norman B. Livermore denies he agreed to oppose construction of the Point Arena nuclear power plant and says "the thing has been blown up all out of context."

Livermore said Thursday he "absolutely" will oppose the plant if evidence indicates it would harm the environment.

"Our options still are open," he told a newsman.

Livermore responded to a published report (by the Associated Press) that he agreed three years ago with Pacific Gas & Electric Co. not to oppose the utility company's proposed plant on the Mendocino County coast.

Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday also said "there is no such agreement."

There was an "agreement of understanding" signed by Livermore and PG&E in 1968 under which the Resources Agency agreed "that with respect to matters covered by this agreement" it would not oppose the project in public hearings. But the agency reserved the right to oppose the project on points not covered under the agreement or if new information was discovered.

The agreement was similar to 10 others signed by the Resources Agency dating back to early 1964—five of them under the Brown administration and six under Reagan's regime.

Specifically excluded from the Point Arena agreement were such key state bodies as the Water Quality Control Board, the Air Resources Board and the Lands Commission. These bodies, plus the state Public Utilities Commission, Federal Atomic Energy Commission and a regional Quality Control Board, must approve the project.

PG&E under the agreement was required to finance a $250,000 ecological study by the state Fish and Game Department.

"If evidence comes to us there are weaknesses in the agreement we will reopen negotiations and amend it," Livermore told a newsman.

Asked if he would oppose the project if differences were not resolved, Livermore replied: "Sure, absolutely."

The agreement now forbids dumping of spoil material in nearby waters without state authorization, controls erosion, and requires "esthetic compatibility with the surroundings," public recreation, a geological study and water quality and radiological surveillance.

Livermore noted the 1970 legislature enacted a law declaring it "the policy of the state to encourage the use of nuclear energy and to encourage planning by the state's electric utilities toward" construction of thermal power plants.

He said it was his agency's aim to resolve ecological differences with utility companies during a project's planning stage.

Asserting that California is "the leader among the states" in requiring that environmental factors be considered in thermal power projects, Livermore said the Reagan administration next year will seek legislation mandating the agreements during planning of all such projects. He said the legislation also would put "legal teeth" in the agreements.

Similar legislation failed last year.

Meanwhile, Sierra Club Executive Director Michael McCloskey charged that "such agreements—and this one in particular—constitute a grave threat to the public interest."

4,000 Remain Out Of School

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—About 4,000 of San Francisco's 46,000 elementary school children still are boycotting the citywide integration by busing program that began in September.

About 3,000 of these children attend "freedom schools," set up by parents in 71 locations. Some of these have as few as a dozen children and about half are in Chinatown, the focal point of opposition.

Howard Clay, supervisor of attendance for the San Francisco Unified School District, said Thursday the estimated 4,000 represented about 9 per cent of the students expected to enroll for the fall term.

Clay said he cannot explain the missing 1,000 pupils, but one possibility was that the number of children in the city decreased more than anticipated during the summer.

Bar To Interview Tribunal Nominees

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Judiciary Committee of the American Bar Association will meet this weekend to interview and discuss the qualifications of Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, President Nixon's two Supreme Court nominees.

An ABA source indicated the committee probably would vote on the two men Monday and then transmit its report directly to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which will begin hearings on the nominees next week.

A Call For Closed Areas Along Coast For Study

A group of about 18 college science instructors agreed yesterday that certain points along California's scenic coastline should be designated for educational research and closed to the public.

The position came during a four-hour meeting yesterday at the College of Marin and will become part of a report to be submitted to the state by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education.

Yesterday's session, dealing with the coastline from Monterey north to Humboldt County, was highlighted by a recommendation that the state prohibit collection of marine life except by permit.

The prohibition, however, would not affect sport or commercial fishing.

The group is one of six in the state and was attended by representatives from the University of California and private, state and community colleges from Northern California. Dr. Gordon Chan, a biology instructor, represented the College of Marin.

The group, like the others, will draft a report prior to Dec. 30 dealing with the need and problems of setting aside portions of the cost for High Education.

All six reports will then be consolidated into one for inclusion into the Comprehensive Ocean Area Plan being drafted by the State Interagency Council on Ocean Research.

The ocean area plan will attempt to balance educational, recreational and economic proposals for the seashore.

"We in higher education are going to have to move rapidly if we are to acquire anything," Dr. Martin R. Brittan of Sacramento State College warned the gathering.

Brittan, who is coordinating the colleges' state-wide plan, said other groups, such as those supporting more parks and recreation facilities, already have fairly cohesive reports.

In designating seashore areas of value to education, the group yesterday delegated members to write supporting arguments for the report.

"Some areas, by their very nature, should be used only by graduate (science) students," Brittan said, adding that public access would spoil their research value.

"We must identify these areas and say what must be done to protect them," he added.

Among Marin County areas which the group felt deserve such protection are portions of Point Reyes National Seashore, Tomales Bay, Drake's Estero and Bolinas Point.

"The damage done (through collection) by us over the years," Brittan said, "is nothing compared to what others (nonprofessionals) can do in a couple of days."

Nixon's Plane Gets A New Paint Job

RENTON, Wash. (UPI)—The presidential jet, Air Force 1, is getting a two-day paint job at the Renton Municipal Airport.

The specially-built Boeing 707, which will carry President Nixon to Peking next year, was under heavy guard during the refinishing.

Five Viet GIs Swept To Sea

SAIGON (UPI)—Five American soldiers are believed to have drowned after being caught in a strong undertow off the beach at the Chu Lai combat base, military spokesmen said today.

The U.S. command said soldiers of the 23rd (Americal) Infantry Division were playing football on the beach and one of the men was swept out to sea by undertow.

Several other soldiers tried to rescue him and eight of them also were washed into deep water by the undercurrent whipped up by the recent typhoon in the area.

Four men were rescued by two helicopters which rushed to the area. The other five men are missing, the command said.

77 Marin Law Enforcement Officers Will Get Diplomas

Seventy-seven Marin law enforcement officers will end a 10-week basic training program with a commencement luncheon at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

Final examinations were taken today.

The training program — required of officers with less than 18 months experience — was the first time the course had been offered in Marin County.

Students included 52 sheriff's deputies; two coroner's investigators; an investigator each from the state department of fish and game and department of motor vehicles, and officers from police departments in San Rafael, Corte Madera, Sausalito, Larkspur, Ross, San Anselmo and Belvedere.

The 200-hour program, called the Basic Law Enforcement Academy, was put on by the Marin Police Community Relations Project and Santa Rosa Junior College.

(The basic program differs from police science courses offered at the College of Marin, which are more detailed courses in specific areas of police work. The basic program is broad based and touches all areas of police work from writing reports to using a weapon.)

Because of the number of men needing the course, it was held in Marin this year, and its sponsors propose continuing offering it here in the future, once or twice a year, depending on need.

Donald P. Manion, police community relations project consultant who worked on organizing the Marin program, said it would be "realistic" to continue the program in the county with the cooperation of Santa Rosa Junior College and using "as much local talent and input as possible."

When officers took the course at Santa Rosa, they boarded at Santa Rosa and were lost to the police departments for seven weeks.

By offering the program this year in two four-hour classes a day at the Marin Hall of Justice, police departments were able either to have their officers work four hours and attend class for four hours or, as the sheriff's office did, have the men work their regular eight-hour shifts and attend the class during off-duty hours.

One class met from 8 a.m. to noon and the other from 6 to 10 p.m. each weekday, allowing officers who worked either days or nights to attend.

Subject matter covered all phases of police work. Classes included criminal law, investigations, injury and death cases, rules of evidence, race and ethnic group relations, press relations, crowd control, disaster training, first aid, courtroom demeanor and testifying, field note taking, citations, juvenile law, how to use and the legal aspects of using weapons, as well as instruction on how to handle various crimes, such as burglaries, narcotics violations, auto thefts, assaults, sex crimes and drunk cases.

Faculty consisted of about 30 persons, some from the Santa Rosa Junior College staff, others from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, California Highway Patrol and local police officers qualified to instruct.

Lectures were also given by Marin professionals, such as the director of the Marin Community Health Center speaking on mental illness cases, and the city editor of the Independent-Journal discussing police-press relations.

Sheriff's Sgt. George Reuss, academy coordinator, will serve as master of ceremonies, and speakers will be Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos; Stan Anderson, police science coordinator at Santa Rosa Junior College; a representative of the state Police Officers Standard Training Commission, which accredits the program, and the two class presidents elected by the morning and evening classes, sheriff's deputies Roger D. Wardall and Robert F. Richmond.

Graduates, by department, are:

Robber Given Year In Jail

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Michael B. Miles. 23. of 630 G Street, Petaluma, has been sentenced to a year in the Sonoma County Jail in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Miles had pleaded guilty to first degree robbery stemming from the Aug. 5 robbery of the South City Market, Petaluma. Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr. suspended a prison term Wednesday and ordered Miles to the county jail and placed him on probation for three years.

Miles's wife, Theresa, 18, has pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property and her case was set for sentencing on Nov. 2.

Driver Receives Minor Injuries

One driver received minor injuries in a three-car accident at 4:20 p.m. yesterday on South Novato Boulevard at Yukon Way, Novato, police reported. Elizabeth Jean Stratford, 42, of 1536 Buchanan, Novato, was to see her own doctor for neck pain, according to police.

Her car was stopped behind another in the northbound lane, and another car, driven by Jerry Paul Livingstone, 30, of 901 Simmons Lane, Novato, was stopped behind her, police reported. A third car, driven by Marian Jane Baccaglio, 17, of 1526 South Novato Boulevard, Novato, hit the Livingstone car knocking it into the Stratford car, police reported.

Sniper Kills A Policeman During Nightclub Fracas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)— A sniper using a high-powered rifle with a telescopic sight killed a white policeman and wounded another early today a few minutes after the officers began investigating a bi-racial nightclub shooting.

The sniper hit the officers with a single shot and then eluded a night-long search in the southeast section of the city.

The incidents came a day after three Negro organizations protested police brutality and prices of merchandise at white-owned stores in black areas. But, police said they doubted that the shotting stemmed from the black unrest.

"We haven't got things all checked out yet but at this time I'd have to say no," said homicide Sgt. J. R. Brizenbine.

Bits of bullet and bone fragments hit Patrolman Ronald G. Turner, 28, who was standing next to Belcher. Turner was treated and released.

Ten minutes before the officers were hit, Kenneth Wayne Harris, 23, and Debra Brooks, 19, both black, were shot inside the Electric Circus Club. Harris was in critical condition but Miss Brooks was not hurt seriously.

W. E. Van Hook, an ambulance driver, described the situation as tense after Harris and Miss Brooks were shot. He took Harris to a hospital.

"A lot of blacks were standing around and they hassled the ambulance drivers pretty badly," Van Hook said. "It was pretty tense."

At the hospital, Van Hook received a radio call to return because the officers had been shot. He said Patrolman Belcher was lying dead in a parking lot.

The sniper at first was believed to have fired from a hamburger stand 200 to 250 yards away. Brizenbine said investigators later pinpointed a different location but withheld further information other than they were seeking a green car in which the sniper was believed to have fled.

A witness said he was standing in the doorway of the Electric Circus when he heard a rifle crack.

"I turned around and the two policemen were on the ground," he said.

Police later found the rifle, covered with mud, in a field behind the hamburger stand. It had a telescopic sight. A policeman said it was of foreign make and appeared to be the equivalent of .30-06 caliber. It had a leather shoulder strap.

Harris was shot inside the club when he stepped in front of a black security guard a customer was shooting at. Harris was shot in the head but was in fair condition.

After Harris was shot, perhaps 14 additional shots were fired inside the club. A small caliber bullet went under the skin of Miss Brook's forehead.

The injuries she suffered when she fell and was trampled by a fleeing crowd were worse than the bullet wound.

Police were called and the sniper fired shortly after they arrived.

Scout Dinner Is Scheduled

Boy Scouts and leaders in the Sonoma-Mendocino scout Council will be honored at a recognition banquet Nov. 6 at 6:15 p.m. at the Flamingo Hotel, Santa Rosa.

Special awards will include veteran awards, wood badge awards, training badges and the presentation of the Silver Bear award to three scouts. Scout executive Harold J. Alexander reported a woman scout will receive the Silver Fawn award for outstanding service to youth.

Scouts who attended the 13th world jamboree in Japan last summer will present a portion of the program. Reservations for the dinner may be made at the Petaluma Scout Service Center, 840 Western Avenue, Petaluma.

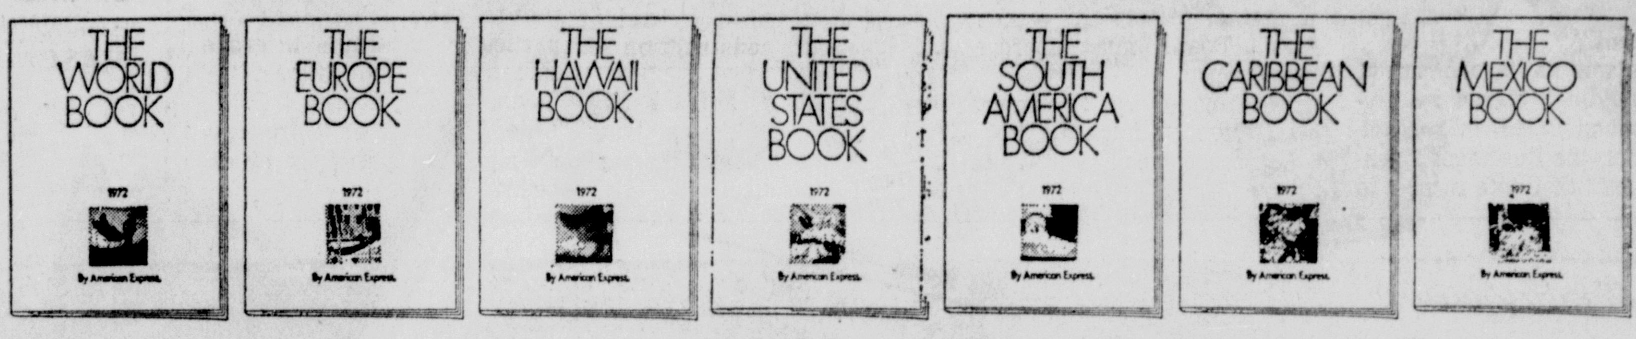
The Art of Travel 1972

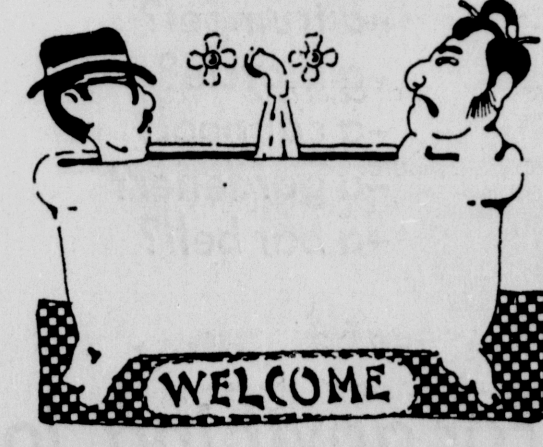


THE WORLD BOOK 1972 By American Express.
THE EUROPE BOOK 1972 By American Express.
THE HAWAII BOOK 1972 By American Express.
THE UNITED STATES BOOK 1972 By American Express.
THE SOUTH AMERICA BOOK 1972 By American Express.
THE CARIBBEAN BOOK 1972 By American Express.
THE MEXICO BOOK 1972 By American Express.

New from the Travel Planners of American Express.
The 1972 edition of The Books that give you every detail of hundreds of artfully planned tours to almost anywhere. Absolutely free.

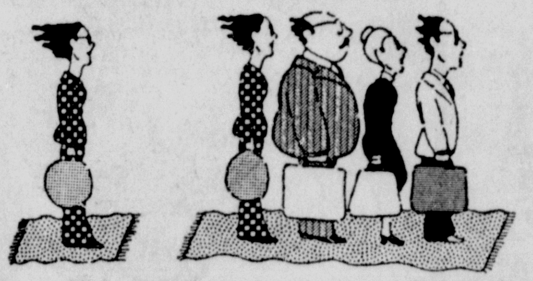
Meticulous planning. The secret of relaxed travel.
With these Books you can go through each American Express tour in detail, mile by mile and day by day. A year and more in advance, expert travel planners have been solving all the problems for you. You are told what you will see and when and how you will see it. Your class of hotels, entertainment and meals are described —and often illustrated with color pictures. There is a map of each route and a list of the dates when each tour departs. The price of each tour is listed. In American Express Books the fine print is large and clear, in plain English.

How to cope calmly with curious local customs.
Know about them in advance. The Books contain hundreds of useful travel tips: store hours in different countries, what to wear where, customs regulations, tipping, and what spells "Ladies Room." There are sections that will teach you such things as the international language of roulette (rien ne va plus—no more bets, here we go). You'll learn about the subway in Paris with rubber wheels and the subway in Moscow with crystal chandeliers. You'll learn the ritual way to drink tequila in Mexico, to "skol" in Copenhagen, to order lemonade in Madrid.



You'll discover that in Japan, bathing with friends is considered sociable, and that on most American Express tours a private bath is guaranteed.

Should you travel alone? Should you travel with a group?



These Books will help you discover which kind of traveler you are. There are clear explanations of the Swinger and Grand Free-Lance tours, where your time is your own for exploration and adventure.

Or, if you like to sit back and let someone else do all the work, there are fully escorted tours in all price ranges for trips to just about anywhere in the world. There's an American Express tour style to suit your pocket and personality.

The American Express name means security, comfort and value for travelers. American Express Company and its subsidiaries and representatives have over 800 offices in the United States and throughout the world. So there's someone you can turn to for assistance along the way. You'll discover that because American Express is big, it can get you rates. from hotels and airlines you could never arrange as an individual. Most tips are included in all American Express tours, so you get courteous attentive service wherever you go without having to fumble among the kroner and zlotys.

Transatlantic air fares will be very competitive during 1972. American Express pledges that you will pay the lowest applicable jet air fare on scheduled airlines for the tour you select. If the airline fare for your tour is reduced between the time you book and the time you leave, American Express will refund the savings to you. Hotels in many parts of the world are overcrowded during desirable seasons. American Express guarantees you a reserved room at a rate you couldn't arrange on your own. And the prices in The Books include many meals, ground transportation, entertainment, lots of extras.

Send for The Books that spell out the information about the areas you'd like to visit this year. Then comparison shop among tours if you like. You may find a cheaper way to go where you want to go. But if you check the details, we are sure you will agree American Express offers excellent value.

You can get your Books and buy your tour from your American Express Travel Office or any travel agency. Or send in this coupon today. "American Express, for pecple who travel."SM

A PRINCESS'S VISIT

Dog Saved By An Alert Firefighter

A small gray poodle — trapped in a burning house yesterday, was revived through the determined efforts of a Petaluma firefighter.

Fire Chief Roscoe A. Benton said the dog was rescued from the burning home at 14 Kent Street at 2:30 p.m.

"When we brought him out on the lawn he was limp, completely lifeless," Benton said.

Everyone assumed the dog was dead from smoke inhalation, except firefighter Robert Glockner who administered artificial respiration for 10 minutes. "We all thought it was a lost cause until the dog suddenly stirred and started looking around," Benton said.

A cat was the only other occupant of the Enos Korb home when the fire broke out. It was unharmed.

The fire caused heavy damage to a rear bedroom and moderate smoke damage to other rooms.

Lot Of Complaints

DETROIT (UPI) —A record 3,080 complaints were filed with the Michigan Civil Rights Commission during the fiscal year 1970-1971. The complaints alleged illegal discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin or age.

Ex-U.S. Gangster Charged In Italy

ROME (UPI)—Frank "Three Fingers" Coppola, a reputed crime syndicate boss deported from the United States 23 years ago as an undesirable, was charged Friday with dealing in drugs, criminal conspiracy and cigarette smuggling—a multi-million dollar racket in Italy.

Coppola and nine other men were arrested Thursday in a raid on his farm outside Rome. Similar raids were conducted throughout the country.

Coppola, 72, a close associate of U.S. gangland figures such as Salvatore (Lucky) Luciano and Santo Trafficante, was active in alleged syndicate operations in New York and Detroit before moving to Kansas City.

Coppola once told Italian newsmen he was instrumental in the rise of Harry S Truman to the presidency through his influence in Kansas City.

Coppola, who was born near Palermo in 1899, came to the United States in the 1920s. He was deported in 1948. The FBI described him as a major figure in U.S. smuggling, illegal gambling and racketeering. Coppola said he is a businessman and farmer in Italy.

Coppola was acquitted after a trial in Palermo in 1968 on charges of smuggling drugs into the United States. Sixteen other men, including reputed New York racketeer Joseph "Joe Bananas" Bonanno were also charged.

Coppola and the other nine men arrested Thursday were being held in Palermo. Police said the arrests followed two years of investigations.

Three Sicilian businessmen were also arrested in Rome on charges of using their commercial activities to mask narcotics smuggling operations.

Senate Approves Aid To Greece

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted today in favor of continuing foreign aid to Greece.

Senators rejected, 49 to 31, a House-approved amendment to the $3.2 billion foreign aid bill that would have ended economic and military assistance to the military regime that has governed Greece for four years unless the President decreed it necessary in the interest of national security.

The vote came as the Senate moved toward vote later today on another move to cut U.S. contributions to the U.N., and a final vote tonight on the overall bill. An effort to drastically slash U.N. payments was rejected decisively.

Deadly Weapon Assault Charged In Bar Fight

A Mendocino County man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on a warrant charging he hit a San Rafael man over the head with a bar stool and took $810 from him.

Dale Adrien Hein, 32, of Ukiah, was booked by San Anselmo Police and arraigned yesterday in municipal court on charges of assault with a deadly weapon — the bar stool — and grand theft.

Hein was held in lieu of $2,500 bail and was to plead to the charges today.

According to an affidavit attached to the warrant for his arrest, Hein "viciously attacked" James Wallace of 851 Rosal Way, San Rafael, Oct. 14 at MacArthur's Tavern in San Anselmo.

Wallace said Hein, the uncle of Wallace's wife, hit him over the head with a bar stool, jumped on his chest and punched him in the face when Wallace refused to lend him money.

Hein took the $810 from Wallace's pocket, the affidavit said, and he has since returned only $350 of it.

Medical Society Opposed To 'B'

The Marin Medical Society board of directors last night adopted unanimously a resolution opposing Measure B, the Marin Municipal Water District finance measure which goes before voters next Tuesday.

The directors concurred in a resolution of the society's environmental health committee, which called the water district's Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct plan a "premature plan."

It said the proposal: "1) provides excessive water which would encourage undesirable and unplanned growth and development; (2) relies on an outmoded system for delivering the water; (3) ignores potential deleterious effects on the environment, and (4) deludes the public into thinking we are in imminent danger of a water shortage."

Sewer Line Paves Way For Homes

A $75,000 sewer outfall extension completed earlier this week has paved the way for 102 new homes in the Peacock Gap area of San Rafael.

The extension completed Wednesday off China Camp solves problems which led the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board to ban new sewer hookups in the Peacock area, according to Norris M. Rawles, district administrator of the San Rafael Sanitation District.

Rawles said the improvement paid for by the developers, S.D. Land Company and Sixty Trust, will allow hookups on their lots, but not elsewhere.

The outfall now drops treated waste 2,000 feet offshore in deep water where the current is strong, thereby meeting a requirement of more dilution of waste before more hookups, Rawles said.

The homesites are the first of their kind on the market in seven years in Peacock Gap.

We improve with age.
We like to think of ourselves as the Chateau Lafite-Rothschild of the automotive world.
We keep getting better every year.
Since 1949, we've improved our little car over 2,200 times.
Last year we gave it a more powerful engine and nearly twice the luggage space it had before.
This year we added 29 more improvements.
We found a way to keep engine noise down.
We found a way to make it run better in cold weather.
And we found a way to make it run even smoother in cold, hot or whatever weather you have in mind.
So it goes on.
Since '49, we've made over a thousand body and chassis improvements.
Since '49, we've made over a thousand engine and transmission improvements.
And the reason for all this progress?
Since '49, we've spent absolutely no time making silly styling changes.
What you see, once again, is what you get.

GIVING THE GEESE A GANDER

The folks in Waupon, Wis., like to watch flocks of Canada geese as they feed and fly around a nearby game refuge. More than 200,000 geese pause at the refuge before continuing on their southern migration. Half of the birds will be gone by Dec. 1. (UPI Telephoto)

School Chiefs Hear Bad Support News

School districts will have to learn to live with statewide distribution of funds on an equal per-pupil basis, two speakers told Marin County school trustees at a dinner meeting yesterday sponsored by Tamalpais High School District.

Prof. John Coons of University of California's Boalt Hall law school and Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, both told the dinner meeting at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael that unconstitutionality of the present school support method found by the California Supreme Court in Serrano vs. Priest will necessitate such a system.

Cory said this might be called socialism, but "a school district is pure socialism, a totally socialistic enterprise."

The assemblyman said, however, that he expects the present Legislature to do nothing about changing the laws on school support. "Sacramento is not even close to the problem, let alone the solution," he declared.

Coons, in analyzing the Serrano vs. Priest decision, compared property tax school support with the poll tax, long ago found unconstitutional.

During a question period, Cory responded to a question by trustee Nancy Cook of Reed School District by calling "pure hogwash" the contention that districts are handicapped by being tied to single salary schedules for all teachers. "A school board should pay the teachers what it thinks they are worth," he asserted.

Pneumatic Hammer Taken In Novato

A pneumatic hammer valued at $300 was taken between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 6 a.m., yesterday from the back of a pickup truck parked in his driveway at 60 Gustafson Court, Novato, Ronald G. Gaither reported to Novato police.

The truck and hammer belonged to Kendall Corp. of 104 Tiburon Boulevard, Mill Valley, police reported.

Artist Offers Eight Lessons

Ricksecker, also a Petaluma fireman, teaches several classes in basic line drawing at Cherry Valley and Bernard Eldredge schools, Petaluma.

The eight-lesson course is designed for children in second, third and fourth grades, and begins with lessons on straight and squiggly lines and ends with youngsters doing full seascape drawings. Teachers interested in the course can contact Ricksecker at 509 Keller Street, Petaluma.

Irate Taxpayers Knock County Plan

Werner von Gundell, Marin County planning director, ran into what he termed the "first active opposition" to the proposed countywide general plan at a meeting last night sponsored by the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

Many members of the audience of over 50 persons wanted to know "who is going to pay for all the public land" shown for future acquisition in the plan, according to Winifred S. Frederick, publicity chairman.

She said when von Gundell responded that the taxpayers are, opposition was expressed to placing further tax burdens on homeowners.

She said members of the audience also expressed dissatisfaction with taking so much land off tax rolls and leaving so little for commercial and clean industrial development.

They voiced the opinion that commercial and clean industrial growth should also be encouraged in order to provide more jobs for Marin residents who now must commute outside the county, according to Mrs. Frederick.

There was also no opposition to using Sir Francis Drake Boulevard as the main access for increased tourist traffic to West Marin, she said.

Von Gundell told the gathering that the county plan, if adopted, will not scrap master plans already adopted in various areas but they will be amended to reflect changes in the county plan.

Mrs. Frederick said von Gundell emphasized the county plan can only be enforced within cities if the cities cooperate.

In other business, the Irate Taxpayers adopted a resolution opposing the use and purchase of the controversial book, "The Movement Toward a New America, a Handbook for Revolution," proposed for use at San Rafael High School.

Taxpayers who support public schools should not be expected to finance instructional materials which advocate the overthrow of the American government, the resolution said.

At the Nov. 18 meeting of the group members will choose between Philip Maley and Sarah Nome for president.

Sausalito Wreck —Two Are Hurt

Two persons received minor injuries, but declined hospital treatment, in a three-car collision at 2 p.m. yesterday on the Sausalito Lateral, east of Highway 101, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said a car driven by Richard A. Hoffman, 24, of Foster City, had stopped in an eastbound lane to allow another auto to make a left turn. The patrol reported that a car operated by Chester E. Zaneski, 40, of 19 Vasco Drive, Mill Valley, was stopped behind the Hoffman auto when it was struck from behind by an auto driven by John Mailliard III, 57, of San Francisco and pushed into the Hoffman vehicle.

Alan F. Frank, 45, of Salt Lake City, a passenger in the Zaneski car, complained of back pain following the accident. Another passenger in the auto, Maury H. Kazt, of Orinda, received a scraped knee and bruise over one eye in the crash.

Right Leg Broken

Patrik Linington, Gate 5, Waldo Point, was admitted to Marin General Hospital last night with a broken right leg suffered in a Sausalito auto accident. Valeri Gold, 25, involved in the same accident was in satisfactory condition today.

THE CALIFORNIA LOOK

BUSINESS MYTHS EXPOSED

Executive Says Women Work Well As Bosses

NEW YORK (UPI)—A manager, male, takes a look at ability of employe, female, and exposes many of the "myths" about women in business.

No, he isn't campaigning for the women's liberationists. Yes, he is speaking from his executive suite in a company that has more than 20,000 employes, 80 per cent of them women.

"PERHAPS THE single most significant error committed by men and management is that they tend to assume that all women are the same, that women are not individuals," says Ray A. Killian. "They yield to the temptation of making decisions based on averages rather than on the merits of each woman." That's sort of like "a doctor averaging the information on the charts . . . in the hospital and prescribing cures based on the averages."

This approach, "penalizes both the company and the women," says Killian.

Killian sees women as "an important but under-utilized human resource (but) properly employed, trained, supervised, compensated, promoted and judged represent the best bargain available to the company."

Killian is vice-president and director of personnel operations for Belk Store Services, Inc., an 18-state chain of over 400 department stores. He also has conducted training programs and seminars for management personnel in all faces of leadership.

IN 20 YEARS in the business, he has interviewed and hired "countless women, placed them, trained them, supervised the, counseled them — and fired (some of) them."

Now, in a provocative book called "The Working Woman" (American Management Association, New York), he tells it like he sees it from his own observations and a survey of both sexes at managerial, supervisory and lesser ranks of job level.

One question, for instance, was "What advantages do women have over men as employes?" Some of the answers: "Better equipped temperamentally to handle certain types of detail-oriented jobs"; "capable women have the same advantages as capable men"; "none".

ADVANTAGES OF women over men as supervisors? Some answers: "In most cases, none"; "greater sensitivity, better equipped to deal with problems of female employes"; "more subtly persuasive, wider range of acting roles to use in accomplishing goals."

To the question, "What advantages do men have over women as employes?", the answers ranged from "None, other than brawn" to "accept change better" to "less rivalry, more comradeship".

Advantages men have over women as supervisors included these replies: "Generally, they can cope with personnel problems better on an unemotional basis"; "no prejudice to overcome"; "less skeptical"; "When a man is decisive, he evokes a father image; a woman is simply considered aggressive.-

ANOTHER QUESTION was, "Are there business areas still barred to women because of their sex?", 64 per cent of the respondents said "yes", 36 per cent said "no." Some listed the "barred" areas as the high executive levels in large corporations, others as "hard physical labor for which she is not physically equipped."

When it came to factors in business making it difficult for women to advance, answers ranged from "She can't go and play golf or have a drink with men" to the "age-old prejudices that women are not intellectually or emotionally suited for executive capacities."

What changes would improve women's opportunities for advancement? Answers included, "Women must keep bitterness out of their attitude; men must evaluate women by ability, not sex," and "grown-up behavior by women in business."

KILLIAN ASKED his group to comment on several of the cliches ordinarily heard about women workers. For instance — that "women are too emotional", answers included: "No more than men, they just show it in a different way" or "I've seen male managers blow their tops, allow themselves to be manipulated, get away with incompetence that wouldn't be tolerated in a woman."

Marin Women

ON THE AGENDA

Marin Ballet Aquacade To Present Check From Last June's Proceeds

Marin Ballet Aquacade will hold a general meeting at 10 a.m. Monday at St. John's Church Parish Hall in Ross. The group will present a check for proceeds from the ballet aquacade last June to Marindale School. Receiving the proceeds will be Barbara Tarasoff, Marindale principal, and Dr. Virgil Hollis, county superintendent of schools.

New officers will also be introduced.

MARIN COUNTRY Club Garden Club members will go on a special tour Monday to the East Bay holiday show in Oakland.

Members will meet at the Country Club in Novato at 9 a.m. and leave by chartered bus. At noon they will have lunch at Jack London Square and then return to the show.

Mmes. Robert Bliss and Roy Ricksham are program chairmen.

"INTERESTING PEOPLE I Have Met" will be the program of Dr. Paul W. Yinger, pastor of the Piedmont Community Church, at the San Rafael Improvement Club meeting Tuesday. The program will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the clubhouse. Tea will follow the program. Committee members are Mmes. Norris Rawles and Harold Elliot. Pouring tea will be Miss Wylma Cunningham and Mrs. Ruth Dwight Bruner.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS of Bethel 48 of San Rafael will hold its annual fashion show at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Masonic Building in San Rafael.

"Sew Many Fashions" is the theme of the show with many of the girls sewing and modeling their own clothes. They are Lori Jerome, Beverly Eklund, Sandy Koenig, Joanne Koenig, Brenda Evenson, Elaine Deen, Diane Campbell, Janet Alwes, Laurie Petrie, Mary Ailman, Cindy Morrill, Karin Morrill, Patty Phillips, Michelle Pitcher, Carol Newman, Krissy Adamson, Louise Pagone and Tia Kant.

Modeling clothes from a local store will be Pam Holman, Debbie Daunt, Krissy Adamson, Cheryl Cazneaux, Carol Newman, Jean Banfield, Mrs. Alyce Daunt and Mrs. Dianne Vouster.

Serving on the committees are Teri Jerome, Leslie Straw, Debbie Smith, Sandy Smith, Lynn Burton, Susan Anderson, Cynthia Dolto, Jill Ziegler, Gail Ziegler, Kristy Baker, Collen Heany, Susan Haenggi and Verlyn Watts.

THE COMMUNITY Service Workshop of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley will meet Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the clubhouse. Those attending will bring paperback books for military personnel at Travis Air Force Base, coupons for the kidney machine for Marin General Hospital and old nylons, jewelry and other materials to be used in making things for the Christmas parties at rest homes.

THE ASSISTANCE Guild of Marin will have a panel of speakers on drug programs in Marin County at its meeting Monday at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. The panel members will be Lloyd Churgin, county chairman of the drug abuse and alcohol program; Charles Stout of Center Point and Mrs. Thomas Keating of Open House.

The general meeting and panel will be held at 11 a.m. prior to a luncheon.

A PANEL discussion on the Needlework Guild of America, which distributes garments members have made or bought to organizations serving the needy will be held by the Mill Valley Community Church Club at noon Wednesday at the church parish hall.

The panel, which will follow the club's luncheon, is titled "Second Tuesday," which is the name of the Triple C's own sewing section, an affiliate of the Ross Valley Branch of the Needlework Guild.

Panel members will be Mrs. Elsie Hall, Marin County social worker with the elderly; George Cagwin, Mill Valley disaster survey officer for the American Red Cross; and Sister Stella Mari of St. Vincent's School for Boys.

Luncheon reservations chairmen are Mmes. W. H. Yoakum and Charlotte Williford. Mrs. Gearhart Von Bonin is program chairman.

FOOTBALL WIDOWS' SCHOOL

Women Learn About What Menfolk See On Weekends

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Detroit Lions, the National Football League and a private concern are sponsoring classes for "football widows" who have concluded they might just as well join their husbands in the stands or in front of the TV, since they're not going to tear hubbie away. United Press International's Carol Marvel attended the first class. Here is her personal report:

By CAROL MARVEL

DETROIT (UPI)—At least now I know that a football field is 53 1-3 yards wide.

The odds are that most men —including football players— don't know that. That's what they told me at the first session of my football lessons.

The course is produced by Sport-a-Know-How, Inc. with the cooperation of the Detroit lions and the National Football League.

I WAS a natural candidate for the course after fouling up a couple of "football Saturdays," as they're known in the news business. While my colleagues (male, of course) quickly took notes by phone from colleges all over Michigan and wrote up stories about the games, I struggled along with one game.

At least I broke the tension with my query: "What's a Yellow Jacket pass?" How was I to know that was the nickname of a team?

Other women whether their husbands or boyfriends or sons desert them for the stadium or sit in front of the TV, were motivated, too.

"My son said he could tell me absolutely everything about football in two hours," one woman said before the class started.

But a classmate told her, "My husband has tried telling me everything about football in 12 hours and it hasn't worked."

So after five or 10 minutes of getting acquainted, discovering why our neighbors signed up for the course and explaining about how many other football non-experts there were, we settled down to learn.

OUR TEACHERS included Vince Banonis, a former University of Detroit All-America Center and former All-Pro Center with the Detroit Lions and Chicago Cardinals; Roy "Friday" Macklem, Lions equipment manager for 36 seasons; and Wayne Walker, linebacker for the Lions.

Besides learning the dimensions of the field, we learned that the shape of the goal posts was charged from an H-shape to a Y-shape to take it out of the playing field, the duties of the various players, and the number system for players.

We also learned that Walker has saved the Lions about $14 in his 14 seasons with the Detroit football club by making his own knee pads. The reason, he said, is that he's very conscious of the weight of his uniform and likes them extra-light.

Another interesting fact turned up when we discussed timeouts. It seems that when a man in a red hat stands up at one end of the playihg field, a timeout is called so the television networks can air their commercials. "It pays for the bread," said Banonis.

All in all, the slickness of the presentation—from the slides to the football equipment to the celebrities in the audience—the humor, and the repetition were quite effective in teaching the facts of football.

I'm actually looking forward to next week and offensive formations, the following session with defensive formations, and the final class with minor officials and penalties.

As another classmate said:

"With football and boxing and hockey, I might as well face it, this is my life."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Yes Indeed, There's Something Weird About Wife's Long Johns

DEAR HELEN:

My wife has never adjusted to our Minnesota weather. She gets terribly cold at night in spite of an electric blanket and two thermals besides.

I can adjust —we have a king-sized bed, so I throw off what I can't take. But, alas, she recently came upon a box of my old long johns, left over from the military. She tried wearing a pair to bed and said she'd never had a better night's sleep.

She's worn nothing else for a week and says, when they wear out, she'll buy some more.

Frankly, my problem is that, although I love her, those long johns turn me off. Is there something weird about a man who can't make love to his wife when she's wearing his army underwear? — PAUL

DEAR PAUL:

I'd say there's something weird about a wife who runs around the bedroom in GI long johns. Buy her a brushed knit peignoir set and turn up the heat.

... And hide your Army boots! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If that gal who is engaged to a mama's boy is still concerned about what her marriage would be like, I can tell her: I married one!

He is 29 years old. His mother washed his hair, laid out his clothes, ran his bath water, turned down his bed at night, even pared his toenails and went on trips with him.

We've been married three years, and Mama still expects him at her house from six to nine each evening. If he ever devoted a weekend to me, I'd feel like a queen . . . just before I fainted from shock.

When Mama wants something fixed, he's there in a second, but our apartment can fall apart and he doesn't notice.

She expects gifts, and gets them, so there's nothing left when our anniversary comes around. If he misses seeing her one night after work, she pouts.

Yes, she has a husband, but he's as put-down as I am.

Tell these wondering girls-in-love, Helen, that a sweet, lovable spoiled boy who adores his mother makes a selfish, wishy-washy husband who runs home to her.

Beware! — ABOUT TO BE SINGLE AGAIN

DEAR ATBSA:

I tell 'em and tell 'em, but women in love have delayed hearing. They get the message about six months after the wedding. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said you couldn't make a judgment until you heard both sides of the "neighbor" hassle. Well, here's an answer to those elders who think their young neighbors are the world's worst:

Dear People Next Door: You aren't exactly perfect. Your kids, who are old enough to know better, hit golf balls at our car, throw mud on our house, and knock down our fence. Their noisy motorbikes ruin our sleep.

Your dear husband gets drunk and shoots B-B's at our dog. Also he leers at me when I wear shorts.

As for you, my dear, you don't know I'm aware that you let your dog out early every morning to use our yard. And how about the way you peek from behind your curtains, then gossip about everyone on the block. Because I won't listen, you've started a campaign against me. Listen, you don't own the world, just because you're over 30! — UNDER 30

DEAR UNDER:

You two families live 1,000 miles apart, but thanks for filling the equal time slot, anyway. — H.

Colored Hosiery Is Now A Fact

These includes the vegetable dyes, red onion and purple parsnip; the berry flavors, crabapple and flameberry; the herb greens, wintergreen, green thumb and emeral grass; the hothouse blooms, marigold and cornflower royal; the spice blends, cinnamon rose brown bitters and ginger jelly.

Subdued Look In Boyswear For Spring

It's part of a developing trend which Mrs. Beryl Tucker, fashion consultant to the Boys' and Young Men's Apparel Manufacturers Association believes will be around for some time.

Colors will be quieter; patterns, less obvious; styling, simpler..

—Living in Linen, the look of the classic fabric, both in flax-content materials and in simulations.

"Experience tells us that these four looks will appear in many interpretations, and that there will be other looks as well," the BAMA reported.

"The ones we have chosen are significant because they go right across the board. They are represented in every boyswear category: clothing, outerwear, pants, shirts and knits."

The restrained air extends to pants, whatever the length — short to long.

ON BEING BLACK

Benjamin Banneker—Outstanding Early Day Inventor-Scientist

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

Next to a dictionary, and sometimes a sexy novel, some of the most revealing and fascinating reading can be found within the pages of an almanac. Ben Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanac" is now a classic, but few people know of the almanac written by an American black man, Benjamin Banneker, and heralded throughout Europe as a work of genius.

Nov. 9, 1731, marks the birthdate of this outstanding inventor-scientist. Reared on his family's farm in Maryland, Banneker quested for learning early in his life. He was a vociferous reader and had a remarkable memory.

Using a small pocket watch as a scale, one of Banneker's notable accomplishments was the building of a mammoth-size wooden chime clock — the first built in the colonies and probably the first clock built by an American.

Along with repeated episodes of unfairness and inequities encountered in the selling of his crops, Benjamin's life was further saddened by the death of Anola, a young slave woman whom he loved and wanted to purchase from her slave owner and marry. Told she was not for sale, Anola was killed as they attempted to run away together.

AFTER THIS event, a deeply scarred young man led a fairly secluded life. He spent long hours teaching himself Latin advanced math and astronomy.

With the death of his father, Benjamin took over the management of the family farm and raised bees, horses, cows and cultivated the fruit orchards

His mathematical and mechanical genius became well-known and settlers throughout the colonies came to him with their problems.

During the Revolution Banneker employed his expertise in the building of cannons and muskets that were used in the war. He disliked war and killing but had hoped (in vain) the winning of the war would mean independence for all men in the colonies.

AFTER THE war, he returned to Maryland where he carefully kept a "daybook" — full of his thoughts and observations. It was at this time his friend, George Ellicott, encouraged him to write his almanac. Better weather forecasts and tide tables were needed, insisted Ellicott.

Finding a publisher for a black man's work was no easy task, but Banneker's almanac was published and became an outstanding piece of work.

It is also little known that Banneker served on the new government's commission to define the boundaries of the capital city, Washington, D.C. He was one of the surveyors who worked closely with Pierre L'Enfant, the chief engineer. Over a money skirmish, L'Enfant reportedly took the capital blueprints and returned to France. In lieu of starting over from scratch, Banneker resketched from memory the plans of the capital city in a few days and construction began.

Benjamin Banneker, who died in 1806 was a black man who made outstanding contributions to his country.

Preschool Findings To Affect Schools?

A prominent child development authority has predicted that advances made in experimental innovative nursery school programs will force changes in elementary schools, which he charges "abuse children with their obsession with discipline. . ."

Dr. Ronald K. Parker, director of Child Development and Day Care Resources Project of the U.S. Office of Child Development, said, "We'll discover that if we have good preschool programs for 3 and 4-year-olds, most of today's elementary schools will be redundant."

Writing in the current issue of Ladies Home Journal, Dr. Parker said, "children can easily master the current objectives of the early school years at ages 3, 4 and 5."

According to Dr. Parker, innovative nursery school programs "will force a change in teaching style, removing the autocratic teacher and freeing the learning environment for more exploration and guided discovery.

"The current elementary schools fail," he charged, "to promote exploration and a love for learning because of their obsession with discipline and control. I can't understand why Americans tolerate this abuse of their children," Dr. Parker wrote.

Dr. Parker asserted that "children in most nursery schools today are being cheated" educationally. He said parents expect so little in a nursery school that "they're perfectly happy with almost anything . . . It's a disaster to waste a child's early years — when he is most amenable to environmental influences — by placing him in the average, poor pre-school with no organized program," Dr. Parker stated.

FASHION SCENE

London To Open Doors Tomorrow

With Florence and Paris fashion previews just finished, London ready-to-wear designers are making last minute adjustments prior to their openings starting tomorrow.

The London designs will be previewed tomorrow through Tuesday in three locations, reports Women's Wear Daily.

The blazer continues the classic trend but with color added in stripes, large checks and plaids in the primary colors. They are teamed with pleated skirts.

The Oriental influence, showing in collections from, Paris, America and Canada, also will be apparent in the London collection in dark ground prints and bat-wing sleeved evening dresses and in the knitwear.

The '50s look continues, with emphasis shifting from the tart to the bobby soxer-pedal pushers, off-the-shoulder blouses and dresses, and dolman-sleeved sweaters.

In a romantic vein, the ankle length dress for day and evening has bustle effects and full sleeve treatment. Dress lengths are to the knee for day and to the ankle for evening.

Some 5,000 store buyers are expected at the openings, many Americans among them despite the surcharge added this year to all they may order for the American market. Some 80 manufacturers will show their clothing wares.

But many designers such as Mary Quant, Jean Muir, Thea Porter and Zandra Rhodes are not expected to show their new collections until the middle of the month.

Year's Officers Are Elected

John Ray of Novato is the new president. Ray and his wife, Ann, have been members of the club since it was formed three years ago. He is an equipment engineer with American Telephone Co.

Other officers are Fred Zimmerman of Tiburon, vice-president; Nancy Zaharin of Marinwood, treasurer; Joe Tallariti of Terra Linda, sheriff; Clyde and Nancy Tynes of Petaluma, delegates. Keith Gylfe, Novato, is club caller.

ROYAL COUPLE'S WISH?

'Time,' Says Star's Spouse

By RENA M. PEDERSON

DALLAS (UPI) — When Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace of Monaco were visiting Texas recently, one Dallas woman surprised them by asking what more they would want if they could have anything in the world.

Her Serene Highness for once was flustered and looked to her husband for help. He looked thoughtful. Princess Grace put on her immaculate porcelain smile and said, "Well, I can't think of anything material I ever wish for ... what I want the most is for my children to be healthy and happy."

The princess again turned to Rainier, 48, who sat silent. Finally he looked up and said one word softly: "Time."

Princess Grace, looking more like a starlet than a 42-year-old mother of three, nodded agreement that more time was one thing they could not rule.

THE COUPLE had spent a week in Texas as honor guests at the Neiman-Marcus "Fete des Fleurs" gala.

"I'd like so many things for my children," the former Grace Kelly said. "I'm very proud of my American heritage and I'd like them to share it. I would be pleased to see them continue their educations in the United States, perhaps in college.

"I think it's very important for my children to have character. It's a very difficult thing to try to give them. I think every parent tries in a different way."

The princess said her oldest daughter, Caroline, 14, is studying four languages and the other children, Albert, 13, and Stephanie, 7, are competent bilingually.

The Academy Award winner for "The Country Girl" in 1955, smilingly responded to questions of whether she wants her daughter, Princess Caroline, also to marry royalty.

"I'D JUST like her to marry a man she loves, admires and respects," she said.

As for her own fairy-tale life, she said, "I've been very lucky in my life and very fortunate to be married to the man I am."

The man she married is the last virtually absolute monarch in Europe and heir to 24 other titles. They met briefly in 1955 while she was making "To Catch A Thief" with Cary Grant in Cannes. They met again in 1956 when both were Christmas dinner guests at a friend's home in New Jersey. Ten days later they announced their engagement. The rest is movie magazine history.

"We're not in the news as much these days, thank goodness," the princess said. "I'm sure that people all over the world got tired of reading about us. I know I did."

The prince usually skips family history talk to discuss earnestly the problems of his tiny Mediterranean principality.

HE SAID the problems of pollution, overcrowding and drug use are just now filtering into Monaco. He said very strict laws against drug peddlers are attacking the problem, but he added international cooperation would be needed to protect the beautiful beaches of the Mediterranean.

"Increased pollution along the rivers has led to more cases of viral hepatitis this year than during the past five years," he said.

The prince, whose own country is less in size than New York's Central Park, said he was "very impressed" by his first visit to Texas and especially to the King Ranch near Corpus Christi.

While in Texas, the royal couple was presented with two bobcat cubs, "N" and "M" by Stanley Marcus for the Monaco zoo. Rainier said he loves animals and spends much of his time taming them.

The princess spends much of her time in charity work and is an outspoken advocate of breast-feeding.

Series To Explore Childhood's Long Shadow Over Marriages

Authorities in the field of mental health will lead the 10-part series, Creative Marriage, sponsored by the Marin Jewish Community Center. Sessions will be held on Wednesdays at 8 p.m. at Park School in Mill Valley, beginning next week.

"Most marriage experts agree that when marriages end it is because of unresolved childhood problems and lack of fulfillment because of childhood deprivations," says Bernice Rollins, adult program coordinator for the Marin Jewish Community Center. "Often what passes for parental love is nothing more than manipulation and use of the child for the parent's own lack of fulfillment."

Because a happy and fulfilled citizenry is vital to the quality of life in Marin and throughout the United States, the center is sponsoring the series, she says.

The series is open to couples or individuals, who need not be members of the Marin Jewish Community Center, and enrollment can be made for the entire series or for single sessions.

Planned sessions are Nov. 3, "The Expectations and Realities of Marriage," Tom Trent, professor of psychology at the College of Alameda; Nov. 10, "Keeping Lines of Honest Communication Open," Hal Gurish, department of psychiatry at Kaiser Hospital; Nov. 17, "Father's Role in the Family," Dr. Philip S. Hicks, consultant for the Family Service Agency.

Dec. 1, "Changes in the Family Structure," Martin Kirchenbaum and Shirley Luthmna, directors of the Family Therapy Institute in San Rafael; Dec. 8, "The Influence of Early Family Background and Emotional Factors on a Marriage," Al Wasserman, director of the Intensive Therapy Institute in San Rafael; Dec. 15, "Your Emotional Needs and How They are Met in Marriage," Karla Clark, social worker for the Marin Community Mental Health Center.

Continuing into 1972 the series will include, Jan. 12, "Maintaining Your Own Identity in Marriage," Dr. Hicks; Jan. 19, "How to Fight Fairly and Solve Problems," Tom Trent; Jan. 26, "The Effect of Children on a Marriage," Mrs. Eva Mass, department of psychiatry at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco; Feb. 9, "How to Deal with Crisis Situations," Philip Mass, associate director of theJewish Family Service Agency.

MOMS Chapter Of Sonoma Is Headed By Petaluman

Reelected president of the Mothers of Multiple Siblings Club of Sonoma County is Mrs. Richard Gambonini of Petaluma. The Gamboninis are the parents of identical 6-year-old twins, Pamela and Peggy, and Debra, 8 and Sharon, 7.

Marilyn Gambonini has been a member five years and served previously as membership chairman, vice president and president. All mothers of twins or triplets are welcome to join.

Ultimate purpose of the MOMS club is to participate in research in the medical and teaching fields regarding multiple births. To make available information about twins which helps to increase the public's awareness of each twin's individuality is another goal.

The club is assisting a research team at Harvard Medical School by completing questionnaires on diabetes and twins. The club is also participating with the University of Illinois regarding data on female twins ages 16 to 20 years of age and their mothers.

Activities planned for the coming year are the Christmas cheer program to assist a needy family; an Easter egg hunt; Motherfs Day luncheon and a family picnic in July. A dessert booth for the Old Adobe Days celebration in August is also planned.

A native Petaluman the young mother is a graduate of St. Vincent's de Paul Grammar and High School. She is a graduate of St. Joseph's School of Nursing in San Francisco and works three days a week at Petaluma's Hillcrest Hospital. Her home and children's school activities are her other interests.

Officers assisting the president are Mmes. Carl Nordstrom, vice president; Robert Allan, secretary; Fred Owens, treasurer; and Dennis Dodd, editor.

Better Watch Where You Eat

Good food and good service do not suffice to make a restaurant tops on a favorite eating place list. Protect your health by checking its sanitary standards.

If washrooms are clean and soap and supplies are provided, it's a good sign. But don't stop there. Also check linens, dishes and silverware. Check, too, the appearances of waitresses and busboys.

Topic Announced For College Series

Education and women will be the topic of the program at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the continuing College of Marin series "Women: Past, Present, Future." The program will be held at Olney Hall at the college in Kentfield.

Speakers will be Mary Greer, instructor in education from Merritt College in Oakland, and Dr. Margaret Greene.

West's Failure To Make A Signal Lets South Sneak In

I'm almost ashamed to show today's hand because I don't like the idea of deceiving a trusting soul "for his own good." People have done it to me all my life, ever since my mother urged me to eat my porridge because it would make my hair curly. If they've been doing it to you too, maybe you should study today's hand to see how this foul philosophy has infiltrated the pure domain of bridge.

Opening lead — ♣ 8

WHICH ONE?

West opened the eight of clubs, and East took dummy's jack with the king. Then what? Had West led a singleton or a doubleton?

In the hope of finding out, East led the ace of spades. West played the discouraging trey, expecting his partner to switch back to clubs. West couldn't tell that East's opening bid had been based on more than five clubs.

WEST SHOUTS

"Camel! Species of protoplasm!" West shouted. (The hand was played in Paris, where the terms of endearment used by partners vary from those of North America.) And West explained that East should have deceived him for his own good by taking the first trick with the ace rather than the king of clubs.

MIGHT NOT WORK

This would lead West to believe that his partner lacked the king of clubs. When East then led the ace of spades, West would signal discouragingly only if he had opened a singleton club. East would therefore know whether or not to switch back to clubs.

In the actual hand, West said, West would signal at the second trick with the ten of spades.

DIAMOND SHIFT

West would win the spade continuation with the king and would then, for lack of anything better, shift to diamonds. East's ruff would defeat the contract.

Nobody pointed out that West might lead a third spade rather than a diamond. After all, if you deceive a partner, you can't complain if he is thoroughly deceived.

Student Complaint

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Students at the University of Texas complained to the campus security office that some nuts had stolen ticket books and were putting parking violation stickers on cars. The "nuts," however, turned out to be four new female police officers. The policewomen were issued uniforms shortly afterwards.

Phone Service At Hotels Eyed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— California's Public Utilities Commission has launched an investigation into whether hotels have levied illegal charges on customers for telephone service.

J.P. Vukasin, PUC chairman, said Wednesday, that "in a number of instances hotels have misled the public by falsely indicating that the charge is authorized by the commission."

He said the commission is investigating assertions that some hotels charge an extra 50 cents a night for "telephone service" or add call charges when no call has been made.

ISRAELI SECT — Two members of the Druse religious sect dating from the 11th Century pose for the camera of Clay Francisco. Francisco's latest travel film, "Israel," which includes the pair, will be shown in Marin Nov. 15.

Second Explorama Scheduled Nov. 15

The second in a series of seven Explorama productions is scheduled for 8:15 p.m., Nov. 15, at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

The film, "Israel," will be narrated in person by its maker, Clay Francisco.

The veteran travelogue producer focused on the everyday lives of the Israelis during four months of filming in the Middle Eastern country.

The film offers views of all segments of Israeli life from the strictly orthodox Jews to nomadic Bedouins and modern children.

Tickets are available at Redwood Travel Advisors in San Rafael, all Macy stores and the auditorium box office.

Bach Choir Sets Concert

The concert beginning at 5 p.m. will include portions of "Israel in Egypt" by Georg F. Handel, the church announced.

The group under the direction of Waldemar Jacobsen will be accompanied by a string ensemble.

$26,400 Pact For Study of Novato Creek

A $26,400 contract to study Novato Creek has been awarded to Royston, Hanamoto, Beck and Abey of San Francisco by the Marin County Flood Control District.

Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, told the Novato Flood Control Zone Advisory board Wednesday night that the study will start immediately and take three to four months to complete.

Zone one, the Novato watershed, has two full-time employees working for it, Murphy said. This is more than any other zone in the county, he reported.

The board asked Murphy to report on several items at its Nov. 24 meeting: plan checking fees for the City of Novato, annexation of Marin Country Club Estates and the area north of Novato to the Sonoma County line into the zone, report on the Novato Industrial Park subzone and the defunct Zone 2 at the Gnoss Field area.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The Council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Assn. Magazines and Parent's Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Living Desert" — The struggle for survival of the animals and flowers on the American desert remarkably photographed.

"On Any Sunday" — The variety of motorcycle competitions across 100,000 miles of track around the world is presented in a documentary style with frequent touches of humor. Superb color photography.

"Peter Rabbit and Tales of Beatrix Potter" — Familiar children's stories come to life in a charming ballet fantasy performed by Britain's Royal Ballet. The costumes are perfect and the imaginative sets add dimension to this enchanting musical.

"Vanishing Prairie" — The miracle of life on the prairie, the animal world and nature's wonders.

"Zeppelin" — World War I double agent spy story with fascinating detailed information about the German's newest weapon, the airship. Usual violence of war.

ADULTS AND TEEN-AGERS

"Gone with the Wind" — A classic, a pictorial history of the Civil War and of a civilization "gone with the wind".

Murphy's War" — Adventure set toward end of World War II in the Venezuelan jungle. British merchant seaman is obsessed with getting revenge against the submarine responsible for the loss of his shipmates. Well done.

"One More Train to Rob" — A train robber after his release from prison returns to his old trade. Criminal is made to be quite a likeable character, who later becomes respectable. Shooting is almost non-stop and very violent.

"Skin Game" — A black man and a white man as con-men pull a clever skin game which outwits the slave traders. A slick girl thief moves in and outsmarts everyone. Good cast and plot make this an entertaining farce. Foul language and sex scenes make it unsuitable for younger children.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bonnie and Clyde" — A chapter in the gangster history of the 1930's brought to vivid life. No attempt made to glamorize its characters. Brutally frank and violent.

"Bullit" — Set in San Francisco this story shows the security measures to safeguard a witness for a crime hearing. Fast moving and brutally violent, a dizzying car chase and the final shoot out have an electrifying effect.

"Death in Venice" — Set in 1911, a composer on the verge of a physical and mental collapse goes to Venice to regain his health and becomes obsessed with a beautiful young boy and is tormented by the passion that is unleashed. Very slow moving.

"Panic In Needle Park" — Overly long but compassionate exploration of the tragic nightmarish world of drugs. Despite sex, nudity and obscene language, teen-agers should see this if only to shatter any romantic delusions about the drug scene.

"Vanishing Point" — An ex-race driver feels compelled to "do his thing" which is to drive from Denver to San Francisco in 15 hours. A pointless tale with a good deal of sex, nudity, violence and cursing and it is incomprehensible how the MPAA rated this "GP".

ADULTS ONLY

"The Baby Maker" — Since the wife is sterile a happily married couple hire a beautiful hippie to bear the husband's baby for them. A candid treatment of an unconventional pregnancy. Contemporary social comedy refrains from making moral judgment.

"Carnal Knowledge" — The sex lives of two men from college days to middle age done in a two dimensional cynical, satirical style does become tiresome. Fine performances from cast, language and sex are explicit.

"Husbands" — Three New York suburban husbands go on a bender after the funeral of one of their pals. Their pent up frustrations with their dreary, empty existences lead them to make one last bid for freedom. Sex and cursing.

"Little Murders" — A black comedy about how people have become brutalized by the horrors of contemporary life, they deny all feeling. How five people react to a series of murders make up the story. Savage, witty, horribly violent parable of our times.

"Marriage of a Young Stockbroker" — An attempt to make a comedy out of a desperate situation is sad. A film about a voyeur, a pathetic character, who cops out rather than find a solution to his problem.

"Owl and the Pussy Cat" — A racy adult comedy based on a Broadway hit about a prostitute who tries to improve her mind and a shy would-be author and their unlikely relationship. Low comedy bits and profanity from Barbra Streisand.

"Some of My Best Friends Are" — Plenty of material here for a dozen soap opera stories. Boys in a bar on Christmas Eve explain why they became homosexuals. Language is tasteless and sensibility is truly offended.

Mailliard Hits Move To Halt Funds For U.N.

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, says he will oppose any congressional attempt to reduce U.S. financial support of the United Nations as a form of retaliation for the expulsion this week of Nationalist China from the U.N.

Mailliard, who was a delegate to the U.N. in 1963, said he would oppose a "punitive, reactionary move."

He said he favored the readmission of Taiwan as the representative of a nation of 14 million people, but doubted this would be possible because "both Peking and Taiwan continue to claim to represent all of China, including Taiwan."

School Committee Selection Due

Three new members of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization will be selected Thursday by a group of trustees representing each school district in Marin.

To be elected at the meeting at 8 p.m. at the county Schools Office in Corte Madera are one representative from Supervisorial District 1 and two from District 2.

Robert E. Spain, assistant secretary of the committee, said Donal A. McEnill of San Rafael is the only nominee from the first district. Competitors in the second district are Pieter Toal of San Anselmo and incumbents, Mrs. Watson Conner of Greenbrae and Mrs. J. W. Rakow of San Anselmo, Spain said.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marinite Home From Europe —Fluent In Three Languages

There is more French being spoken around Le Chalet Basque these days, a little more Spanish and more of the language of the Euzkadi (Basque country).

I have two spellings on this — Eskuadi seems to be closer phonetically to the way the Basques pronounce it.

Anyway it all results from the recent return of little Johnny Coscarat from several months in that Basque region on both sides of the border between France and Spain, where the three idioms are often used interchangeably. Johnny's first choice seems to be French — even in preference to English. If he ever becomes a restaurateur like his parents he'll be a natural in the language of fine food.

Raymond and Eugenie Coscarat would do well to ship him back to Europe about every two years to keep his talent alive.

The French, like most Europeans, make great use of veal in their meals. Veal lends itself to a variety of recipes and rare indeed is the person who does not enjoy it in some form.

The Chalet Basque chef Pierre Joris, is skilled in its many preparations. There usually is a traditional recipe to cover any effect desired — but if there isn't, he'll come forth with one of his own. This is not unusual among French chefs, for veal adaptations are limited only by the imagination.

Some of the traditional veal recipes appear infrequently on a standard menu. If you are seeking a new food experience it's not unwise to place yourself in the hands of the chef. I do it frequently.

Pierre has one selection you should like — Veal Grand Duke. But don't look for it on Le Chalet Basque menu. You'll have to ask for it.

THE ALVARADO INN at Ignacio will be celebrating its first anniversary Friday through Sunday, Nov. 5 - 7. During this past year, owner Dave Kahler has succeeded in making this place increasingly popular for family style dining, dancing, banquets and receptions.

Now, new executive chef Wally Price, formerly of Bernard's Executive Lounge, and the Seven Seas, has added a number of seafood items to the menu which still includes the previous selections. Bouillabaisse is the Thursday night special and is usually a sellout. On Friday nights, look for his Boston clam chowder and baked steamed clams and his Captain's Platter, which has just about everything you could ask for — fried prawns, scallops, filet of sole and eastern oysters.

But you can order anything else from a hamburger or grilled crab and cheese sandwich to a seven course dinner.

While waiting for a table, browse through the collection of historical photographs — more than 100 of them were reproduced by the late Roy Graves.

To get back to Alvarado Inn's anniversary — there will be dancing and entertainment with KSAY's Terry Ryan on Friday night and the sounds of Wayne Colyer on Saturday. To end the three-day observance, the Jimmy Diamond Dixieland All-Stars will present a special concert on Sunday starting at 4 p.m. There will be drawings and prizes all three days.

THE HI FI DRIVE INN at 1000 Mirabella Avenue, Novato has been sold by John and Eva Hoekman, who will be moving to Vacaville to take it easy.

New owner Julian Hawawini of Santa Rosa will continue operating under the same name, on the same hourly schedule of 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week and with the same menu.

The sale was handled by Harry Abras of Don Timmer, Realtor.

WORK HAS BEEN moving along on Kamyar Samii's new restaurant at 1235 Fourth Street, San Rafael, but it is still touch and go as to whether this will meet its hoped-for Monday opening. It may take a few days more.

Now to be known as Brat Haus, it will be open seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Featured will be roast beef, pastrami, corned beef, turkey, smoked ham, knockwurst, Polish sausage and brothwurst — both as hot plates served with mashed potatoes, vegetables and gravy and as sandwiches, which will also include Swiss cheese and American cheese. And you can look for combination plates, combination sandwiches, salads and pastries.

WHAT USED TO BE FOR MANY YEARS Jean's Bit o' Bohemia at 609 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo should see a reopening almost any day under a new name and new ownership.

Jerry Beebe of Olema will call it Jerry's Bit o' Bohemia and for the time being will go along on a beer license, specializing in a wide assortment of beers. This place is more bar than restaurant, but it's likely some food will be served. Silent movies will be shown and the walls will have art displays by college students.

Hours will be from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. seven days a week.

NO IMMEDIATE OPENING of the Howard Johnson restaurant in southern Marin appears to be in sight.

Since my last report there seems to have been no activity here. And the parking area, said to be holding up an opening, is still unpaved.

IT OFTEN PAYS to check out the house specialties before you order. Here are some at a few Marin restuarents:

Romulus, San Rafael: Prime rib dinner at $4.25, veal scallopini at $3.95 and roast chicken at $3.25 — complete dinners served Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

McKee's, San Rafael: The $1.95 specials — Tuesday, roast leg of pork; Wednesday, short ribs; Thursday, veal cutlets; Friday, shrimp newburg; and Saturday, baked ham and yams.

Kublai Khan, Strawberry Town and Country Village: The filet mignon or New York steak dinners for two at $6.95.

The Hick'ry Pit, Strawberry Town and Country Village: The golden fried chicken at $1.65 and the salisbury steak at $1.85 (served Mondays through Thursdays, 4 to 8 p.m. only).

Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael — His hamburgers — what else? They are the only thing you can get him to talk about.

DOUG KERSHAW AND SHANTI are the entertainers performing at the Lion's Share in San Anselmo tonight and tomorrow night. Doug is also scheduled for Sunday, with a second act not yet announced.

Alternative Will Investigate Faire

The Marin Alternative, after almost voting to oppose the proposed Renaissance Center in Lucas Valley, has decided to investigate the past of the annual Pleasure Faire.

The group voted Tuesday to look into past financial dealings of the corporation which runs the faire, accoridng to Nancy Zakin of the organization.

Marin Alternative, which requires a 70 per cent vote to take a stand, failed to obtain the necessary percentage, Mrs. Zakin said. Twenty-nine of 45 members present voted to oppose the faire while 12 abstained and four favored it, she said.

Another vote is planned for the next meeting Nov. 24, she said. Tuesday's vote followed a debate between Ronald and Phyllis Patterson, operators of the Pleasure Faire, and members from Lucas Valley, Mrs. Zakin said.

Auto Emission Lab Dedicated

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)— The first federal laboratory designed specifically to control pollution from auto emissions was dedicated Wednesday.

The Environmental Protection Agency's National Auto Air Pollution Control Facility was termed by Donald Mosiman a major milestone in government efforts to assure production of a nonpolluting car by 1975. Mosiman, EPA's assistant administrator for air and water programs, spoke at the dedication.

The $10 million laboratory is the only federal facility designed to measure auto emissions on a continuous basis and conduct research of alternatives to the internal combustion engine. Every type of automobile offered for sale in the United States will have to be tested at the laboratory.

Alcohol Abuse Presentations Set

A committee of the Marin Institute Volunteer Bureau is now offering presentations on alcohol abuse to interested organizations, the institute has announced.

Interested organizations should contact the bureau located at 725 A Street in San Rafael.

San Rafael Resident Faces Cards Charge

Jerry Ray Wade, 21, of 12 Ross Street, San Rafael was booked into Marin County Jail Wednesday on suspicion of possessing stolen credit cards.

A subsequent search of Wade's car to look for other stolen property turned up small quantities of marijuana and heroin, police said. Wade posted $2,500 bond and was to appear in court Monday.

One evening in 1964, Mr. Smith said to Mrs. Smith, "Honey, let's go to Dominic's for dinner tonight." Neither of them had ever been to Dominic's, so it was simply a question of finding it. The other day, they arrived. Dominic's is not easy to find, but as the Smith's will attest, it's really worth it when you get there. You might just meet Mr. and Mrs. Smith should you drop in, since they're still with us. They have forgotten where they live.

Gasoline Sales Tax To Governor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California consumers would pay a 5 per cent sales tax on gasoline to raise almost $150 million for mass transit under legislation which has been given final passage by the Senate and sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill by Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, would raise a total of $177.4 million, with most of the money earmarked for mass transit, including some $1.5 million a year for transit in Marin County. The Senate voted 27-4 Thursday to concur in Assembly amendments.

Presently, Californians pay a five per cent sales tax on almost everything except gasoline and food. The state keeps four per cent and returns one per cent to local government.

Three San Francisco Bay Area counties, San Francisco, Contra Costa and Alameda, now pay a 5 1-2 per cent sales tax. The additional 1-2 cent helps finance the Bay Area Rapid Transit system. The three counties would extend the 5 1-2 per cent sales tax to gasoline.

The Mills bill would cut the state's share of the sales tax by 1-4 cent and authorize counties to increase their share of the tax by the same amount and use the money for mass transit.

Technically, the counties would not be required to raise their sales tax by the 1-4 cent. But all sales taxes are collected by the state and returned to local government and if the counties do not raise their taxes by 1-4 cent, the state would not have to collect any sales tax for the counties.

The only exception to the requirement that the additional money be used for mass transit would be in counties with less than 500,000 population.

The smaller counties could spend the new revenue for public transportation, right-of-way acquisition and construction of local streets or other transportation-related services.

Mills told the Senate his bill was supported by over 100 local government agencies and every major newspaper in the state.

But Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, asserted the bill was AA1 $170 million tax increase.

"This state is overburdened with taxes as it is," Richardson declared.

The Mills bill would not affect the total state sales tax revenue. The increased money from extending the tax to gasoline would offset the percentage cut in the state sales tax.

New Agency For Area Is Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate has voted to create a development and conservation planning agency for eight San Francisco Bay Area counties.

The much-debated measure by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, was approved Thursday 21-11 and returned to the Assembly for concurrence in major Senate amendments.

One of the most important amendments written into the bill by senators requires voters in the eight counties to approve creation of the agency before it can legally be formed.

However, before passing the measure the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, to include Sonoma County in the agency's planning jurisdiction.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, who represents Sonoma, told the Senate that county considers itself a part of the North Coast rather than the Bay Area and, thus, should be excluded.

The bill collects the eight counties under the agency governed by 77 trustees, half of them locally elected officials and the remainder elected from special districts.

It would draft plans for development of transportation, open space, environmental quality control and parks on an eight-county basis.

It would have the power to veto actions by local governments or private developers considered not in the best interest of the area. This section raised the most criticism.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, the measure's most ardent foe, protested that the bill "gives regional government the power to pre-empt" city and county ordinances. Bradley said this was contrary to the concept of local control.

"This is not physical planning," he said. "This is social planning."

The eight counties included in the measure are San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa and Marin.

Two Groups Support Proposition A

The Marin Central Labor Council and Building Trades Council of Marin have urged their members to support Proposition A, the Nov. 2, College of Marin bond measure.

Citing the benefits labor will receive from the construction of new campus facilities, the councils said the issue offers a tax savings to the average Marin homeowner of from $17 to $25 yearly, compared to the present method of override tax financing.

Boat Storage Ruling Withheld

The Marin County Fill Committee yesterday withheld approval of an application by David N. Plant of San Francisco to install a prefabricated boat storage building over an existing wharf at the Berry-Wood boat works on the west shore of Tomales Bay near Inverness Yacht Club. It is located across the street from Aberdeen Way.

Committee members wanted more information on whether the septic system needs expansion, how much of open water area would be covered, what use will be made of the new building, and what happens to sand used in sandblasting operations at the boat works.

$10 Million In Stolen Paintings Found In London

LONDON (UPI)—Police said today that four stolen paintings discovered by detectives Thursday in a London railway station were worth almost $10 million.

A man and a woman were due to appear in court to face charges of "dishonestly handling four stolen paintings," a Scotland Yard spokesman said.

He said church authorities in Italy confirmed the value of the four paintings, part of a haul of six stolen from a church at Catanzaro, south of Naples, nearly two years ago. All were works by late 16th and 17th Century artists.

The spokesman said the four works, which were damaged, were rolled up in blankets when members of Scotland Yard's art squad found them Thursday in the baggage checking office of Euston Station in north London.

Soon after, detectives went to an apartment not far away and arrested the couple, later identified as Gian Carlo Lolo, 28, a bartender, and Miss Facna Bakaeva, 24, an interpreter.

The Simple Truth
...about MEASURE "B"

This is not a bond issue. It is a request for voter authorization to execute a contract with Sonoma County for a new supply of water from the Russian River via the proposed Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct.

WHY IS IT ON THE BALLOT?
BECAUSE WE NEED ADDITIONAL WATER! The present usage exceeds the safe yield of District supplies. To avoid a shortage and provide for future increases, additional supplies must be obtained.

WILL IT INCREASE MY TAXES?
NO! (Your water district has never levied a tax and the Board of Directors has adopted a policy that this new project should not be financed by taxes.)

WHAT WILL IT COST?
The Water District's share of this project is estimated at $35 million - repayable over a 50 year period.

HOW WILL THE COST BE REPAID?
Through revenue from the sale of water - probably a 1½% rate increase per year for 7-10 years — and increased connection fees for new users.

DOES THIS AFFECT WEST MARIN?
NO! West Marin is not served by the M.M.W.D.

CAN THIS PROJECT BE DELAYED?
NO! In order to be a partner with Sonoma Co. your Water District must make committments by January, 1972.

ARE THERE OTHER SOLUTIONS?
NO! NOT AT THE PRESENT TIME. Recycling of sewage water is still not suitable as a water supply (it may or may not be in the future). All watershed lands have been fully developed. Local flood water would cost ten times as much even if there was enough to make it worth while.

WILL THIS HARM THE RUSSIAN RIVER?
NO. This project will not harm or depleat the flow in the river in any way, since the supply will actually come from flood control dams located away from the main river.

WHAT IS THE QUALITY OF THE WATER?
EXCELLENT! This water is equal to or possibly better than the present supply, based upon reports by the State Health Department.

DOES THIS AFFECT THE EEL RIVER?
NO! This project does not affect the Eel River.

WHAT HAPPENS IF MEASURE "B" FAILS? Simple — We Will Have a Water Shortage!

WE STRONGLY RECOMMEND A___ "YES"
___VOTE ON MEASURE "B"

BLENDS INTO BEACH SETTING

Second Autopsy On Haley Complete; Lab Report Due

A second autopsy on the body of Judge Harold J. Haley, authorized by a court order over the objections of the judge's widow, has been completed.

The judge's remains were removed from a crypt at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael Tuesday evening and returned late Wednesday.

A pathology team assembled by an attorney for San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee — charged with murdering the judge — worked 15 hours during two days at San Francisco General Hospital.

The team was composed of Dr. Leopold Breitenecker, chairman of the Institute of Legal Medicine at the University of Vienna; his son, Dr. Rudiger Breitenecker of Baltimore; Dr. Robert Hirshfeld, a radiologist from Baltimore, and Andrew Gero a Los Angeles medical photographer.

Magee's court-appointed attorney, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, said he paid for travel expenses and accommodations for the team. Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court had authorized paying the men for their services, but refused to approve travel expenses from county funds.

They were accompanied by a matching team hired by the state attorney general's office, which is prosecuting the case against Magee and Angela Davis, both charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy in connection with the Aug. 7, 1970, shooting at the Hall of Justice.

Graves declined yesterday to discuss preliminary results of the autopsy, but said Dr. Breitenecker, the team chairman, would deliver a report to him following completion of laboratory and other tests.

Graves's request for the second autopsy was granted by Judge Richard E. Arnason of Contra Costa County, who is presiding over Magee's and Miss Davis's cases in Marin Superior Court.

Graves is attempting to prove that a shotgun blast allegedly fired by Magee in the back of an escape van did not kill the judge.

The original autopsy indicated wounds from a shotgun blast and a bullet and concluded that either could have killed the judge, but did not specify which actually did.

Graves hopes the new autopsy will prove the bullet wound occurred first and Haley was already dead when the shotgun was fired.

Sewer Consolidation —A Wait-See Stance

The Sausalito City Council last night decided that sewage collection should remain in city hands, but adopted a wait-and-see attitude on consolidation of treatment and disposal facilities in Southern Marin.

The informal consensus was reached after 2½ hours of discussion with directors of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District. The district now treats and disposes of sewage collected by the city.

Cyril G. Hansen, chairman of the board, told the council that collection of sewage should stay in local hands but said the argument for consolidation of other services is inconclusive.

While acknowledging that a consolidation appears inevitable, he said bigness would not necessarily mean increased efficiency and lower cost.

The improvement district is studying a solution to the sewage treatment difficulties of communities surrounding Richardson Bay. The most commonly mentioned solution is a treatment plant at Tennessee Cove that would dump treated waste into the ocean.

Hansen and Carney said they would oppose that solution. "To require us to put in an entirely new set of pipes and reverse our flow would cost in excess of $1 million," Hansen said.

Instead, he suggested that the district's plant at Fort Baker be expanded to treat all of Southern Marin's sewage.

The joint meeting was held to answer a request by County Admin. John F. Barrows for comments on his proposal to place all sewage handling in the hands of one agency.

Groups In Opposition To Aqueduct

The Leagues of Women Voters of Central and Southern Marin have announced their opposition to the Marin-Sonoma Aqueduct, Measure B in Tuesday's election, according to Mrs. Charles McGranaghan, league publicity director.

She said the leagues do not support the measure because they are not convinced the aqueduct has been proven to be "the best or most feasible means of supplying water" to Marin.

Three water agencies have done almost all the planning for the project, the league noted. Mrs. McGranaghan said the groups believed other agencies, such as those dealing with land use planning, sewage disposal, conservation and preservation of the environment, should be involved in the planning.

How the aqueduct will fit into Sonoma and Marin's general plans for development has still not been determined, the leagues believe.

The two groups also expressed concern about the quality of the Russian River water which would be piped to Marin, noting that serious pollution problems, caused by human wastes and pesticides, now exist in that river.

In addition, the leagues contend the need for the additional water has been based on speculation about possible growth, although actual growth has fallen below previous projections made for the two counties.

The groups urged a complete reassessment of plans for the project.

Two Halloween-Masked Robbers Hit Hub Home

Two armed robbers wearing Halloween masks and gloves invaded a San Anselmo home at 2 a.m. today, robbed five persons of $128 cash and a guitar and fled, San Anselmo police reported.

The robbers burst through the front door of the home at 349 Redwood Road. They tied up occupants Frank Boerger, Daniel D. Clausen and Christine Cone with clothesline and looted their wallets, police reported.

Another occupant, Michael Baddams, was asleep in a bedroom. When he awoke and tried to escape he was hit on the head with a gun and forced to join the other victims lying on the living room floor.

A friend, George Krauss arrived and also was struck with a gun.

Krauss freed the others and attempted to chase the bandits in his car, but found no trace of them, he told officers.

New Secretary Hired For Bolinas District

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, after meeting in special closed session Wednesday night, voted to hire Helen McKay as district secretary at a salary of $657 a month. Mrs. McKay has been assistant secretary for the district since May 1970.

She will succeed Jane Boyer who held the post for three years. Mrs. Boyer has resigned, as of Nov. 15.

Little Celebration

A little pregame celebration by a "large group" of Terra Linda High School students took place at rival San Rafael High School early this morning. Signs, proclaiming tonight's game at San Rafael at 8 o'clock and colored toilet paper decorated the campus, police reported.

Ali Akbar College Offering Classes

The Ali Akbar College of Music has announced two beginning classes in Indian folk dance, and Indian dance for children starting next week.

Classes, to be taught by Chitresh Das, will begin Tuesday at 4 o'clock for children and Thursday at 7 p.m. for adults and will run six weeks. The college is located on the grounds of the old San Rafael Military Academy.

ANGELINA J. SOLDAVINI
Retiring as treasurer

San Rafael Treasurer Will Retire

Angelina J. Soldavini, San Rafael treasurer, tax and license collector, has announced plans to retire Jan. 31 after 44 years of employment by the city of San Rafael.

Miss Soldavini, 60, submitted her resignation in a letter to the city council, which will take up the matter at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the city hall.

Miss Soldavini said she decided "on the spur of the moment" to retire when she found out that her retirement income will probably be more than her current take-home pay. Her present salary is $1,050 a month, and she will retire at 88 per cent of that amount.

"I love to travel, I love my home and my garden and I love to cook and entertain," she said, when asked about retirement plans.

She said she also intends to continue as secretary of the California Municipal Treasurers and as an officer of the Italian Catholic Federation.

When she retires, Miss Soldavini will have completed exactly 44 years with the city. She went to work Feb. 1, 1928 as a clerk in the office she now heads.

She became treasurer herself on June 18, 1957, when City Treasurer C. C. Webb stepped down to deputy, making Miss Soldavini, his former deputy, the treasurer.

She has been reelected at four year intervals since then, most recently in April of this year.

Miss Soldavini, who has never had any employer other than the city, went to work when she was 17 after graduating from Healds Business College in San Francisco.

She was born in San Rafael, the daughter of the late Nathan F. Soldavini, a part owner of the West End Market.

Yule Basket Plea For Novato Poor

A plea for Christmas baskets for the poor in Novato was made last night by the Economic Opportunity Council advisory board in Novato.

The board will send out letters to churches and other organizations asking for donations of Christmas baskets, said Rev. Eugene Quinones, board member. Last year, more than 300 baskets were distributed through the local center, he said.

The board voted to ask Marin Open House to train some personnel to set up a temporary drug center in Novato sometime in the future, he said.

The Novato center is low on food and needs more food to give to the needy, said Mary Brooks, board chairman.

Housing Budgets Approved

Two 1972 budgets totaling $972,267, one for lowcost housing and the other for leased housing, have been approved by the Marin County Housing Authority, Keith Kelly, deputy executive director, reported.

The board, at a special budget meeting Wednesday, approved a $411,097 spending program for the authority's 492 units of low-rent housing and a $516,170 budget for the 241-unit leased-housing program.

Kelly said the leased-housing budget includes a $78,620 cost of administration (including $62,220 in salaries); $400,000 for rents paid out in the program, $18,550 for operation and maintenance and $13,950 for utilities.

According to the deputy director, $145,775 of the budget will come from rents paid by tenants in the federally subsidized housing. He said the authority will seek the additional $370,395 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Kelly said the authority believes the federal government will soon approve 200 more units of leased housing for Marin.

The low-rent housing budget includes $92,654 for administration ($77,654 of that in salaries); $79,500 for utilities for the projects; $140,428 for maintenance and operation and $49,000 for employee benefits. Expenditures for capital equipment purchase, including landscaping equipment and appliances, will total $11,515, Kelly said.

Of the total low-rent housing budget, an estimated $327,668 will come from rents from project tenants with the remaining $83,429 to be requested from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Plans For Development Advanced

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night approved a master plan and supporting documents for the 137-unit Canon Village and Tennis Club development.

Approval of the plans culminated months of haggling between city officials and the developers, Edna Getz and the Denkmann Co. of San Rafael.

According to Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, the plans will be forwarded to the city council with three conditions:

That approal of the master plan does not include density figures for development of Phase 3 (the upper portion); a field trip to the property be made by the commission to review building and site layout plans; and signing for the development be subject to review.

The proposal calls for the development to be build on about 100 acres on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Meadowland.

Application for the development was first made in February and were submitted by developer John Farrar Jr. of Janic Development Corp. of San Rafael which pulled out in June.

In related matters, two of the three parcels of property on which Canon Village will be built were rezoned last night from single family residential zoning to planned unit development.

Rule On 'Illegal' Aqueduct Pamphleteering Is Delayed

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday postponed decision until after Tuesday's election on whether the Marin Municipal Water District violated a court order in connection with the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct campaign.

At issue is distribution of a brochure advocating passage of Measure B on Tuesday's ballot. Judge Joseph G. Wilson had earlier ruled that the water district could not distribute brochures except on request.

Huey D. Johnson, western regional director of Nature Conservancy, filed papers in Marin Superior Court accusing the district of distributing the literature in defiance of Judge Wilson's Oct. 8 injunction.

Yesterday in court Wilson listened to arguments from attorneys on whether handing out copies of the material at a meeting of the board of supervisors Tuesday constituted a violation of the court order.

William R. Seeger, district general manager and chief engineer, told the court he did not bring the brochures to the meeting and he did not know how they got there, according to Wilson.

Also discussed was whether giving literature to the Independent-Journal at the newspaper's request was a violation of the order.

The judge set Nov. 19 for hearing further legal arguments.

How important is a bicycle to a home? Often, it's a nuisance, but what if we told you that you could cycle into the village, or to the Sausalito Ferry, or even to the breakers? It is a fact that you can — from Park Terrace. (We'll go you one better — you can walk from Park Terrace to commuting and to shopping.) If you are one of those estute buyers who recognizes convenience of location as a prime factor in a home, then you must see Park Terrace. In Mill Valley. RIGHT in Mill Valley, just off Miller Ave., before La Goma St. as you approach the village.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Considerable Misinformation About Glucose Tolerance Test

S. A. S. writes: "I've been told diabetes can be detected via a three- or four- hour blood sugar test. It is my understanding that five or six hours of testing are needed to determine low blood sugar. If these assumptions are true, how can you be sure the diabetics you find aren't, in fact, victims of low blood sugar? I'm confused."

There is considerable misinformation about the glucose tolerance test. This four-hour test is useful in diagnosing diabetes and hypoglycemia. Some background information is necessary to understand and interpret the results. Everyone has sugar (glucose) in the bloodstream. After a meal, foods containing sugars and starches (carbohydrates) are converted into glucose and get into the bloodstream. Some protein and fat is also converted into glucose.

GLUCOSE IS used for energy. The unused portion is stored in the liver or fat cells. The amount varies from hour to hour. It is lowest before breakfast and rises sharply after eating, especially carbohydrates. Within minutes after eating, the glucose in the blood stimulates the pancreas to produce insulin which is used to transfer sugar to muscle tissue for energy or to the liver for storage.

All of this is demonstrated via the glucose tolerance test. In the normal individual, the amount in the blood is low in the "before" test. One hour after eating, it is high. Two hours later, it is on its way down to normal where it remains for the next two hours. Diabetics lack insulin and, as a result, the sugar is not removed from the blood and remains high after the second, third and fourth hours.

A PERSON with hypoglycemia may have too much insulin and has a high reading after the first hour, a normal reading after the second hour, and an abnormally low reading after the third and fourth hours. The diagnosis is clinched if his symptoms develop at this time.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

LATE SYPHILIS

A reader writes: Is there any hope of arresting or relieving the ravages of late syphilis? If so, what type of treatment is given?

REPLY

The results of treatment are not as good as they are when the condition is treated in the early stages. If there is premanent damage to the heart or brain, the outlook is even less encouraging. Antibiotics are used in the treatment of late syphilis. In many instances, the blood test results do not become negative when the disease is treated in its late stages. However, the victims no longer are infected nor does the disease continue to progress.

STONES DIFFER

T. R. writes: Are kidney stones gallstones that moved from the gallbladder to the kidneys?

REPLY

No — each to its own organ. Stones form also in the salivary glands, the prostate and the lungs.

RESTRICTED DIET

Mr. T. V. writes: If a man of 66 is underweight and has low blood pressure, is it all right for him to eat butter and animal fats?

REPLY

Yes, and the same applies if the weight and blood pressure are normal. There is no need to use less butter and animal fats unless your blood cholesterol is high and the physician wants the level lowered.

'FROZEN' SHOULDER

C. B. B. writes: Can a frozen shoulder be unfrozen?

REPLY

Yes, via physical therapy, employing heat, massage and exercise. In some instances, manipulation while the individual is anesthetized is needed. Injections of procaine or hydrocortisone also are used.

CANDY AND NERVES

Miss D. writes: Whenever I get nervous or worried, I eat candy. Is this a mental problem?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Eating consoles some people when they are emotionally upset. This spares the nerves, but does not help the figure. There are better ways to overcome the jitters.

ALLERGIC TO BEE STINGS?

V. J. writes: Can a person be tested to see if he is allergic to bee stings?

REPLY

Yes; extracts are available for this purpose.

FIRE CALLS

NOTICE OF HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on October 14, 1971, the within resolution was adopted by the Board of Directors of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE BEL MARIN KEYS COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT
RESOLUTION NO. 25

WHEREAS, one of the purposes for which this District was formed is to provide public recreation by means of parks, including but not limited to aquatic parks and recreational harbors, playgrounds, golf course, swimming pools and recreation buildings, and

WHEREAS, this District has the prime responsibility for maintaining the Bel Marin Keys Lagoons, river and channel to the Petaluma River for the aforesaid recreational purpose, and

WHEREAS, feasibilities conducted under the auspices of this District indicate that the best solution to the siltation problems of the Lagoons and connected waterways would be the construction of a lock at the entrance to the Lagoons

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board hereby finds that it is necessary to construct the lock at the entrance to the Lagoon so as to maintain a constant navigable water level in said Lagoons, 24 hours a day for all persons in the community;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a bonded indebtedness for the construction of the aforesaid lock is the only feasible method which will be beneficial to the residents and taxpayers of the District insofar as the tax currently established by this District is incapable of producing enough revenue to construct the lock;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the purpose for which the indebtedness is to be incurred is to construct a lock to maintain a constant navigable water level within the Lagoons for a 24 hour a day basis. The amount of the proposed debt for the construction of the lock and interest on the indebtedness and incidental costs will be $700,000 for 25 years;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board hereby determines that November 12, 1971, at Bel Marin Keys Community Center, 4 Montego Key, Novato, California, at 8:30 P.M. shall be the time and place for hearing on whether the aforesaid indebtedness will benefit the whole or a portion of the District by the construction of the aforesaid lock;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of this District be, and is hereby, instructed to give notice of said hearing as required by law;

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District, held on the 14th day of October, 1971, by the following vote:

AYES: 4
NOES: 0
ABSENT: 1

/s/ ANTHONY M. SARGANIS
Chairman of the Board of Directors
ATTEST:
/s/ BETTY J. ZOELLER
Secretary

The hearing referred to in the Resolution will be had at the time and place specified in the Resolution and at that time and place any person interested, including all persons owning property in the District, will be heard upon the questions stated in the Resolution.

Ringside Seat With A Star

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's not often you get a chance to see a great movie with one of the stars of the film sitting right next to you. But it can happen, and it did.

The film was, "On Any Sunday," by Bruce Brown who did that award-winning film of surfing, "Endless Summer." The star next to me was Mert Lawwill of Tiburon. He's not an actor. He's a motorcycle racer, one of the best in the country.

William C. "Craig" Murray, president of Sears Point International Raceway which is due to open early next year, had invited a group to see the film now playing at Cinema 1 in Corte Madera. Mert and his pretty wife, June, were among the group.

IT WAS A motorcycle flick, an excellent one, bringing out the danger of the sport, the thrills, the disappointments, the pleasure, and yes, the beauty.

It started by showing a 5-foot-6, 143-pound young man walking down a crowded San Francisco Street, the man looking every bit like any young businessman. The man was Mert Lawwill, a gentle man in a violent world. If you had a look at him and then heard his quiet voice, the last guess you would make to his occupation would be motorcycle racer.

The film was shot during the 1970 season, with Lawwill defending his national racing championship. It was a frustrating season for Lawwill, who lost out because of mechanical failure almost every time he turned around.

THIS SEASON wasn't any better. Racing at Daytona Beach, Fla., in March, Lawwill's bike blew a tire, sending him rolling 100 feet down the track. He suffered a severe broken left arm and only a few days ago had his cast removed.

"Here's where it was," he whispered to me as the film was showing the 1970 Daytona race. "Coming out of this straightaway the tire blew." The crash ended the season for Lawwill who won't get back to competition until the first 1972 race, January in Houston.

LAWWILL WAS one of three main characters for the film, the others being moto-cross champ Malcom Smith, a young happy fellow from Riverside, Calif., and actor Steve McQueen who is one of the best amateur riders in the U.S.

Although it was the 31-year-old Lawwill's sixth viewing of the movie, the shots of the moto-cross cyclists sloshing through the mud still brought out some good belly laughs from him. And it WAS funny, watching those poor drivers trying to pull out hopelessly stuck motorcycles.

He doesn't go in for any of that stuff. His game is all track racing, on either asphalt or dirt. He's been racing since 1958 and until that unlucky 1970 season was in motorcycle racing's top 10 for six straight years.

THE FILM HIT every phase of motorcycle racing, through mud, ice, desert, salt flats, and even a log filled creek. "That's just some of it," said Lawwill. "They shot 160 hours of film for this."

The concluding scene had Lawwill, Smith and McQueen "cow trailing" through water, and then the sands of Baja, California, and Camp Pendleton, in Oceanside County. It really looked like fun. "It was," said Lawwill. "It was really fun shooting this part." Although the actual "show time" for that sequence was about five or six minutes, it took three days of filming to capture.

That's when I had this burning desire to go out and get on a motorcycle and head for the hills. Magnificent.

Bulldogs On Spot Tonight

Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools, two powerful football teams attempting to catch the Marin County Athletic League pennant leader Novato High, battle tonight at 8 o'clock.

In addition to the title chase influence, the beloved Victory Bell is on the line when the two arch rivals collide on San Rafael terrain. Terra Linda has won the San Rafael School Board-donated prize the last seven years. The Trojans have secured eight out of nine tries, surrendering it only in 1963. The match tonight represents the 10th renewal of a war which began in 1962.

The loser of this battle will be all but eliminated from the championship race, thus both Bulldog Coach Bob Muster and his Terra Linda colleague Don Lucas view this game as pivotal.

The tilt boils down to the San Rafael running versus quarterback Kevin Donohoe's lightning fast aerial assault. Both offenses are dangerous from nearly any spot on the field, thus a wide-open game is anticipated.

If the Donohoe passing pyroantics click, chances are endhalfback Mike Sabel and flankerback John Buckly will claim most of the catches. Each is

Novato Visits Tam Tomorrow

Front-running Novato High School hopes to move a step closer to the coveted Marin County Athletic League football title tomorrow at 1 p.m. when facing host Tamalpais High in Mill Valley.

If comparative records are any indication, the Hornets (5-1) should have little difficulty with the Mill Valley team (0-6). Since past records do not necessarily influence the outcome, coach Mike Davlin's Tam Indians approach this game with optimism. The Red and Blue have been in every contest but the San Rafael game, a 55-7 drubbing. "We've had so many darn penalties," Davlin said.

Despite the setbacks, the home team is confident of staying with Novato, providing the "breaks" even out.

Unbeaten Harriers San Rafael, Redwood Prepare For Showdown

Undefeated Redwood High disposed of Novato 20-42 yesterday to set the stage for next Thursday's Marin County Athletic League cross-country showdown with another unbeaten, San Rafael.

In other action yesterday, San Rafael downed San Marin, 20-37, and previously winless Drake surprised Terra Linda, 23-32.

Novato's unbeaten Dan Hutton was the individual winner against Redwood, but the Giants took places two through seven to win the meet. Their fine junior duo of Jan-Eric Moller and Mike Killeen almost upset Hutton, but a spurt in the last 100 yards by Dan gave him a five-second victory.

Hutton's time was 18:31 over

HARRY DALTON

New Angel Aide Off Fast

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Harry Dalton plunged into the job of rebuilding the California Angels today as the newly appointed vice president and general manager and the first task was settling the Tony Conigliaro case.

Conigliaro, obtained from the Boston Red Sox, left the team late in June because of an eye problem. The onetime slugging star has filed a grievance against the Angels seeking $30,000 in retroactive pay.

Dalton disclosed he would discuss the case with Boston general manager Dick O'Connell on the Angels' belief Conigliaro's eyesight was damaged when he was traded to the California club.

The Angels traded infielder Doug Griffin and relief pitcher Ken Tatum to the Red Sox for Conigliaro and Jerry Moses. And the club would be delighted to get either back or perhaps another man if Boston agrees it traded an injured player.

Dalton said Thursday that he was not ready to name a new field manager for the Angels to replace Harold "Lefty" Phillips whose contract was not renewed. He said it might be three or four weeks before he picks the new manager.

Dickson Fires 68 At Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Bob Dickson, an Oklahoma boy, won the U.S. and British Amateurs in 1967, turned pro and won the Haig Open and then flattened out to practically nothing as a golfer.

He had his best round of golf Thursday in a long, long time, shooting a 33-35—68 on the par 36-36—72 Paradise Valley Country Club course in the first round of the 72 hole $135,000 Sahara Invitational.

He had six birdies and two bogeys on his card.

The golf course was something else. The temperature never got higher than 47. It rained in bursts. It snowed a bit. The wind gusted to 30 miles an hour, churning up desert sand when it wasn't raining.

Lee Trevino, who learned to play in the winds of Texas, shot 37-32—69.

The merry Mexican admitted he doesn't like cold weather but said the wind didn't bother him.

"It's just like playing at home in El Paso," he explained.

There were two at 70—Bob Goalby 33-37; and Dale Douglass 34-34.

And six at 71—Don January 37-34; Jim Jamieson 35-36; Deane Beman 34-37; Bert Yancey 38-33; Fred Marti 35-36; and Paul Moran 35-36.

"I've played in worse weather—but not often," he said.

Doug Sanders shot 39-41—80.

Dickson was unable to explain his fine round of 68 except to say that he played a lot in the wind in Oklahoma.

Seals Upend Boston Bruins 2-0

Meloche Dazzling In Nets

BOSTON (UPI) —It was probably the finest night in the history of the California Golden Seals and ended with a kiss by the coach on his goaltender's mask.

Excited coach Vic Stasiuk leaped onto the ice in his street shoes and skidded up to rookie goalie Gilles Meloche shortly after the Seals blanked the Boston Bruins 2-0 Thursday night before 14,995 disappointed fans in Boston Garden.

They hadn't seen the Bruins shut out on home ice in nearly a year. It also was Boston's first loss to the Seals at the Garden since last Nov. 15 when a 2-1 Seals victory resulted in owner Charles O. Finley buying new $200 suits for every Seal player.

Finley and his generosity weren't in evidence Thursday night as Meloche, 23, turned aside all 34 Bruin shots, including a barrage of 15 in the first period. The win was the third in a row for the Seals.

Norm Ferguson scored the first Seals goal with 4 1-2 minutes remaining in the opening period after taking passes from Tom Williams and Wayne Carleton, two former Bruins. Dick Redmond intercepted a Boston pass, circled in front of defenseman Rick Smith and scored on a 10-foot backhander at 6:26 of the third period for the other California tally.

TWO-FOOT PUTT — It would have been an easy tap-in for a Boston goal last night, but the Seals' Dick Redmond (right) prevented the Bruins' Ken Hodge (center) from taking advantage of the situation. Seals Goalie Gilles Meloche (left) moved back into position, stayed there the rest of the night, and shut out the Bruins 2-0 in Boston.

(UPI Telephoto)

Boston, losing for the second night in a row, had several fine scoring chances, including six bids by wing John Bucyk but Meloche stopped everything.

Meloche came to the Seals from the Chicago Black Hawks along with Paul Schmyr, Kerry Bond and Gerry Pinder for netminder Gary Smith.

Meloche's performance reaffirmed the prediction of Seals general manager Garry Young that he could become one of the best goalies in the NHL. Young had been scouting Meloche for the past five years.

FACES HICKS

Foster Defends Crown

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI)—Bob Foster, the most active modern fighting champ, and Tommy Hicks, a teacher specializing in retarded children, passed their physicals with flying colors for Saturday night's light heavyweight title bout.

Two doctors from the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission examined the men Thursday and termed them in "excellent and superb physical condition" for 15 rounds or less.

State commission rules will be in effect for the fight, sponsored by Friends of Boxing, Inc. The sponsors are predicting a gate that will surpass the one when Foster kayoed Hal Carroll here in the fourth round.

The odds appear to favor a knockout rather than a verdict before the two judges and a referee.

Foster has recorded 36 knockouts in 49 professional fights and Hicks has KO's in more than half of his 24 bouts.

Foster, of Albuquerque, N.M., says he didn't come to this northeastern Pennsylvania city to go a full 15 rounds, and Hicks, of Ithaca, N.Y., is equally confident he'll take home the crown.

Dave Grayson Sets $350,000 Suit In Motion

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Former Oakland Raiders defensive back Dave Grayson has filed a $350,000 libel suit against the Copley Newspapers in connection with a story which said he had passed tips on football defenses to an old teammate.

While filing the suit Thursday, Grayson denied a report published in the Sept. 27 San Diego Union that he had given Oakland Raider receiver Fred Biletnikoff some hints about the defensive alignments of the San Diego Chargers. The story alleged Grayson and Biletnikoff had talked on the telephone prior to the Sept. 26 game that Oakland won 34-0.

GAME SUNDAY

Jim Plunkett To Face Niners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Paul Wiggin, defensive line coach of the San Francisco 49ers, figures New England quarterback Jim Plunkett will be in for a rough afternoon Sunday.

"Plunkett does a lot of rolling out," said Wiggin. "It's going to be mighty interesting to see him try to outrun Hart and Hardman."

Wiggin pointed to the fact that Tommy Hart and Cedrick Hardman, the defensive ends of San Francisco, are as fast as some of the running backs in the NFC.

Hart and Hardman anchor a 49er defense which has sacked quarterbacks 25 times for 199 lost yards. Last year, the San Francisco defense collared the quarterback 30 times during the entire season.

Meanwhile, strong safety Mel Phillips, who missed the St. Louis game with an ankle injury last week, will be ready for the Patriots.

Linebacker Ed Weisacosky of the New England Patriots is psyching himself for a "very physical" afternoon against the San Francisco Forty-Niners.

"This may be a very busy afternoon, Sunday," the former Forty-Niner said. "I know this one Sunday is going to be very physical."

Weisacosky, who recorded four individual tackles and four assists last weekend against the Dallas Cowboys in his first start, said the Forty-Niners like to "come at you."

However, he says if the club can overcome "breakdowns" which have plagued them, things might be a bit different.

On hand to greet the Pats will be Bruce Taylor, the former Boston University great who was named the NFC Rookie of the Year last year.

The 6-foot, 180-pound cornerback and punt return specialist says his team will be looking to get at Plunkett.

"We'll test him pretty good," he said in citing Forty-Niners' four. "The best pass defense is a good pass rush and we've got it."

Warriors Entertain Houston In San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The Golden State Warriors are playing a "home" game against the Chicago Bulls tonight but Bay Area fans must travel more than 500 miles to see it.

It's one of six so-called home games that the Oakland-based NBA team will play in San Diego. And it's the start of a north-south shuttle service which sees the Warriors flying back to Oakland for a game against Cincinnati Saturday night and then flying down to Los Angeles for an encounter with the Lakers Sunday.

Tonight's game and the one Sunday with the Lakers will be televised back to the Bay Area (KTVU, Channel 2).

Golden State is 3-3 in the Pacific Division of the NBA after losing by two points to the Buffalo Braves Tuesday night. Chicago, meanwhile, has won five in a row after opening the season with a loss to Philadelphia.

Bob Love is averaging 315 points for the Bulls who beat the Warriors four times in six meetings last season.

Newcomer Cazzie Russell and Jeff Mullins are the leading scorers for the Warriors.

Broncos, Saints Swap Leaders

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

NEW YORK — The Denver Broncos and the New Orleans Saints led a record year for trades among National Football League clubs as it was announced yesterday that 187 players changed uniforms in 124 swaps for 1971.

The Broncos and the Saints each completed 20 trades while Washington, under the league's most renowned "wheeler-dealer," coach George Allen, was right behind with 19 transactions.

A total of 112 offensive players and 75 defensive players were involved in the trades, including 14 quarterbacks.

MILWAUKEE — The Green Bay Packers announced yesterday that a cardiac intensive care unit, staffed by a doctor, registered nurse and specialists, will be at County Stadium for the team's game Monday night against the Detroit Lions.

The Packers said the move was prompted by the death last week of Chuck Hughes, who died of a heart attack during a game between the Lions and the Chicago Bears.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The National Collegiate Athletic Association council yesterday reprimanded and censured Montana State University for violating principles governing financial aid to student--athletes.

Specifically, the NCAA said in a statement, during September, 1970, the University's head football coach presented a $10 cash award to a student-athlete for outstanding performance in a football game Sept. 26, 1970.

DOVER, Del. — A Delaware State College athlete who was kicked off the football team along with 12 other players after a drug abuse investigation earlier this month has been arrested in a campus drug raid.

Willie Paul, 20, Newark, N.J., was charged with possession of heroin and cocaine with intent to sell after Delaware state police raided Medger Evers Hall yesterday.

It was the same story at San Marin, as San Rafael's depth overcame a strong individual performance by San Marin's Gary Lathrop. Lathrop's 14:21 clocking gave him first place by a 30-second margin, but San Rafael grabbed places two through six to win the meet.

Doug Green was second at 14:51, Jerry Lansing third at 15:04, Dan Johnson fourth at 15:10, Jack Kruusmagi fifth at 15:15, and Fletcher Lesley sixth at 15:18.

Drake's Grant Missiner was the individual champion with 13:24 as the Pirates downed Terra Linda. The losing Trojans captured second and third, with Pat Thornton recording 13:37 and Augie Venezie 13:53, but Drake captured fourth through sixth.

Redwood and San Rafael now stand alone at the top with 5-0 league records, and meet Thursday at Phoenix Lake to decide the title.

The freshman-sophomore team title will also be on the line at that meet. San Rafael drubbed San Mateo 15-45 yesterday behind Ray Green's 16:01 triumph.

FIGHTER PROTECTION

Reagan Signs Pension Bill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed a bill its author says will provide some financial protection for professional boxers "who are through."

"I've always wanted to do something for the boxer who is all through," Thomas, who coached the sport at Santa Clara from 1930 to 1934, said of his bill.

The measure would create a trust fund under the jurisdiction of the state Athletic Commission. Fighters wishing to join it would contribute a portion of their purses. The retirement benefits would come from the fund after the fighter left the ring.

Thomas' bill also establishes a special disability insurance program for professional boxers whose cost would be shared equitably among boxers and fight promoters.

His plan would give the boxer a minimum $100-a-month pension if he was in the ring for at least five years. Smaller amounts would go to those who boxed less than five years and thus made less than maximum contributions to the pension plan.

Hungry Cougars Enjoy The Honey

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Don't blame the Washington State Cougars if they want the entire beehive after getting their first taste of Pacific-8 Conference honey since 1968.

The Cougars upset Stanford 24-23 last week for their first Pac-8 win in three years behind the running of tailback Bernard Jackson and quarterback Ty Paine. Ken Grandberry, another stellar Cougar running back, missed the game with a leg injury but will be back to face Oregon at Spokane this weekend.

Oregon is 2-1 in the conference and WSU 1-1. All the Cougars need to do to get a trip to the Rose Bowl is to beat Oregon, USC, Oregon State and Washington on successive Saturdays.

The game features the top two running backs in the Pac-8 —Oregon's Bobby Moore and Jackson. Moore, averaging 125.3 yards rushing, and Jackson, with 112.1, are the only backs in the conference over 100 yards each game.

In addition, Paine and Duck quarterback Dan Fouts are deadlocked behind Stanford's Don Bunce and Washington's Sonny Sixkiller in total offense. Fouts and Paine have been averaging more than 167 yards a game.

Oregon's defense has a big hole with the loss for the rest of the season of linebacker Tom Graham who has a broken right ankle.

Stanford will try to improve on its conference-leading 3-1 record at Oregon State (1-1); USC (0-2) looks for its first Pac-8 win at home against California which has a 3-0 non-counting conference record, and Sixkiller and the Huskies (1-2) are favored to down UCLA (1-1) by six.

There also are key games in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association and Far Western Conference to determine a clear-cut leader as football 1971 heads into the stretch.

San Diego State and Fresno State, both 2-0 in the PCAA, meet at Fresno Saturday night. UC Davis (2-0), unbeaten in six games, entertains Chico State (2-1) Saturday night in the FWC. Hayward State, also still in the running for the FWC title with a 2-0-1 mark, hosts Humboldt State (1-1).

In another PCAA struggle, University of Pacific (0-3) travels to San Jose State (1-1) Saturday night. In non-conference games, UC Santa Barbara (1-5) is at Hawaii (4-1), Los Angeles State (1-5) visits Cal State Fullerton and Long Beach State (4-3) plays at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

Stanford and Oregon State both are coming off losses. The Beavers secondary has yielded 10 touchdown passes, most in the league, and Indian signal-caller Bunce undoubtedly has taken note of that fact. Coach Dee (The Great Pumpkin) Andros has guided the Beavers to several notable upsets in the past and with Halloween only one night away, the Beavers could very well rise out of the pumpkin patch to smack down the Indians.

California has pulled three straight victories off the griddle in the closing seconds with the aid of passes from Jay Cruze to flanker Steve Sweeney. The Trojans plan to overload the zone on the side where Sweeney operates in hopes of cutting down his effectiveness, especially in the final few minutes if the game is close.

In Los Angeles, it will be the passing of Sixkiller against the running of Marv Kendricks, who must carry even more of the UCLA's offensive load with Kermit Johnson out for the season.

Pires Bout Vs. Foreman Set Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) —After George Foreman fights Luis Pires in Madison Square Garden tonight, fans will ask the No. 2 heavyweight contender "Who's next?"

Will there be more of the no-name fighters that have buckled under the savagery of Foreman's mighty fists? More Charlie Bostons, more Stamford Harrises, more Ollie Wilsons?

Or will this fight have been the last of the preparation matches designed to get Foreman ready to come face-to-face with his ultimate goal — the heavyweight title of the world?

Foreman's manager, Dick Sadler, was noncommittal as to where George is going from here. He realizes the people would like to see his fighter go against the No. 1 contender, Muhammad Ali, and then the champion, Joe Frazier.

"It means nothing to me fighting Ali," said Sadler. "I want to fight the champion, that's all. Right now Ali ain't nothing. Frazier beat him fair and square last time. Knocked him on his damn behind. We don't want no ex-champ. We want the-e-e-e champ. It would be a break for Ali to fight me. I've got 28 knockouts in 31 fights."

It's true that Foreman has been unbeatable in the ring as a professional since he won the Olympic gold medal in Mexico City back in 1968. But the knock against the 23-year-old native of Hayward, Calif., has been the quality of his opponents. Sadler has brought Foreman along slowly, wisely. He's gotten better with each fight. He's more confident in the ring. His punches land with more crispness. His footwork has improved. He's developed ring sense.

But is he ready to fight Frazier or Ali?

Laver Reaches Net Semi-Finals

Laver, the veteran Australian pro, remained the only seeded player left in the Wills Embassy Tennis Tournament Thursday when he advanced to today's semi-final with a 3-6, 64, 6-2 victory over Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

Laver, who won the $48,000 tournament last year, will meet Bob Hewitt of South Africa in semi-final play and Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., takes on Romania's Ille Nastase in the other match.

Laver had trouble in the early going against Drysdale before settling down to defeat the South African. He changed his tactics in the second set, using a varied attack to offset Drysdale's two-hand backhand.

Nastase pulled off another of the many upsets in the tourney when he knocked off top seed John Newcombe 9-7, 6-2. Newcombe reinjured his right knee early in the first set and went through the motions in losing to Nastase.

Gorman, who specialized in upsets during the Wimbledon tournament, where he made it to the semi-finals after entering unseeded, rebounded from a slow start to beat South Africa's Frew McMillan 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Hewitt had little trouble moving into the semis, stopping Australian Ray Rufeels 6-4, 6-2.

Newcombe admitted that he wasn't taking any chances after reinjuring his knee. "I felt the knee go and after that I was not prepared to take any risks," he said. "I'm not sure whether I'll go to Stockholm next week. I'll have to see if the leg acts up before making a final decision."

NFL ROUNDUP

Oakland, Kansas City Renew Heated Grid Rivalry

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With the National Football League season reaching its midway point this week, the jockeying for position in the various division races takes on increasing importance.

Despite excellent starts by a handful of teams, none of the six divisions has produced a runaway and there isn't a single leader boasting anything more comfortable than a one-game lead. Thus, a number of games will have a direct bearing on the standings, although two stand out in particular on Sunday.

In these, the Kansas City Chiefs and Oakland Raiders, fierce old rivals with identical 5-1 records, clash in California while the Miami Dolphins, developing into a power team for the first time in their history, invade Los Angeles for their first meeting ever with the Rams.

The Chief-Raider game, with first place in the Western Division of the American Football Conference at stake, is rated pick 'em and Los Angeles, the Western Division leader in the National Football Conference, is picked by four points over the Dolphins, who head the Eastern Division of the AFC.

In other games Sunday, the Cleveland Browns are picked by six points over the Atlanta Falcons, the St. Louis Cardinals are nine over the Buffalo Bills, the Denver Broncos are 6 1-2 over the Philadelphia Eagles, the Minnesota Vikings are 13 1-2 over the New York Giants, the Washington Redskins are 13 1-2 over the New Orleans Saints, the Dallas Cowboys are 6 1-2 over the Chicago Bears, the San Francisco Forty-Niners are 20 over the New England Patriots and the San Diego Chargers are 10 over the New York Jets. There is no line on the Baltimore-Pittsburgh and Cincinnati-Houston games.

Daryle Lamonica, the Oakland quarterback, suffered a jammed thumb injury to his throwing arm last Sunday, but shrugged it off today and said he would be ready for the Chiefs.

"My arm went numb when I got that sprain last Sunday," he said, "but there was no swelling on my hand so it's all right."

The leading rusher for the Raiders has been Merv Hubbard, with an average of 5.4 yards for 87 carries. He received a starting chance following injuries to Hewritt Dixon and Charley Smith, and he's more than anxious for another shot at Kansas City. Following last December's game between the teams when Oakland wrapped up the Western crown, 285 lb. Hubbard gaining 93 yards and a touchdown, he said, "I'm at my best against these guys (Kansas City). I love to beat them more than anything else."

The Chiefs feel they have the answer for Hubbard and his teammates this year. In their last five games they have allowed their opponents less than 100 yards rushing, a total of only 412 rushing yards over that span.

A ground battle is expected at Los Angeles since the Rams and the Dolphins are the No. 1 rushing teams in their respective conferences. Miami, in fact, is the overall offensive leader in the AFC while Los Angeles ranks fifth in the NFC.

Larry Csonka is Miami's leading rusher with 496 yards and four touchdowns on 91 carries and his sidekick, Jim Kiick, has compiled 436 yards and one touchdown on 86 carries. In addition, Kiick has caught 13 passes for 130 yards.

NBA ROUNDUP

New York Wins Despite Hurt Reed

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Everybody is aware the New York Knicks aren't playing up to their potential and the reason can be traced to Willis Reed's inability to get around any more.

Reed underwent surgery during the offseason to correct knee damage but wound up with a bad case of tendonitis in the limb. He played 30 minutes in Thursday night's 112-94 victory over Houston.

"Everybody senses that Reed has a problem" Walt Frazier said after the game. "The fans realize it and the players know it. Each guy has to play that much harder. We can't depend on Willis like we used to do."

Reed scored only three points. He asked Coach Red Holzman for permission to play and then asked to be taken out of the game when the pain became unbearable.

"I don't know how long this problem is going to last," Reed said as he sat dejectedly in the locker room. "All I know is that the pain is there and it's slowing me down."

Fortunately, the Knicks, now 5-4 in league play, have an awakening giant in Dave DeBusschere. DeBusschere not only does his thing in rebounding, he has been one of the club's hottest marksmen.

He scored 26 points against Houston, matching Dick Barnett's output, and gathered 18 rebounds. Jerry Lucas finally has materialized into the player New York expected when it acquired him from Golden State for Cazzie Russell. Lucas tallied 14 points Thursday and grabbed eight-rebounds.

Frazier wasn't too enthused over the Rocket victory, however. He thinks the team still has a long way to go to match the type of play that brought New York the NBA title in 1970.

"Winning the game felt good after last night's loss in Atlanta," Frazier said. "Still, I can't get too worked up over it. Everybody else has been beating Houston, so we can't really feel too proud."

The loss was Houston's eighth in nine starts this season and provided additional ammunition for rookie Coach Tex Winter's campaign to change the club's image.

"We have more young people than any other team," Winter said, "and you can blame that on my inexperience. It was my notion to go with the youth movement, but I see now I've put myself on the spot. We might have to go back to using some veterans, or we might have to come up with a trade to strengthen the club.

Winter wasn't referring to Calvin Murphy, who scored 21 points, or Elvin Hayes, with 19, when he talked about trades. He is pleased with their work. He also praised Rudy Tomjanovich, a Michigan University star who rode the Rockets' bench most of last season. Tomjanovich has averaged 18 points a game through Houston's first eight contests.

Barry Clemens came off the bench to score 14 of his 26 points in the second quarter and lead the Sonics over Buffalo. Clemens hit four straight field goal and six-of-six foul shots. Spencer Haywood added 25 points for Seattle while Bob Kauffman led the Braves with 27.

Import Car Show Set Nov. 9-14 In San Francisco

The annual Import Car Show will be held Nov. 9-14 at the Civic Auditorium and Brooks Hall in San Francisco.

Car makers from six foreign countries, comprising almost every major manufacturer now retailing vehicles in the United States, will have exhibits.

Production cars, futuristic prototypes, race cars and antique autos will be displayed in the two main buildings, while race films will be shown in nearby Larkin Hall.

Swimmers Run Record To 4-0

Marin Catholic High School's girls swimming team ran its Marin County Athletic League record to 4-0 yesterday with a close 61-56 victory over Tamalpais' girls team (1-3) in the Tamalpais pool.

Ann Haley of Marin Catholic and Lisa Berryman of Tam were triple winners.

Marin Catholic Wins In 'C' Cage

Marin Catholic walloped Terra Linda, 64-16, to win its ninth straight game of the year and 25th in a row in Marin County Athletic League Class "C" basketball yesterday.

Surprising Minnesota Dumps Pittsburgh 2-0

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

They seemingly substantiated this promise by dumping the Pittsburgh Penguins 2-0, while the Philadelphia Flyers edged the Vancouver Cannucks 3-2 in National Hockey League action Thursday.

Cesare Maniago turned aside 35 Pittsburgh shots in registering his second shutout of the season and Bill Goldsworthy and J. P. Parise scored the goals for Minnesota, which now has won seven and tied one of nine starts to close within a single point of first-place Chicago in the West Division.

"It was a good game to win but lady luck was with me on a couple of those shots," Maniago admitted later. "One shot bounced off my stick when I was down and another went into my pads. I didn't even see it."

Simon Nolet scored his second goal of the night at 10:25 of the third period to give Philadelphia its margin of victory over Vancouver. Larry Mickey had the other Flyer goal.

FISH AND GAME

Looking Forward To Chuker Hunt

By AL GIDDINGS

HONEY LAKE, Lassen County — With the deer season over in Northeastern California, my wife, Mary, and I are "hanging on" for a few more days to get in a chuker hunt when the season opens tomorrow.

In all of our deer, rabbit and duck hunts, not once have we seen or heard a chuker. Last year, while here deer hunting, we saw chukers in various areas but those same places have been void this year. It seems to be the same with pheasants at Honey Lake, and even the cottontails have been mightyscarce everywhere this year. All the Fish and Game management men in this area say that last winter was real tough for the birds. Many didn't survive. So if you have plans for a chuker hunt, or expect to take home some cottontails, you may be in for a disappointment.

DUCK SHOOTING at Honey Lake (Fleming Area) was good last Saturday, fair Sunday, but dropped to 1.4 birds per hunter on the Monday holiday. If it's windy, of course, things will pick up. Check the weather conditions; the rougher the weather, the better the shoot. Three geese were taken, but most aren't here yet.

I spent a day over at Bieber, Lassen County, down on the Pit River. No birds, but I spent a few hours with Floyd Dowell, one of the Lassen County Wardens. He had a stack of deer tags which he had validated. Two of them were from bucks (4 pointers) taken by the Ongaro's of San Anselmo. Now you can't beat that!

If you noticed — we are now camped at Honey Lake. It got so cold on that mountain near Ravendale, that when the temperature hit 16 degrees one morning, and Bruno, our dog, crawled right into our sleeping bags at 6 a.m., I said, "We are going down the mountain today." So here we are. Oh, we're doing fine! Right now, Mary is cooking liver and onions, and we have a quarter of Mary's buck hanging right alongside three mallards. It's a banquet every nite. It's the only way to go!

I RECEIVED a press release from the Department of Fish and Game which states that 100,000 rainbow trout fingerlings were planted in Nicasio. I can't check this now, but it is unusual! Some 50,000 fingerlings were also planted in Kent Dam.

I also read where a sturgeon was caught last Feb. 14. Here's the story:

BACK ON Oct. 6, 1954, Dick Pycha was a young junior aquatic biologist barely three months on the job with the Department of Fish and Game.

Assigned to Inland Fisheries, which then had the responsibility for striped bass and sturgeon studies, the 28-year-old Pycha tagged a white sturgeon and released it in San Pablo Bay.

Actually, Pycha tagged the fish twice, placing one tag in the middle of the back and another near the tail. The DFG at the time was attempting to determine the best location in which to tag fish and the best type of tag to use.

Pycha left the department the following May. Years passed. Pycha advanced into his 30s. He became 40. More years passed. In 1969 the Anadromous Fisheries Branch was organized and assumed control of striped bass and sturgeon studies.

AND THE years continued to pass. Pycha, who had since moved to Michigan, was working in the Great Lakes area.

Then on Feb. 14 of this year — 16½ years from the time Pycha tagged and released the fish — Mrs. Roy J. Christensen of Reno landed a white sturgeon from the waters of San Pablo Bay.

Examination of the tag on the fish — a disc dangler attached to the back — revealed that the sturgeon was the one Pycha had tagged many years before. Long since lost was the disc tag attached near the tail.

Trojans, San Rafael Set Offensive Show

gifted with excellent hands and fine moves.

Both have also shown game-breaking talents; in fact, Sabel will probably shuttle in and out of a running back slot to lend additional diversity to the Trojan attack.

San Rafael, on the other hand, features the awesome threesome of runners Scott Duncan, Mark Farrar and Dave Urquhart. Each is quick and hard-hitting, but Duncan is clearly the ace. He leads the MCAL in rushing, thanks to several long-distance runs. When Duncan rests, the opposing defense doesn't; because alternate Jim Grigg, a 10.1 sprinter, is also a tremendous threat.

If he tries this against Terra Linda, he will likely be running into the hard-nosed Sabel or tackle Larry Madden.

Craig Marshall, Alvin Price and Don Parker.

However, inexperience and fouls have repeatedly ruined Tam's victory intentions.

Conversely, Novato makes few errors. The rock-ribbed Hornet defense gives up little yardage in the air and less on the ground. Interior linemen Pat Karinen, Rick Reis and Russ Weklych have blunted many a sharp running attack this season. Additionally, the Rennier brothers, Mike and John, are equally stingy against the pass.

When the defense isn't shining, it can be blamed on the vaunted Novato offense. In recent outings, the attackers, led by quarterback Marty Moroski and tailback Leo Magers, have exhibited quick-striking firepower.

If Novato continues its productive ways, Tam may be in for a long afternoon.

The lineups:

(Defense) LE Biber, LT Stubblebine, MG Bob Brewster, RT Dave Martin, RE Bill Duvall, LLB Tim Nowell, RLB Mike Ford, LW Locey, RW Mike Shimmins, LS Price, RS Hall.

CAN AM CHALLENGE

Revson Favored To Win Riverside Grand Prix

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Peter Revson, 32-year-old transplanted New Yorker who has taken the play away from McLaren teammate Denis Hulme this year, seeks to become the first American to win the Can-Am title Sunday.

Off his record in the previous nine Can-Am races in 1971, Revson figures to be the man to beat in the $75,000 Times Grand Prix, the final event of the series over Riverside's 3.3-mile, nine-turn road course.

Revson, from Redondo Beach, Calif., has five victories and 127 points to two triumphs and 112 points for Hulme, winner of the past two Times races.

Even if Hulme takes the Times Grand Prix for the third straight year, Revson can take the series title with only a sixth place or better. "I have the advantage," admitted the Can-Am point leader.

"I'm conscious of the fact that I don't have to win and I will drive accordingly. If I can win the race, fine. But the main objective is to win the championship."

The Gulf McLarens driven by Revson and Hulme should receive a strong challenge from the L&M Lola and Jackie Stewart of Scotland. Stewart has two victories in the series and ranks third in the point race with 76.

If Hulme, who won the Can-Am crown in 1970 and 1968, is bothered about losing his series title to Revson, he doesn't show it.

"I'm glad Jackie Stewart can't win," the balding New Zealander remarked. "Our team's the best out. Stewart didn't win it all this year. We proved the McLaren team is difficult to beat."

Since the Group 7 series was started in 1966, the other champions were John Surtees (1966) and the late Bruce McLaren (1969 and 1967). Surtees is from England and McLaren was from New Zealand.

A 12-year racing veteran, Revson scored his victories, in order, at Atlanta, Watkins Glen, N.Y.; Elkhart Lake, Wis.; Brainerd, Minn., and Monterey, Calif.

His first Can-Am triumph—at Road Atlanta—came in the third race of the series.

Revson was so happy he sprayed everyone near him with his victory champagne. He followed the script after his four other wins, earning him the nickname of "Champagne Peter."

Asked about Revson's ability behind the wheel, McLaren team manager Teddy Mayer said:

"Peter has a sensible approach to racing. He has been around racing long enough to know that it takes more than bravery to be a race driver."

Hulme played down the competition angle with Revson.

"Fortunately, Peter and I are both sensible drivers," he said. "Otherwise, we would be liable to pound these cars into the ground. We are both bright enough not to."

The No. 4 scorer in the series, Switzerland's Jo Siffert, was killed in a Formula I crash at Brands Hatch, England, last weekend.

Qualifying was set today and Saturday.

Prep Quarterback Takes Own Life Under Cloud Of Mystery

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The spunky quarterback of a high school football team was found dead in a park near his home two days before a game his coach had been confident would be the first win of the season.

Multnomah County medical investigators said apparently Jeff Austin, 16, a junior at David Douglas High School, took his own life Thursday. A .38 caliber weapon was found near the body after some grade school students sighted Austin's school satchel by a path nearby.

County officials gave no theory on the reason for the death, and principal Robert A. Miller said he had been unable to come up with any answer to what he termed a "frustrating and hellish" question.

"I assume whatever was bothering him it came up quick," said football coach Wyman Gernhart. "I'd be the first one he would come to otherwise if something had been bothering him.

"He was close to me."

Gernhart said young Austin had left school early Thursday, missing his physical education class and the football practice that followed.

"He was the kind of boy you would want a quarterback to be," said Gernhart, with his voice breaking. "He would get knocked down on a play or two, and come right back on the next play and it would be the big opener."

The coach said that young Austin played freshman football and then sat out the sport in his sophomore year while he concentrated on basketball and baseball. However, he said the youth began coming out for football again during the late training period this summer and began lifting weights to strengthen his 5 foot 9, 160-pound frame.

Two NFL Players In Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) —At least two National Football League players and a physician will testify next Monday before a House subcommittee investigating artificial turf, the NFL Players' Association reported Thursday.

Ed Garvey, president of the Association, said Bernie Wright of the Cincinnati Bengals, who is a vice president of the Players' Association, and Gus Holloman of the New York Jets will give testimony before California Congressman John Moss and members of his subcommittee on commerce. The hearing is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. EST.

Dr. James Garrick of Seattle, Wash., who has conducted studies on synthetc surfaces at the University of Washington, will release some of his findings to the subcommittee, according to Garvey.

Wildcats Go For Win No. 6

The red-hot Marin Catholic High School footballers will attempt to notch a sixth consecutive victory when the Kentfield team hosts St. Patrick's of Vallejo tomorrow at 2 p.m.

After dropping the first two games, the Wildcats, under the inspired guidance of rookie coach Bruno Banducci, reeled off victories against all comers, due largely to the running of tailback Pat Parnow.

However, Banducci's top back is out a couple of weeks with an injury, giving way to Mark Ferrua last week. The results were the same, a 28-8 win over host Tamalpais.

Once again, Banducci is calling on Fernua, quarterbacks Steve Schaumleffel and Steve Sherry, and runners Lane Cozza and Rick Cervisi to move the football. If they succeed in this, St. Patrick's may not enjoy the festivities.

The lineups:

Santa Anita Jockey Denied Reinstatement

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jockey L.J. Durousseau, suspended a week ago for allegedly having an electrical device in his possession during a race at Santa Anita, Thursday lost a court battle for immediate reinstatement.

The Oak Tree at Santa Anita stewards ordered the suspension and referred his case to the California Horse Racing Board with the recommendation that his license as a rider should be revoked.

Durousseau took his case to court in an effort to gain reinstatement prior to Saturday's close of the Oak Tree meeting on grounds he was being denied the right to earn a living.

San Francisco 49er rookie punter Jim McCann, eighth round draft choice from Arizona State University, will be the guest speaker of the Marin Chapter 49er Goal Rushers, Monday at 12:15 p.m., at San Rafael's Holiday Inn.

Marin Gridders To Face DeAnza

There will be no surprises, but plenty of problems, when the College of Marin Tars face the DeAnza Dons tonight at 7:30 at Foothill College, Los Altos.

College of Marin's game plan calls for a lot of passing by quarterback Bob Daniele, who completed nine of 13 last week in addition to running a kickoff back 93 yards. Daniele will mix up rollouts, sprint-outs and dropback passing in an effort to blunt the powerful Don rush.

Read is unhappy about his offensive backfield, which fumbled nine times in recent Camino Norte Conference losses to West Valley (16-9) and Solano (30-23). Larry Walker and Leon Delisle will start at halfback, Bob Sutherland at fullback, and Mike Locati at flanker.

On offense, the Dons "are just like Solano — they'll come right at you," said Reed. DeAnza runs about three plays out of every four, and their infrequent air attempts are generally deep play-action passes. The Dons' throwing has suffered since quarterback Jay Cruze went on to bigger things at the University of California.

"It's the mental aspect I'm worried about most," said Read. "We have to be ready to play mentally. We have to do everything."

Marin's record is 0-6. DeAnza lost last week to league leader Santa Rosa, 12-0.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Merger Responsible For Sales Increase

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Please give me a rundown on Eastern Air Devices. What or who is responsible for the large increase in the company's fiscal 1971 sales? — O.C.

A. Acquisition in August 1970 of All Channel Products Corp. added substantially to Eastern's sales base. For the year ended August 1970, All Channel had sales of $5 million and earnings of $134,000. The merged companies reported a $6.6 million increase in sales for fiscal 1971, pushing that figure to $25 million. Net income more than doubled and was equal to 60 cents a share, fully diluted, compared with 36 cents the previous year.

Products manufactured include protective systems, electro-mechanical assemblies, electric connectors, terminals and switches, fishing tackle, loudspeakers and TV and FM antennas. Prior to the merger, 23 per cent of sales went to foreign markets. As of January 30, 1971, backlog was down from $4.7 million to $4.3 million. Shares, which are traded on the American Exchange, are 80 per cent closely held.

Q. My portfolio consists of 20M U.S. Leasing 9¼s of 1974, 200 shares of U.S. Leasing and a substantial amount of North American Mortgage Investors. I am 71, need income and wonder if I should sell U.S. Leasing common, which is now about triple my cost price? — M.M.

A. Prospects for continued price appreciation in this issue appear to be above average. After a sharp run-up shares have met resistance at the mid-30 level. However, once this barrier is penetrated, further gains could be scored. If income requirements are pressing, shares should be sold for investment in a high interest bond, otherwise retention is advised.

North American Mortgage Investors has reported higher earnings in each of the last five quarters. Since the company policy is to pay out 100 per cent of earnings in dividends, yield has been generous. Thus this issue, as well as your bond holding, meets your investment goal.

NIGHT VISION BINOCULARS

Sharper than an owl's eye, this young lady looks at objects in the sky with new electronic night vision binoculars. Her lightweight device uses special wafer-type tubes developed for the U.S. Army by International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. The binoculars can pick out all details of a scene illuminated only by the dimmest starlight.

Holding Company's Earnings Increase

ORINDA (BW) — First Builders Bancorp. Bay Area-based housing industry holding company, has reported that earnings per share after taxes for the nine months ended Sept. 30 amounted to 56 cents, compared to 29 cents for the year-earlier period.

Net sales for the first nine months of 1971 were $7,420,543 vs. 1970's $2,869,468. Pre-tax income was $628,836 vs $220,161. Income after attribution for taxes amounted to $305,706 as against $120,510.

Fiscal Change

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Republic Corp. has changed its fiscal year from Oct. 31 to July 31.

A Special Card For Auto Purchases

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The Bank of America has developed a special card for automobile purchases which it is initially offering to 200,000 customers.

Called the preferred auto rate card, it will allow the bearer to finance a new car purchase at a preferred rate.

Market Is Firm During Early Hours

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market was firm after almost two hours of trading Friday. Trading was moderate.

Shortly before 12 noon advances topped declines by almost 150 issues —596 to 452 — of the 1,389 issues on the tape.

Lawrence Watchtel, analyst for Bache & Co., said Friday's mild followup was restrained "by the advent of the weekend, when traders and investors hesitate to commit themselves." He noted, however, that the market drew some encouragement from a Wall Street Journal story that the Stock Exchange planned to seek a reduction in margin requirements.

"News like this is always a plus for the market," he said.

"If the market holds at this level, I feel it will be in good shape," he observed, adding that all major indicators reflect a "well oversold stock market."

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in moderately active trading, with advances ahead of declines, 339, to 249.

Most active issues included Yates Industries up 1-8 to 7 on 38,900 shares, and Imperial Oil up 1-8 to 28 3-4 on 11,200 shares.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Fairchild Has Less Red Ink In Quarter

A third quarter loss of $3 million, or 70 cents per common share, has been reported by Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp., parent company of Fairchild Semiconductor, on sales of $46.3 million.

For the comparable period a year ago the company posted a loss of $10 million or $2.50 per share on sales of $51.4 million.

Results for the first nine months of 1971 were a loss of $5.9 million, or $1.35 per share, on sales of $144.5 million, as compared to a $13.9 million loss or $3.19 per share on sales of $173.5 million in 1970.

Third quarter results were below expectations and a profit for 1971 is considered unlikely.

LUCKY STORES INC. has agreed in principle to an exchange of 205,000 shares of its common stock for all the outstanding stock of Dorman, Inc. of San Diego, a tire retreading center for that area. It will also exchange 170,000 shares for Kragen Auto Supply Co. of San Jose.

FOREMOST-MCKESSON, INC. has reported a 30-per cent increase in earnings and a 10-per cent increase in sales for the second fiscal quarter ended Sept. 30. Net income was $7.8 million or 52 cents per share, compared with $6.2 million or 40 cents per share last year. Net sales were $470.1 million compared to $428.8 million a year ago.

DE GIORGIO CORP. operating earnings after tax increased 50 per cent to $5.1 million for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30. Last year's earnings were $3.4 million. Per share operating earnings rose 23 per cent to 91 cents from last year's 74 cents. Third quarter earnings increased 54 per cent to $1.8 million or 31 cents per share from last year.

GREYHOUND CORP. third quarter profits increased 20 per cent to 67 cents per share compared with 56 cents per share last year. Net earnings were $26.8 million, up from $22.3 million in 1970. Earnings for the first nine months were $1.32 per share, compared with $1 per share last year.

EXCHANGE BANK of Santa Rosa has reported $488,846 in net earnings, for the first nine months of 1971, equivalent to 17 cents per share. This represented an increase of almost 34 per cent from last year's $326,043 or $3.14 per share.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF CALIFORNIA net earnings for the third quarter rose 15 per cent to a record $134.9 million or $1.39 per share from last year's $116.8 million or $1.38 per share. Nine month earnings for 1971 were $381.8 million compared to $327.9 million a year ago.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. posted a 12 per cent gain in sales volume and an 11 per cent increase in net income in the first quarter of the current fiscal year. Sales totaled $432.2 million, compared with $385.6 million last year. After tax net income was $16.8 million, up from $15.1 million a year ago. After allowing for dividends on preferred shares, earnings were 63 cents per share compared to 57 cents one year ago. The company has decided not to make its usual increase in the annual dividend which it has been doing for 13 years.

CALIFORNIA FINANCIAL CORP., parent company of Security Savings and Loan Association and Marin Guaranty Title Co., reported third quarter earnings before a carry-forward tax benefit of $690,864 or 20 cents per share. This compared with $378,129 or 10 cents per share for the same quarter last year. Net earnings for the nine months of 1971 amounted to $1,790,744 or 51 cents per share.

U A L, INC., parent company of United Airlines and Western International Hotels, reported third quarter consolidated net earnings of $24 million or 97 cents per share. Last year's earnings for the same period were $10 million, equal to 48 cents per share.

Solid Waste In U.S. Will Skyrocket

SUNNYVALE (BW) — By the turn of the century, American households will be producing 800 billion pounds of solid waste a year — an average of 12 pounds per person per day — with no place left to put it.

Ian Allison, president of Sira International Corp. of Sunnyvale, said a national study recently completed by his company disclosed that "not counting commercial refuse, at least six pounds of waste are now being produced each day by every man, woman and child in the country."

"That per capita figure more than doubled between 1920 and 1970. With our present rates of consumption and population growth, it will at least double again between now and the year 2000," Allison predicted.

At the same time, Allison said, "our landfills are overflowing or being legislated out of existence, and our oceans are pockmarked with floating islands of waste towed in barges from our cities."

His company estimates that the total combined tonnage of household and commercial waste produced each day in the U.S. now runs as high as three billion tons "and there is every reason, based on projections, to expect it to rise to more than six billion tons in the next 30 years."

Allison said that total refuse generated by the nation's 100 largest metropolitan areas alone "now exceeds 500 million tons a year. This includes 200 billion cans and bottles, six million tons of plastic, 74 million tons of paper and related products, nearly two million abandoned automobiles and a quarter of a billion tires, and uncountable millions of junked refrigerators, stoves, television sets, and pieces of personal clothing and accessories ranging from shoes to false teeth."

Profits Are Reported Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. of California has reported a 16 per cent increase in profits for the first three quarters of 1971.

The company said it earned $381.9 million for the period, compared with $237.9 million for the same period a year earlier.

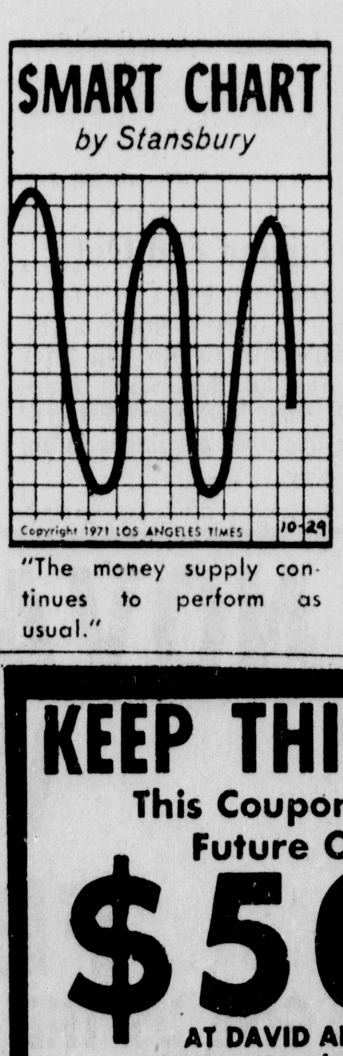
For the third quarter net income was $134.9 million, compared with $116.9 million in the third quarter of 1970.

Gross production of crude oil and natural gas was at an alltime high during the past three months, the company said.

Danish Insurance Gross $473 Million

COPENHAGEN (UPI) —The 323 Danish insurance companies had gross earnings of 3,547,000,000 (b) kroner ($473 million) in 1969, a report recently released by the Insurance Association shows.

The 80 foreign insurance companies here had a gross income in the same year of 122 million kroner ($16 million).



"The money supply continues to perform as usual."

Sonoma State Plans A 'Keyboard Concert'

Sonoma State College will present its first fall musical program with a "Keyboard Concert" Nov. 9 and 10 at 8:30 p.m. in Ives Hall.

The Sonoma State College Concert Jazz Ensemble directed by Walter Oster will perform as well as faculty members Arthur Hills, organist, and Dr. Hobart (Red) Thomas. Thomas, provost of the school of expressive arts, will be at the piano accompanied by five string players including faculty members Dr. Ellen Amsterdam and David Sloss of San Rafael. Sloss's wife, Judy, will also perform.

The Carl Andrews Trio, made up of youths ranging in age from 14 to 16, will perform and provide the rhythm section for the first large work written by 16-year-old Carl Andrews and performed by the concert jazz ensemble.

Performing Nov. 9 only will be Mark Wetch who plays "honky-tonk" style piano and currently plays at the Cattlemens Restaurant, Petaluma.

Fund Raiser For Diabetes Association

A benefit performance of "The Fantasticks" by the Novato Community Players raised about $1,300 for the local diabetes association, according to a fund raiser.

Mrs. Walter Strauss of the Marin Chapter of the Northern California Diabetes Association said the players donated the net receipts from Wednesday's performance. About 700 persons attended, she said.

Proceeds from the event at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building are to be used to buy free diabetes test kits and educational literature, to support free public lectures about diabetes and to establish a permanent headquarters for the group.

Ideas On Sewage Supported In Part

The Corte Madera Sanitary Commission has endorsed consolidating the transportation and treatment of sewage by Marin sanitation districts, but decided collection should remain a local responsibility.

City Engineer Arthur N. Morrison said the commission told him Tuesday to convey that opinion to County Administrator John F. Barrows. Barrows had asked for an opinion on the consolidation of sewer service into one agency, Morrison said.

Halloween Parade For San Marin

The Halloween parade sponsored by the San Marin Improvement Association, will start at 1 p.m. Sunday with entries open to the public.

The parade will assemble on San Marin Drive at San Andreas Drive, go south on San Andreas to San Carlos Drive and then east on San Carlos to the San Ramon Elementary School, said publicity chairman Mary Musante.

A trophy will be awarded for the best entry to the parade and another for the best scout entry. Ribbons will be given to the first four place winners in different categories. These are preschool to kindergarten, first to third grades, fourth to sixth, junior and senior high school and adults.

The association expects about 500 entries including 25 floats and bands and marching units, she said. The San Marin High School Band, Prince Charles Pipe Band's juvenile division, Merle Dahl's Rural Band have already entered, Mrs. Musante said.

The Air Force Reserve Officer Drill Team from Novato High School, the Cadet Squadron Color Guard of the Marin County Civil Air Patrol and several majorettes have entered, she said.

Opposums are the only pouched animals in North America, the females having a fur-lined pouch on the belly for carrying young.

$1.9 Million In Road Funds At Petaluma

Two Southern Sonoma road projects totaling $1.9 million have been budgeted for the 1972-73 year by the State Division of Highways.

A total of $10,725,000 was scheduled for all projects in Sonoma County, according to county information officer Richard McGlinchey.

Largest of the Petaluma projects is $1.3 million to widen the two-lane overcrossing of Highway 101 at East Washington Street to four lanes. The work will also include lengthening entrance and exit ramps on the east side of the freeway.

Also included is $600,000 to construct a new four-lane overcrossing of Highway 101 at Caulfield Lane, Petaluma. Work on connector streets for the new overpass is expected to be completed early next year.

Largest of the Sonoma County projects was $8.7 million to widen Highway 101 to four lanes from State Route 128 near Geyserville to 3.5 miles north of Geyserville.

Typewriter Stolen

A $567 red electric typewriter was stolen either late Tuesday or early Wednesday from the accounting office of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, 1006 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, by a thief with keys, police reported yesterday.

Oakland Port Sets Expansion

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Port of Oakland broke ground Wednesday for an expansion to its container cargo terminals.

The expansion will cost $30 million and will increase the facilities of the port, which already has the largest container cargo system on the Pacific Coast.

Ben E. Nutter, the port's executive director, said his facilities handled 3.6 million tons of container cargo last year, or 40 per cent of that on the coast.

Governor Reagan, Meet Senator Moscone

State Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, teed off last week against Gov. Ronald Reagan for closed-door meetings with small groups of legislators to make major decisions.

Moscone, addressing the annual conference of the California Association of County Supervisors in Monterey, called newly enacted welfare and Medi-Cal legislation, the state budget and tax reform talks examples of "the closed-door syndrome in Sacramento."

He admitted being a "reluctant participant" in the tax talks between the governor and a selected group of legislators, but declared: "Such sessions obviously violate the democratic process."

We agree with Senator Moscone, but . . .

JUST OVER A MONTH ago, Governor Reagan charged Democrats in the legislature with dealing in secret on reapportionment. His prime targets were Democrats in the elections and reapportionment committees in the two houses.

"A great deal of secret activity on reapportionment must be going on among the Democrats," declared the governor. "This should be done in public instead."

We agree with Governor Reagan.

NOW, IT HAPPENS that Senator Moscone is a member of the Senate Elections and Reapportionment Committee. He didn't say anything in his speech to the county supervisors about its secret sessions to decide how voters in the various parts of California should be represented (or misrepresented) in a reapportioned state Senate. You see, he was in on those sessions.

Governor Reagan, when he blasted Democrat legislators for carving up the state in secret, didn't say anything about the closed-door meetings he had been holding with legislators regarding welfare, Medi-Cal, and tax reform. You see, he was in on those sessions.

Governor Reagan, meet Senator Moscone!

WE ARE FORCED, reluctantly, to the conclusion that neither the senator nor the governor is troubled primarily by the fact that decisions of vital concern to the public are reached behind closed doors by people elected to represent the public interest. We regret that we cannot escape the impression that each objects to such undemocratic dealings only when he is himself left out of them.

The senator and the governor are both right in what they said, and both wrong in what they do.

It might be argued (it has been before, in such instances) that closed-door sessions on pending legislation are necessary because the matter is too complicated for the public to understand. This might be argued — but we wouldn't believe it.

We suspect the reason more likely is that those who want to close the doors are afraid the public might learn, and understand, a bit too much.

More And More In Danger

Today, the International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources lists 835 endangered species.

The bald eagle, the tule elk, the California condor, a few kinds of whales, the giant sea turtle and the Bengal tiger are among the endangered species.

The reader might fairly ask, so what? Probably he has seldom seen any of the 835 endangered ones anyway. Why get excited then?

The answer is, that aside from the simple wish to preserve these unique creatures for their different kinds of beauty, there is a need to stop this trend before it snowballs into a avalanche. If we persist in poisoning their food and destroying their homes, might not man himself become the ultimate victim?

This year, 835. A decade hence, how many?

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Taxpayers Finance Lobbies Against Their Own Interests

By FRED W. KLINE

SACRAMENTO (Capitol) — California taxpayers are in the position of paying out large sums of tax money to support projects which are actually directed against their own self-interest.

There are more than 50 legislative advocates for such groups as the League of California Cities, County Board of Supervisors Association and the California School Boards Association which spend tax funds to influence the California legislature — and the influence often is to the betterment of the elected official over the taxpayer.

Many government officials become quite indignant when questioned as to their right to maintain a tax-supported lobbyist in Sacramento. They quickly explain the lobbyist is there to obtain better funding for local projects or to protect against legislation which might have an adverse local reaction.

The same officials neglect to mention how many times the tax-paid lobbyist will work against legislation which would protect the taxpayers' rights by placing new checks and balances on elected and appointed officials.

THE LEAGUE of California Cities, for example, was the major protester (with the aid of individual jurisdictional lobbyists) when the Hayes amendments to the Brown Act were proposed. The County Board of Supervisors Association is constantly demanding legislation which will make its members look better in the eyes of the voters — even though the legislation may not be in the public interest.

Members of the legislature are elected from local districts in order that the voices of the local district can be heard.

If this is true, one possible reason for the expenditure of tax funds for a lobbyist is that somebody has reason to believe the local member of the legislature doesn't care about his people and ought to be removed at the next election. Another possibility is that the local member of the legislature sees problems for the local community in the proposed legislation and the lobbyist has been hired to find those members of the legislature who will cooperate in spite of the view of the local assemblyman or senator.

NOW WITH belt tightening on all levels of government, perhaps a real examination should be made of funds for lobbyists and organizations which provide lobbyists to seek legislation without the consent of the taxpayers.

It might be advisable for some peoples' lobby to demand Congress refrain from requiring membership in regional governmental bodies as a prerequisite to obtaining federal funds. These bodies are responsible for some of the most dangerous legislation.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Puppeteer Family Backs Proposed Center

As homeowners and tax-paying residents of Marin County we would like to express our support of the proposed Renaissance Pleasure Center in Lucas Valley.

We have greatly enjoyed the annual faire since its inception in the county, and anticipate that a permanent center devoted to the study and practice of Renaissance arts, crafts, and culture would be a valuable cultural asset to Marin County. We feel that such a center would be a wonderful outlet for the arts and crafts. Our children have been greatly stimulated by the cultural atmosphere and spirit of the faire, and we would hope to be able to participate in the center when it starts.

In closing, we would like to urge the residents of Marin County to give their highest consideration to the valuable cultural contact that the proposed center would bring to the county.

Renaissance Village Expensive, Difficult

On Oct. 18, Harvey Bragdon granted a use permit to the Renaissance Faire people despite solid opposition from homeowners in Lucas Valley. The democratic process has been violated by one man's dictatorial action.

But at this point I want to go into the project itself and examine the concept of a 15th Century Renaissance Faire and a permanent Old English Village. As of this time the Pattersons have not submitted any solid construction plans. They talk romantically about it but cannot answer 20th Century questions, which must be answered to the satisfaction of the people in this valley. . .

The expense of building such a village would necessarily be very high and any compromise would reduce the concept to that of an ugly hybrid of 15th and 20th Century sham architecture.

This is not what the Pattersons want, and this is most certainly not what the people of our valley want. . .

Tax Saving Combined With Helping College

Marin County voters will have an opportunity to improve their tax situation and also help their community college, by voting for Measure A on Nov. 2. If every person who has benefited in some way because of this college, would vote for the measure, we would be assured of continued good education, at the best method of financing which is available to us.

Faire, Townhouses Violate Planning

Please devote space in the I-J concerning past violations of community plans and possible violation associated with the proposed townhouses on Sequeira ranch and the proposed Renaissance Faire in Lucas Valley.

There are many reasons why the original planned population density of Marinwood should prevail now and in the future.

The Faire traffic in Lucas Valley can cause delays of emergency vehicles, ambulances and fire trucks especially, and result in many deaths.

Measure B Population Projections Doubted

Why is the Marin Municipal Water District attempting to gain voter approval (Measure B on Nov. 2) for the massive Russian River water project which is based on inflated population projections?

Even the Association of Bay Area Governments has criticised the MMWD for ignoring current population trends.

Just a week ago Ben Wattenberg, a top expert in census interpretation, author of "This USA," a study of the 1960 census, stated in a speech in San Francisco that the United States is "within a fraction of achieving zero population growth" and will probably dip below zero population growth within three years!

Wake up, water district!

Reclaimed Water Use Too Expensive

You must be kidding! To use reclaimed water each householder in these rabbit-warrens must install separate lines of plumbing, and at today's costs!

The only place using reclaimed water is in the Golden Gate Park in the city to the south, and in some of McLaren Park.

The distances to travel the same in Marin County would be way out of proportion unless fire lines only be used for reclaimed H20. Then some volunteer member might sue the county for infected members! Your cost of disconnecting the fire lines and hooking into sewer plants would also be fabulous.

Do try to spring a better leak!

Coverage Helps Toward Civic Duty

My family and I want to thank you for the excellent coverage you gave the meeting on Oct. 18, when the use permit for the Faire was issued to Ron and Phyllis Patterson. Your reportage awakened us to do our civic bit. Your article enumerating the many presentations why this faire should not be allowed and then the disregard by an appointed public official really set us off. Hopefully, an aroused citizenry will be able to have its elected and appointed officials consider their welfare rather than that of two outsiders.

We look forward to your coverage of the hearings on Nov. 1 at the Civic Center.

Age Of Insensitivity Comes For Officials

It appears the age of Aquarius is passing and among politicians the age of insensitivity is here: Witness Mr. Nixon. The populace says "Get out of Viet Nam" and yet he persists in doing it (maybe) slowly.

But closer to home the same insensitivity to the wishes of the residents of Lucas Valley is apparent regarding the Pattersons' purchase and conversion of the Grady ranch into an unwanted Faire grounds. I have always felt the people were the government. It appears the elected representatives and their appointees are the government and we are merely pawns.

Guess we'll have to "turn the rascals out" if they persist in disregarding the wishes of the citizens. Why don't you take a strong stand on this insensitivity approach?

Will The Real Jaber Please Stand Up?

Nayef S. Jaber declared in a Sept. 22 article that "I am not a Jordanian. My mother always said, 'You're a Palestinian.'" It is quite apparent from the title of this feature article, "Israeli Arab Views Middle East," that his real nationality and his true allegiance is quite elusive.

In a follow-up article the I-J title declares Nayef S. Jaber as a "Palestinian Arab Student Reflect(ing) on Israeli Rule."

Will the real Nayef S. Jaber please stand up?

I would not be surprised if next week the I-J runs an article with the caption reading something like this: "Arabian Jew Reflects on Making the Best of Two Possible Worlds."

FCC And Congress Should Look Into Charges Of TV News Bias

WASHINGTON — The findings of Edith Efron's study, "The News Twisters," that the TV network news has practiced serious political bias should not be allowed to become a fading one-day headline.

The evidence of one-sidedness in the ABC, CBS and NBC nightly reporting during the Nixon-Humphrey presidential campaign is sufficiently substantial so that it cannot be lightly dismissed by the networks.

Fortunately it is not being dismissed. They are defending themselves with counterevidence whichthey contend shows that it is Miss Efron who is biased, not they, and suggest that her research is not trustworthy.

Either Miss Efron's charge that the networks have practiced serious bias is substantially valid and reform is imperative, or the networks can show persuasive proof that she is wrong and they have not practiced serious bias.

THE NUB OF MISS EFRON'S research is that during the seven-week climactic period of the 1968 campaign, the networks clogged the airwaves with anit-Nixon "news" and slanted their opinion coverage of U.S. policy and Vietnam and 10 other major political issues.

Unless the networks can disprove this documented indictment, it stands as a grievous offense against the minds of the American people, denying voters balanced information on the crucial matter of choosing a President.

Since good information is the foremost ingredient of good judgment, any pervasive one-sidedness in presentation of information by the networks, on which so many millions of listeners rely, is a perilous thing.

How, then, are we to find out who is nearer the truth — Miss Efron's findings that the networks are guilty or the findings of the networks that they're innocent? Or is this gravely important matter to become a meandering debate in which the principals talk past each other and in the end the whole thing becomes blurred?

The public is the most vitally concerned of all and the public needs to have the conflicting evidence and the conflicting arguments fairly ajudicated.

THERE ARE TWO WAYS to begin and perhaps they could be undertaken simultaneously:

1—The Federal Communications Commission has, it seems to me, a duty to the public to determine whether its "fairness doctrine" has been severely violated and, if so, what must be done.

2—Appropriate Senate and House committees could well hold early hearings to determine whether new legislation is needed to equip the FCC with both the power and the staff to enable it to enforce the "fairness doctrine" which itself stems from an act of Congress.

Both the FCC and the congressional committees would have to evaluate the relative accuracy of the Efron findings and the relative validity of the networks' replies.

SO FAR THE NETWORKS' statements fault Miss Efron at three points. They say she omitted some pertinent issues which should have been included, that she failed to assess daytime TV news, and that she was either careless or biased in judging content.

This reply should be faithfully examined but it is not on its surface conclusive. If the networks were biased on 13 issues in the presidential campaign, it doesn't disprove that bias to assert that there was no bias on some other issues. Again, absence of bias in daytime news would hardly compensate for bias on big night shows which have the largest audiences.

But the networks and Miss Efron meet head-on in the matter of professional and objective competence of her research. Each accuses the other of bias. I do not see how either the FCC or Congress can be satisfied without trying to find out where the greater truth lies.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

All's Well For Nixon — Except For Those Allies

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The prestidigitator in the White House, now wearing his old-Nixon hat and now the latest mod creation designed especially for traveling in the Orient, has so confused next year's presidential campaign prospects that the only analysts who could make sense out of it would be Abbott and Costello, with their rusty "Who's on First?" routine.

On one day we have the President making his best showing since January in a Gallup Poll measuring the public impression of how he is handling his job. Simultaneously, White House political tacticians are granting hush-hush interviews to pass the word that, believe it or not, Mr. Nixon's re-election will be a yawn.

Maybe so. But anyone who purports to see that clearly through the groundswells, cloudbursts, grass fires and other acts of God that have ultimately cursed and blessed us in the recent past has an extra supply of moxie — or perhaps just a great deal at personal stake.

ONE OF ONLY AVERAGE clairvoyance, who also is not on Mr. Nixon's payroll, looks out the window across the Treasury and can barely see the White House at all through the downpour. But he can hear the President being cheered, tentatively, by the liberals — for selecting a Virginia country club conservative and an Arizona wiretapping advocate for the Supreme Court.

Strange as that sounds, it fits in with other good omens for the President, like the fact that the "holiday" week end's planned antiwar demonstrations were washed out so thoroughly that the only casualties were a few cases of exposure and near drowning. Thus the country was not treated, as it might have been, to the televised evidence that Mr. Nixon must have been doing something right — or, more exactly, correct. That would have been the antiwar demonstration on one reel and the right-wing Dr. Carl McIntyre on the next, demonstrating against the President's affair with Godless Red China.

Everything was going swimmingly for Mr. Nixon, his centrist image was glowing through the murk, until the announcer broke into the Colts-Vikings showdown with the news about that other showdown in New York. Wholesale defections by allies once bound to the United States' position by trade and military priorities allowed China into the United Nations and forced Taiwan out.

Surprisingly, I have not heard so far the inevitable deduction from the Eastern seaboard that this affront to American prestige resulted from Mr. Nixon's determination to carry Texas in 1972. In that determination, he chose John Connally to head the Treasury, and Connally went out and talked tough to our most faithful friends abroad, putting them in just the mood to give Uncle Sam his long overdue comeuppance. And to the United Nations, to talk them and all the Third World countries out of it, the President had assigned George Bush, largely on the basis that he was handsome and had just lost a Senate campaign — and was from Texas. You see what happened.

NOW, THEN, TO REVIEW the situation, we have the left-wing and right-wing demonstrators and the (arch) conservatives plotting impeachment because Richard M. Nixon, of all people, has let the Communists into Chiang Kai-shek's seat at the United Nations.

A handy way to put all of this in ironic perspective is to take an hour-and-a-half to see a collection of old news film clips pasted together into a feature currently popular here, entitled "Millhouse." It covers his career in politics from the time he announced against Jerry Voorhis, back in Whittier right after the war. It is overcute, high-schoolish and at times unfair. But it brings back in direct quotes, in the medium the newly enfranchised comprehend, the extent to which Mr. Nixon based his early successes on anticommunism — specifically, on blaming various Democrats and diplomats for their alleged contributions to China's fall to communism.

Pragmatism is the explanation we get from his associates for the way he executes such total turnabouts from stands taken earlier on the simulation of pgh-minded conviction. Prgamatism is what works, and what works is good for the country, and what's good for the country is, merely coincidentally, good for next year's campaign.

It sounds simple, and the polls and the White House insiders said it was effective — until the vote at the United Nations. Now, when Mr. Nixon goes calling in Peking and Moscow, he will arrive as the first American leader in 21 years who could not hold his allies together on that crucial issue of prestige.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 29, 1961

A delegation of Marin "women for peace" prepared a petition to present to county supervisors opposing the building of bomb fallout shelters.

The new Del Mar School opened in the Reed School District, the fifth in the district.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 29, 1951

The Marin County Board of Supervisors filed without comment demands by the Marin Associated Chambers of Commerce that the county's master road plan be made public and that Leland Murphy and Matt A. Graham be dismissed from the Golden Gate Bridge District board.

The state highway budget included $200,000 for constructing a Highway 101 underpass connecting North San Pedro Road with a road south of the highway to be built by Marin County.

Maybe Reorganization Only Hope For Sausalito Schools

Officials of Sausalito School District finally have begun to talk about reorganizing the district through annexation, formation of a new district or some other method.

However, it may be too late, at least as far as the 1972-73 school year is concerned. Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg admitted Tuesday night at an informational meeting on the district's future that the school board would have to act on a plan by Dec. 31 to make any large changes in the district by next September.

IT HAS BEEN obvious for some time that the district is in serious trouble. A liberal school board tried to solve its many problems and failed, and the current conservative board has had no better luck.

Since 1964 enrollment has declined by almost 50 per cent, from 931 to 501, and cost of educating each pupil has risen to between $2,000 and $2,300 per year, as compared to the average cost of $916 per youngster in all Marin elementary school districts.

Now the district is facing a tax election next year, which may drop its general purpose tax rate from the current $2.40 (approved by voters in the last election) to 90 cents. Both the superintendent and trustee Jerry L. Whitcomb have said it would be difficult, if not impossible, to run the district on the $600,000 to $700,000 a 90-cent rate would yield.

BUT STRANGELY ENOUGH, though reorganization seems inevitable, the district has done almost nothing along those lines. Lindberg said he has made no real overtures to other Southern Marin districts which would have to be involved.

Instead, the superintendent talks happily of how well things are going in the schools this year and says again and again that the district's new reading program is accomplishing wonderful things.

One receives from the administration the distinct impression that everything is much better and it will only be a matter of time until the district solves its desperate problems.

It may be that Lindberg is convinced he can pull Sausalito's chestnuts out of the fire at this late date. But can he really think that all the parents who have removed their children from Sausalito schools will eventually come back to allow their children into its new reading program?

Too many divisive and unhappy things have happened in the district in the past few years. There is simply too much disillusionment, distrust and bitterness.

A FORMER TRUSTEE appeared to hit the nail on the head when he said most residents have lost all faith in the Sausalito School District, that it is a dying district.

Rather than working for what may be a lost cause, perhaps the board and superintendent should direct their efforts toward a reorganization plan.

Impassioned U.N. China Debate Stirs Memories Of 25 Years Ago

After listening to the 12 o'clock news while I had lunch on Monday, I started tuning, in search of some FM music. Suddenly the quality of an impassioned voice caused me to stop and listen. I had tuned in on a live broadcast from the United Nations Assembly. Needless to say I spent the afternoon listening and later in the evening watching the TV presentations.

The whole thing stirred memories starting 25 years ago. You see, Billie, as a junior college trustee, had the good fortune of being able to attend meetings in San Francisco, where the United Nations was brought into being. Later, while on a trip east, she went up to Lake Placid where the organization met until the United Nations Building was built in New York City.

At the 10th anniversary meeting, held in San Francisco, she was also able to attend. We would stay up most of the night after each meeting while she would explain to me the things that I had seen on television. Billie would have been deeply saddened by what happened there on Monday.

LAST NOVEMBER I wrote: "I would like to talk with you about the College of Marin. . .Although I have purposely refrained from commenting on school matters in this column, there is a compulsion to break that rule now. I believe she would want me to."

I went on to say that I had discussed the two propositions then being presented to the voters by the trustees of the College of Marin with an informed man on such matters — a man not connected with school affairs, but who, because of his great interest in education is, in my opinion, an authority.

We agreed that both measures should be passed. However, as you know, one did pass and the other, although it received a good majority, did not get the two-thirds needed.

That one is being presented again, now. I hope you will give it the necessary votes this time, for as I said last November.

"MARIN WILL NEED the facilities proposed to be funded. It will cost much, much more at a later date. If we love this country, and most of us do, then we must prepare for the future now."

Community colleges will become more and more necessary. There is no mistake about that. By voting yes, this should ease the tax burden now and most certainly will in time to come.

Meeting Set On Bolinas, Stinson's Future

The future of Bolinas and Stinson Beach will be discussed at a special evening meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission on Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

The planning commission will discuss the 1961 Bolinas-Stinson Beach General Plan and decide whether it should be repealed, amended, or retained as is.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell said the Bolinas-Stinson Beach General Plan needs updating because many provisions conflict with the proposed preliminary countywide plan.

For example, the 1961 plan called for harbor and commercial use of Bolinas Lagoon and major shopping centers and resort areas along the San Andreas fault zone, whereas the new countywide plan would leave Bolinas Lagoon untouched, and avoid concentrated development along the fault zone.

Birchers Hit Nixon On U.N.

BELMONT, Mass. (UPI)— President Nixon was accused Wednesday by the John Birch Society of creating the atmosphere which led to the "trecherous act" of admitting mainland China to the United Nations.

"Administration after administration has sent our young men to war and taxed the people almost beyond their endurance, ostensibly to oppose Communism, but now the Nixon administration's groundwork has led to this incredible betrayal of anti-Communists throughout the world," Rex T. Westerfield, national director of public relations for the right wing group, said Wednesday.

The group said it would intensify its campaign to urge the withdrawal of the United States from the world body because of the expulsion of Nationalist China and the seating of mainland China.

Pieces Of Glass May Hold Answer To Earth History

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

HONOLULU (UPI) —Small glassy rocks, valued as religious objects, money and jewelry among ancient cultures, may help modern scientists spotlight some dramatic events in the history of the earth.

Dr. David W. Muenow, a University of Hawaii chemist, is trying to track down the origin of tektites, small bodies of silicate glass "that may be as old as the solar system."

Tektites baffle scientists. Muenow said about 60 per cent of the geophysicists who study them believe they came from somewhere in space and the rest think they were formed on Earth, but no one has been able to present sufficient data to prove their origin.

Muenow, who is convinced that tektites are of extraterrestrial origin, said determining how they came to Earth "would be an important development in understanding the history of our planet."

"No one has ever witnessed tektites falling to Earth," Muenow said, "so there are no recorded falls, such as there are with meteorites."

Muenow is particularly interested in comparing lunar rocks brought back by the Apollo astronauts with tektites to determine if they could have come from the moon.

"Tektites are extremely old," Muenow said. "They go back 100 million years and some may have been formed 4.5 billion years ago, at the same time as the solar system."

Muenow, who had been studying moon rocks at Rice University in Houston before joining the University of Hawaii faculty, said that the oldest moon rocks also dated back to "about the time when the Earth and all the planets were formed." He plans to do the comparative work with tektites using samples brought back from Apollo 12.

Since there is "rather convincing theoretical evidence suggesting that tektites are produced during a high-temperature fusion event caused by asteroid impact," Muenow said it will be interesting to compare samples from the moon "where impact of foreign bodies is quite possible."

"If an asteroid or a meteor hit the moon at high velocity, it could kick off other small particles, and if these were the right velocity they could escape the moon's gravity and become entrapped in Earth's gravitational field," Muenow said.

Other theories Muenow plans to explore are whether tektites came from asteroid showers or comets, but he said considering their properties, "they must have been formed somewhere in outer space and become trapped in Earth's atmosphere."

Tektites, from the Greek word "tektos" meaning melted, are spherical to ellipsoidal in shape and weigh from two to 10 grams. "They are harder than any other natural glass found on Earth," Muenow said. "They have a lower water content and their shape indicates extreme melting, probably indicating their path of entry into Earth's atmosphere."

Tiburon Peninsula Hosts Net Tomorrow

Play starts tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. in the first open men's and women's doubles championship at the Tiburon Peninsula Tennis Club.

Biggest names in the men's lineup are Arn Tjensvold, former University of California star, and Howard Blethen, ex-Stanford letter winner.

Play continues through Sunday.

Center Plan Hearing Set Monday

The proposed Renaissance Center, regarded by many residents as the most earthshaking event to hit Lucas Valley since the 1906 quake, will get another public hearing Monday afternoon before the Marin County Planning Commission.

The hearing is set for 3:30 p.m., the last item in the daylong session of the planning commission.

Ronald and Phyllis Patterson, operators of the Renaissance Center, want to establish a cultural, educational and recreational center featuring the Medieval-Renaissance period on the 1,100-acre Grady Ranch on the north side of Lucas Valley Road just east of Big Rock.

Residents of Lucas Valley and Marinwood complain that the Renaissance Center is a commercial enterprise masquerading as a cultural undertaking, which will choke the valley with cars and people and destroy the environment.

The all-day meeting of the planning commission will start at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Marin Civic Center. Other items on the day's agenda include:

AGRICULTURAL PRESERVE — A public hearing to consider the rezoning of the agricultural preserve areas of Northwest Marin (Tomales, Marshall and parts of Chileno Valley) to low densities of 20 acres or more per home.

SEA-PORT — A master plan and development plan by Sea-Port Development Co. for the first 217 units of apartments on the ridge south of Strawberry Shopping Center, between Belvedere Drive and West Strawberry Drive. Eventually, the company plans 330 units on the 24 acres.

Italian Pension In Curious Twist

ROME (UPI) — It took the National Social Security Institute (INPS) 103 days to approve Luigi Longo's application for a pension.

And that, said Labor Minister Carlo Donat Cattin, was so much faster than normal that he formally and officially censured the government agency.

There was a lot more to the case than the uncharacteristic speed it took to start Longo's pension payments.

For one thing, the 71-year-old Longo is leader of the 1.4 million member Italian Communitst party. For another, the size of his pension dwarfed pensions paid most Italians.

Donat Cattin became involved in the affair when a fellow member of the Chamber of Deputies asked him to look into the Longo case.

He said there was nothing wrong with the size of the pension — $406.56 a month.

But he decided to censure the Social Security Institute publicly because its handling of the Longo application differed from the usual method.

"Generally," Donat Cattin said, "People must wait monthes, even years . . ."

What rankled many Italians was the fact that 80 per cent of them are entitled to a monthly maximum pension of $40.

Many also challenged the fact the Social Security agency credited Longo with extra benefits as a victim of political repression.

Donat Cattin said Longo was receiving no more than he was entitled to get under laws approved in 1955, 1961, 1965, and 1968 covering persons persecuted, exiled or jailed under fascism.

Longo was arrested several times after helping found the Italian Communist party in 1921. He also fought with the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War and later was arrested in France.

He also fought with Italian partisans in World War II and was awarded a U.S. Bronze Star for his role with the underground.

Longo has been a member of parliament since 1946.

All this, Donat Cattin said, added up to more than 50 years pension credit. Hence, the higher sum granted him.

Navy Bodyguard With A Purpose — Porpoises

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Now the Navy is trying to recruit porpoises as bodyguards for its divers and others who may find themselves threatened by sharks.

Porpoises, or dolphins, have about the highest I.Q.'s among marine mammals. The Navy has a vast respect for their intelligence.

Porpoises have always been able to protect themselves in fair fights with sharks. If a shark comes messing around with hostile intent, the porpoises gang up and butt him to death.

But porpoises have never been known to go out of their way to pick fights with sharks. They are peaceable beasts if let alone.

So to enlist the help of porpoises in undersea warfare between man and sharks, it was necessary to teach these normally amiable animals to get tough on occasion.

This, the Navy reported recently, has been accomplished. Under an Office of Naval Research contract, scientists at the Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota, Fla., have trained a porpoise "to move aggressively toward a shark on command and drive him away."

This was good news because the Navy had been unable previously to devise effective protection for personnel caught swimming, diving, engaged in salvage or rescue work, or just trying to survive after misfortunes at sea in shark-infested waters.

In a specially constructed pool at the Mote Laboratory, trainers taught a 450-pound bottlenose dolphin named Simo to respond to underwater acoustic signals by charging and forcing into retreat a seven-foot brown shark placed in the pool to test Simo's acquired pugnacity.

"Because of their intelligence and adaptability," the Navy said, "porpoises have previously been employed experimentally to perform a variety of useful tasks such as carrying tools and messages, turning valves, or locating lost equipment and divers."

Pleas Are Entered On 20-Year-Olds

Gregory Crawford Gocher, 20, of San Rafael and Gerald Arthur Beaudoin, 20, of Novato, have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges stemming from their arrests Sunday.

A pretrial conference was set for Wednesday.

Both are charged with two counts of battery and one of misdemeanor grand theft, and Gocher is charged with an additional count of disturbing the peace.

They are arrested on suspicion of robbery and assault with a deadly weapon Sunday after they allegedly stole 50 cents from a 15-year-old boy outside a San Rafael market and attacked the boy and a passerby who went to the boy's aid.

Following report of the incident to police, Gocher was found to be already in Marin County Jail where he had been booked for disturbing the peace after allegedly urinating outside Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

Beaudoin was arrested at the jail where he was attempting to bail Gocher.
